

as a physician who recognized the effects of a degraded environment on human health. In addition to the many public lands issues that Dr. Wayburn has championed, he has also fought for clean air and a curb on cigarette smoking long before the general public became educated about the dangers. The world we live in today is better because of the efforts of Dr. Wayburn.

To Peggy Wayburn, our special thanks for her contribution to these many challenges and successes; we appreciate the long hours, hard work, and special role Peggy has played on the Wayburn family team.

Dr. Wayburn and his wife Peggy were captured by the unique beauty of the Alaska landscape on their first visit almost 30 years ago. That first visit was followed by hundreds more and the successful campaign to create the Alaska Lands Act, the largest public lands bill in the history of the Congress. Today, 104 million acres remain wild largely because of that first visit made to Alaska by the Wayburns.

In California, Dr. Wayburn fought to preserve one of America's premier ancient forests, Redwood National Park. He fought alongside Congressman Phillip Burton to achieve this important goal which resulted in the addition of 58,000 acres to the park in 1978. Today, these redwood giants have a permanent home in their coastal preserve which has also become a world heritage site and biosphere reserve.

Closer to home, in San Francisco, Dr. Wayburn demonstrated the same outstanding leadership in the effort to preserve at the national level that we now call the Golden Gate National Recreation Area [GGNRA]. These early and insightful efforts led to the now-famous collaboration with Amy Meyer and Phillip Burton in establishing the almost-continuous greenbelt from Point Reyes National Seashore south along the Pacific coast to Sweeney Ridge.

The notion of an urban national park was an unfamiliar concept to the National Park Service and to the Congress in the late 1960's. Through Dr. Wayburn's endeavors and the lasting partnership with Amy, along with the commitment of the local community, environmentalists and Phillip Burton, the GGNRA found a protected home as a unit of the national park system in 1972.

Today, the GGNRA is the most visited park in the national system, with over 22 million visitors each year. The efforts of Dr. Wayburn, Amy Meyer, and many others in the San Francisco community, have also contributed to the success of the Presidio and the Presidio Trust legislation in Congress. The GGNRA stands as a monument, in the National Park System and in our community, to the important work and tenacity of citizen leaders who dream, who struggle and who see their dreams come true. It took only a small spark, but the flame will burn forever.

Throughout the world, Dr. Wayburn has initiated environmental missions on behalf of protecting forests, lands and waters in the name of preservation and in the name of Earth's future inhabitants. Our grandchildren will not know Dr. Wayburn, but his work will be known through the magnificent landscapes that abound because of his monumental efforts. Dr. Wayburn's selfless and tireless efforts, seen wherever he touched our Earth, will stand as a lasting monument to his vision and to his achievement.

Dr. Wayburn has been the recipient of several awards to honor his accomplishments in the fields of environment and health: the Albert Schweitzer Prize for Humanitarianism from Johns Hopkins University, election to Global 500 of the U.N. Environmental Program, the Starker Leopold Award by the Nature Conservancy, and the John Muir Award by the Sierra Club.

Thank you, Dr. Wayburn and Peggy, for giving your lives to the important causes that have made this a better world for so many people. You will always be remembered by your friends in San Francisco.

HUNGARY AND ROMANIA SIGN TREATY OF UNDERSTANDING, COOPERATION, AND GOOD NEIGHBORLINESS

HON. TOM LANTOS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 16, 1996

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, just a few hours ago earlier today, a Treaty of Understanding, Cooperation, and Good Neighborliness was signed by representatives of the Governments of Romania and Hungary. The signing took place in Romanian city of Timisoara/Temesvar with leaders of both Governments—Romanian President Ion Iliescu, Hungarian Prime Minister Gyula Horn, Romanian Prime Minister Nicolae Vacaroiu.

Mr. Speaker, this is a historic occasion and this is a historic document. The leaders of both Governments deserve our commendation and our congratulations for their foresight and their efforts in seeking to reconcile outstanding differences between the two countries. The following is a statement that I made on the occasion of the treaty signing:

STATEMENT OF CONGRESSMAN TOM LANTOS ON THE SIGNING OF THE TREATY OF UNDERSTANDING, COOPERATION, AND GOOD NEIGHBORLINESS BETWEEN ROMANIA AND THE REPUBLIC OF HUNGARY

I wholeheartedly welcome the signing of the "Treaty of Understanding, Cooperation, and Good Neighborliness between Romania and the Republic of Hungary," and I commend the farsighted leadership that has been shown by both the government of Hungary and the government of Romania in reaching agreement on this document. The negotiations have not been easy. The Romanian government faced a fractious internal division over the treaty, and the Hungarian parliament had a lengthy debate on the matter.

This treaty will be of benefit to both Hungary and Romania, and it will be an important element contributing to the stability of that region. It is my sincere hope that the good faith implementation of this document will be of benefit to ethnic Hungarians living in Romania. It is also my hope and expectation that this agreement will accelerate and facilitate the entry of each of these two countries into membership in the North Atlantic Treaty and into full economic integration with the European Union.

It is significant and it is symbolically important that the signing of the treaty will take place in Timisoara/Temesvar, just a few miles from the borders of the former Yugoslavia. Hungary and Romania have faced their differences, they have conducted a frank and open and reasoned political dialogue, and they have both compromised in reaching this agreement. Their reasoned dialogue and mutual respect stands in sharp and dramatic contrast to the tragic violence and bloodshed that has convulsed Bosnia and other areas of the former Yugoslavia.

I want to emphasize that the signing of this treaty constitutes another significant step in the process of reconciliation between Hungary and Romania. Both countries have been active in their efforts to improve economic cooperation, to foster the free movement of peoples between their countries, to expand military relationships, and to increase cultural and educational cooperation. The signing of this treaty will lead to greater cooperation in all of these important fields.

I congratulate the leaders of both governments for their efforts and for their statesmanship.

TRIBUTE TO THE JEWISH FEDERATION OF GREATER FORT LAUDERDALE AND THE JEWISH FEDERATION OF SOUTH BROWARD

HON. PETER DEUTSCH

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 16, 1996

Mr. DEUTSCH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the merger of the Jewish Federation of Greater Fort Lauderdale and the Jewish Federation of South Broward. This merger creates the third largest federation in the United States. Because of the undying support of south Florida residents, each federation has independently established unique and extremely successful organizations which achieve similar goals. Through the encouragement of the Council of Jewish Federations, the Jewish Federation of Broward County will represent a combination of these notable differences and similarities. This unification is an extraordinary opportunity for the Broward Jewish and non-Jewish community because it will strengthen the federation in south Florida, pool together needed fundraising resources, and better serve the entire south Florida community.

There are over 200 associated Jewish federations in the United States that serve approximately 800 communities in the United States and Canada. The Jewish Federation of South Broward was first incorporated in 1943 during very turbulent times for Jews in the United States and abroad. Historically, the federation has raised money to create and maintain social services for Jews within the community, as well as support Jewish programs that aid Jews facing persecution throughout the world. The Jewish Federation of Greater Fort Lauderdale was created in 1967 as the Jewish community began to grow in south Florida. Now, almost five decades later, these two organizations will merge to become one of the most dynamic and visible Jewish federations in the United States.

I would also like to recognize Herbert D. Katz, the first president of the newly formed Jewish federation of south Broward and Stuart A. Epstein, vice president of the campaign. Both men have been actively involved in the Jewish community in south Florida and have held executive positions in both regional and national Jewish organizations. The new federation's board will also include vice president for administration/budget, Bernard Feldman; vice president for allocations, Selma Telles; vice president for communications, Jan Klein; vice president for human resources development, Dorothy Weinstein; vice president for planning, Gail Spatz; vice presidents at large, Robert Enslein and Lenny Schnurmacher; treasurer, Jeffrey Kassower; assistant treasurer, C. Scott Rassler; secretary, Gene Glasser; and nominating chair, Esther Gordon.

I wish the Jewish Federation of Broward County and the board the best in making this new federation an integral part of the Jewish community in south Florida and look forward to working with the federation in helping them achieve their goals.

TRIBUTE TO THE GEORGE KHOURY
ASSOCIATION OF BASEBALL LEAGUES, INC.

HON. JERRY F. COSTELLO

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 16, 1996

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the George Khoury Association of Baseball Leagues, Inc., on the occasion of their 60th anniversary celebration.

The Khoury League, one of the oldest, most established youth organizations in the United States, paved the way for such organizations as Little League and Pony League. Khoury Leagues exist in many States and foreign countries.

The Belleville Khoury League is the oldest and largest Khoury League in the State of Illinois, celebrating over 45 years of contributions to the children of that community. On the occasion of the association's 60th anniversary, Belleville has been chosen as the host league and the city of Belleville has been chosen as the host site of this year's celebration.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to commend the Khoury Leagues for the opportunities they continue to offer children, and I ask my colleagues to join me in wishing them a successful and happy celebration.

CONGRATULATIONS TO EL CAMINO
COMMUNITY COLLEGE

HON. JANE HARMAN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 16, 1996

Ms. HARMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate El Camino Community College on the event of its golden anniversary. For 50 years El Camino College has served the communities of El Segundo, Hawthorne, Hermosa Beach, Inglewood, Lawndale, Lennox, Manhattan Beach, Redondo Beach and Torrance.

Fully accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges, El Camino offers a high quality of education in many diverse subjects, with an outstanding faculty of more than 800 full-time and part-time instructors. Currently 2,500 different classes are offered in 850 different programs to an enrollment of 23,000 students. Approximately 1.5 million students have been served since 1946.

El Camino College is one of the educational and cultural centers of the South Bay. The great facilities of the campus draw thousands of visitors every year.

I offer my congratulations to the college board of trustees, college President Thomas Fallo, and to the more than 1 million students who have attended El Camino during the last 50 years. And I know El Camino College will continue for the next 50 years to be an important educational institution in the South Bay.

TRIBUTE TO LT. GEN. THEODORE
G. STROUP, JR.

HON. IKE SKELTON

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 16, 1996

Mr. SKELTON. Mr. Speaker, today I pay tribute to an outstanding American, an outstanding soldier, an outstanding general who has been a principal architect of our Army's transformation to meet the challenges of the changing post-cold war world. On September 27, 1996, Lt. Gen. Theodore G. Stroup, Jr. retires after over 34 years of dedicated service to America and our great Army. Throughout his career, Ted Stroup has provided forward-looking leadership characterized by a unique intellect and strategic vision, coupled with a full understanding that quality soldiers are the essence of our Army.

As we honor his retirement, we note that General Stroup's distinguished career has stretched over three and one-half decades, culminating in his service these past 2 years as the Army's Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel. In this position, General Stroup has been responsible for the plans, policies, and programs for management of all the Army's military personnel, both Active and Reserves. He served as a key and trusted advisor to the Secretary of the Army and the chief of staff.

Ted was born in St. Petersburg, FL. Graduating from the U.S. Military Academy in 1962, he began his career as a lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers. His first assignment was as a combat engineer platoon leader with the 7th Infantry Division, in Korea. He saw his first fighting as the commander of a combat engineer company in Vietnam, and while leading his soliders in that capacity, Ted was severely wounded. His distinguished career includes assignments all over the world. A graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College and the Army War College, he served as the director of military science courses at the U.S. Military Academy. Before returning for his second assignment to Washington, he commanded the Corps of Engineers' Fort Worth District.

General Stroup then moved back to the Army's headquarters to serve as executive officer to the vice chief of staff and took a key leadership position in the Army's Headquarters Reorganization Study Group. In this capacity, he was a principal designer of the Army's organizational adjustments to incorporate the provisions of the 1986 Goldwater-Nichols Act. This tour would be the first in a decade-long series of postings in which General Stroup continually played a pivotal role in reshaping the Army. As deputy chief of staff for Resource Management in the Training and Doctrine Command, he worked to provide resources for the development of future Army doctrine and for the dissemination of the doctrine through publications and formal training at all levels of the Army. He then served as the director of military personnel management on the Army staff, working day by day to provide personnel support for the Desert Storm victory and at the same time laying the foundations for the imminent reshaping of the Army's forces.

General Stroup was next selected to serve as the Army's director of program analysis and evaluation. Drawing on his long experience and strategic vision, he worked to craft a sequence of Army programs that would transform the Army into the versatile post-cold war force we see evolving today. He then moved to his current assignment as the deputy chief of staff for personnel. In this role he has not only developed and executed plans for an orderly and compassionate reduction of the Army's forces, but also started the Army's future personnel and leader development programs on the path to full development and implementation.

Through it all, Ted Stroup has consistently delivered professional, selfless service to our Nation. A leader of extraordinary intellect, with vision and dedication to match, General Stroup has always remembered that our Army consists first and foremost of soldiers. Mindful of this, he has dedicated his career to caring for his soldiers. He has done this both directly and by developing programs to provide for their recruitment, development, and training. We offer our heartfelt appreciation and best wishes to Ted Stroup: a soldier who has served his country and its soldiers in a most admirable way.
