

Ethiopia, Somalia, Uganda, Kenya, Armenia, and war-torn Bosnia. He has also delivered food to cities across the United States. On several occasions, Feed the Children has distributed tons of food to needy families in my congressional district in New York. For these efforts, and a lifetime of humanitarian service, Reverend Jones has been recognized as Oklahoman of the Year for 1994 by the magazine, Oklahoma Today.

Reverend Jones discovered his calling to help suffering children while on an evangelical mission in Haiti where he witnessed heart-wrenching scenes of hunger. Then he vowed to dedicate his life to service in behalf of hungry people all around the world.

I recall toward the end of the Haiti crisis last year, Reverend Jones and I arranged to have two plane-loads of medical supplies and food delivered to aid the suffering people of Haiti. The military dictators then in power attempted to block the visit, but Reverend Jones persevered and after a few days delay, he took the plane full of supplies to Port-au-Prince.

Reverend Jones has a very deep understanding of the problems of the suffering of the poor. Earlier this year in testimony to the Ways and Means Committee on the welfare reform bill, he reminded Congress that in its zeal to reform the system, they must not forget those who have been left out of the mainstream of our wealthy society. Reverend Jones was joined at the hearing by spokesmen from Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant denominations in an appeal for compassion that has crossed religious lines.

Mr. Speaker, I am very proud to be a friend of Rev. Larry Jones who has dedicated his life to helping those who are less fortunate. In tribute to him and for the edification of my colleagues, I call attention to an excerpt from an article in Oklahoma Today, in which he was recognized as the Oklahoman of the Year for 1994.

The profile of his organization, on the other hand, has never been higher. In 1994, Jones' Oklahoma City-based charity delivered truckloads of donated canned vegetables, antibiotics, wheelchairs, hams, coats, underwear, water purification tablets, books, powdered milk, Christmas candy, and stuffed animals to seventy countries around the world. His organization has heated orphanages in Romania, started loan programs in the Philippines, and supported prenatal clinics in Russia and a home for disabled children in Africa. Jones traveled to Rwandan refugee camps, to Bosnia and Croatia in the midst of war, and during last summer's trade embargo, delivered a plane-load of food and medicine to Haiti just hours after President Bill Clinton announced the U.S. Marines were going in.

Here in the United States, Jones' trucks delivered millions of pounds of supplies to food pantries in places known to be wanting, like Appalachia and Harlem, and places where hunger is more hidden, like Vermont and Denver. He bought a vacant college campus in the heart of Oklahoma City and established a job training program there, then loaned one of the buildings to Head Start. His organization provided disaster relief during catastrophic flooding in south Texas and pinpointed the eight most destitute school systems in each of the fifty states and sent each student a care package at Christmas.

All of this—the $90 million charity, the fleet of trucks, the rides sitting on sacks of food in armored cars into countries at war—has happened, Jones maintains, without any planning on his part.

"Imagine," he says, "you're standing there, and someone hands you a rope and asks you to hold it. Turns out the rope is attached to a hot air balloon, and you just go."

For fifteen years, that ride has been Feed the Children.

TRIBUTE TO RICH BECKER

HON. JAN MEYERS

OF KANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, April 7, 1995

Mrs. MEYERS of Kansas. Mr. Speaker, April 20, 1995, marks the retirement as mayor of Lenexa, KS, of one of Kansas' leading citizens, Mayor Rich Becker.

During Rich Becker's 8 years as mayor, Lenexa has experienced phenomenal economic and residential growth and offers its citizens an extremely high quality of life.

In 1994, Rich Becker reached out to all Kansans and ran for Governor. He conducted his campaign with honor and integrity never saying a bad word about any other candidate. He and his wife, Nancy, traversed Kansas' 400,000 square miles from north to south, from east to west, visiting all 105 Kansas counties and all 627 towns and cities which have mayors—a more vigorous and rigorous campaign than any in history.

Rich Becker has distinguished himself as a selfless public official. The enthusiasm, energy, and integrity with which he has pursued his personal and public goals sets a standard of excellence in public service to which we all should aspire.

MORRISTOWN, NJ: THE SPIRIT OF AMERICA

HON. RODNEY P. FRELINGHUYSEN

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, April 7, 1995

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the town which is the heart of my Congressional District, the historical town of Morristown, NJ, which celebrated the 130th anniversary of its incorporation into Morris County on April 6.

Like many early colonial American towns, Morristown was settled by Puritans searching for religious freedom, as well as industrious newcomers from the coast hoping to capitalize on the wealth of the land. In 1738 the Puritans established their church on the town's square or "Green" and proceeded to harvest the bounty of the land and the richness in the hills. This spirit of freedom and industriousness proved to be the rock upon which was built one of our Nation's greatest towns.

Perhaps, Morristown is most famous for being the military capital of the American Revolution. Gen. George Washington chose the town for its strategic location, iron industry, and citizens' loyalty to the cause of colonial independence. The Continental Army camped there for two bitter winters, with Washington making his headquarters at the home of the early industrialist Jacob Ford. In 1933, President Herbert Hoover established Washington's headquarters at the Ford Mansion as our Nation's first National Historic Park.

After the war and throughout the 19th century, Morristown prospered as the region's industrial capital, in addition to being the county seat of government and an area retail center. The town started to take on a new look with the advent of the railroad. Now only a short train trip from Hoboken, the wealthy financiers and industrialists of New York City could get away to the rolling hills and healthy climate of Morristown during the summer months. In fact, one of the town's main thoroughfares, Madison Avenue, became known as "Millionaires' Row."

Less celebrated at the time, yet more important to the town's future, were the other new groups of people locating in the town—immigrants. Since the middle of the 19th century, Morristown has been rejuvenated each generation by a new group of ethnic Americans. Germans, Irish, Italians, African-Americans from the South after the Civil War, Jews, Hispanics, Asians, and East Europeans from the former Soviet Union; all leaving an indelible mark on the history and culture of the town.

Today, Morristown is not known for its celebrity residents such as when it was graced by the likes of inventor Alfred Vail or the infamous cartoonist Thomas Nast. Instead, the citizens of Morristown, and the spirit that they harbor, are the beacon that attracts people and businesses from across the country and around the world to this small but vibrant town. So congratulations Morristown—you are the spirit of America.

YORK-ADAMS COUNTY CENTRAL LABOR COUNCIL ANNUAL WORKERS MEMORIAL DAY

HON. WILLIAM F. GOODLING

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, April 7, 1995

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I want to congratulate the York-Adams County Central Labor Council on their fifth annual workers Memorial Day. This event is held annually in order to recognize and remember workers who have been injured or have lost their lives in the workplace.

Over the last few years, we have made considerable progress in reducing serious injuries and deaths in the workplace, but much more needs to be done in order to achieve safety for all workers. Each year many avoidable workplace fatalities occur, and each time a great loss is suffered by both their families and their country.

As chairman of the Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee, I hope to consider different means of achieving a secure workplace and even improve the Occupational Safety and health Act to ensure that today's workers have the safest workplace possible.

Job safety is in everyone's interest. Most responsible companies believe their employees are their best asset. Normally, the products these companies produce are of the highest quality.

In today's competitive market, quality products are the mark of a quality nation. Our workers are our future link to the world market and they should be able to work in an environment that is safe and secure.

We must find new and more effective ways for employers and employees to work together. It must be done in order to help American workers compete in the world marketplace and work in safe conditions.

We must remind ourselves of the contributions and sacrifices made by our workers every day. Workers Memorial Day is a fitting tribute for those who were injured, or died in the workplace.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

HON. EDWARD R. ROYCE

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, April 7, 1995

Mr. ROYCE. Mr. Speaker, I want to take this opportunity to highlight the results of a survey conducted by one of the leading senior citizens advocacy groups in the Nation, 60 PLUS, which is dedicated to tax fairness for seniors.

This organization, which has over 250,000 members and is headed by former Congressman Roger Zion, polled 100,000 of its members, and by a 3-to-1 margin, they support the Republican tax fairness bill. Representative Zion and 60 PLUS Chairman Jim Martin delivered thousands of mailgram petitions to the Capitol steps earlier this week in support of this measure, noting that it lifts the outside earnings limit on Social Security beneficiaries, repeals the 1993 Clinton tax increase on seniors, increases the exemption from Federal estate taxes, reduces the capital gains tax, reforms SSI, and provides a tax credit for elderly care in the home.

Mr. Speaker, as Representatives of the people, we need to listen to their voices, and act accordingly.

HONORING THE CESAR CHAVEZ WRITING CONTEST AWARD WINNERS OF THE EAST SIDE UNION HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT

HON. ZOE LOFGREN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, April 7, 1995

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize more of the winners of the first annual Cesar Chavez writing contest held by the East Side Union High School District in San Jose, CA. I had the great privilege of attending the award ceremony honoring the student winners on March 31, 1995, and would like to continue sharing the essays and poems written by the student award winners with my colleagues.

On April 4, 1995, I began by sharing the essays and poems of the grand prize winners and three of the first place winners, and today I will share the five remaining first prize entries, and the first three of eight second place winning entries. On April 6, 1995, I shared the remaining five essays and poems of the second place winners.

The first prize winning essays and poems of Lisette Munoz of W.C. Overfelt High School, Ahmed Desai of Piedmont Hills High School, Brenda Reyes of Silver Creek High School and Eulala Reynolds of Yerba Buena High School follow:

CESAR CHAVEZ

(By Lisette Munoz of W.C. Overfelt High School)

To some he was a hero but he only saw himself as a man.
A man I believe put on this earth to help the disadvantage.
His struggle was not easy for he faced much prejudice.
An acquire prejudice brought upon be ignorance.
His people, he saw hunched over in the fields, sweat upon their brows, pain in their backs, hands blistered and skin darkened from the sun.
All eyes were wide open, everyone looked around but no one took stand.
Cesar Chavez felt something in his gut this was 'El Movimiento.'
He stood amid the mist of the pesticides and began to walk, and surprisingly, the people followed.
He then knew that all the people needed was a leader who was dedicated to his cause.

He fasted so that people would listen.
He pointed out the forgotten ones.
Babies deformed by the hands and inventions of man.
He did what he needed to go change would come about.
He did all this but his body couldn't withstand the battle.
He entered the souls of all of his followers, and his spirit became the agila on our flag, soaring to continue the unfinished struggle.

DEDICATED TO A DEDICATOR

(By Ahmed Desai of Piedmont Hills)

In a modern world dominated by models who are athletic superstars, rarely is society given the gift of a true hero. The late Cesar Estrada Chavez was and continues to be such a unique individual who deserves the title of "genuine model." Chavez is an inspiration to many, and a teacher to all. There is much that he stood for, and even more that today's youth can learn from him.

A servant not to his own wants and desires, but rather to those of his community, Cesar Chavez reminds the young to put the needs of others before one's own. He utilized the tactics of civil disobedience and peaceful protests only to bring about change for the better and for society, and not for his personal gains or rewards. Armed with a strong dedication, yet a descendant of a poor background and a minority ethnic group, Chavez proved that anyone, anywhere, with perseverance, can succeed and make a difference. Withstanding and conquering numerous obstacles, he neither gave up nor lost hope. He worked long and hard, rested little, and made nothing come between him and his goal. As a result of years of continuous struggles, Cesar Chavez achieved his goal and gained rights for farm laborers. Youths of today can see themselves in Chavez, as they prepare their future aspirations and discover ways to accomplish them. As a model, Cesar Chavez teaches youngsters that the best and only method for success is through dedication and persistence.

Cesar Chavez lives on as a leader to whom teens can relate and look up. He was human and knew his strengths and limits. He did not only talk about ideas, but took charge and did things to make them a reality. Chavez, even with his short stay on earth, proved that a lot can be done in and with so little. Moreover, he made the most of what he had and did not ask for more than what he felt was deserved. The lifestyle that he led includes many lessons that can be beneficial to today's new generation. Let us reflect the past actions of Cesar Estrada Chavez, a great humanitarian. Feliz Cumpleaños, señor Chavez.

BATTLE

(By Maria Gonzalez of Santa Teresa High School)

He fought for what was right,
It didn't matter if it was Day or night.
He fought for our race,
And battled face to face
With the dangers we find
When we are the alien race.
Latino, Hispanic, Chicano
Some of the names he was called.
Proud to be who he was,
And what he stood for, Equality.
He was a leader urging us to Fight.
A leader explaining our right's.
Our right's as people
Our right's for freedom
Our right to come to this Country, fight the odds, and Win.

"WHO IS HE?"

(By Brenda Reyes of Silver Creek High School)

The fields were his life.
Los files eran su vida.
The crops in the fields were his life.
Las cosechas que crecian en los files, eran su vida.
The people picking the crops in the fields, were his life.
La gente que cortaba la cosecha en los files, eran su vida.
The pesticides that fell upon the people, became his enemy.
Los insecticidas que caian sobre la gente en los files, se convirtieron en su enemigo.
They became his concern.
Ellos se hicieron su preocupacion.
His struggle.
Su batalla.
His fight.
Su pelea.
But no one cared.
Pero a nadie le importo.
"I will make a difference" he said.
El dijo, "Yo hare la diferencia."
"I will bring justice" he said.
El dijo, "Yo traire justicia."
"Something will be done!" El dijo.
But no one listened.
Pero nadien escucho.
"No grapes" he yells.
"Uvas no" El grita.
"Who is he mommy?" a little girl asked.
"Quien es el mami?" una nina pregunto.
"I do not know" the mom answers.
"No lo se" contesto la madre.
"One day I will be like him, mommy." the girl said.
"Un dia sere como el mami." dijo la nina.
"I will fight for what I believe, and I will be a leader."
"Yo peleare por mis creancias y sere una lider."
"Many will believe in me, and I will believe in myself too."
"Muchos creran en mi, y yo crere en mi misma tambien."
"Crowds will come to listen to my words of wisdom, and there will be those that will want to stop me."
"Grupos bendran a oir mis palabras de sabiduria y habran unos que quedran interponer."
"But no one will succeed."
"Pero nadie lo hara posible."
"I will organize my own march's, and those who believe in me will follow."
"Yo organisare mis propias marchas, y esos que crean en mi, me seguiran."
"The sore blistered feet will be my reward."
"Los pies mayugados y ampollados, seran mi recompensa."
"I will have hunger strikes, as he."
"Yo trende guelgas de hambre, como el."
