

immersed in a rigorous academic program that provides a solid foundation in math, reading, writing, and analytical reasoning. It is hardly surprising that Berkeley-Carroll was awarded the Federal Blue Ribbon Award for their sincere commitment to academic strength and civic leadership.

As a resident of Park Slope, I have witnessed the positive contributions made by Berkeley-Carroll to the neighborhoods throughout Brooklyn. Students are given a special experience that will stay with them their entire lives. I rise to honor this landmark institution and urge all of my colleagues to recognize this Brooklyn-based school as a national leader in education.

CELEBRATING THE CAREER ACHIEVEMENTS OF LT.C. AARON A. CRAYCROFT

HON. GLENN POSHARD

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 29, 1996

Mr. POSHARD. Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasure today to relate a very inspiring story. It is not an unfamiliar plot, but one that always reassures my faith in the American dream and the work ethic that has made this country the greatest in the world. Aaron A. Craycroft of Macon County, IL, the northernmost county of Illinois' 19th district, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant commander in the Navy Air Corps, and I salute his ascension to this position.

Military service in the United States has always been a position of honor for those who have served, and often represents the opportunity for personal betterment that is inherent in the idea of the United States. This has proved to be the case for Aaron. He enlisted in the Navy in 1974 without a college degree. Since then he has devoted his life to serving our country to the best of his ability, and his dedication has provided much in return. Aaron has traveled the world via aircraft carrier, learned the highly specialized skill of aviation electronics, and after putting that training to use repairing A-6 fighters, he is now the administrator of the school where he learned the craft. From humble origins, Lieutenant Commander Craycroft has achieved success through 20 years of hard work. His example is a model for the youth of today, for there are no easy answers, no quick fixes, and no substitute for giving your all. The path to opportunity and fulfillment exists if you are willing to give of yourself.

Mr. Speaker, Aaron's story is especially meaningful to me, because at 17, I also entered the armed services without having been to college, and I will never forget what that opportunity has meant to my life. I would like to thank Lieutenant Commander Craycroft for his devotion to his country's security. I am honored to represent him and his family in the U.S. Congress.

SAINT PATRICK'S DAY 1996

HON. BENJAMIN A. GILMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 29, 1996

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, the promotion of peace and justice, along with long term and shared economic development on the beloved Emerald Isle, are important items of concern to millions of Americans of Irish descent, particularly at this time of year as we all join again in celebrating yet another glorious St. Patrick's Day.

These important issues of peace and justice also concern all of Ireland's many friends here and around the globe, especially now once again with the misguided return to violence by some few frustrated with the pace of the peace process and needed change on the ground in the north of Ireland today.

Ireland and its warm, generous people have long had a fond affection for America, as President Clinton learned when he triumphantly toured the whole island late last year. There we all witnessed first hand, the genuine warmth and love of the Irish people for America, and the respect for the President's outstanding leadership in promoting peace on the island.

The President has done much through his effort at promoting peace in Ireland to in some small way, pay back that nation that has also given America so much. With the current breakdown in the progress toward lasting peace, it is time for the President to take the next step, and appoint that promised peace envoy, which many believe is needed to get the process back on track.

Former Senator George Mitchell, who served so well as head of the International Body dealing with the arms issue, would be an ideal candidate for the position, in my opinion. I urge the President to make such an appointment of a peace envoy at this critical time in Irish history.

The tragic and misguided returned to violence recently by some who mistakenly believe that justice can be obtained through terrorism, death, and destruction, must end. The IRA cease fire must be restored, the bombings ended, and peaceful means and dialog resumed immediately, or the nationalist cause will suffer even greater damage in world opinion.

As we once again examine at this particular time of year, the impact the Irish have had on America, and why the U.S. has a responsibility to remain engaged in the efforts to bring about lasting peace and justice in Ireland, it is worth remembering their many sacrifices and contributions to our great Nation.

President Clinton addressing a joint session of the Irish parliament in Dublin on his trip last year, mentioned the 200,000 Irish who bravely fought for the Union cause in our civil war. Many Irish officers and soldiers also distinguished themselves in ending British rule over the colonies, during the earlier American revolution.

Once here in this great land, and taking full advantage of the American dream, the Irish fought and died for this Nation, and excelled in every way and walk of American life. Few from the World War II generation can forget, a young Irish lad named Audie Murphy who on the battlefields of eastern France, became one of the Nation's most decorated veterans. He received the Medal of Honor and 27 other decorations, including the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Croix de Guerre with Palm.

In fact, since Congress established the Congressional Medal of Honor in 1863, there have been a remarkable 250 or more Irish who have earned this Nation's highest honor. No other nationality, even comes close to that astonishing record of valor and courage in service of this great Nation.

The sons and daughters of Ireland, their families and many friends here in America, are all grateful for our Government and its leaders' efforts, from both parties, to help pay back those remarkable sacrifices. The President has worked hard to bring peace and justice to their ancestral homeland, which every Irishman holds near and dear to his or her heart. We must all continue to work to keep peace in Ireland on the top of America's foreign policy agenda today, as I and others will do here in the Congress.

While helping make America great, the Irish have never forgotten, from whence they proudly came, as anyone who has marched in, or witnessed the grand Saint Patrick's Day parade down 5th Avenue in New York City each year. Today, more than 40 million Americans have ancestral links to Ireland, many as a result of the large immigration that followed the great famine, as well as the years before and after, that terrible and destructive human tragedy.

This year's Saint Patrick's parade Grand Marshal is William Flynn the CEO of Mutual of America in New York City. He is a great man, duly deserving of this high honor, who has dedicated himself to peace in Ireland, and has worked tirelessly to bring about lasting peace and justice, as have so many of his fellow Irish Americans.

The Irish in America, and their many friends have long played a role in assuring that our Government and elected leaders have not forgotten that the problems of Ireland did not end with the great famine. Together we have worked hard to insure that the people of Ireland never again face such terrible hardships, and deprivation of basic human rights and human dignity.

We must also all continue to work for a permanent end to the troubles in Ireland, through a just and lasting peace. I know we will eventually see lasting peace and justice a permanent feature on that beautiful Emerald Isle in the Irish Sea. It is the hope and dream of all of us as we approach St. Patrick's Day once again.

ROSE TUCKER HONORED

HON. PAUL E. KANJORSKI

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 29, 1996

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to rise today to pay tribute to my good friend and a distinguished community leader, Mrs. Rose Tucker. Mrs. Tucker has just completed a term as a member of the Luzerne County Board of Commissioners and will be honored for her service at a testimonial on March 1, 1996. It is my deep honor to join the many friends and colleagues of this extraordinary woman, who has earned a very special place in the history of Luzerne County.

Rose Tucker hails from my hometown, Nanticoke, PA. With a strong northeastern PA. With a strong northeastern Pennsylvanian upbringing and education, Rose committed much of her life to serving her community. At the beginning of her long career, Rose was at the forefront of providing much needed services to migrant workers in northeastern Pennsylvania. In 1973, she became a human services planner for the United Services Agency. Her interests then led her to become the executive director of the Luzerne-Wyoming Counties Drug and Alcohol Abuse Program. In 1979, Rose initiated and implemented the Community Cancer Corp. of Luzerne County under the auspices of the Luzerne County Medical Society. In 1982, Rose proved her business acumen by owning and operating a successful travel agency in Pittston, PA.

During this time, Rose furthered her commitment to ensuring health care for northeastern and central Pennsylvanians. In 1989, Rose became the director of public affairs for the Maternal and Health Services Corp. which cares for individuals and families in 15 counties throughout the region.

Mr. Speaker, in 1992 Rose Tucker took on her greatest challenge. She sought and was elected to the board of commissioners of Luzerne County. A year later, she was elected to chair the board. As one of the three chief executives of Luzerne County, Rose faced the challenge of governing a county confronting many difficult decisions. As an advocate of economic development in the region, Rose was responsible for bringing new jobs and opportunities to the county. She understood the importance of changing the coal town image of our area and preparing the county for the 21st century. Rose managed to exert strong leadership while maintaining her close connection to the people of Luzerne County, and her dedication to the people she served is greatly appreciated. She is truly a beloved public figure.

Mr. Speaker, I have known Rose Tucker for many years and consider myself fortunate to be included among her many friends. While facing the daily challenges of elected office, Rose endured the agony of watching her husband, Leonard, battle cancer. My wife Nancy and I joined Rose, her friends, and family in mourning his passing.

I am extremely proud to have the opportunity to pay tribute to the career of this distinguished public servant. It has been my pleasure to bring Rose's many accomplishments to the attention of my colleagues. The entire community thanks Rose Tucker for a job well done, and wishes her the very best.

TRIBUTE TO HANDGUN CONTROL ADVOCATE RICHARD M. ABORN

HON. CHARLES E. SCHUMER

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 29, 1996

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to an esteemed colleague and courageous public citizen, Mr. Richard Aborn, who has helped me and others lead the charge for tougher handgun laws. On the eve of his retirement from Handgun Control, Inc., he has inspired everyone committed to improving law enforcement policy in the United States. For all of those who work toward making our communities safe, from police officers, to neighborhood groups, Richard has provided the vision and the leadership needed to encourage all in their quest for a society free from gun violence and destruction.

As an advocate for gun control since 1979, Richard worked at the Manhattan District Attorney's office, where he prosecuted homicide and gun distribution cases. His interest in reforming our Nation's weak gun laws motivated him to volunteer for Handgun Control, Inc., and in 1992 was elected president. He was also selected as president of the Center To Prevent Handgun Violence, working in tandem with Handgun Control to develop comprehensive handgun control policies. As one of the principal strategists behind passage of the Brady bill and the assault weapons ban, Richard worked against the odds to surprise the pundits and help these crucial laws on the books. He has also used his immeasurable energy and influence to lobby for gun control measures at the State and local level.

Not only has Richard contributed to reducing gun violence at the Federal level, but he has also been instrumental in establishing New York City's STAR Program—Straight Talk About Risks—the Nation's only prekindergarten through 12th grade program designed to reduce gun injuries through education. This ingenious program addresses gun violence before it starts. His contribution to New York City serves as a model for all concerned citizens wishing to stop violence in their own communities.

Throughout my entire public career I have rarely met anyone with more conviction to a specific cause than Richard. His remarkable dedication resulted in landmark laws that have made our streets and schools safer. I would like to personally thank him for his time, energy, and spirit in helping me and others begin to realize our dream of living in a society free from guns and violence. I urge my colleagues to join me in honoring him as he completes his time as president of Handgun Control.

TRIBUTE TO TUSHIA N. FISHER

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I want to recognize Ms. Tushia N. Fisher who is employed as a special assistant to the New York State Senate minority leader, Martin Connor. She is a student enrolled in the State University of New York Empire State College, in a combined master's degree program in political science.

Tushia is a remarkable example of a 1990's woman, dedicated to her family, striving to improve herself as a single parent, and dedicated to improving and empowering her community. Tushia believes that children are our future. She has embarked on a campaign, starting with her 6-year-old son Jamere Jamison, to improve the plight of African-American youth. Her efforts include volunteering at the Interfaith Hospital holiday drive, as well as the City Kids Foundation. Additionally, Tushia is an active member of Concord Baptist Church. She provides a wonderful example for single and dedicated parents about how to pursue personal and professional development while providing volunteer service to her community. I am happy to cite this wonderful community success story.
