Unpublished opinions are not binding precedent in this circuit.

PER CURIAM:

Rashon Torrence was convicted by a jury of being a felon in possession of a firearm and ammunition in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(1). The district court imposed a sentence of 120 months' imprisonment.

On appeal, Torrence argues that: (1) the district court erred by admitting evidence of the drugs found on his person when he was arrested; (2) there is insufficient evidence to support his conviction; and (3) the district court erroneously applied the reckless endangerment enhancement, U.S.S.G. § 3C1.2, when determining his applicable Guidelines range.

We have reviewed the record and find no reversible error. Accordingly, we affirm. We dispense with oral argument because the facts and legal contentions are adequately presented in the materials before this court and argument would not aid in the decisional process.
