

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

RALPH COLEMAN, et al.,
Plaintiff,
v.
EDMUND G. BROWN, JR., et al.,
Defendants.

No. 2:90-cv-0520 KJM DB P

ORDER

As required by court order, ECF No. 5774, this matter came on for status conference on February 14, 2018. The parties filed a joint status conference as required by the order, ECF No. 5777, and both parties were represented by counsel at the status conference. See ECF No. 5783. The status conference was set after plaintiffs filed a motion for case management orders and for sanctions, ECF No. 5764, which was noticed for hearing on February 23, 2018, and defendants filed a motion for extension of time to respond to the motion and to continue the hearing. ECF No. 5771.

On October 10, 2017, the court set a one year deadline by which “all outstanding issues pertaining to achieving adequate mental health staffing levels must be resolved and the required staffing levels achieved.” ECF No. 5711 at 28. The dispute presented by plaintiffs’ motion arises out of prison tours conducted unilaterally by consultants retained by defendants to address staffing issues. See ECF No. 5771 at 3. The purpose of the status conference was to

1 clarify and confirm procedures to guide the parties in resolving the outstanding staffing issues,
2 specifically, defendants' ongoing inability to fulfill required staffing ratios for prison
3 psychiatrists. Those issues, and the process for their resolution, are set forth in this order.

4 It is well-settled that this court has "inherent powers that are 'governed not by rule 5 or statute but by the control necessarily vested in courts to manage their own affairs so as to 6 achieve the orderly and expeditious disposition of cases.'" Dietz v. Bouldin, 136 S.Ct. 1885, 1891 7 (2016) (quoting Link v. Wabash R. Co., 370 U.S. 626, 630-31 (1962)). The exercise of those 8 powers "must be a 'reasonable response to the problems and needs' confronting the court's fair 9 administration of justice" and "cannot be contrary to any express grant of or limitation on the 10 district court's power contained in a rule or statute." Id. at 1892 (quoting Degen v. United States, 11 517 U.S. 820, 823-24 (1996)). In an action governed by the Prison Litigation Reform Act, the 12 Ninth Circuit has recognized the court's essential case management authority as a font of the 13 appropriate handling of a complex case such as this one, Plata v. Brown, 754 F.3d 1070 (2014), 14 an issue the court will more fully address in its separate order on the timing of any termination 15 motion.

16 The court convened the February 14th status in light of several considerations.
17 First, the parties have been able to make significant progress through constructive problem-
18 solving efforts under the supervision of the Special Master, chiefly through the All-Parties 19 Workgroup or subsets thereof. Second, litigation during the remedial phase of this action has 20 often caused significant delays and detours in otherwise positive forward progress of this long-
21 running case. Third, the unilateral tours conducted by defendants, as well as plaintiffs' response 22 to those tours, appears to be setting the stage for litigation over staffing ratios and another detour 23 from the otherwise very encouraging progress that is being made – a detour that may be 24 prevented by the court's exercise of its management authority to check any overreaction by the 25 parties. After more than twenty years of remedial effort, with an end in sight, the court must do 26 its part to keep the parties focused on the orderly, efficient, expeditious and just path to resolution 27 of this action, a path that also is the most cost-effective route.

28 ////

1                   The court's prior orders make clear: "any revision to existing staffing ratios 2 requires approval of the Special Master." ECF No. 5711 at 14 (citing ECF No. 5307 at 6). The 3 Special Master is working with the parties on a range of issues related to solving the ongoing 4 shortage of prison psychiatrists. The court has every expectation that with clear direction and 5 focused effort, the outstanding staffing issues can be resolved in the All-Parties Workgroup. To 6 that end, the court will require the following.

7                   First, not later than February 28, 2018, defendants shall provide to the Special 8 Master and to plaintiffs a summary from each of the staffing consultants who conducted tours in 9 2017 or 2018 after being retained by defendants. The consultants' summaries shall include: (1) 10 the purpose for the consultation (e.g., what questions were they to address); (2) the methodology
11 or methodologies used; and (3) their findings both in the context of the questions to be addressed 12 and any other conclusions reached as a result of the consultations. Plaintiffs' request for 13 discovery related to the consultants' tours and for new tours will be denied without prejudice to 14 renewal following review of these summaries.

15                   Second, drawing on his authority under the Order of Reference, Dkt. No. 640, the 16 Special Master shall take all steps necessary to create a complete factual record for consideration
17 and resolution of the issues described below, which shall be made available to the All-Parties
18 Workgroup, and which shall form the basis for any consideration of such issues by this court.
19 This record may include, in the discretion of the Special Master, documents, records, files, 20 papers, and interviews with such witnesses as the Special Master deems necessary. See Dkt. No.
21 640 at, e.g., ¶¶ B2, 5, 8. It is the court's expectation that this factual record will provide the basis
22 for resolution of these issues by the All-Parties Workgroup and for resolution of any unresolved
23 staffing issue that may be tendered to this court

24                   Third, relying on the factual record developed by the Special Master, the parties 25 shall, with his guidance, address the following questions:

26                   1. Can defendants hire a sufficient number of psychiatrists, through salary 27 adjustments, forensic psychiatric fellowships, exhaustion of clustering, and other recruiting and 28 retention efforts, to meet the staffing levels for psychiatrists required by the 2009 court-ordered

1 staffing ratios, ECF No. 3693, with a maximum ten percent vacancy rate as required by the 2 court's June 13, 2002 order, ECF No. 1383.

3                   2. What role does and can telepsychiatry play, consistent with the Eighth 4 Amendment, to aid in solving the psychiatrist staffing shortage?

5                   3. Keeping in mind that the staffing levels that preceded the current ratios were 6 constitutionally inadequate, are there any adjustments to the psychiatrist staffing ratios that could 7 be made to alleviate the psychiatrist staffing shortages without compromising the constitutionally 8 required access to adequate mental health care?

9                   In resolving these questions, substantial weight shall be given to the expert opinion
10 and guidance of the Special Master and his team of neutral experts, who have developed a 11 substantial body of knowledge through their work focused on this action over more than two 12 decades.

13                   On or before June 21, 2018, the parties shall file a joint status report informing the 14 court of their progress in resolving the foregoing questions. A further status conference is set for 15 June 28, 2018 at 2:00 p.m.

16                   Further, as reviewed at hearing, the court will require defendants to file monthly
17 reports identifying the psychiatrist vacancy rates at each CDCR institution and in the aggregate
18 systemwide. The reports shall present all data for psychiatrist vacancies contained in the report
19 titled Correctional Health Care Services Mental Health Institution Vacancies: Summary By 20 Institution By Classification. Each report shall be filed on the 15th of the month and shall contain 21 the required data for the preceding month.

22                   Plaintiffs' request for an order requiring advance notice of termination proceedings
23 was granted by bench order and will be the subject of a separate written order. Plaintiffs' request 24 for an order governing future joint prison tours will be denied without prejudice to its renewal, as 25 appropriate, at the status conference set for June 28, 2018. Except as particular issues are 26 resolved by this order or the February 14, 2018 bench order, plaintiffs' motion for court order and 27 sanctions is mooted by this order and will therefore be denied. Defendants' motion for extension 28 of time is also moot and will therefore be denied.<sup>4</sup>

1 In accordance with the above, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that:

2 1. On or before February 28, 2018, defendants shall provide to the Special
3 Master and to plaintiffs summaries, one from each of the staffing consultants defendants retained 4 to conduct tours in 2017 or 2018. Those summaries shall include: (1) the purpose for the 5 consultation (e.g., what questions were they to address); (2) the methodology or methodologies 6 used; and (3) their findings both in the context of the questions to be addressed and any other 7 conclusions reached as a result of the consultations.

8 2. Plaintiffs' request for discovery related to the staffing consultants' tours and for 9 new tours is denied without prejudice to renewal, as appropriate, following review of the 10 summaries required by paragraph 1 of this order.

11 3. The Special Master shall take all steps necessary and within his powers as 12 established by the Order of Reference to create a complete factual record for consideration and 13 resolution of the issues outlined in this order in the manner described in this order.

14 4. On or before June 21, 2018, the parties shall file a joint status report informing 15 the court of their progress in resolving the questions outlined in this order.

16 5. This matter is set for further status conference on June 28, 2018 at 2:00 p.m.

17 6. Defendants shall file monthly reports on psychiatrist vacancy rates as required 18 by this order. The first report shall be filed by March 15, 2018.

19 7. Plaintiffs' request for an order governing future joint prison tours is denied 20 without prejudice to its renewal, as appropriate, at the status conference set for June 28, 2018.

21 8. To the extent not resolved by this order or the court's bench order, plaintiffs'
22 motion for case management orders and sanctions, ECF No. 5764, is denied as moot.

23 9. Defendants' amended motion for extension of time is, ECF No. 5771, is denied 24 as moot.

25 DATED: February 15, 2018.
