5                   ceding the first day of such service;
6                   “(v) notwithstanding clause (iv)—

7                   “(I) in the case of any borrower
8                   described in such clause whose call or 9                   order to duty is cancelled before the 10                  first day of the service described in 11                  subclause (I) or (II) of clause (iii) be-12                  cause of a personal injury in connec-
13                  tion with training to prepare for such 14                  service, during the period described in 15                  clause (iv) and during an additional 16                  period equal to the duration of such 17                  service, as specified by or otherwise
18                  determined in the original call or 19                  order to duty; and

20                  “(II) in the case of any borrower
21                  whose call or order to duty is can-22                  celled before the first day of such 23                  service for a reason other than an in-24                  jury described in subclause (I), during 25                  the period beginning on the date the

1                   call or order to duty is received by the 2                   borrower and ending on the date that 3                   is 14 days after such call or order to 4                   duty is cancelled; and”;

5                   (7) in clause (vi) (as redesignated by paragraph 6                   (5)), by striking “not in excess” and inserting “dur-
7                   ing any period not in excess”.

8                   (b) DIRECT LOANS.—Section 455(f)(2) of the Higher

23                  striking “or” after the semicolon;

24                  (5) by redesignating subparagraph (D) as sub-
25                  paragraph (F);

1                             (6) by inserting after subparagraph (C) the fol-
2                             lowing:

3                             “(D) in the case of any borrower who has 4                             received a call or order to duty described in 5                             clause (i) or (ii) of subparagraph (C), during 6                             the shorter of—

7                             “(i) the period beginning on the date
8                             such call or order to duty is received by 9                             the borrower and ending on the first day
10                            of the service described in clause (i) or (ii)
11                            of subparagraph (C); and 12                            “(ii) the 180-day period preceding the 13                            first day of such service;

14                            “(E) notwithstanding subparagraph (D)—

15                            “(i) in the case of any borrower de-
16                             scribed in such subparagraph whose call or 17                             order to duty is cancelled before the first 18                             day of the service described in clause (i) or 19                             (ii) of subparagraph (C) because of a per-20                             sonal injury in connection with training to 21                             prepare for such service, during the period
22                             described in subparagraph (D) and during 23                             an additional period equal to the duration
24                             of such service, as specified by or otherwise

1                   determined in the original call or order to 2                   duty; and

3                   “(ii) in the case of any borrower
4                   whose call or order to duty is cancelled be-
5                   fore the first day of such service for a rea-
6                   son other than an injury described in 7                   clause (i), during the period beginning on 8                   the date the call or order to duty is re-9                   ceived by the borrower and ending on the 10                  date that is 14 days after such call or 11                  order to duty is cancelled; and”;

12                 (7) in subparagraph (F) (as redesignated by 13                 paragraph (5)), by striking “not in excess” and in-14                 serting “during any period not in excess”.

15                 (c) PERKINS LOANS.—Section 464(c)(2)(A) of the 16                 Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C.
17                 1087dd(c)(2)(A)) is amended—

18                 (1) in the matter preceding clause (i), by strik-
19                 ing “during any period”;

20                 (2) in clause (i), by striking “during which”
21                 and inserting “during any period during which”;

22                 (3) in clause (ii), by striking “not in excess”
23                 and inserting “during any period not in excess”;

24                 (4) in clause (iii), by striking “during which”
25                 and inserting “during any period during which”;

1                         (5) by redesignating clauses (iv) and (v) as 2                         clauses (vi) and (vii), respectively;

3                         (6) by inserting after clause (iii) the following:

4                                 “(iv) in the case of any borrower who has 5                         received a call or order to duty described in 6                         subclause (I) or (II) of clause (iii), during the 7                         shorter of—

8                                 “(I) the period beginning on the date
9                         such call or order to duty is received by 10                         the borrower and ending on the first day
11                         of the service described in subclause (I) or 12                         (II) of clause (iii); and

13                                 “(II) the 180-day period preceding 14                         the first day of such service;

15                                 “(v) notwithstanding clause (iv)—

16                                 “(I) in the case of any borrower de-
17                         scribed in such clause whose call or order 18                         to duty is cancelled before the first day of 19                         the service described in subclause (I) or 20                         (II) of clause (iii) because of a personal in-21                         jury in connection with training to prepare 22                         for such service, during the period de-
23                         scribed in clause (iv) and during an addi-24                         tional period equal to the duration of such 25                         service, as specified by or otherwise deter-

18           (d) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in the 19 amendments made by this section shall be construed to 20 authorize any refunding of any repayment of a loan.

21       (e) APPLICABILITY.—The amendments made by this 22 section shall apply with respect to all loans made, insured,
23 or guaranteed under title IV of the Higher Education Act
24 of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1070 et seq.).

1 SEC. 3. CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.

2       Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20
