

IN HONOR OF THE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE REPUBLIC OF ARMENIA

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of May 12, 1995, the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. PALLONE] is recognized during morning business for 5 minutes.

Mr. PALLONE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the fifth anniversary of the independence of the Armenian Republic, which was celebrated this past Saturday, September 21.

Madam Speaker, the story of the Armenian people, one of the world's most ancient and enduring cultures, is an inspiring saga of courage, devotion to family and nation, and, most dramatically, the triumph over adversity and tragedy. Earlier in this century, in one of history's most horrible crimes against humanity, 1.5 million Armenian men, women, and children were slaughtered by the Ottoman Turkish Empire. Every April, Members of this House join in commemoration of the Armenian genocide. We can never relent, and we will not relent, in our efforts to remind the world that this tragedy is a historic fact—despite the efforts of so-called revisionists to deny the truth—and to make sure that our Nation, the world community, and especially the Turkish nation, come to terms with and appropriately commemorate this historic fact.

But today, Madam Speaker, I want to talk about a much more joyous occasion in the great history of the Armenian people. The collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991 allowed the Armenian people to finally achieve a true sense of nationhood, to create a society where their language, culture, religion, and other institutions would be able to prosper. The progress made in 5 short years by the Republic of Armenia has been an inspiration—not only for the sons and daughters of the Diaspora, but for all Americans who support the cause of freedom. Having survived the genocide, and living for decades under the yoke of the Soviet Union, the brave people of Armenia have endeavored to build a free and proud nation, based on the principles of democracy and a market economy.

Madam Speaker, as they have for so much of their history, the Armenian people have accomplished all this against daunting odds. The tiny, landlocked Republic of Armenia is surrounded by hostile neighbors who have imposed blockades that have halted the delivery of basic necessities. Yet, independent Armenia continues to persevere and even prosper. While democracy has proven to be elusive in much of the former Soviet bloc, democratic Armenia held parliamentary elections last year and will hold nationwide presidential elections later this year.

As the founder and cochairman, with the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. PORTER], of the Congressional Caucus on Armenia Issues, I consider United States-Armenia relations to be one of our key foreign policy objectives. Support for Armenia is in our practical interests, helping to support a stable nation in a strategically important and often unstable part of the world. Standing by Armenia is also consistent with America's calling to support democracy and human rights, and to defend free peoples throughout the world. In the ongoing debate over the foreign operations bill for fiscal year 1997, congressional friends of Armenia are working, on a bipartisan basis, to provide humanitarian and development aid for Armenia while trying to limit assistance to Turkey and block any funds from going to Azerbaijan until those countries lift their blockades of Armenia.

Madam Speaker, I want to emphasize that the people of Armenia want good relations with their neighbors and the entire world community, and I believe the moral, political and economic power of the United States can go a long way toward helping Armenia achieve that goal.

Madam Speaker, the Republic of Armenia—and friends of Armenia here in the United States—have had much to celebrate recently. Earlier this year, a beautiful new embassy building was opened. It was a great honor and privilege for me to be there for the dedication ceremony, joined by colleagues from this House and the Senate, Armenian political and religious leaders, and members of the community to help inaugurate a real, functioning Embassy, located in the very heart of the Embassy Row area, side by side with many of the world's other great nations. The existence of this Embassy is a tribute to the efforts and dedication of the Armenian-American community—just as the very existence to the Republic of Armenia as an independent nation and state is a triumph of the indomitable will of the people of Armenia to overcome every imaginable obstacle and disadvantage to create a new democracy from one of the world's most ancient nations.

Madam Speaker, I hope that by the time we mark the 10th anniversary of the Republic of Armenia, we can look back with pride on building peace in prosperity in the entire Transcaucasus region, so that the people of Armenia and their neighbors can enjoy a stable, hopeful future. I hope that the Republics of Turkey and Azerbaijan will have responded positively to Armenia's offer to normalize relations, exchanging diplomats, and allowing the free flow of goods and people across their borders. I hope that, with the active participation of the United States, we will have resolved the question of Nagorno-Karabagh, the Armenian enclave located within Azeri borders, to guarantee the security and self-determination of the people of Karabagh. I hope that the effort to tap the vast Caspian Sea oil reserves will finally culminate in the construction of a pipeline carrying the oil west to Mediterranean ports through Azerbaijan, Armenia, and Turkey—thereby further linking those neighbors in mutually beneficial security and economic ties.

While I prefer to stress the positive, in the real world of 1996 I will work with my fellow supporters of Armenia to make sure that Turkey and Azerbaijan are not rewarded for their intransigence towards their neighbor Armenia. We must continue to enforce section 907, banning direct United States Government aid to Azerbaijan, until that country lifts its blockade of Armenia. We must continue to enforce the Humanitarian Aid Corridor Act, which would cut off aid to Turkey for its blockade of Armenia. We must guard against any tilt by this administration, or any future administration, toward the Turkish and Azeri sides.

Madam Speaker, this anniversary is being marked by a series of events. Last weekend, the Armenian National Committee of America's New Jersey and New York chapters held a series of events the greater New York area, including a concert and a picnic. On Saturday, September 21, the Diocese of the Armenian Church of America held a formal banquet and a cultural program in New York. Tonight, Tuesday, September 24, the Armenian Assembly of America, in conjunction with the Congressional Causus on Armenian Issues, will hold a reception over in the Senate. And on Friday, the Ambassador of Armenia to the United States, His Excellency Mr. Rouben Shaugarian, will host a reception at the Embassy.

Madam Speaker, I hope to see some of my colleagues at these upcoming events, whether they have been a long-standing friend of Armenia or are merely interested in learning about his new—and yet most ancient—country. It is an honor for me to pay tribute to the fifth anniversary of Armenia's Independence, and I look forward to commemorating many more anniversaries in the future.

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Ms. GREENE of Utah) at 12 noon.

PRAYER

Bishop Felton May, Washington Episcopal Area United Methodist Church, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, You created us in Your image. Grant us grace fearlessly to contend against evil, and to make no peace with oppression. And, that we may reverently use our freedom, help us to employ it in the fostering of reconciliation, liberation, and justice.

Grant us sincerity, with golden morals and values, that we may persistently seek the things that endure, refusing those which perish, and grow ever richer in that love which is the life of all people. Bless this House of Representatives and all the leaders of this Nation; as we continue to be good and faithful stewards of the resources of this world which You created and called good. Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House her approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

Mr. BALLENGER. Madam Speaker, pursuant to clause 1, rule I, I demand a vote on agreeing to the Speaker's approval of the Journal.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the Chair's approval of the Journal.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. BALLENGER. Madam Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5, rule I, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. TRAFICANT] come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. TRAFICANT led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will entertain ten 1-minutes on each side of the aisle.

RELEASE FREEH'S MEMO REGARDING THE WAR ON DRUGS

(Mr. BALLENGER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BALLENGER. Madam Speaker, last month, Newsweek magazine ran a story on the politics of the war on drugs. Here is a quote from the article: "Although cocaine is still a major problem and heroin is getting worse, it is simply beyond argument that Bill Clinton has failed to use the powers of his office to lead the war on drugs."

The articles goes on to report that 18 months ago, FBI Director Louis Freeh wrote a "scathing" memo detailing how illegal drugs were flowing into America like an all-conquering army. Freeh reportedly said there was no true leadership in the war on drugs.

Madam Speaker, what else was in that memo? What could have motivated Bill Clinton's hand-picked FBI director to make these revelations? And why hasn't this memo been released?

The Clinton administration should release the Freeh memo, and while they are at it, they can explain to the American people why they have done so very little to stop the flow of these drugs when they knew about it over 18 months ago.

CALLING FOR REPORT ON SPEAKER GINGRICH TO BE MADE PUBLIC

(Mr. VOLKMER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. VOLKMER. Madam Speaker, here we continue on; it has been over a month. Mr. Cole has filed his report with the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct on Speaker GINGRICH. This is a huge dark cloud that hangs over the House.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LINDER. Madam Speaker, I have a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Georgia will state his point of order.

Mr. LINDER. The gentleman in the well is referring to matters before the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, which is explicitly against the rules of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair sustains the point of order and directs the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. VOLKMER] to proceed in order.

Mr. VOLKMER. The public media has now taken up the call, along with myself and other Members of this House who are asking that that report be made public. It cost the taxpayers—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LINDER. Point of order, Madam Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. LINDER. Madam Speaker, it may be that the gentleman does not understand the English language, but I thought the Chair just sustained a point of order and instructed him not to refer to matters before the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct but to continue in order, and for him to continue referring to these matters is out of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair once again sustains the point of order of the gentleman from Georgia

[Mr. LINDER]. The gentleman from Missouri [Mr. VOLKMER] is not speaking in order, and the Chair again directs the gentleman from Missouri to proceed in order in accordance with the rules of the House.

Mr. VOLKMER. Madam Speaker, it is time and the time is now that the chairperson of the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, NANCY "Stonewall" JOHNSON, release that report on Speaker GINGRICH so that we can all know what is in it. I do not know what is in it, whether it is good or bad, but we are entitled to know. Every Member of this House, the public, the press is entitled to know what is in that report.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LINDER. Point of order, Madam Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. LINDER. Madam Speaker, it does not seem like anyone should have to remind someone three times in a 1-minute speech that he is abusing the rules of the House, but that is the point I am raising.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will inform the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. VOLKMER] that the Chair sustains the point of order of the gentleman from Georgia. The gentleman from Missouri is not, under the rules of the House, to make references to matters currently under review before the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct or to members of that committee, as the gentleman from Missouri well knows.

The gentleman from Missouri [Mr. VOLKMER] has 20 seconds remaining.

Mr. VOLKMER. Madam Speaker, it is very apparent, I think, to everybody out there that is seeing what is happening here, that Members of the House who are calling for this report to be made public are attempted to be gagged.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman from Missouri has expired.

SUPPORT NATIONAL POLLUTION PREVENTION WEEK

(Mrs. MORELLA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. MORELLA. Madam Speaker, my topic is quite different. I am pleased to lend my support to National Pollution Prevention Week, recognized across the country to promote the most environmentally responsible management approach of pollution prevention, reducing pollution at the source before it starts. Pollution prevention can increase industrial efficiency and commercial competitiveness, improve the health and safety of workers in the workplace, while simultaneously preserving valuable resources and protecting the environment.

In my State of Maryland we have a very active State pollution prevention
