A BILL

To secure the Federal voting rights of persons who have been released from incarceration.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-

2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3       SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4       This Act may be cited as the “Democracy Restoration

5       Act of 2014”.

6       SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7       The Congress makes the following findings:

1                   (1) The right to vote is the most basic constitutive act of citizenship. Regaining the right to vote reintegrates individuals with criminal convictions into free society, helping to enhance public safety.

5                   (2) Article I, section 4 of the Constitution grants Congress ultimate supervisory power over Federal elections, an authority which has repeatedly been upheld by the United States Supreme Court.

9                   (3) Basic constitutional principles of fairness and equal protection require an equal opportunity for citizens of the United States to vote in Federal elections. The right to vote may not be abridged or denied by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, gender or previous condition of servitude. The 13th, 14th, 15th, 19th, 24th, and 26th Amendments to the Constitution empower Congress to enact measures to protect the right to vote in Federal elections. The 8th Amendment to the Constitution provides for no excessive bail to be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

22                  (4) There are 3 areas in which discrepancies in State laws regarding criminal convictions lead to unfairness:

1                             (A) The lack of a uniform standard for 2                             voting in Federal elections leads to an unfair
3                             disparity and unequal participation in Federal 4                             elections based solely on where a person lives.

5                             (B) Laws governing the restoration of vot-
6                             ing rights after a criminal conviction vary 7                             throughout the country and persons in some 8                             States can easily regain their voting rights
9                             while in other States persons effectively lose 10                            their right to vote permanently.

11                            (C) State disenfranchisement laws dis-
12                            proportionately impact racial and ethnic minori-13                            ties.

14                           (5) Two States do not disenfranchise individ-15                            uals with criminal convictions at all (Maine and 16                            Vermont), but 48 States and the District of Colum-17                            bia have laws that deny convicted individuals the 18                            right to vote while they are in prison.

19                           (6) In some States disenfranchisement results 20                            from varying State laws that restrict voting while in-21                            dividuals are under the supervision of the criminal 22                            justice system or after they have completed a crimi-
23                            nal sentence. In 35 States, convicted individuals may 24                            not vote while they are on parole and 31 of those 25                            States disenfranchise individuals on felony probation

1 as well. In 11 States, a conviction can result in life-
2 time disenfranchisement.

3 (7) Several States deny the right to vote to in-
4 dividuals convicted of certain misdemeanors.

5 (8) An estimated 5,850,000 citizens of the 6 United States, or about 1 in 40 adults in the United 7 States, currently cannot vote as a result of a felony
8 conviction. Of the estimated 5,850,000 citizens
9 barred from voting, only 25 percent are in prison.
10 By contrast, 75 percent of the disenfranchised reside 11 in their communities while on probation or parole or 12 after having completed their sentences. Approx-13 imately 2,600,000 citizens who have completed their 14 sentences remain disenfranchised due to restrictive
15 state laws. In 6 States (Alabama, Florida, Kentucky, 16 Mississippi, Tennessee, and Virginia) more than 7
17 percent of the total population is disenfranchised.

18 (9) In those States that disenfranchise individ-19 uals who have completed their sentence, the right to 20 vote can be regained in theory, but in practice this 21 possibility is often granted in a non-uniform and po-22 tentially discriminatory manner. Disenfranchised in-23 dividuals must either obtain a pardon or an order
24 from the Governor or an action by the parole or par-
25 don board, depending on the offense and State. Indi-

1       viduals convicted of a Federal offense often have ad-
2       ditional barriers to regaining voting rights.

(10) State disenfranchisement laws disproportionately impact racial and ethnic minorities. Approximately 8 percent of the African-American population, or more than 2,000,000 African-Americans, are disenfranchised. Given current rates of incarceration, approximately 1 in 3 of the next generation of African-American men will be disenfranchised at some point during their lifetimes. Currently, 1 of every 13 African-Americans are rendered unable to vote because of felony disenfranchisement, a rate 4 times greater than non African-Americans (7.7 percent of African-Americans versus 1.8 percent of non African-Americans). In 3 States (Florida, 23 percent; Kentucky, 22 percent; and Virginia, 20 percent) more than 1 in 5 African-Americans are unable to vote because of prior convictions.

(11) Latino citizens are disproportionately disenfranchised based upon their disproportionate representation in the criminal justice system. If current incarceration trends hold, 17 percent of Latino men will be incarcerated during their lifetimes, in contrast to less than 6 percent of non-Latino White men. When analyzing the data across 10 States,

1       Latinos generally have disproportionately higher
2       rates of disenfranchisement compared to their pres-
3       ence in the voting age population. In 6 out of 10
4       States studied in 2003, Latinos constitute more
5       than 10 percent of the total number of persons
6       disenfranchised by State felony laws. In 4 States
7       (California, 37 percent; New York, 34 percent;
8       Texas, 30 percent; and Arizona, 27 percent) Latinos 9       were disenfranchised by a rate of more than 25 per-10      cent.

11           (12) Disenfranchising citizens who have been 12       convicted of a criminal offense and who are living
13       and working in the community serves no compelling 14       State interest and hinders their rehabilitation and 15       reintegration into society.

16           (13) State disenfranchisement laws can sup-
17       press electoral participation among eligible voters by 18       discouraging voting among family and community
19       members of disenfranchised persons. Future elec-
20       toral participation by the children of disenfranchised
21       parents may be impacted as well.

22           (14) The United States is the only Western de-
23       mocracy that permits the permanent denial of voting
24       rights for individuals with felony convictions.

1   SEC. 3. RIGHTS OF CITIZENS.

2       (a) PROTECTION OF RIGHTS TO VOTE.—The right
3   of an individual who is a citizen of the United States to 4   vote in any election for Federal office shall not be denied

6   a criminal offense unless such individual is serving a fel-7   ony sentence in a correctional institution or facility at the 8   time of the election.

9       (b) CONDITIONING USE OF FEDERAL PRISON FUNDS
10   ON NOTIFICATION OF RIGHTS.—

14   place of incarceration, any Federal grant amounts 15   unless that person has in effect a program under 16   which each individual incarcerated in that person's 17   jurisdiction who is a citizen of the United States is 18   notified, upon release from such incarceration, of 19   that individual's rights under this section.

7 (3), if the violation is not corrected within 90 days
8 after receipt of a notice under paragraph (1), or 9 within 20 days after receipt of the notice if the viola-10 tion occurred within 120 days before the date of an 11 election for Federal office, the aggrieved person
12 may, in a civil action, obtain declaratory or injunc-
13 tive relief with respect to the violation.

14                  (3) EXCEPTION.—If the violation occurred 15 within 30 days before the date of an election for 16 Federal office, the aggrieved person need not provide 17 notice to the chief election official of the State under 18 paragraph (1) before bringing a civil action to obtain 19 declaratory or injunctive relief with respect to the 20 violation.

21                 SEC. 5. NOTIFICATION OF RESTORATION OF VOTING
22                   RIGHTS.

17       to serve a term of imprisonment for a fel-
18       ony conviction).

19                         (B) MISDEMEANOR CONVICTION.—In the

23 to serve a term of imprisonment for a fel-
24 ony conviction).
