

years ago to less than $120 billion today. We should not give up on deficit reduction. Until we balance the budget, every dollar in new tax cuts not paid for is borrowed from our children.

Conclusion. The current national debate on tax cuts is a healthy one. We need an informed policy debate, going beyond the rhetoric and slogans, looking at the details of the specific plans, looking at the hard numbers, and carefully assessing the impact on the overall economy. I favor a simpler and fairer tax system, one that improves—rather than worsens—the lot of ordinary Hoosiers.

TRIBUTE TO ROBERT LADD ON THE OCCASION OF HIS RETIRE-MENT FROM THE AMERICAN LE-GION POST 183

HON. PAUL E. GILLMOR

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 11, 1996

Mr. GILLMOR. Mr. Speaker, I firmly believe that we can never thank our veterans enough for putting their lives on the line in defense of our Nation. As a veteran myself, I am aware of the tremendous service veterans organizations give to their communities and the country as a whole.

For this reason, I am proud to rise today and recognize Mr. Robert Ladd of American Legion Post 183, Pemberville, OH, on the occasion of his 50 years of service to the post. Robert is a veteran of World War II and has been the post's finance officer since 1962.

Mr. Speaker, Robert Ladd's distinguished military service is a model of patriotism and citizenship. His commitment to the American Legion continues this exemplary service. I ask my colleagues to join me in wishing Robert and his family well as they begin this new chapter in their lives.

May they fully enjoy the blessings of peace and freedom that Robert Ladd has so ably defended as a U.S. veteran.

DESCENDANTS' DAY
PROCLAMATION

HON. BOB CLEMENT

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 11, 1996

Mr. CLEMENT. Mr. Speaker, I am proud to submit this declaration by Trust for the Future to the U.S. House of Representatives to honor the work of Trust for the Future and its president, Charles A. Howell III.

Be it known by all present, that, from this day forward, the last Sunday of June is to be known as Descendants' Day. Henceforth, this shall be the day in each year when all the world's citizens take an accounting of their activities during the preceding year which have impacted our descendants and our neighbors across time.

Be it further proclaimed, that the ultimate goal of this endeavour is to reach the day when we can celebrate a year where the consequences of our actions have no measurable negative impact on our descendants and neighbors across time and instead we can measure the residual impact of our human activities and find them to be undeniably sustainable and beneficial.

We aspire to encourage others around the world to join in this yearly celebration of courageous accountability in the sure knowledge that we will be followed, as we have been preceded, by billions of persons who will either damn us or praise us for the efforts we may or may not expend on their behalf.

Whatever the consequences may be to our present generations we must immediately recognize this opportunity for high service to those we will never know or who will never look up to us in love and gratitude for our steadfastness in this effort. We ask the God of all Humankind to help us achieve our high calling for we can only be successful if we have Divine Guidance and Undergirding.

On this the Eleventh day of the Ninth month in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Ninety Six, we affirm our desire to pursue this course with all diligence and hereunto set our hand.

TRIBUTE TO RETIREES OF STER-LING HEIGHTS FIRE DEPART-MENT

HON. SANDER M. LEVIN

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 11, 1996

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, on Friday, September 27, I will be privileged to attend the 10th annual dinner dance held by the Sterling Heights Fire Fighters Union Local No. 1557. Five retiring firefighters will be recognized on that occasion. Among them are distinguished captains, and a fire inspector, training chief, and fire marshal—all recipients of honor awards and letters of gratitude. Together they have given over 123 years of dedicated service to the citizens of the city of Sterling Heights. Repeatedly over the past three decades each of them has unselfishly risked his life to protect the safety and property of Sterling Heights residents.

The Sterling Heights Fire Department doesn't just fight fires—they are called upon by the community for other kinds of service, too. And so these men will also be remembered for their individual qualities—for fine drawing work on fire pumper proposals, for fine departmental photographic work, for the quality of prayer offered and a divine singing voice when it was needed, for their work on previous retirement parties, and for citizen training and community open house participation.

Mr. Speaker, I mention each individual firefighter's name and years of service today so that all Americans will know of their outstanding contribution and commitment to the people of Sterling Heights and surrounding communities: Capt. David W. Hagen, hired as a fireman January 15, 1973, died October 31, 1995—in memoriam; Chief of Training John Frisch, hired as a fireman August 23, 1971; Fire Inspector Bruce N. Cann, hired as a fireman January 4, 1971; Capt. Edward J. Burley, hired as a fireman January 4, 1971; and Inspector John (Jack) Swiatkowski, hired as a fireman January 4, 1971.

Jack and Marge Swiatkowski, have been friends of mine for many years. They have been active in government—Marge is a former Commissioner, the community, and the union for a long time. I offer special congratulations to him.

These gentlemen have earned the appreciation and respect of their community. Mr.

Speaker, for this dedication, and uncommon valor, I pay tribute to these gentlemen and I join my neighbors in saluting them on the occasion of their retirement.

HONORING LOU LAWLER

HON. KEN BENTSEN

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 11, 1996

Mr. BENTSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor Lou Lawler, a community leader in my congressional district and a true heroine to many of us. Lou has brightened the lives of her neighbors in La Porte, TX, through a lifetime of selfless service, and she has touched the lives of seafarers from around the world through her work at the Barbours Cut Seafarers Center, which provides a home away from home for seafarers passing through the busy Port of Houston. I can think of no more appropriate way to honor Lou than by renaming the center the Lou Lawler Seafarers Center, and I am proud to join so many others in our community in congratulating and thanking Lou as she is so honored this Friday, September 13, 1996.

Lou has been active in her community from the day she arrived in La Porte with her husband Jack in 1947. She has been an adviser to mayors, Members of Congress, and Governors. Organizations in which she has been active have included the American Cancer Society, American Heart Association, Rehabilitation Foundation for East Harris County, Salvation Army, American Red Cross, and Air National Guard. As a lifetime member of the PTA, she has worked tirelessly to improve our schools. As a member of the First United Methodist Church of La Porte, she serves on the inter-church council and the social concerns committee. She served on the board of directors of La Porte State Bank and Charter Bank. She has been an election precinct chairman for years. And in 1981, she became the first woman president of the La Porte-Bayshore Chamber of Commerce.

But such lists alone do not come close to doing her justice to Lou Lawler. They do not do justice to her tireless energy, her amazing creativity, her can-do attitude, and her tremendous love.

These qualities are most evident in Lou's work with the seafarers center, which she helped establish in 1983. The center likely would not exist at all if not for Lou's unflagging efforts, and it has flourished because of her. The center provides many necessary services, from the spiritual to the medical to the social, for the more than 100,000 seafarers who pass each year through the Port of Houston, the busiest trade port in the United States. The seafarers center truly does provide a home away from home for these seafarers, and it better enables the port to serve its vital function in our region's economy.

Lou Lawler has done just about everything at the seafarers center, from volunteering to serving as chairman of the board. She currently serves as vice president of the Houston International Seafarers Center and is a board member of the North American Maritime Ministry Association. She was one of the first women to graduate from the Seafarers Center's Chaplaincy Training School. In 1992, Lou was presented a special recognition from the Vatican for her efforts in working with the Apostleship of the Sea World Conference held in Houston. And last year, the seafarers center presented her with the Tall Ship Award, which goes to an individual not directly involved in the maritime field who has served the seafarers center.

A recent profile of Lou Lawler in the Houston Chronicle had this headline: "The Jewel of La Porte: Lou Lawler Loves to Give to the Community." Through her work at the seafarers' center, Lou's love has rippled around the world. Although we will never be able to match what Lou has done for us, this Friday is an opportunity for our community to give some of that love back to Lou. We thank her for her friendly smile and her warm greeting. We thank her for her leadership by example. We thank her for reminding us every day how much difference one person can make.

TRIBUTE TO NICHOLAS POLONSKI

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 11, 1996

Mrs. MALONEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Nicholas Polonski, the founder of the Northside Community Development Council in the Greenpoint-Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, NY. Mr. Polonski has been a tireless advocate for the residents of the Northside neighborhood of Brooklyn for over 40 years.

The Northside Community Development Council was formed by Nick Polonski after he had led a successful fight against a large paper machinery company located in Greenpoint. His experience in community advocacy is vast. He has successfully advocated for tenants' rights, for welfare for needy people, and against the planned closure of a firehouse, among many other causes.

As a serviceman in World War II he was awarded the Silver Star for Gallantry in Action for having saved the lives of wounded officers during enemy combat. He repeated such valiant acts following his return to civilian life by saving the life of a police officer in a motorcycle accident many years later.

The Northside Community Development Council celebrated its success on September 6, 1996 by holding its annual dinner and dance. At that dinner-dance, the council honored Brooklyn Borough president Howard Golden; Monsignor David Cassato of Our Lady of Mount Carmel; Pat Ferris, district coordinator for senator Martin Connor; John Talma, executive assistant to councilman Ken Fisher; David Sweeney, executive director for Greenpoint Manufacturing & Design Center; James Mallon, executive director for Northside and Peter McGuinness Senior Citizen Centers; Tillie Tarantino, executive director of Swinging 60's Senior Center; Captain Fries, commanding officer of the 94th Precinct; and John McDonough, vice president of Republic Bank.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join with me today in tribute to Nicholas Polonski for his commitment to the well-being of his community. I also want to stand in recognition and appreciation of the success of the Northside Community Development Council and to the talent and dedication to public service of those honored at its annual dinner dance celebration.

BIPARTISANSHIP

HON. LEE H. HAMILTON

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 11, 1996

Mr. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to insert my Washington report for Wednesday, August 14, 1996, into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

LEGISLATIVE WRAPUP: A CASE FOR BIPARTISANSHIP

Only a few months ago the 104th Congress was being widely criticized as one of the least productive sessions in modern history: a Congress long on promise but short on results, a Congress that was very busy, spending long hours in session, but achieving very little. Its sessions were as contentious and uncompromising as any in memory, epitomized by the bitter fight over the budget that closed much of the government for a total of 27 days and set a new low for harsh debate. This Congress was on the brink of failure, blocked by the ideological fervor of the majority that could not be translated into laws.

But that changed in the last week of the congressional session before the August recess. In a flurry of legislative activity; Congress, with my strong support, approved several important bills, including: landmark welfare legislation, a health insurance bill, a catch-up minimum wage bill, a rewrite of the safe drinking water laws, and a package of incentives for small business. This Congress can now boast a stronger record of achievement after a very rocky and unproductive start.

WHAT HAPPENED

What brought the majority and minority together after months of gridlock was a shared fear on the part of the Members of returning to their constituents this fall empty handed and the willingness to compromise on extreme positions. Ideology quickly gave way to pragmatism, and Republicans and Democrats struck deals with each other and the President to shape legislation. They decided that they needed laws enacted, not just confrontational issues. The difference in attitude was most striking among the House leadership. The Speaker, who shunned compromise only last year, is now praising the importance of compromise.

Now there is a scramble among the parties to claim credit for the recent successes. Some Members claimed it was the greatest week in the history of the Congress and the most significant Congress in a generation, but by any reasonable measure that is overstating the record. This Congress' modest accomplishments scarcely measure up to the Congresses of the past which adopted the Bill of Rights, emancipated the slaves, approved the Social Security Act, or oversaw two world wars. But without any doubt the last week of July saw the most serious legislative week in the 104th Congress. The virtues of bipartisanship have been rediscovered and there has been a rush of important legislation.

WHAT WAS APPROVED

The bills that were passed in a burst of lawmaking do alter the lives of millions of Americans. The bills impact on everything from paychecks to the purity of tap water. They include:

Welfare reform.—Congress passed a major overhaul of the federal welfare program by ending the federal guarantee to the poor, limiting assistance to five years requiring recipients to work in exchange for benefits, and giving states more flexibility to administer their programs.

Health insurance.—Congress approved a modest health insurance bill which expands access to health insurance by making it easier for people to get coverage when they have pre-existing medical conditions, and to keep it when they change or lose jobs. The measure also gradually increases the deductibility of self-employed health costs from 30% to 80%.

Minimum wage.—Congress increased the minimum wage for the first time in five years, raising the hourly wage from $4.25 to $5.15 over a two-year period.

Small business incentives.—The minimum wage bill also includes incentives for small businesses: an increased deduction for business-related equipment costs, more flexible rules on subchapter S corporations, and several other measures to encourage business growth.

Environmental laws.—Congress also approved two important environmental bills. It passed a rewrite of the safe drinking water law which gives the Environmental Protection Agency more flexibility in regulating contaminants in drinking water and provides assistance to states and localities in complying with the law. Congress also revised food safety laws to increase protections for children while easing burdensome restrictions on helpful pesticides.

Among the other important achievements of this Congress are a sweeping overhaul of the telecommunications law, the most significant rewrite of federal farm programs since the Great Depression, and a long-awaited measure to give the President a line-item veto power.

GENERAL ASSESSMENT

It is important, however, not to overstate the legislative success of the last week. After all, the minimum wage and the health insurance bills are fairly modest and conventional pieces of legislation. The minimum wage increase simply compensates for some of the effects of inflation, and is not really an advance. The health insurance bill makes a modest improvement in the health care system by making it easier for people who already have insurance to keep it if they can afford it. That is a useful step, but it does not begin to deal with the two great problems of health care: the rapidly escalating cost of care and the fact that one-seventh of the population of the country is still uninsured. The safe drinking water bill was enacted because it promises a large amount of federal aid to communities to improve their water systems.

CONCLUSION

I think the legislative legacy of the 104th Congress has for all practical purposes been written in the last few weeks. In September the Congress might add to its list of accomplishments as it finishes work on bills to crack down on illegal immigration, take new steps to combat terrorism, and reform some other programs like housing. But most of the rest of the session will be dominated by work on routine appropriations bills and on a few hot button social issues, such as an override vote on the President's veto of a bill outlawing late term abortions, a bill to make English the official language of the United States, and a bill to allow states to deny recognition to same-sex marriages.

I think the Nation has been well-served as Congress has moved from gridlock to a more positive phase. People have been turned off by efforts to promote a revolutionary agenda, to shut government down, and to fight ideological wars. I've always felt the American people have a strong strain of pragmatism about them and my guess is they
