H.R. 2127

SEC. . (a) None of the funds made available in titles I, II, and III of this Act may be used to provide any direct benefit or assistance to any individual in the United States when it is made known to the Federal official to whom the funds are made available that—

(1) the individual is not lawfully present in the United States, and

(2) the benefit or assistance to be provided is other than emergency medical assistance, public health immunizations, or short-term, in-kind no-cash emergency disaster relief.

(b)(1) Each Federal official receiving funds under title I, II, or III of this Act shall take reasonable actions to determine whether any individual who is seeking any benefit or assistance subject to the limitation of subsection (a) is lawfully present in the United States.

(2) In the case of any filing, inquiry, or adjudication of an application for any benefit or assistance subject to the limitation of subsection (a), no Federal official or agent may discriminate against any individual on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, or disability.

(c) PUBLIC POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES.—The Congress finds:

(1) Federal or State provision of taxpayer-supported non-emergency services of all types to aliens not lawfully in the United States encourages the violation of federal immigration laws and is contrary to the public policy of the United States;

(2) Denial of such services to aliens not lawfully in the United States would operate harmoniously with the Federal immigration laws, and would be an effective method of dealing with urgent demographic and economic problems;

(3) One of the purposes of Federal immigration law is to conserve Federal and State taxpayer resources;

(4) Upholding Federal immigration policy in this way would improve the quality of education, health care, and other services in the States for citizens and aliens lawfully in the United States;

(5) Provision of such services by the Federal Government or the States encourages illegal immigration, imposing severe burdens on the economies of the States that are the principal destinations of aliens not lawfully in the United States, and reduces the amount of funds available for legal residents and citizens of the United States; and

(6) Provision of such services by the Federal Government or the States ultimately imposes serious costs on the Federal Government, by virtue both of the Federal role in providing funds for State health, education, and other services and of the increased demand for Federal funds created by the economic dislocation caused by illegal immigration;

(7) The determination by the Federal Government or any State not to reward illegal immigration with taxpayer services of any type for aliens not lawfully in the United States is fully consistent with the objectives of Federal immigration law and furthers legitimate Federal and State goals.
