

GERALD FETCHER SPEAKS FOR THE CHILDREN

HON. MARSHALL "MARK" SANFORD

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 7, 1995

Mr. SANFORD. Mr. Speaker, for the past few weeks a constituent of mine, Gerald Fletcher, has paid for an ad to appear in the Washington Times. The text of the ad follows:

"AN APPEAL TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES"

Please do not give in to the demands of President Clinton. We must balance the budget in seven years. America is already five trillion dollars in debt, which is over $18,000 per person (including newborn babies). Kids don't have the right to vote, they can't vote on their own future.

It is very selfish for politicians to appeal to voters by giving them more benefits (to get votes), and destroy the future of America.

Please hang in there Congress and Senate, do not give in to the selfish demands of President Clinton.

I commend Mr. Fletcher for taking the initiative to make sure that his voice is heard. He speaks for most Americans. Balance the budget now.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN 100TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. MIKE WARD

OF KENTUCKY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 7, 1995

Mr. WARD. Mr. Speaker, it is my honor and pleasure to congratulate the National Council of Jewish Women, Louisville section on its 100th year of birth. Over those 100 years the council has been undaunted in its commitment to serve the community of Louisville.

The Louisville Chapter of NCJW has admirably fought for the protection of women, children, and the elderly. They have acted as a community foundation in the upgrading, safeguarding, and the protection of public education.

The basis for the success of the NCJW has been its hands-on volunteering. This volunteer experience is a phenomenon shared through a century by people bound together through religion, culture, and history.

Throughout their existence the National Council of Jewish Women have been a positive force for decency, dignity, and respect for the individual in the Louisville community. I salute them on their 100th anniversary.

LEGACY OF LEADERSHIP WILL BE REMEMBERED

HON. JAMES A. BARCIA

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 7, 1995

Mr. BARCIA. Mr. Speaker, advocates for second amendment rights, the people of Michigan, and conservationists have lost a great friend. Tom Washington, President of the National Rifle Association [NRA], died of heart failure on December 5, 1995.

Probably one of the most important aspects of Tom's career was his leadership in the NRA. A member of the board of directors since 1985, Tom served as second and first vice president until he was elected to serve as president in 1994. He strengthened the NRA and acquired new state-of-the-art headquarters in Fairfax, VA. As president he improved many NRA programs including hunter services, and founded the NRA's Youth Hunter Education Challenge.

Michigan has been fortunate to be served by Tom Washington who played a key role in preserving land in Michigan. His commitment to this goal was demonstrated when he wrote the administrative rules for the cornerstone of Michigan's land use program—the Michigan Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act which has been the model for land preservation legislation in Michigan. He also assisted in drafting legislation to create and then served as a member of the board for the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund. The trust is used to purchase prime recreational lands for public use.

An avid hunter and outdoorsman, Tom understood the importance of a healthy environment and was dedicated to protecting our natural resources. Tom served on the board of directors of the National Wildlife Federation, the Safari Club International and received the Safari Club's International Chairman's Award. Tom was presented with the Miles D. Pirnie Award by the Michigan Duck Hunters Association for his leadership in preserving wetlands and wetlands wildlife.

Tom could not have achieved these great accomplishments without the support of his loving family and is survived by his wife, Joanne and their six children; Miriam, David, Heidi, Susan, Steven, and Christy.

Please join me in remembering and honoring Tom's legacy of combining environmental consciousness and second amendment rights. Tom realized that these goals are not mutually exclusive and spent his lifetime protecting the two.

TRIBUTE TO MS. BONNIE WARR

HON. CHARLES WILSON

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 7, 1995

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, today I ask that you join me in recognizing the achievements of Ms. Bonnie Warr of Pineland, TX.

Bonnie is one of those truly good, kind, and dedicated people who at the midpoint of life suddenly rediscovers the joys of education. A friend of hers says that a stint working in my office started the process, and helped her discover that she was just as smart as everyone else. I take no real credit for Bonnie's hard-earned success, but I am happy to trumpet it as an example of the benefits of education at any age.

On December 16, 1995, Bonnie will receive her masters of business administration diploma from Stephen F. Austin State University. She made the decision to jump back into the academic fray in 1988, earning an associates degree in 1991 and a bachelor of business administration degree in 1992. In May 1994, she received a secondary education certification that will allow her to share the wealth and teach English, mathematics, and business curriculums to high school students.

Bonnie started her new academic life with typical enthusiasm and with the happy encouragement and support of her husband Royce and daughters Angela Warr Lopez and Kendra Warr. Kendra will join her mother on the dais December 16 to receive her bachelor of arts degree.

Too many times people are guilty of saying "I would have liked to do this, but now it's too late" or "I'm too old." Bonnie is an inspiration to all of those who fall into this trap. I join her family and coworkers at Temple-Eastex in saluting her fortitude, perseverance, and persistence.

TRIBUTE TO SISTER RITA M.
MEANEY

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 7, 1995

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct pleasure to acknowledge Sister Rita Meaney, a native New Yorker. She belongs to the Sisters of Charity, and began her career as a child care worker at St. Agatha's Home for Children in Nanuet, NY. She rose quickly to become director of child care, and eventually its assistant administrator.

Sister Rita attended the College of Mount St. Vincent, from which she received her undergraduate degree. She earned her master's degree in social work from Fordham University. Sister Rita is a certified social worker and licensed nursing home administrator.

Sister Rita is committed to volunteerism, especially as it relates to providing for the needs of troubled families and children. She currently serves as executive director of St. Joseph Services for Children and Families. Under her guidance, St. Joseph has not only grown but thrived under Sister Rita's direction. The Service offers community-based programs in the prevention of child abuse and neglect; and encourages independent living skills among adolescents. St. Joseph also targets the special needs of foster care children with AIDS; and provides vital services such as health care, psychological counseling, and educational and vocational guidance. I am pleased to acknowledge her unique contributions and selfless service to humanity.

DR. JULIUS C. DIX; AN EDUCATOR FOR ALL AGES

HON. WILLIAM (BILL) CLAY

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 7, 1995

Mr. CLAY. Mr. Speaker, the retirement of Dr. Julius C. Dix from the St. Louis Public Schools on October 20, 1995, is a milestone in a brilliant and varied career of an extraordinary educator. For more than 41 years, Dr. Dix has provided service and leadership to the students and staff of the school district. Upon completion of undergraduate school at Lincoln University, Jefferson City, MI, Dr. Dix began his career as an elementary teacher. His talents were recognized very early in his career; consequently, as he earned graduate degrees from Washington University, St. Louis, MO, and Saint Louis University and achieved administrative certification, he was called upon to apply his expertise in a variety of responsible positions. Some of those positions include elementary principal, high school principal, district superintendent, assistant superintendent, area superintendent, and associate superintendent.

A continuing commitment to the education of students of all ages is reflected in Dr. Dix's activities as head guidance counselor and administrative assistant at Oberlin College for the Special Opportunities Program for Junior High School Disadvantaged Youngsters. He has served on the board of directors of the Parent-Child Center of the Human Development Corporation of St. Louis, Model Cities Day Care, Northside Home for Delinquent Boys, Edgewood Home for Youth with Special Problems, and president of the board of directors of Annie Malone Children's Home. He currently serves on the board of directors of the William L. Clay Scholarship and Research Fund.

Dr. Dix, a dedicated proponent of lifelong learning, has been active in post-secondary education as a visiting lecturer at Harris Stowe State College, University of Missouri-St. Louis, University of Wisconsin, Saint Louis University, University of Illinois, and Southern Illinois University. He also served on the board of curators of Lincoln University from 1973-81. His involvement with community projects and organizations includes coordinator for Banneker Community Project, Ford Foundation, Danforth Foundation Metropolitan Leadership Program, Family and Children's Service, Clayton Committee, Yeatman Community Corporation's Education Committee, and chairman of St. Louis County Human Rights Commission.

For many years Dr. Dix has been an outspoken advocate for early childhood education and was director of Project Headstart for St. Louis/St. Louis County from 1966-68. In addition, he has served as a parental involvement panelist at national Headstart conferences and as a member of the National Advisory Committee for Project Headstart. He was also a member of the President's Committee on Headstart, 1968, and served as a Federal mediator for Headstart programs in Sunflower County, MO.

The contributions of Dr. Dix have been recognized by many organizations and groups through numerous awards such as: Lincoln Alumni Citation of Merit, Outstanding Alumni; National Association of University Women Award for Educational Administration and Christian Stewardship; Boy Scouts of America—Field Leaders Award; St. Louis Argus Distinguished Public Service Award; Outstanding Educator Award, Lemoyne-Owen College; Headstart Distinguished Service Award. He was inducted into Vashon High School's Hall of Fame in 1987.

Throughout the years that Dr. Dix worked diligently to improve education for students of all ages, he also utilized his interest in literature, music, and art to enlighten the minds and lighten the spirits of people he encountered. He frequently shared with others his love for poetry and his gift with words earned for him admiration and acclaim. He is well prepared to enjoy his well-earned freedom with interesting new challenges of his own choice. We wish for him continued success in retirement, personal fulfillment with his wife, Bette, and their family, and the contentment that is so well deserved by this educator of all ages.

BALANCE THE BUDGET NOW

HON. WILLIAM J. MARTINI

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 7, 1995

Mr. MARTINI. Mr. Speaker, the flags in our Capitol fly at half mast today for a reason.

Fifty-four years ago, Pearl Harbor was bombed and our Nation was on the brink of one of the greatest challenges we have ever faced.

Our national leaders rallied to the cause and did what was right.

And our people prepared themselves to make the ultimate sacrifice in defense of our great Nation.

Together our Nation rose up to defend itself against the Axis Powers, and turned what was a time of great peril into one of our finest hours.

Today we also face a challenge, not by any means as direct or as obvious, but over time it will become no less dangerous.

That challenge, Mr. Speaker, is to balance the budget, and bring fiscal responsibility to a nation that is threatened, not by an outside invader, but by its own lack of discipline.

If we do not reverse our disturbing trend of deficit spending and alleviate the burdens on the taxpayers of future generations, we will be diminishing the national legacy our parents left us.

Now as we face one of our generation's great challenges, we owe it to both our parents and our children to meet it head on.

This Congress has delivered to the American people that will in fact balance the budget in a fair and reasonable manner.

But sadly, the President has vetoed it.

He is turning away when he should be facing up.

I urge him and my colleagues not to fail in our moment of truth, but to rise up and face the most important issue of our day: balance the budget now, and preserve for our Nation a prosperous and productive future.

TRIBUTE TO NEW YORK'S NATIONAL GUARD AND RESERVISTS IN WORLD WAR II

HON. JAMES T. WALSH

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 7, 1995

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, on this historic day, I offer a tribute to the National Guard and the military reservists of our country, especially for the service of those from my State and Congressional District.

Shortly after the December 7, 1941 attack on Pearl Harbor, 55 years ago today, the 27th Infantry Division, comprised of National Guardsmen from New York's small towns and cities, became the first and only square infantry division to enter the war in the Pacific.

It established defense installations in Hawaii against an anticipated Japanese invasion. These were the first soldiers in the Central Pacific to take offensive action against Japan, the first to invade the Gilberts and the Marianas, and the first to engage in operations carrying the war closer and closer to the enemy's homeland. When World War II ended, the 98th Infantry Division—the Iroquois Division, organized as a New York reserve square division at the close of World War I—occupied Japan and aided war reconstruction efforts. Contributions of these peace-time civilians are described in the book "Soldiers Remember" by J. Arthur Rath of Syracuse, NY:

Within ten days after the attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, two fast convoys left San Francisco loaded with troops. In the next three-and-a-half years, Jones, Kelly, Goldstein, Skorski, Olsen—men with all the fine-sounding American names—came in an olive drab flood to build from Hawaii the road to Tokyo.

They proved a great many things that are part of our heritage and that our enemies believed America had lost. They showed that Americans are still as determined as the day when Thomas Paine sat with ragged revolutionary troops in the chill night of a late fire and wrote that 'Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered.' Then Paine watched and wrote while American civilians turned into soldiers conquered it.

The National Guardsmen of the 27th New York Division were linked to units participating in every one of our country's major conflicts, beginning with the Revolutionary War. Among its regiments was the 165th, the old "Fighting 69th" of "Fighting Irish" of World War I fame. The American soldiers were the first to break the Hindenberg line, the turning point in that war.

Members of the National Guard and military reserve who stand ready to serve their country during peace, as well as during war, helped make the rallying call rising 55 years ago today. "Remember Pearl Harbor"—an expression of determination and triumph.

THE ROSTER OF 27TH DIVISION UNITS (NEW YORK NATIONAL GUARD) AND LOCALITIES FROM WHICH THEY WERE DRAWN ON FEDERAL INDUCTION, 25 SEPTEMBER 1940 IS AS FOLLOWS:
