

In 1985, he spent a five-month sabbatical in South Africa as the guest of the United Progressive Jewish Congregation of Johannesburg.

His son, Joseph S., was a long-time New York Times correspondent who covered South Africa during the 1960s and again in the 1980s and is now executive editor of the Times. Lelyveld had once considered a career in journalism himself when he was in college.

In the late 1980s, after he retired from an active role at Fairmount Temple, Lelyveld spent several months in Oxford, England, as a scholar-in-residence at Oxford University. He returned again over the years and was invited back last summer.

He was also an author. One of his books, "The Steadfast Stream: An Introduction to Jewish Social Values," was published in September.

As past president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, he wrote a book responding to contemporary radical theology entitled "Atheism is Dead." First published in 1968 by World Publishing Co., it was reissued in paperback in 1970 and again in paperback in 1985.

He was mentioned or written about in at least four books in 1993, including "A History of Jews in America," by Howard Schar, and "Truman," a biography by David McCullough.

In 1988, while on leave from John Carroll, Lelyveld served as a chaplain and lecturer on a 100-day Grand Circle Pacific Cruise aboard the Royal Viking Sea.

He was awarded the 1992 Martin Luther King Jr. Award for Social Justice by the African American Archives Auxiliary of the Western Reserve Historical Society.

Lelyveld served as senior rabbi at Temple Emanu El in Honolulu, Hawaii, from September 1994 until June.

He was a member of the Advisory Board of the Pastoral Psychology Institute of Case Western Reserve University's College of Medicine.

Survivors include his wife of 31 years, Teela, and daughter, Robin of Bethesda, Md. He is also survived by three sons from his first marriage to Toby Bookholtz: Joseph S. and David S., both of New York, and Michael S. of Arlington, Mass.; and five grandchildren.

STUDENT WINS FIRST PLACE IN VFW SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST

HON. FRANK MASCARA

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 16, 1996

Mr. MASCARA. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to report to my colleagues that Jonathan Bayat, a senior from Upper St. Clair High School in my district, has won first place in this year's Pennsylvania VFW Voice of Democracy broadcast script writing contest.

An outstanding student who has earned three letters in swimming, Jonathan plans to attend the American University here in Washington, DC, and pursue a career in international service. He also enjoys music and plays the guitar and trombone.

In the eloquent script Jonathan wrote for this contest, appropriately titled "Answering America's Call," he sends a message all of us here in Congress need to hear: We must work together as a community to overcome the problems of homelessness, poverty, and illiteracy. He urges us all to become involved and volunteer our time and talents to help those less fortunate than ourselves.

In an effort to ensure his message is read across the country and to honor Jonathan's accomplishment, Mr. Speaker I ask that his script be included in today's RECORD. Thank you.

ANSWERING AMERICA'S CALL

(By Jonathan Bayat)

"Now we must all hang together, or most assuredly we shall all hang separately." When Benjamin Franklin spoke those words to a small group of farmers, smiths, and artisans assembled some 219 years ago in Philadelphia, they were as true then as they are today. He told that group of men that if they were going to do what they had set out to do, to tell the King of England that they had had enough of his tyranny, then they must all stick together. Through thick and thin, through good times and bad times, they had to work together or they would all be killed. Their ideals, philosophies and culture would all be lost. Their unity made it capable for this great nation to rise from the loosely associated and disorganized thirteen colonies which preceded her.

The ability for Americans to come together regardless of race, color, or creed and work in unity for the most basic of American ideals has always made this nation great. From the thousands of Union troops who fought to preserve the nation during the Civil War to the thousands of men who left their homes in 1942 to fight for a land and a people most of them had never even seen, all of them rose to the occasion and to the call from their homeland, America. But the call extended beyond military service it went out to every man and every woman regardless of age.

When our American troops landed at Normandy they did not land alone, but rather were backed by the support of millions of Americans. Millions of Americans who did everything from designing the landing craft which our troops used in their amphibious assault, to the fastening of bolts on the armor plating of tanks which our soldiers used to break the back of the Nazi war machine. When Alan Sheppard became the first American to enter space he did not accomplish this task alone but rather he rode on a rocket that countless Americans played a role in developing. Every person had a function and it was the compilation of these capacities that made this monumental feat possible.

But what now is America's call? Is it to again go overseas to defend freedom worldwide or has the call, now, in recent years, sounded closer to home? Has the proverbial battle for the "American Way" moved from foreign shores to our own sacred soil?

The battle being fought now is on the streets of inner-city America and in the classrooms of every public school rather than at the 38th parallel or the DMZ. The battle is now fought with books, knowledge, clothing, and shelter. America now faces the enemies of homelessness, poverty, and illiteracy. But these enemies are neither too great nor too powerful for the transcendent American war machine.

Our focus must simply change. We as Americans must go forth into our own nation and wage war on poverty. Not only with monetary support but also with real community involvement: building houses for the poor, working in soup kitchens, teaching evening classes at homeless shelters. We as Americans must fight for those kids who for whatever reason, be it lack of parental supervision, poor public school systems or overall living environment cannot meet the basic reading and writing standards to be employed. These are the battles which face our nation today.

When Thomas Jefferson remarked in an address to congress that, "Free men without Education are not free for long," he spoke the truth. The lack of education and the poverty and degradation that it breeds must be met head-on and destroyed. I envision an America full of volunteers, a virtual nation of volunteers, an army of civilians fighting a battle which we as a country have lost in the past, an army which would put an end to suffering for thousands of men, women and children, and truly make this country the richest, strongest, and proudest the world has ever seen.

It is time for us, the citizens of the United States, to stand up, and through unity and cooperation fight and win the battle against poverty. In the immortal words of Benjamin Franklin, "United we stand, divided we fall."

THOMAS R. BROME ENDOWMENT FUND

HON. MARGE ROUKEMA

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 16, 1996

Mrs. ROUKEMA. Mr. Speaker, I rise to congratulate Thomas R. Brome on the formation of the Thomas R. Brome Endowment Fund by his friends and colleagues at the Ridgewood, NJ, Public Education Foundation. The fund, with an initial endowment of $25,000, is being formed to honor Tom for his many contributions to the community. The fund will be used exclusively to support programs in education in Tom's name.

Tom's contributions have been enormous. He is a gentleman, scholar, corporate giant, community leader, philanthropist and an extraordinary friend. Even beyond his myriad accomplishments, his exemplary character establishes him as a role model for future leaders in America. He has three passions: his family—wife Mimi and their three children, Clint, Bethan, and Heather; his love of the law, and his commitment to volunteerism.

In both the public and private sector, Tom embodies the highest ethical and moral standards, affirms the dignity of every individual and creates compromise and consensus in environments often rife with discord. As a conciliator, Tom is the embodiment of "win-win" negotiations. His intellect allows him to do that, but it is his personal warmth, genuine willingness to listen and his ability to find a resolution greater than the sum of the parts that really speak to his special abilities.

Tom has led a life filled with distinctions. The 1960 graduate of Ridgewood High School graduated magna cum laude from Harvard University in 1964. At New York University Law School, he was a Root-Tilden Scholar. After graduation, he clerked for Warren Burger at the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington before the jurist was elevated to the U.S. Supreme Court. Tom joined the firm of Cravath, Swaine & Moore in 1968, was elected partner in 1975 and is presently head of the Corporate Law Department.

Despite a challenging career and a rigorous workload, Tom has always managed to find time to give service to the community of Ridgewood and other causes.

Tom is in his third year as president of the Ridgewood Public Education Foundation, with the mission of broadening our children's education experience and helping our school system deliver a world-class competitive education. He has helped establish a successful partnership with the Paterson Education Foundation and a number of districts have looked to Ridgewood as a prototype.

In November 1994, Tom became president of the New York Legal Aid Society Board of Directors, an agency with which he has served since law school. As president, Tom had the task of negotiating contracts and restructuring Legal Aid's staff following an attorneys' strike and New York City's termination of Legal Aid contracts.

He is also co-chair of Weinfeld Associates, a fund-raising arm of NYU Law School, a former president and trustee of the Ridgewood Board of Education, and a former vestryman and warden at St. Elizabeth's Church in Ridgewood.

Tom and I go way back—back further than either of us would care to admit. He was my student at George Washington Junior High School in Ridgewood. From those days a long time ago, I could see Tom was destined for great things. He was sharp, disciplined, handled himself very well, displayed great character and his classmates turned to him for answers. In short, he was a leader among leaders even then.

It is Tom's propensity for hard work, his facile mind and his wonderful ability to deal with people that have allowed him to balance a truly Herculean schedule. Everything he does, he does with full effort and with grace and sensitivity. Perhaps it is the dignity with which Tom treats every individual that truly inspires people to do their best. Ridgewood is truly blessed to have Tom as a resident and I am truly blessed to be able to call him my friend.

CONGRATULATING MICHAEL
KENNY, FLORIDA VOICE OF DEMOCRACY WINNER

HON. MICHAEL BILIRAKIS

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 16, 1996

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, each year the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its ladies auxiliary conduct the Voice of Democracy Broadcast Scriptwriting Contest. This year, more than 116,000 secondary school students participated in the contest, competing for the 54 national scholarships totaling more than $118,000. The contest theme for this year was "Answering America's Call."

I am proud to announce that one of my constituents, Michael Kenny, won first place in the state and a $1,000 scholarship in the Voice of Democracy Contest. Michael is a senior at Tarpon Springs High School and hopes to pursue a career in theater.

In his speech, Michael reminds us all of what can be accomplished when we answer

America's call and undertake individual acts to improve the world around us. I would like to share Michael's speech with you.

ANSWERING AMERICA'S CALL

(By Michael Kenny)

Around the first of December 1995, due to the efforts of people in Helena, Montana banding together to protect and care for certain ailing and threatened birds, the American Bald Eagle was taken off the endangered species list.

Murder, poverty, homelessness, hunger, discriminationwhen we watch the evening news, or read the paper, we seldom see good news like the story about the Bald Eagle. We are often disgusted and shocked at what transpires in the world around us. Many are pointing out our problems without offering any solutions. They see America's flaws and say we are a society destined to failure. America is endangered, but her critics are not listening. They do not hear the soft voice of America as she whispers. America is calling out to us. She asks for our love and respect for her and for her precious needy citizens. She is the voice of the twenty million children living in poverty and the 12 million children hoping for a hot meal so they won't go to bed hungryagain"help us," America calls, "help them", "help each other."

Let's not waste time criticizing, let's answer. Let's work together and repair what is wrong with this country. She asks us to come together, to stand united in our communities and help those who need food, clothing and shelter. As a letter to the editor in my local newspaper recently put it, "The truth is that no sense of community can survive unless we the people demand political respect and economic support for the values of human dignity." A while back, I was like the many who just complained and put America down. I was angry at the world around me for all of its problems because I felt helpless to make right what was wrong. I am only one person, I thought, what can I do? Recently, desiring to at least do something, I went down to a local soup kitchen to offer some help. I noticed there a young girl in what appeared to have once been a pink dress, but was now only soiled rags. She was cold and clutched tightly an old doll with the stuffing coming out and she was desperately trying to keep warm. My heart sank as she timidly approached the counter. I wanted so much to help her. As I handed her a cup of chicken soup and saw the smile cross that dirt-stained little face as she took her first sip, I knew I had begun to answer her call. She received the nourishment she needed to get through the day. We helped make her life, and others, a little easier, at least for the moment. I realized then that I could make a difference. Finally, I was beginning to hear and answer the call of America.

Our country also calls out for us to be proud. We live in a nation where men and women have traditionally joined in a fight for freedom. So many lives were lost to gain what this country stands for; justice, liberty and community. When you hear the national anthem at a ball game, riserise as America calls you to your feet, and when you place your right hand over your heart, be proud of your country. When we answer America's call, we will have come together as a community; white, black, native America, Asian, Hispanic and have erased prejudice and racism. We will have helped our fellow human beings and hopefully, defeated hate and violence. And America will finally hear the praise she so desperately deserves.

So let's listen to our country because all our criticism is drowning out her voice. But she still calls for us to go out and do something. No, You or I alone can't change a whole country, but when people in our community see what we are doing, it will inspire them to do the same, and will create a chain from one community to the next until all of America is answering the call. And then, who knows, maybe this country, like its national symbol, the Bald Eagle, will no longer be endangered.

TRIBUTE TO GIRL SCOUT GOLD
AWARD RECIPIENT

HON. DAVID R. OBEY

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 16, 1996

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, today, I would like to salute an outstanding young woman, Laura Hahn, who has been honored with the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. Gold Award by the Indian Waters Girl Scout Council in Eau Claire, WI.

She is being honored for earning the highest achievement award in Girl Scouting. The Girl Scout Gold Award symbolizes outstanding accomplishments in the areas of leadership, community service, career planning and personal development.

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., an organization serving over 2.6 million girls, has awarded more than 20,000 Girl Scout Gold Awards to Senior Girl Scouts since the inception of the program in 1980. To receive the award, a Girl Scout must fulfill five requirements: earn four interest project patches, earn the Career Exploration pin, earn the Senior Girl Scout Leadership Award project, earn the Senior Girl Scout Challenge, and design and implement a Girl Scout Gold Award project. A plan for fulfilling the requirements of the award is created by the Senior Girl Scout and is carried out through close cooperation between the girl and an adult Girl Scout volunteer.

For the Girl Scout Gold Award project, Laura developed a plan to prepare and distribute holiday meals to people who could not leave their homes. Laura worked to secure the funding for the meals and organized volunteers to help prepare and deliver the meals. Through her project, Laura was able to bring together different groups to address the needs of individuals in her community.

The earning of the Girl Scout Gold Award is a major accomplishment for Laura Hahn and I believe she should receive the public recognition due her for this significant service to her community and her country.

TRIBUTE TO NORA W. BRANDT:
SPEAKING OUT FOR PEACE

HON. CARRIE P. MEEK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mrs. MEEK of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the accomplishments of Nora W. Brandt, the principal of W.J. Bryan Elementary School in north Miami. Mrs. Brandt will be honored here in Washington tonight at a ceremony recognizing her efforts to teach young people peaceful means of resolving conflict.

Too often in our society, conflicts are resolved through violent rather than through
