STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The plaintiff in this case is Nuance Communications, Inc. The defendants are ABBYY USA Software House, Inc., ABBYY Production, LLC, ABBYY Software, Ltd. (collectively “ABBYY”), and Lexmark International, Inc. Nuance is suing these Defendants for patent and trade dress infringement. ABBYY and Lexmark deny these claims.

The case involves Optical Character Recognition technology, or “OCR,” which converts images of printed text into data that a computer can manipulate. For example, OCR software can scan a document and convert it to text that a word processor like Microsoft Word can recognize.

Nuance provides software for OCR and related imaging technology. Its principal OCR product is called OmniPage. The first version of OmniPage was released in 1988. Enhanced versions of the product are still offered today.

ABBYY also provide OCR software. Their main OCR product is called FineReader, which was first released in Russia in 1993, and in the United States in 1999. The other defendant, Lexmark, provides printing and imaging products, software, solutions, and services. Beginning in 2002, Lexmark sold printers and scanners that included ABBYY’s accused FineReader OCR software.

Nuance asserts that ABBYY and Lexmark have intentionally infringed two of Nuance’s patents related to its OCR technology and another patent regarding a distributed document processing system that can be used with OCR. ABBYY and Lexmark assert that their products do not infringe Nuance’s OCR patents. Nuance also contends that ABBYY’s (but not Lexmark’s) product packaging infringes Nuance’s packaging trade dress. ABBYY denies infringement and asserts that Nuance’s trade dress is not protectable.

Nuance seeks monetary damages from ABBYY and Lexmark. ABBYY and Lexmark contend that Nuance is not entitled to monetary damages.

- 2 a. Are any of you familiar with or do any of you know any of the
- 3 potential witnesses?
- 4 7. I have provided you with a list of the law firms, lawyers, and potential witnesses in
- 5 this case. Are you familiar with any of them?
- 6 8. Do you have any belief or feelings towards any of the parties, lawyers, or witnesses
- 7 that would make it difficult for you to be fair and impartial?
- 8 9. It may appear that one or more of the parties, the lawyers, or witnesses come from
- 9 a particular national, racial, religious group or may have a lifestyle that is
- 10 different from yours. Would this in any way affect your judgment or the weight
- 11 and credibility that you would give to such person’s testimony?
- 12 10. Have you ever been on a jury? Was it a criminal or civil case? Was a verdict
- 13 reached? Were you the foreperson? Was there anything about your service on the
- 14 jury that would affect your ability to be fair and impartial in this case?
- 15 11. Have you or your spouse or significant other ever owned a business? [Proposed
- 16 follow up: If so, what kind of business?]
- 17 12. Do you or a family member have any special training, education, or work experience
- 18 in the areas of (1) law, law firms, or court system; (2) patents, copyrights, or
- 19 trademarks; (3) optical character recognition, or OCR, technology or sales; (4)
- 20 accounting; (5) contracts; (6) software development or licensing; (7) packaging or
- 21 graphics design; (8) marketing or advertising? [If answer “yes” regarding “optical
- 22 character recognition, or OCR, technology or sales,” proposed follow up: what do
- 23 you know about OCR technology or sales?]
- 24 13. The plaintiff in this case is Nuance Communications, Inc., whom I’ll refer to as
- 25 Nuance. Nuance was founded as Visioneer, Inc. It changed its name to Scansoft,
- 26 Inc., before becoming known as Nuance. As Nuance grew, it acquired certain
- 27 companies as well. The names of some of these companies are Caere, Palantir,
- 28 Vlingo, and Calera. Do you, a family member, or close friend have any relationship

1 with any of these companies? Do you have any positive or negative feelings toward
2 any of these companies?

3 14. Nuance is the maker of the OmniPage, PDF Converter, PaperPort, PageKeeper,
4 FaxMaster, and Typist Plus Graphics products. Are you familiar with any of these 5 products?

6 15. Nuance also provides speech recognition software, including the Dragon line of 7 products. Do you have any positive or negative feelings toward Nuance products?

8 16. Three of the defendants in this case are ABBYY USA Software House, Inc., ABBYY
9 Software, LTD., and ABBYY Production, LLC, whom I'll collectively refer to as 10 ABBYY. Do you, a family member, or close friend have any relationship with any of 11 these companies? Do you have any positive or negative feelings toward any of these 12 companies?

13 17. ABBYY is the maker of the FineReader, FormReader, FlexiCapture, Recognition
14 Server, Mobile OCR Engine, Screenshot Reader, and PDF Transformer products.
15 Are you familiar with any of these products? Do you have any positive or negative
16 feelings toward any of these ABBYY products?

17 18. The other defendant in this case is Lexmark International, Inc., whom I'll refer to as 18 Lexmark. Do you, a family member, or close friend have any relationship with 19 Lexmark? Do you have any positive or negative feelings toward Lexmark?

20 19. Lexmark makes printers, including multi-function printers that scan, fax, and print.
21 Are you familiar with any Lexmark products? Do you have any positive or negative
22 feelings toward any of these Lexmark products?

23 20. Do you have any experiences with or feelings about foreign corporations, including 24 those from Russia, that would influence your ability to be fair and impartial when 25 deciding a dispute between corporations?

26 21. In this case, Nuance is accusing ABBYY and Lexmark of infringing three of 27 Nuance's patents and, is accusing ABBYY of infringing Nuance's trade dress for its 28

- 1 software packaging. Do any of you have such strong feelings about these claims that 2 you could not be fair and impartial as a juror?
- 3 22. Is there anyone who, for religious or philosophical reasons, would be unable to 4 resolve a conflict in evidence?
- 5 23. Have you ever applied for a patent, copyright, or trademark? [Proposed follow up:
6 What was the general subject matter? To whom were the rights assigned?]
- 7 24. Have you ever created or developed something and had the idea taken from you?
- 8 25. Have you ever been accused of taking the idea of another?
- 9 26. Have you heard or read anything about the legal dispute between Nuance, on the one
10 hand, and ABBYY or Lexmark on the other? [Proposed follow up: What is the 11 source of the information you've heard or read about the dispute? What have you
12 heard or read about the dispute? Have you formed any impression of the dispute?]
- 13 27. Do you use optical character recognition or "OCR" software, or software that has 14 optical character recognition or "OCR" capability? [Proposed follow up: Do you
15 know who makes the software?]
- 16 28. If you return a verdict in favor of the Plaintiff, would any of you have any difficulty
17 in awarding money damages to compensate the Plaintiff or punish the Defendants?
- 18 29. Having heard the questions put to you by the Court, does any other reason suggest 19 itself to you as to why you could not sit on this jury and render a fair verdict based on 20 the evidence presented to you and in the context of the Court's instructions to you on 21 the law?
- 22 30. Is there anything else that you would like to bring to the Court's attention (e.g., health
23 problems, hearing problems, difficulty understanding English, personal bias, financial 24 problems, etc.) that might affect your ability to be an effective, fair and impartial 25 juror?
- 26 31. At the close of this case, the Court will give instructions on the law. Would you
27 follow the Court's instruction on the law in this regard even if you should personally
28 disagree with such instructions?
