 11 search and Development Trust Fund Act of 2012”.

12    SEC. 102. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

13       (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

14           (1) duties collected on imports of citrus and cit-15 rus products have ranged from $50,000,000 to 16 $87,000,000 annually since 2004, and are projected

1 to increase, as United States production declines due
2 to the effects of huanglongbing (also known as 3 “HLB” or “citrus greening disease”) and imports
4 increase in response to the shortfall in the United 5 States;

6 (2) in cases involving other similarly situated
7 agricultural commodities, notably wool, the Federal 8 Government has chosen to divert a portion of the 9 tariff revenue collected on imported products to sup-
10 port efforts of the domestic industry to address chal-
11 lenges facing the industry;

12 (3) citrus and citrus products are a highly nu-
13 tritious and healthy part of a balanced diet;

14 (4) citrus production is an important part of 15 the agricultural economy in Florida, California, Ari-
16 zona, and Texas;

17 (5) in the most recent years preceding the date
18 of the enactment of this Act, citrus fruits have been 19 produced on 900,000 acres, yielding 11,000,000 tons
20 of citrus products with a value at the farm of more
21 than $3,200,000,000;

22 (6) the commercial citrus sector employs ap-
23 proximately 110,000 people and contributes approxi-
24 mately $13,500,000,000 to the United States econ-
25 omy;

1                         (7) the United States citrus industry has suf-2                         fered billions of dollars in damage from disease and 3                         pests, both domestic and invasive, over the decade
4                         preceding the date of the enactment of this Act, par-
5                         ticularly from huanglongbing;

6                         (8) huanglongbing threatens the entire United 7                         States citrus industry because the disease kills citrus 8                         trees;

9                         (9) as of the date of the enactment of this Act,
10                         there are no cost effective or environmentally sound 11                         treatments available to suppress or eradicate 12                         huanglongbing;

13                         (10) United States citrus producers working 14                         with Federal and State governments have devoted 15                         tens of millions of dollars toward research and ef-
16                         forts to combat huanglongbing and other diseases 17                         and pests, but more funding is needed to develop 18                         and commercialize disease and pest solutions;

19                         (11) although imports constitute an increasing
20                         share of the United States market, importers of cit-
21                         rus products into the United States do not directly 22                         fund production research in the United States;

23                         (12) disease and pest suppression technologies 24                         require determinations of safety and solutions must 25                         be commercialized before use by citrus producers;

(14) research to develop solutions to suppress huanglongbing, or other domestic and invasive pests and diseases will benefit all citrus producers and consumers around the world.

10 (b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this title are—

11                         (1) to authorize the establishment of a trust 12                         funded by certain tariff revenues to support sci-13                         entific research, technical assistance, and develop-14                         ment activities to combat citrus diseases and pests, 15                         both domestic and invasive, harming the United 16                         States; and

1       the Trade Act of 1974, as added by section 103(a)
2       of this Act.

3       (c) EFFECT ON OTHER ACTIVITIES.—Nothing in this 4 title restricts the use of any funds for scientific research
5 and technical activities in the United States.
