

109TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

S. 415

To amend part A of title IV of the Social Security Act to require the Secretary of Health and Human Services to conduct research on indicators of child well-being.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

FEBRUARY 17, 2005

Mr. ROCKEFELLER introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Finance

A BILL

To amend part A of title IV of the Social Security Act to require the Secretary of Health and Human Services to conduct research on indicators of child well-being.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “State Child Well-Being 5 Research Act of 2005”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 Congress makes the following findings:

8 (1) The well-being of children is a paramount
9 concern for our Nation and for every State, and

1 most programs for children and families are man-
2 aged at the State or local level.

3 (2) Child well-being varies over time and across 4 social, economic, and geographic groups, and can be 5 affected by changes in the circumstances of families,
6 by the economy, by the social and cultural environ-
7 ment, and by public policies and programs at both 8 the Federal and State level.

9 (3) States, including small States, need infor-
10 mation about child well-being that is specific to their 11 State and that is up-to-date, cost-effective, and con-
12 sistent across States and over time.

13 (4) Regular collection of child well-being infor-
14 mation at the State level is essential so that Federal 15 and State officials can track child well-being over 16 time.

17 (5) Information on child well-being is necessary
18 for all States, particularly small States that do not 19 have State-level data in other federally supported
20 data bases, such as the Survey of Income and Pro-
21 gram Participation.

22 (6) Telephone surveys of parents, on the other
23 hand, represent a relatively cost-effective strategy 24 for obtaining information on child well-being at the 25 State level for all States, including small States.

1 (7) Data from telephone surveys of the popu-
2 lation are used to monitor progress toward many im-
3 portant national goals, including immunization of 4 preschool children with the National Immunization
5 Survey, and the identification of health care issues
6 of children with special needs with the National Sur-
7 vey of Children with Special Health Care Needs.

8 (8) A State-level telephone survey can provide 9 information on a range of topics, including children’s 10 social and emotional development, education, health,
11 safety, family income, family employment, and child
12 care. Information addressing marriage and family
13 structure can also be obtained for families with chil-
14 dren. Information obtained from such a survey
15 would not be available solely for children or families
16 participating in programs but would be representa-
17 tive of the entire State population and consequently,
18 would not only inform welfare policymaking, but pol-
19 icymaking on a range of other important issues,
20 such as child care, child welfare, and education.

21 SEC. 3. RESEARCH ON INDICATORS OF CHILD WELL-BEING.
