

lung, and liver transplants. Hospitals must apply for certification to perform each type of transplant and receive Medicare reimbursement. There are approximately 160 hospitals across the country which hold such contracts.

We seem to be under the impression that because we have approved these facilities, all of the items in their bills to Medicare are justified. But this is not the case; hospitals add on approximately 25 percent of an imported organ's acquisition cost to cover a portion of administrative and general overhead costs, such as laundry, housekeeping services, rent, and utilities. This add-on system cost Medicare $22 million in 1995.

Let me back up for a moment and put this in context. Under the diagnostic related group [DRG] system, Medicare pays hospitals a set rate for each type of injury or illness. The DRG payment covers all items and services provided by the hospital to the patient, and includes an allocation for overhead associated with each service rendered. Organ acquisition is covered separately from the DRG for organ transplants. In this case, Medicare separately reimburses transplant centers for the acquisition cost of each organ. It is this cost to which hospitals make the add-on. The problem lies particularly with cases in which the organ is imported from an organ procurement organization.

Mr. Speaker, I do not mean to imply that hospitals have acted inappropriately. It is normal practice for hospitals to distribute their overhead to cost centers which are not covered by DRG's. Indirect costs are allocated across the board to all possible cost centers. However, the DRG for organ transplantation already includes an allocation for overhead. Since no medical service is associated with simply acquiring an organ from an outside agency and then billing Medicare for the organ, adding a portion of unrelated administrative and general costs is unreasonable.

For example, if acquiring an organ cost a hospital $10,000, Medicare would be billed that amount plus an extra 25 percent, bringing the total to $12,500. This process bleeds the system of millions every year by charging Medicare more than its share of the overhead costs associated with transplants. The 25 percent add-on is not associated with medical services to the patient, nor administrative or general services other than billing Medicare. If we allow this practice to continue, Health and Human Services estimates suggest that this will cost Medicare as much as $35 million in 1999.

The bill would amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to provide for savings in the Medicare Program by reducing overhead payment for Medicare transplant centers. It states that hospitals may not allocate their general or administrative costs to the acquisition cost of organs imported for transplant as they determine costs to be reimbursed by Medicare. This is a bill to improve the efficiency of the Medicare Program, an objective I believe we all would like to accomplish.

NATIONAL MARINE SANCTUARIES PRESERVATION ACT

HON. SOLOMON P. ORTIZ

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 4, 1996

Mr. ORTIZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 3487, the National Marine Sanctuaries Preservation Act. This bill contains language I introduced in the Committee on Resources to amend the boundaries of the Flower Garden Banks Marine Sanctuary in the Gulf of Mexico to include a nearby area known as Stetson Bank. The Flower Garden Banks Sanctuary was established by Congress in 1992, and has been a model for the National Marine Sanctuary Program. It is located 120 miles off the Texas coast and protects the northernmost living coral reefs on the U.S. Continental Shelf. The Sanctuary Program has demonstrated our ability to preserve and protect valuable marine resources, such as the coral reefs of the Flower Garden Banks, while sustaining the important multiple uses of the surrounding marine environment.

Stetson Bank is a small coral bank approximately three-quarters of a square mile in area. Currently, it is a no activity zone under Mineral Management Service regulations which prohibit exploring, developing, or producing oil, natural gas, or minerals. Stetson Bank provides habitat for a spectacular array of fish and invertebrates and is a feeding ground for manta rays, whale sharks, and spotted dolphins.

These resources have made this area a popular destination for sport divers to spearfish and collect shells; activities which have resulted in depletion of the natural resources and severe anchor damage to the coral formations. These effects have led local scientists and sports diving groups to request inclusion of Stetson Bank in the protection and preservation measures of the Flower Gardens Bank Sanctuary. This will help ensure these valuable resources will be preserved for future uses.

I would like to thank Chairman YOUNG, ranking member MILLER and their staffs for their help bringing this bipartisan legislation to the floor. I would also like to thank the petroleum industry representatives for their help. I believe this is a piece of legislation that will add to the economic and ecological riches of the gulf, and I urge the support of my colleagues.

HON. JOE SCARBOROUGH

OF FLORIDA

Wednesday, September 4, 1996

Mr. SCARBOROUGH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a man of great commitment and devotion, Pastor L.M. Thorne. For over 30 years, Pastor Thorne has spread God's word to countless individuals while enriching the lives of those who know him. He is truly an inspiration to us all.

Pastor Thorne committed himself at a very young age to spreading the Gospel of the Lord. His formal training began at the Southeastern Bible College in Lakeland, FL, where he received a bachelor of theology. He then went on to earn a doctor of divinity at the Christian International University.

Pastor Thorne established the Abundant Life Church in Fort Walton Beach, FL, and Samson, AL, in the mid-1970's. The Fort Walton Beach church boasts an extremely active congregation of over 500 families, active not only in the local community, but across the Nation and abroad as well. Abundant Life has sent numerous missionaries to the foreign mission field and eight senior pastors to local churches in the United States. The Christian Life School of Theology and the Life Enrichment Training School have prepared many Christian men and women led by the power of the Holy Spirit to pursue the Christian life.

Throughout his ministry, Pastor Thorne has remained humble and kept his focus on God even as he has been recognized nationally for his work. He has ministered at numerous leadership conferences in the United States around the world. In addition, Pastor Thorne is a district overseer in the Liberty Fellowship of Churches and Ministers and is a member of the Evangel Fellowship of Churches and Ministers.

Mr. Speaker, Pastor Thorne is a shining example of the goodness of people. He has indeed made a difference and continues to positively influence the lives of so many by spreading the Word of God. TRIBUTE TO ROLLIE MULLEN

HON. GEORGE MILLER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 4, 1996

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, it is with deep personal sadness that I rise today to share with my colleagues the passing of Rollie Mullen of Moraga, CA.

Rollie was a truly remarkable woman who left an indelible mark on our entire community.

Her career of over 15 years with Battered Women's Alternatives was never just a job to Rollie—it was a passion. Her advocacy and activism on behalf of families living with the fear of domestic violence won her considerable praise—Entrepreneur of the Year Award from Inc magazine and the Haas School of Business, United Way's Seaton Manning Award for Outstanding Agency Professional of the Bay Area, and the San Francisco Foundation's John R. May Award for creative leadership. But more important to Rollie was the attention it brought to this critical social issue. Rollie believed that we as a society have a responsibility not only to intervene in case of domestic violence, but to take steps to prevent violence in the home from ever occurring. She put this prevention ideology into practice at Battered Women's Alternatives with much success, and she effectively used this success to promote domestic violence prevention as part of our public policy agenda.

Rollie's death is a tremendous loss that will be felt by our community for some time to come. Yet those of us who knew her take great comfort in knowing that her spirit is still with us in the health and security of the countless families who have been healed through her efforts. She was a caring, dedicated individual. She was my friend, and I will miss her.

I would like to enclose the following article from the Contra Costa Times about Rollie Mullen.

SERVICES PLANNED AUG. 19 FOR WOMEN'S CENTER HEAD

(By Maria Camposeco)

Friends, family and admirers from across the country are expected at services Aug. 19 for Rollie Mullen, a rape-crisis volunteer who transformed a small shelter into the pre-eminent Battered Women's Alternatives of Contra Costa.

"We are going to celebrate her values," said Mullen's husband of 33 years, Joe Mullen.

The 56-year-old Mullen died Thursday of an infection contracted following cancer surgery last month.

A family marriage counselor from Moraga, Mullen joined the Concord battered women's shelter as a volunteer in 1979 and became executive director in 1985.

Mullen raised the facility's profile and budget with the help of private donors, including the late Dean Leshner, founder and publisher of the Times newspapers.

"Rollie Mullen was the backbone of Battered Women's Alternatives and she is the reason Dean involved himself in building a transitional housing center, and why I have involved myself," said Leshner's widow, Margaret Leshner. "Rollie Mullen cannot be replaced, but I think the best way we can honor her is to go forward with her project."

A celebration Mass is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Aug. 19, at St. Monica's Catholic Church, 1001 Camino Pablo, Moraga. A reception will follow.

In addition to her husband, Mullen is survived by her children, Joseph William Mullen III of New York; Rollie Killeen of Moraga; Patty Studer of Seattle; father, Arthur J. McGinnis of New Jersey; four siblings; and two grandchildren.

The family asks that in lieu of flowers, donations be sent to Battered Women's Alternatives, P.O. Box 6406, Concord, CA 94524.
