

For their programs will cut into the science programs and research development in a very large way. The majority's budget resolution ignores the reality of our global economy and makes short-sighted cuts in critical areas.

From fiscal years 1996 to 2002, the GOP would cut $5.5 billion from the human space flight program. In fact, as the budget resolution was unveiled last week, it would almost double the cut already proposed for NASA. It would take $4.9 billion from space and aeronautics and technology research, and more than $1 billion from academic research infrastructure, like computer networking. The GOP budget would also cut several items of medical research.

Let me cite for you an interesting point that I have just learned, and I think it is an important point to acknowledge. As we provide health care dollars and we pay for our health needs, none of those dollars go for medical research. We see the tragedy that is going on with the virus in Zaire, and the inability to detect how to cure it. Medical research saves money. Medical research creates an opportunity to cure illnesses, and yet medical research is funded predominantly by Federal funds, and if we were to cut medical research, then we dictate for this Nation and for this world, and we submit them or submit all of us to the inability to find cures for illnesses or to improve the health condition of the Nation.

Medical research is important. Part of the budget cut and the budget resolution will negatively impact on medical research. And so it confuses me that this budget resolution seems to strike a chord of disharmony.

It pitches itself to a small 3 percent or more of the Nation, and it does not set a vision for moving us into the 21st century. That is why without consultation with local government, you can find some $6.5 billion being cut from the Community Development Block Grant, some $868 million being cut from the community development financial institutions, employment training, employment and training and social services. You are cutting Goals 2000 $2.8 billion, title I $5.1 billion. You are cutting safe and drug free schools $3.4 billion. You are cutting all of the housing programs that would include modernization of our public housing units. You are cutting the new construction of public housing units some $4 billion, eliminating construction of new public housing units, $13.4 billion, Legal Services Corporation, you are cutting $2.5 billion, and with a great emphasis on vocational training.

And so there is a mixed message here. There is a message that we have instructed and we have called upon America to stand up on our feet, to stop being dependent, to get off welfare, to stop the cycle of poverty, and yet we do great damage to our science and research. We do great damage to our vocational training, our secondary and primary education. We do great damage to our opportunities for local communities to go into their neighborhoods and provide economic and social advancement through the Community Development Block Grants. We take away the incentive for drug free and violence free schools. We intrude into the lives and the needs of our senior citizens and the physically challenged and the disabled by cutting Medicaid and Medicare, and then we want to carry on the debate to suggest that it is the other party that does not have a budget proposal and an answer.

Well, my cry and my call today is that reasonably we must come together looking for a bipartisan approach to what is a bipartisan problem. It is America's problem, and that is to acknowledge that we have a deficit.

Yet I would say in acknowledging that we have a deficit, truly we should acknowledge that we cannot break that deficit on the backs of those who are trying to stand up, and clearly I think the point should be made that if this budget is to represent a vision of a people, then in a bipartisan way those cuts must be spread evenly to provide the incentives for young people to go to college, to provide the incentive for businesses to grow and develop and certainly to be able to provide for those in their older years. The opposite of that is to ensure that working families will be able to face every day the question of how I will take care of my elderly parent. They will have to face every day the idea that their young person in their home, although they may have had a job during the summer, while they were in high school, they may have the potential for going to college, but with no work study, no grants, no loans, they just might not get there. I would like you to think what we would face if that was the case.

There is a time now for this to end, not so much in the resounding debate, but in solution, and that solution has to be do not hurt the State of Texas. It has to be do not hurt the many cities and towns and rural communities around this Nation. Let us put forth the budget resolution that clearly answers the needs of all people, answers the vision of this country, and that is that we can make a difference, cut the deficit, but be proud of the asset that we have in this Nation, and that asset is an investment in human capital.
