
REPORTER'S NOTE.

The next page is purposely numbered 901. The numbers between 765 and 901 were intentionally omitted, in order to make it possible to publish the orders in the current advance sheets or preliminary prints of the United States Reports with permanent page numbers, thus making the official citations immediately available.

1867/1868

The first part of the year was spent in the field and laboratory in the study of the biology of the fish and the effects of the environment on the growth and reproduction of the fish. The second part of the year was spent in the study of the fish and the effects of the environment on the growth and reproduction of the fish.