RESOLUTION

Welcoming the members and staff of the parliaments of East Timor, Georgia, Indonesia, and Macedonia to the House of Representatives as the first partner parliaments of the House Democracy Assistance Commission.

Whereas since its founding, the United States has championed democracy around the world;

Whereas central to the success of any democracy is a strong, independent legislature which can act as a check on the executive branch;

Whereas in his second inaugural address on January 20, 2005, President George W. Bush declared: “The best hope for peace in our world is the expansion of freedom in all the world. . . . So it is the policy of the United States to seek and support the growth of democratic movements and institutions in every nation and culture, with the ultimate goal of ending tyranny in our world.”;

Whereas the House Democracy Assistance Commission was established by the House of Representatives on March 14, 2005, to offer assistance and support to parliaments of new democracies as they strengthen accountability, transparency, legislative independence, and government oversight;

Whereas the House Democracy Assistance Commission enables Members and staff of the House of Representatives to personally undertake what President Bush called “the idealistic work of helping raise up free governments” as they work directly with their counterparts in new democracies around the world to help those parliaments play an independent and substantive role in the legislative process and government oversight;

Whereas the House Democracy Assistance Commission has established partnerships between the House of Representatives and the parliaments of Afghanistan, East Timor, Georgia, Indonesia, Kenya, Lebanon, and Macedonia;

Whereas the House Democracy Assistance Commission will bring members and staff of the parliaments of East Timor, Georgia, Indonesia, and Macedonia to the United States from April 17 to 28, 2006, to observe first-hand the work of the Members, officers, and staff of the House of Representatives and congressional support agencies;

Whereas a similar program will be conducted later this year for members and staff of the parliaments of Afghanistan, Kenya, Lebanon, and perhaps other countries;

Whereas the House Democracy Assistance Commission sent a congressional delegation to Indonesia and East Timor in February 2006 to work with members and staff of the parliaments of those countries and plans to send delegations to other partner countries; and

Whereas the House Democracy Assistance Commission will enter into similar partnerships with the parliaments of other new democracies around the world, including democracies in the Western Hemisphere: Now, therefore, be it

1       Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

2               (1) restates its commitment to help strengthen
3       democracy around the world through the work of the 4       House Democracy Assistance Commission;

5               (2) welcomes the members and staff of the par-
6       liaments of East Timor, Georgia, Indonesia, and 7       Macedonia to the United States and the House of 8       Representatives;

9               (3) endorses a continuing partnership between 10      the House of Representatives and the parliaments of 11      East Timor, Georgia, Indonesia, and Macedonia;

12              (4) supports future exchanges between the
13      House of Representatives and the parliaments of Af-
14      ghanistan, Kenya, Lebanon, as well as similar part-

- 1       nerships with other new democracies around the
- 2       world.
