A BILL

To reinstate reporting requirements related to United States-Hong Kong relations.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Hong Kong Human Rights and Democracy Act”.

1 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2 Congress makes the following findings:

3 (1) The Joint Declaration of the Government of 4 the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern 5 Ireland and the Government of the People’s Repub-6 lic of China on the Question of Hong Kong, done at 7 Beijing December 19, 1984 (in this Act referred to 8 as the “Joint Declaration”—

9 (A) provided that the People’s Republic of 10 China resumed sovereignty over Hong Kong on 11 July 1, 1997; and

12 (B) established a “high degree of auton-13 omy” for Hong Kong except in matters of for-14 eign affairs and defense.

15 (2) The Basic Law of the Hong Kong Special 16 Administrative Region of the People’s Republic of 17 China (in this Act referred to as “Basic Law”—

18 (A) guarantees Hong Kong a “high degree 19 of autonomy” and separate executive, legisla-
20 tive, and independent judicial powers;

21 (B) generally prohibits the central Govern-
22 ment of the People’s Republic of China from 23 interfering in the affairs that Hong Kong ad-24 ministers on its own according to the Basic 25 Law;

1 (C) protects the rights to free speech,
 2 press, assembly, and religion;

3 (D) provides that the socialist system and 4 policies shall not be practiced in Hong Kong 5 and that Hong Kong’s capitalist system and 6 way of life shall remain unchanged for 50 years
 7 (the principle of “one country, two systems”);

8 (E) affirms the continuing applicability of 9 the International Covenant on Civil and Polit-
 10 ical Rights to Hong Kong;

11 (F) provides that the head of the Hong 12 Kong Special Administrative Region shall be 13 the Chief Executive;

14 (G) provides that “the ultimate aim is the 15 selection of the Chief Executive by universal 16 suffrage upon nomination by a broadly rep-17 resentative nominating committee in accordance 18 with democratic procedures”;

19 (H) provides that the legislature of the 20 Hong Kong Special Administrative Region shall 21 be the Legislative Council; and 22 (I) provides that “the ultimate aim is the 23 election of all the members of the Legislative 24 Council by universal suffrage”.

1 (3) The National People's Congress Standing
2 Committee (NPCSC) determined on December 29,
3 2007, that Hong Kong could elect the Chief Execu-4 tive by universal suffrage beginning in 2017, and 5 that Hong Kong could thereafter elect the Legisla-
6 tive Council by universal suffrage beginning in 2020.

7 (4) The Chief Executive is currently selected by 8 an Election Committee consisting of 1,200 members.
9 In order to run, candidates for Chief Executive must 10 currently receive the support of one-eighth of the 11 members of the Election Committee, the majority of 12 whom reportedly support or have ties to the Chinese 13 Communist Party.

14 (5) On August 31, 2014, the NPCSC deter-15 mined that the 2017 election for the Chief Executive 16 could be held by universal suffrage but that Hong 17 Kong voters could only choose from two to three 18 candidates, each of whom is to be chosen by a ma-
19 jority of a nominating committee similar to the cur-20 rent Election Committee that is heavily controlled by 21 pro-Beijing members.

22 (6) International standards for elections, in-23 cluding Article 21 of the Universal Declaration of 24 Human Rights and Article 25 of the International 25 Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, guarantee

1 citizens the right to vote and to be elected in gen-
2 uine periodic elections by universal and equal suf-
3 frage without unreasonable restrictions.

4 (7) Hundreds of thousands of Hong Kong resi-
5 dents have consistently and peacefully expressed 6 their dissatisfaction with the electoral reform plans
7 of the Hong Kong government and the Government
8 of the People's Republic of China, including the Au-
9 gust 2014 NPCSC decision, and have called for a 10 genuine choice in elections that meet international 11 standards. Their peaceful and orderly protests have 12 set an example for other democratic movements
13 around the world, including those in mainland China
14 who continue to fight for their fundamental free-15 doms.

16 (8) Media reports indicate that Hong Kong po-
17 lice used tear gas and pepper spray against dem-
18 onstrators on September 28, 2014, and that police 19 allegedly failed to adequately protect demonstrators 20 from mobs of counter-protestors, some of whom had 21 affiliations with gangs known as “triads”, who beat 22 students and forcibly tried to remove them from 23 their places of protest. There have also been several 24 accusations of excessive use of force by the Hong 25 Kong Police which are under investigation.

1 (9) The United States enjoys close economic,
2 social, and cultural ties with Hong Kong. According 3 to the Department of State, 60,000 United States
4 citizens live in Hong Kong, and 1,400 United States
5 businesses have offices there. According to the Office
6 of the United States Trade Representative, Hong 7 Kong is the United States 18th largest trade part-8 ner and 9th largest goods export market.

9 (10) Hong Kong's unique status as an inter-10 national finance center where the rule of law and the 11 rights and freedoms of its citizens are protected has 12 served as the foundation for Hong Kong's stability 13 and prosperity.

14 (11) Section 301 of the Hong Kong Policy Act 15 of 1992 (22 U.S.C. 5731) required the Secretary of 16 State to issue reports on conditions in Hong Kong
17 of interest to the United States, including the devel-
18 opment of democratic institutions in Hong Kong, 19 and the last report under section 301 was issued on 20 June 30, 2007.

21 (12) Failure to establish a genuine democratic 22 option to nominate and elect the Chief Executive of 23 Hong Kong by 2017 and to establish open and di-24 rect democratic elections for all members of the 25 Hong Kong Legislative Council by 2020 would re-

1 duce confidence in the commitment of the Govern-
2 ment of the People’s Republic of China to uphold its 3 obligations under international law, and would erode 4 the ability of Hong Kong to retain a high degree of 5 autonomy.

6 (13) During an October 2014 session, the 7 United Nations Human Rights Committee, con-
8 sisting of 18 independent experts, reviewed China’s 9 compliance with the International Covenant on Civil 10 and Political Rights with respect to Hong Kong. Ac-
11 cording to the session’s chair, the Committee agreed 12 on “the need to ensure universal suffrage, which 13 means both the right to be elected as well as the 14 right to vote. The main concerns of Committee 15 members were focused on the right to stand for elec-
16 tions without unreasonable restrictions.”. Another 17 Committee member said that the “committee doesn’t 18 want candidates filtered. The problem is that Beijing 19 wants to vet candidates.”.

20 (14) The Congressional-Executive Commission
21 on China’s 2014 Annual Report found that press
22 freedom in Hong Kong is under threat, including re-23 ports of “violent attacks on individuals associated 24 with the press, self-censorship among journalists,

1 and pressure from the Hong Kong and central gov-
2 ernments and mainland Chinese businesses.”.

3 (15) The Hong Kong Journalists Association’s
4 2014 Annual Report noted that Hong Kong journal-
5 ists rated self-censorship at 6.9 on a 10-point scale, 6 which the Association considered a “low level” of 7 press freedom.

8 (16) Hong Kong ranked 61st among 180 coun-
9 tries in Reporters Without Borders’ 2014 World 10 Press Freedom Index, down three places from the 11 previous year and a significant decline from 2002
12 when Hong Kong ranked 18th.

13 (17) By providing timely, uncensored, accurate
14 information in their native language, United States
15 international broadcast services, through the Broad-16 casting Board of Governors, help those living in 17 countries with poor human rights records, such as 18 China, to better defend their human rights and hold 19 their government accountable.

20 SEC. 3. STATEMENT OF POLICY.

21 It is the policy of the United States—

22 (1) to reaffirm the principles and objectives set 23 forth in the United States-Hong Kong Policy Act of 24 1992, namely that—

- 1 (A) the United States has “a strong interest in the continued vitality, prosperity, and stability of Hong Kong”;
- 2 (B) “support for democratization is a fundamental principle of United States foreign policy”;
- 3 (C) “the human rights of the people of Hong Kong are of great importance to the United States and are directly relevant to United States interests in Hong Kong”;
- 4 (D) human rights “serve as a basis for Hong Kong’s continued economic prosperity”; and
- 5 (E) Hong Kong must remain sufficiently autonomous from the People’s Republic of China to justify a different treatment under a particular law of the United States, or any provision thereof, from that accorded the People’s Republic of China;
- 6 (2) to support the democratic aspirations of the people of Hong Kong, as guaranteed to them by the Joint Declaration, the Basic Law, the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights;

1 (3) to urge the Government of the People's Re-
2 public of China to uphold its commitments to Hong
3 Kong, including allowing the people of Hong Kong
4 to rule Hong Kong with a high degree of autonomy 5 and without undue interference, and ensuring that 6 Hong Kong voters freely enjoy the right to elect the 7 Chief Executive and all members of the Hong Kong
8 Legislative Council by universal suffrage;

9 (4) to support the establishment by 2017 of a 10 genuine democratic option to freely and fairly nomi-
11 nate and elect the Chief Executive of Hong Kong, 12 and the establishment by 2020 of open and direct 13 democratic elections for all members of the Hong 14 Kong Legislative Council; and 15 (5) to support press freedom and journalistic 16 independence, including the continuation of inter-

17 national broadcasting programming in Cantonese
18 that is readily accessible to Cantonese speaking pop-19 ulations in China and in Hong Kong.

20 SEC. 4. REINSTATEMENT OF REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

21 RELATED TO UNITED STATES-HONG KONG

22 RELATIONS.

23 Section 301 of the United States-Hong Kong Policy
24 Act of 1992 (22 U.S.C. 5731) is amended—
