III judicial power upon bankruptcy court judges, who lack life tenure and protection against salary diminution, is affirmed. Northern Pipeline Construction Co. v. Marathon Pipe Line Co., p. 50.

CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1866.

Discrimination by union—Vicarious liability of employers and trade associations.—Liability may not be imposed under 42 U. S. C. § 1981 without proof of intentional discrimination, and in an action by a State and blacks representing a class of racial minorities against a local union, trade associations, and employers, alleging discrimination in operation of an exclusive hiring hall and of an apprenticeship program established by union and trade associations, District Court erred in imposing vicarious liability on defendant trade associations and employers on basis of union's discriminatory conduct, where court found discriminatory intent only on union's part and was unable to find any basis for imposing liability under doctrine of respondeat superior; District Court thus lacked power to allocate to trade associations and employers portion of costs of remedial decree. General Building Contractors Assn. v. Pennsylvania, p. 375.

CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964.

Discrimination in hiring—Tolling backpay liability—Seniority benefits.—An employer charged with discrimination in hiring can toll continuing accrual of backpay liability under § 706(g) of Act by unconditionally offering claimant job previously denied, and is not required to offer seniority retroactive to date of alleged discrimination. Ford Motor Co. v. EEOC, p. 219.

I. Commerce Clause.

Ground water—Removal from State—Validity of Nebraska statute.—Commerce Clause is violated by a Nebraska statute conditioning grant of a state permit to transport ground water from any well in Nebraska for use in an adjoining State on latter's grant of reciprocal rights to transport ground water from that State for use in Nebraska. Sporhase v. Nebraska ex rel. Douglas, p. 941.

II. Cruel and Unusual Punishment.

Death penalty—Aiders and abettors.—Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments were violated by imposition, under Florida law, of death penalty upon petitioner, who was convicted as a constructive aider and abettor and hence a principal in first-degree murder, but who was not present at robbery and killings and did not intend that victims be killed or anticipate that lethal force would be employed during robbery. Enmund v. Florida, p. 782.

III. Due Process.

1. Conviction for transporting illegal aliens—Deportation of alien witnesses.—Respondent, who was convicted under a federal statute prohibiting knowing transportation of an alien who had entered country illegally within three years prior to date of transportation, failed to establish a violation of Fifth Amendment right to due process or Sixth Amendment right to compulsory process for obtaining witnesses on asserted ground that deportation of some of illegal aliens involved deprived respondent of opportunity to interview them to determine whether they could aid in his defense. United States v. Valenzuela-Bernal, p. 858.

2. Regulation of alcoholic beverage importers—Validity of California statute.—A California statute—providing that a licensed importer of alcoholic beverages shall not obtain any brand of distilled spirits unless he is designated as an authorized importer of such brand by brand owner or his agent—does not violate Due Process Clause. Rice v. Norman Williams Co., p. 654.

3. Taxation of corporations—Validity of Idaho law.—Idaho may not, consistent with Due Process Clause, include within taxable income of a nondomiciliary parent corporation doing some business in State a portion of intangible income (dividends, interest payments, and capital gains from sale of stock) that corporation received from subsidiary corporations having no other connection with State. ASARCO Inc. v. Idaho State Tax Comm'n, p. 307.

4. Taxation of corporations—Validity of New Mexico law.—Due Process Clause was violated by New Mexico's income tax on portion of dividends received by parent corporation operating chainstores within State from its foreign subsidiaries operating chainstores in foreign countries, and by New Mexico's inclusion in parent corporation's income of fictitious sum never actually received from foreign subsidiaries but deemed by Federal Government to have been received by parent corporation for purposes of calculating its federal foreign tax credit, where each subsidiary operated a discrete business enterprise. F. W. Woolworth Co. v. Taxation and Revenue Dept., p. 354.

IV. Eminent Domain.

Cable television company—Installations on apartment buildings—Taking of landlord's property.—A New York statute requiring a landlord to permit a cable television company to install its facilities upon his property, and prohibiting landlord from demanding payment from company in excess of amount set by a State Commission, constituted a taking of a portion of appellant landlord's property for which she was entitled to just compensation under Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments, where cable television company had installed cables on landlord's apartment building to serve both landlord's tenants and other buildings. Loretto v. Teleprompter Manhattan CATV Corp., p. 419.

V. Equal Protection of the Laws.

1. At-large electoral system for county commissioners—Discriminatory intent.—In an action by appellee black citizens of Burke County, Ga., alleging that Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments were violated by at-large electoral system for county's Board of Commissioners that diluted blacks' voting power, Federal District Court—which held that although state policy behind electoral system was "neutral in origin," policy was being maintained for invidious purposes in violation of appellees' constitutional rights—applied proper standard requiring a determination of discriminatory intent; court's findings concerning intentional discrimination were not clearly erroneous, and it properly ordered that county be divided into districts for purposes of electing Commissioners. Rogers v. Lodge, p. 613.

2. Regulation of alcoholic beverage importers—Validity of California statute.—A California statute—providing that a licensed importer of alcoholic beverages shall not obtain any brand of distilled spirits unless he is designated as an authorized importer of such brand by brand owner or his agent—does not violate Equal Protection Clause merely because statute discriminates between designated and nondesignated wholesalers. Rice v. Norman Williams Co., p. 654.

3. School desegregation—Busing.—Equal Protection Clause was violated by a statewide initiative, passed by electorate, that (1) was drafted to terminate use of mandatory busing for purposes of racial integration of Washington's public schools, (2) prohibited school boards from requiring any student to attend a school other than one nearest or next nearest to student's home, and (3) permitted assignment of a student beyond such schools only for nonintegrative purposes. Washington v. Seattle School Dist. No. 1, p. 457.

4. School desegregation—Busing.—Fourteenth Amendment was not violated by amendment to California Constitution providing that state courts shall not order mandatory pupil assignment or busing unless a federal court would be permitted under federal decisional law to do so to remedy a violation of Equal Protection Clause. Crawford v. Los Angeles Board of Ed., p. 527.

5. University's admissions policy—Exclusion of males from nursing school.—Policy of petitioner state-supported university of denying otherwise qualified males right to enroll for credit in nursing school violates Equal Protection Clause, and exclusion of males cannot be justified under § 901(a)(5) of Title IX of Education Amendments of 1972, which exempts from § 901(a)'s general prohibition of gender discrimination in federally funded education programs admissions policies of public institutions of undergraduate higher education that traditionally admitted only students of one sex. Mississippi University for Women v. Hogan, p. 718.

VI. Freedom of Speech.

1. Boycott of white merchants—Liability for merchants' business losses.—Nonviolent elements of petitioner organizations' and individuals' activities in connection with a boycott and picketing of white merchants to obtain equality and racial justice were entitled to First Amendment protection, and thus petitioners were not liable in damages to respondent white merchants, under state law, for business losses resulting from petitioners' activities. NAACP v. Claiborne Hardware Co., p. 886.

2. Child pornography—Validity of New York statute.—First Amendment is not violated by a New York statute prohibiting persons from knowingly promoting a sexual performance by a child under age of 16 by distributing material that depicts such a performance, as applied to respondent bookstore owner who was convicted for selling films depicting young boys masturbating or as applied to others who distribute similar material. New York v. Ferber, p. 747.

VII. Searches and Seizures.

Automobile—Warrantless inventory search.—There was no violation of respondent's Fourth Amendment rights by warrantless search of his automobile, where (1) after car was stopped for a traffic violation, he was arrested for possession of open intoxicants and driver was issued a citation for not having a driver's license, (2) an inventory search, made before car was towed, disclosed marihuana in unlocked glove compartment and a loaded revolver in an air vent under dashboard, and (3) respondent was convicted in a Michigan state court for possession of a concealed weapon. Michigan v. Thomas, p. 259.

VIII. States' Immunity from Suit.

Sunken vessel—Ownership of artifacts.—In respondents' in rem federal court action for declaration of title to sunken Spanish galleon that respondents had located off Florida coast and from which respondents had salvaged artifacts under contract with Florida state agency, Court of Appeals' judgment is affirmed insofar as it upheld District Court's determination that Eleventh Amendment did not bar court's seizure of artifacts from state officials' custody, but is reversed insofar as Court of Appeals, in affirming District Court's judgment, adjudicated Florida's claim of ownership of artifacts under salvage contract. Florida Dept. of State v. Treasure Salvors, Inc., p. 670.

IX. Supremacy Clause.

Nonimmigrant aliens—Denial of in-state status by state university.—University of Maryland's policy of categorically denying domiciled nonimmigrant aliens who hold G-4 visas (those issued to nonimmigrant aliens who are officers or employees of certain international organizations and to members of their immediate families) in-state status under which preferential treatment is given to domiciled citizen and immigrant alien students for purposes of tuition and fees, is invalid under Supremacy Clause. *Toll v. to willfully overvalue any land, property, or security for the purpose of influencing the action of certain financial institutions upon any application, advance, commitment, or loan, was not violated by petitioner's "check kiting" whereby he first drew a check far in excess of his account balance in one bank and deposited it in his account in another, and then reversed process between his accounts. *Williams v. Individualized instruction for handicapped children—Adequacy of state programs.—Act's requirement that a participating State must adopt a policy assuring all handicapped children right to a "free appropriate public education" is satisfied when State provides personalized instruction with sufficient support services to permit handicapped child to benefit educationally from that instruction, and under Act's judicial-review provisions a court must first determine whether State has complied with statutory procedures and then determine whether individualized program is reasonably calculated to enable child to receive educational benefits; Act did not require provision of sign-language interpreter in instant case for child with only minimal residual hearing. Termination of parental rights—State-court judgment—Federal habeas corpus relief.—Title 28 U. S. C. § 2254(a) does not confer jurisdiction on federal courts to consider petitioner mother's collateral challenge to Pennsylvania state-court judgment terminating mother's parental rights as to her sons whom she had placed in legal custody of respondent county agency, which in turn had placed them in foster homes—mother seeking federal habeas corpus relief for return of her sons to her custody and a declaration of invalidity under Federal Constitution of Pennsylvania statute under which her parental rights were terminated. *Lehman v.
