1 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2 Congress finds the following:

3 (1) There are an estimated 2,200,000 domestic 4 employees across the United States working in pri-5 vate homes to provide direct care, child care, and 6 house-cleaning services.

7 (2) Domestic work is a job-enabling job that 8 makes all other work possible. It is labor that cannot 9 be outsourced to individuals abroad, nor is it close 10 to being automated. Without the millions of domes-11 tic employees caring for children, seniors, and people 12 with disabilities, and cleaning homes, much of the 13 economy would come to a standstill.

14 (3) During the COVID–19 pandemic, domestic 15 work and other low-wage service jobs, disproportion-16 ately held by women, women of color, and immi-17 grants, were deemed essential. This crisis showed 18 how essential these jobs have always been to our 19 economy. At great risk to the health of themselves 20 and their families, domestic employees worked on 21 the frontlines of the pandemic to provide care to 22 those more vulnerable to COVID–19, seniors, and 23 individuals with disabilities, and provided child care
24 for the children of essential workers and other work-
25 ers. A study of Black immigrant domestic employees 26 conducted by the Institute for Policy Studies and

1 the National Domestic Workers Alliance in May and 2 June of 2020 found that 25 percent of employees 3 surveyed experienced or lived with someone who had 4 experienced COVID–19 symptoms. Seventy-three 5 percent of such employees surveyed indicated that 6 they did not receive personal protective equipment
7 (“PPE”) from their employers.

8 (4) Domestic employees experienced a rapid 9 and sustained loss of jobs during the COVID–19 10 pandemic, which exacerbated the existing financial 11 insecurity experienced by many domestic employees.
12 Surveys from the National Domestic Workers Alli-
13 ance and NDWA Labs between March and Sep-
14 tember 2020 found that for 6 consecutive months, 15 more than half of domestic employees surveyed were 16 unable to pay their rent or mortgage. Nearly 75 per-17 cent of employees surveyed did not receive any com-18 pensation when their jobs were canceled.

19 (5) The employment of individuals in domestic 20 service in households affects commerce, as described 21 in section 2(a) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 22 1938 (29 U.S.C. 202(a)), and thus many domestic 23 employees are employees covered under the Fair 24 Labor Standards Act of 1938. Moreover, domestic

1 services provided by any domestic employee for an 2 employer affect commerce.

3 (6) Domestic employees are hired or contacted 4 for work by phone, mail, or internet, or through 5 newspaper ads, and travel to work through transpor-6 tation on interstate highways, interstate transit, or 7 vehicles in interstate commerce.

8 (7) In 2025, the Bureau of Labor Statistics
9 predicted that between 2023 and 2033—

10 (A) the number of new jobs for home 11 health and personal care aides will increase by 12 21 percent, which is an increase of 820,500 13 jobs; and

14 (B) approximately 162,500 openings for 15 child care positions are projected each year, on 16 average, during such period.

17 (8) An increasing number of employees, includ-
18 ing domestic employees, are finding work on online
19 platforms. An analysis from the JPMorgan Chase 20 Institute found that between 2013 and 2020, the 21 percentage of adults that had earned income from 22 online platforms increased from 0.3 percent to 2.5
23 percent.

24 (9) Nearly 9 out of 10 domestic employees are 25 women and such women are disproportionately peo-

1 ple of color and immigrants. Women, people of color, 2 and immigrants have historically faced barriers to 3 employment and economic advancement. According 4 to the Economic Policy Institute, domestic employ-5 ees also tend to be older than other employees. Two 6 in 5 domestic employees are age 50 or older, while 7 just $\frac{1}{3}$ of all other employees are at least 50 years 8 old.

9 (10) Domestic employees are paid low wages,
10 can be subjected to workplace health and safety haz-11 ards, and face difficulties saving for retirement. An 12 Economic Policy Institute analysis of data from the 13 Current Population Survey indicates that the me-14 dian wage for a domestic employee is approximately 15 $16.58 per hour, and an Economic Policy Institute
16 analysis of data from the American Community Sur-17 vey indicates that the median annual wage for such 18 an employee is approximately $20,926. In practice, 19 the median hourly and annual wages for domestic 20 employees are less than those approximations given 21 that domestic work has largely been negotiated in 22 the informal labor market.

23 (11) Domestic employees experience high rates 24 of poverty. An Economic Policy Institute analysis of 25 data from the Current Population Survey found do-

1 mestic workers to be 3 times as likely to be living
2 below the Federal poverty level than other workers, 3 and nearly 3 times as likely to be struggling to make 4 ends meet compared to other workers.

5 (12) Low-wage employees, including domestic 6 employees, experience high rates of minimum wage 7 and overtime violations, violations of laws related to 8 workers' compensation and other workplace benefits, 9 and illegal retaliation. A 2017 study from the Eco-
10 nomic Policy Institute found that 2,400,000 employ-11 ees, 17 percent of the low-wage workforce, experi-12 ences wage theft. A 2009 report from the National 13 Employment Law Project found that employment in 14 private homes was one of the 3 industries with the 15 highest rates of employment and labor law viola-16 tions.

17 (13) A landmark study of domestic employees
18 published in 2012 by the National Domestic Work-
19 ers Alliance, the Center for Urban Economic Devel-20 opment of the University of Illinois at Chicago, and 21 DataCenter titled "Home Economics: The Invisible
22 and Unregulated World of Domestic Work" indi-23 cated poor working conditions across the domestic 24 service industry. The results of this study were later 25 published in a 2019 academic article titled "Work-

1 place Health and Safety Hazards Faced by the In-2 formally Employed Domestic Workers in the United 3 States” in the journal Workplace Health & Safety.
4 The findings of such study included that—

5 (A) domestic employees have little control
6 over their working conditions and employment
7 is usually arranged without a written contract;

8 (B) 35 percent of domestic employees
9 interviewed reported that they worked long
10 hours without breaks in the year immediately 11 preceding the interview;

12 (C) 25 percent of live-in domestic employ-
13 ees had responsibilities that prevented them
14 from getting at least 5 hours of uninterrupted 15 sleep at night during the week immediately pre-16 ceding the interview; and

17 (D) 65 percent of domestic employees
18 interviewed who encountered problems with 19 their working conditions in the year imme-
20 diately preceding the interview did not complain 21 about their working conditions because they 22 were afraid they would lose their job.

23 (14) A 2018 study from the Economic Policy
24 Institute found that domestic employees have little

1 access to federally supported employment benefits.

2 For instance—

3 (A) less than 10 percent of such employees

4 receive employer-sponsored retirement benefits;

5 and

6 (B) less than 20 percent of such employees

7 receive employer-sponsored health insurance.

8 (15) Compounding these challenges is the fact

9 that many domestic employees have been, and in 10 many cases continue to be, excluded from key provi-

11 sions of labor and employment laws like the Occupa-

12 tional Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C.

13 651 et seq.) and the National Labor Relations Act

14 (29 U.S.C. 151 et seq.). Live-in domestic employees

15 solely employed by private households remain ex-

16 cluded from the overtime protections under the Fair

17 Labor Standards Act of 1938 (29 U.S.C. 201 et 18 seq.). Minimum employee threshold rules,

19 misclassification of domestic employees as inde-

20 pendent contractors, and exclusion of independent

21 contractors from coverage mean that most domestic

22 employees are also de facto excluded from Federal

23 civil rights protections, including protections under 24 title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (29 U.S.C.

25 2000e et seq.) and other laws.

1 (16) The International Labour Organization's 2 Domestic Workers Convention, adopted in 2011, 3 calls for domestic employees to have the right to 4 freedom of association and collective actions, protec-5 tions against harassment, privacy rights, and the 6 right to be informed of conditions of employment.
7 This Convention also calls for the right of domestic 8 employees to keep their travel documents, the right
9 to overtime compensation and rest breaks, the right 10 to minimum wage coverage, the right to occupational 11 safety and health protections, and mechanisms to 12 pursue complaints and ensure compliance with the 13 law.

14 (17) The unique nature of their work, in pri-15 vate homes with individuals and families, also often 16 makes it difficult for domestic employees to use Fed-17 eral programs and policies to improve their skills
18 and training and to join together collectively to ne-19 gotiate better pay and working conditions.

20 (18) Many domestic employees are also vulner-21 able to discrimination and sexual harassment. These 22 issues are further exacerbated by the unique working 23 conditions faced by domestic employees, such as iso-
24 lation, poverty, immigration status, the lack of fa-
25 miliarity with the law and legal processes, limited

1 networks for support, language barriers, and fear of 2 retaliation and deportation.

3 (19) Millions of older individuals, individuals 4 with disabilities, and families are increasingly relying 5 on domestic employees. Transforming domestic work 6 jobs into good jobs with family sustaining wages and 7 access to benefits can reduce high turnover due to 8 poor working conditions, thereby enhancing quality 9 of care, and supporting the millions of working and 10 retired people of the United States who rely on 11 them.
