AN ACT

To confer jurisdiction upon the District Court for the Territory of Alaska to hear, determine, and render judgment upon the claim, or claims, of Scotty James, of Sitka, Alaska.

Scotty James.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the District Court for the Territory of Alaska be, and hereby is, given jurisdiction to hear, determine, and render judgment upon the claim, or claims, of Scotty James, of Sitka, Alaska, for any real and personal property losses and damages sustained arising from the occupancy during World War II by the Navy for military purposes of Alice Island, near Sitka, Alaska, notwithstanding any statute of limitations with respect to suits against the United States or any lapse of time: Provided, That the action in the District Court for the Territory of Alaska to establish such losses and damages shall be instituted within one year from the date of the approval of this Act, and the same right of appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit from the judgment of the District Court for the Territory of Alaska shall be had as in other causes in that court: Provided further, That the passage of this Act shall not be construed as an inference of liability on the part of the Government of the United States.

SEC. 2. The jurisdiction conferred by this Act on the District Court for the Territory of Alaska shall be subject to the provisions of the Act of July 7, 1958 (72 Stat. 339), and if prior to the commencing of the action authorized by this Act the United States District Court for the District of Alaska has commenced to function, the jurisdiction conferred by this Act on the District Court for the Territory of Alaska shall be deemed to be conferred instead upon the United States District Court for the District of Alaska.
