

about saving the Republican's political behind. They have made promises to the most financially secure people in this country, and they choose to pay for them by taking from our most vulnerable.

If this were about reform, we would have seen more action from the Republicans. Where were they in February 1994 when this issue came up? They did not have anything to say. Where were they when fundamental health care reform was being debated in this country? They were obstructionists. Where were they when the Danforth-Kerrey proposal came out? They had nothing to say. Where was this issue when they were writing their Contract With America? It was a nonstarter. And where were they in February of this year when the trustees' report came out again? Nowhere to be seen.

Mr. Speaker, it is only when they have to make good on the promises to the wealthy that they have turned to the services to our elderly to get the money. Shame, shame, shame.

SAVING MEDICARE

(Mrs. SEASTRAND asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. SEASTRAND. Mr. Speaker, for the first time in 25 years Congress is actually offering a budget that will bring it into balance and deal with the Medicare crisis. As every Member in this Chamber knows, the Medicare trust fund begins to go bankrupt next year and will be completely insolvent in 7 years. As President Clinton's Medicare trustees said in their annual report, the trust fund: " * * * will be able to pay benefits for only about 7 years and is severely out of financial balance in the long range."

The report also says: "The trustees believe that prompt, effective, and decisive action is necessary."

Yesterday's Investor's Business Daily pointed out President Clinton's recent flip-flop on Medicare. And I quote the President:

We propose to let it go up at two times the rate of inflation. That is not a Medicare or Medicaid cut. So when you hear all this business about cuts, let me caution you that that is not what is going on. We are going to have increases in Medicare and Medicaid, and a reduction in the rate of growth.

Mr. Speaker, where is the President now?

VOTE FOR A BALANCED BUDGET NOW

(Mr. PETE GEREN of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PETE GEREN of Texas. Mr. Speaker, a balanced budget is good for America. The status quo is bad. Bad for children, bad for seniors, bad for the middle class, and bad for the present and bad for the future.

The status quo means Medicare goes broke in 6 years, not cut by 5 percent, not cut by 7 percent, but goes broke. The status quo means financial ruin. That destroys our ability to defend ourselves, feed our children or meet our health care needs.

Folks, the status quo means we go broke. Tomorrow we have a choice between four balanced budgets. I urge my colleagues to pick one. A balanced budget is good for America, good for all Americans, young and old. The time is now.

WORK TOGETHER TO SAVE MEDICARE

(Mr. CHABOT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CHABOT. Mr. Speaker, let us go over it one more time. According to the President's own advisors, the Medicare Trust Fund will be bankrupt by the year 2002. Republicans have crafted a bill which will save Medicare.

Let me refer to this chart. In doing so, we have proposed that Federal spending on Medicare increase from $178 to $258 billion. Let me repeat that. Medicare will go up under the Republican plan. And what is the Democrat Medicare plan? Are they working tirelessly to save a system that their own leaders maintain is going bankrupt? Not a chance.

What they are doing is running, one after another, to the camera, the nearest camera, to proclaim that Republicans are cutting Medicare. It is not true.

Mr. Speaker, I would say to my Democrat friends that the American people are not going to fall for their distortions. But they might help. I think the American people are going to wonder why the Democrats are not helping to save Medicare. Let us work together to save Medicare.

THREE CHEERS FOR THE WHITE HOUSE

(Mr. TRAFICANT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TRAFICANT. Hear, hear, Mr. Speaker. Three cheers for the White House, who has finally slapped Japan with a big time 100-percent tariff on luxury vehicles.

And guess what? Acura is a crying, Infiniti is now finite, Toyota is toasted, Nissan is nixed, Mazda is maxed, Mitsubishi is busted, and Lexus is nauseous. But in the words of Bob Dylan, how does it feel, Japan? Because you see, we here in America know that Lincoln had been shrinking, Cadillac had been lacking, and Chrysler was almost mort.

So think about it, Members. It is about time we used a 2 by 4 and open those markets. Open those markets in Japan if you want to straighten out the budget in America.

And one thing, Japan, think of this: When you hold your own trade program to your nose, it doesn't smell too rosy, does it? In the words of Bob Dylan, how does it feel? Big time tariffs. I yield back the balance of these huge tariffs.

SOLUTION TO SAVE MEDICARE

(Mr. HOKE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HOKE. Mr. Speaker, here is the problem. The fund is projected to be exhausted in 2001. Signed by the Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of Labor, Secretary of Health and Human Services. Medicare is going broke. Projected to be exhausted, 2001. Here is our solution.

We increase spending from $4,700 to $6,300 per capita, at the same time slowing the rate of growth from about 10.5 to 5.5 percent. We save Medicare, we balance the budget, and we preserve the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity.

Here is the President's plan.

Let me go over this one more time. Here is the problem. The fund is going to be exhausted in 2001. Here is the solution. We are increasing spending while reducing the rate of growth. And here is the President's plan.

Yes, that is an ostrich.

PROPOSED CUTS TO MEDICARE AND MEDICAID TITLE

(Mr. BALDACCI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BALDACCI. Mr. Speaker, some of our colleagues have proposed drastic cuts to the Medicare and Medicaid programs. Over the next 7 years, their budget would cut them by over $465 billion. At the same time, their budget proposes a tax break for the people that are earning over $250,000 and will cost more than $340 billion over the same period.

I have spoken to several people in my district who would be affected by these changes. The comment of one older gentleman struck me as particularly on target. He told me that he understood that the Medicare system is broken and needs to be fixed. All seniors ask of the Congress, he said, is that we make changes in a considered and rational way that will actually help to save the system.

Yes, we must slow the growth in Medicare and Medicaid spending. And yes, we must absolutely ensure the solvency of the Medicare Part A Trust Fund. America's seniors are willing to contribute their fair share to this effort.

However, we must not balance the budget on the backs of senior Americans. Nor should we ask our senior citizens to endure these cuts while we use the savings to pay for proposed tax breaks. As we repair the Medicare program, and attempt to slow its growth, we must do so in the broader context of health care reform to ensure that older Americans—and indeed all Americans—have access to quality, affordable health care.

TOP TEN

(Mr. HAYWORTH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, from the home office in Scottsdale, AZ, the President's top 10 excuses for not offering a credible balanced budget alternative: Ten, pollsters told me not to; nine, don't worry, be happy; eight, the flowers are blooming, the sun is shining—who can think about budgets in the spring; seven, what's a couple trillion dollars between friends?; six, distracted by the start of the baseball season; five, I've fallen and I can't get up; four, contract-fatigue; three, those darn Republicans have taken all the good ideas; two, when the going gets tough, stick your head in the sand.

And the President's No. 1 excuse for not offering his own credible balanced budget alternative: The dog ate my budget.

CALL A CUT A CUT

(Mr. BROWN of California asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BROWN of California. Mr. Speaker, I am not sure whether to call this room the Hall of the House or the Casino of the Capitol because right now, the Republicans are playing a billion dollar shell game with Medicare.

The Republicans say they are increasing funding for Medicare over the next 7 years. What they really do is cut the amount needed to maintain the current level of services by $282 billion. That does not sound like much of an increase to me.

What this really means for the average senior citizen is that they will have to pay more out of their own pocket for health care. In fact, they will have to pay over $3,500 more out of their own pockets over the next 7 years.

Mr. Speaker, it is time for the Republicans to come clean. They have prided themselves on opening up government and being honest with the American people. If that is true, then they should be honest enough to call a cut a cut.

The American people, especially our senior citizens, will remember this act of dishonesty on November 5, 1996—election day.

WE MUST ACT NOW ON MEDICARE AND THE BUDGET

(Mr. JONES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, in the coming months we face two extraordinary battles—the battle to protect the future of our Nation's seniors and the battle to preserve the future of America's children.

We cannot fail in either of these battles. Our opponents will do everything they can to distort what we are trying to do. They will use fear tactics to scare innocent Americans into a false sense of security about the status quo.

The status quo is the enemy. If we do nothing Medicare will be bankrupt in 7 years. What would the Democrats have our seniors do then? By acting now we can save the Medicare system and offer security to our seniors.

If we do nothing about the budget, our children will pay more than $187,000 over the course of their lives just to pay for interest on the national debt. We must balance the budget now if we want to protect the American dream for our children.

Mr. Speaker, we must stand firm and deliver. The stakes are too high to do nothing.

REPUBLICANS AND MEDICARE

(Mr. DURBIN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. Speaker, to say that the Republicans are saving Medicare is like saying Colonel Sanders is saving the lives of chickens. Republicans are cutting Medicare with their budget today. They are lowering the amount of money available. They know there will not be enough as the population grows of seniors needing Medicare and health care costs go up.

So as they talk about more money for Medicare, sure, they are tossing a 25-foot rope to someone 30-feet offshore drowning. They say that is compassion.

So why are the Republicans cutting Medicare and Social Security in their budget? It is simple. To give tax breaks to wealthy Americans. It is a tax break plan that even 100 Republicans wrote their leadership and said, please do not do this; it is unfair. But Speaker GINGRICH pushed it through, and now with this ironclad discipline, the Republicans will be voting for it today.

I hope America tunes into this debate. What is at stake is not only health care for seniors and their out-of-pocket costs, but for a lot of working families with senior parents and grandparents this debate gets right to your pocketbook.

A HISTORIC DAY

(Mr. KINGSTON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, here we are. This is it. We are on the brink. For the first time since 1969, the U.S. House of Representatives will be passing a balanced budget amendment.

This is a historic moment. This is significant. This is real.

We spend almost $20 billion each month on the interest alone on the national debt. It is the third largest item, third largest expenditure in our annual budget. In 2 years it will exceed all of military spending. This has got to be brought under control.

As my Democrat friend, the gentleman from Texas, Mr. PETE GEREN, said, who benefits from balancing the budget? Senior citizens, children, students, the disabled. If you want to do something for them, you have got to give them a tomorrow. If you are going to give them a tomorrow, you have to spend your money properly today.

This is not time for partisan rhetoric. This is not time for grandstanding. There are a lot of things you can criticize in this balanced budget amendment, but offer your own. This is the time to do it. This is a crucial crossroads for the United States of America.

THE REPUBLICAN BUDGET

(Mr. BROWN of Ohio asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, country and western singer Jerry Reed must have had the Republican budget in mind when he sang, "She got the gold mine and I got the shaft."

The proposed budget which the Congress will vote on today will give the gold mine to wealthy special interests while America's elderly who depend upon Medicare and depend upon Social Security get the shaft.

The Republican budget cuts Medicare by $283 billion over 7 years, slashing Medicare spending by 25 percent. Out-of-pocket costs for seniors will increase by over $1,000 in 2002 and $3,500 over 7 years.

My constituents have not been asking me to raise the cost of their health care to provide tax breaks for the wealthy and to escalate cold war spending. The budget also cuts Medicaid by $180 billion over 7 years and cuts Social Security benefits by $24 billion between 1999 and 2002, all to pay for tax cuts for the rich.

Mr. Speaker, why are Republicans cutting Medicare to pay for tax cuts for the privileged few?

FISCAL YEAR 1996 BUDGET

(Mr. LAZIO of New York asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAZIO of New York. Mr. Speaker, we are at a point where we are about to make history. We will soon vote on the budget resolution that contains a strong moral message. That message is that the status quo is unacceptable. A $4.7 trillion debt is unacceptable. Annual deficits close to $200
