Mr. CRAPO and Mr. BARTLETT of Maryland changed their vote from ''aye'' to ''no.''

Mr. FOGLIETTA changed his vote from ''no'' to ''aye.''

So the bill was passed.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

A message in writing from the President of the United States was communicated to the House by Mr. Edwin Thomas, one of his secretaries.

ANNUAL REPORT OF NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE ARTS, FISCAL YEAR 1994—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. KOLBE) laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States; which was read and, together with the accompanying papers, without objection, referred to the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities:

To the Congress of the United States:

It is my special pleasure to transmit herewith the Annual Report of the National Endowment for the Arts for the fiscal year 1994.

Over the course of its history, the National Endowment for the Arts has awarded grants for arts projects that reach into every community in the Nation. The agency's mission is public service through the arts, and it fulfills this mandate through support of artistic excellence, our cultural heritage and traditions, individual creativity, education, and public and private partnerships for the arts. Perhaps most importantly, the Arts Endowment encourages arts organizations to reach out to the American people, to bring in new audiences for the performing, literary, and visual arts.

The results over the past 30 years can be measured by the increased presence of the arts in the lives of our fellow citizens. More children have contact with working artists in the classroom, at children's museums and festivals, and in the curricula. More older Americans now have access to museums, concert halls, and other venues. The arts reach into the smallest and most isolated communities, and in our inner cities, arts programs are often a haven for the most disadvantaged, a place where our youth can rediscover the power of imagination, creativity, and hope.

We can measure this progress as well in our re-designed communities, in the buildings and sculpture that grace our cities and towns, and in the vitality of the local economy whenever the arts arrive. The National Endowment for the Arts works the way a Government agency should work—in partnership with the private sector, in cooperation with State and local government, and in service to all Americans. We enjoy a rich and diverse culture in the United States, open to every citizen, and supported by the Federal Government for our common good and benefit.

WILLIAM J. CLINTON.

THE WHITE HOUSE, March 28, 1996.

HEALTH COVERAGE AVAILABILITY AND AFFORDABILITY ACT OF 1996

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 392 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 392

Resolved, That upon the adoption of this resolution it shall be in order to consider in the House the bill (H.R. 3103) to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to improve portability and continuity of health insurance coverage in the group and individual markets, to combat waste, fraud, and abuse in health insurance and health care delivery, to promote the use of medical savings accounts, to improve access to long-term care services and coverage, to simplify the administration of health insurance, and for other purposes. An amendment in the nature of a substitute consisting of the text of H.R. 3160, modified by the amendment specified in part 1 of the report of the Committee on Rules accompanying this resolution, shall be considered as adopted. All points of order against the bill, as amended, and against its consideration are waived (except those arising under section 425(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974). The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill, as amended, and on any further amendment thereto to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) two hours of debate on the bill, as amended, with 45 minutes equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Ways and Means, 45 minutes equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Commerce, and 30 minutes equally divided and controlled by the chairman and ranking minority member of the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities; (2) the further amendment specified in part 2 of the Committee on Rules, if offered by the minority leader or his designee, which shall be in order without intervention of any point of order (except those arising under section 425(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974) or demand for division of the question, shall be considered as read, and shall be separately debatable for one hour equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent; and (3) one motion to recommit, which may include instructions only if offered by the minority leader or his designee. The yeas and nays shall be considered as ordered on the question of passage of the bill and on any conference report thereon. Clause 5(c) of rule XXI shall not apply to the bill, amendments thereto, or conference reports thereon.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Florida [Mr. GOSS] is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of debate only I yield the customary 30 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. MOAKLEY], the ranking member of the Committee on Rules, pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

Mr. Speaker, the Rules Committee has carefully crafted this rule to allow for ample debate on the major issues of health insurance reform without opening ourselves up to a free-for-all. The purpose is to pass a streamlined bill that accomplishes meaningful, results without getting bogged down in a replay of last Congress' frustrating and fruitless health reform debate.

Mr. Speaker, this rule is a modified closed rule that allows us to knit together the work product of five major committees. This rule makes in order as base text for the purpose of amendment the text of H.R. 3160, modified by a technical amendment printed in part 1 of the Rules Committee report. The rule waives all points of order against the bill as amended and against its consideration, except those arising under section 425(e) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, relating to unfunded mandates. The rule provides for a total of 2 hours of debate, with 45 minutes equally divided between the chairman and ranking member of the Committee on Ways and Means, 45 minutes equally divided between the chairman and ranking member of the Committee on Commerce, and 30 minutes equally divided between the chairman and ranking member of the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities. The rule allows the minority to offer the amendment in the nature of a substitute, as referenced to the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD in part 2 of our Rules Committee report. That amendment shall not be subject to any point of order—except relating to section 425(e) of the budget act—or to any demand for a division of the question. The amendment shall be debatable for 1 hour, equally divided between a proponent and an opponent. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill as amended and on any further amendment thereto, to final passage, without intervening motion, except as specified. The rule provides for the traditional right of the minority to offer one motion to recommit, with or without instructions, but instructions may be offered by the minority leader or a designee.

Finally, this rule provides that the yeas and nays are ordered on final passage and that the provisions of clause 5(c) of rule XXI shall not apply to votes on the bill, amendments thereto or conference reports thereon. The purpose of this last provision, Mr. Speaker, is one of an abundance of caution with respect to the new House rule requiring a supermajority vote for any amendment or measure containing a Federal income tax rate increase. The provision in question in the bill is a popular one with Members on both sides of the aisle. It closes the loophole that currently allows people to renounce their citizenship to avoid paying U.S. taxes.

Although most people might agree that bringing a currently exempt group of people under an existing income tax rate is not an increase in Federal income tax rates, and thus would not be subject to the new House rule, we have been advised that some might disagree. And possibly the MSA withdrawal penalty could be construed by some as a tax rate increase but I do not believe that was what the rule was aiming at.

And so, to ensure that this important provision does not jeopardize passage of this bill, we are providing this protection from the rule.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to support this cooperative product, to provide genuine health insurance reform for working Americans. The committees of this House have taken the bill from the other body and built upon it, achieving a better product without overloading it to the point of failure. This bill improves on the other body's bill by addressing and fixing the problem of affordability. This bill ensures that individuals will not be denied health insurance if they change jobs. It ensures that individuals who move to another job that doesn't offer coverage can buy an individual policy without fear of preexisting condition restrictions. These portability provisions are the cornerstone, but we have done more because we recognize that if we provide access to the uninsured without making it affordable, we have accomplished nothing.

Today, 85 percent of the uninsured work for small businesses. We respond by allowing small employers to join together to purchase health insurance. This bill allows self-employed individuals to deduct 50 percent of their health insurance premiums, giving them the same advantage larger companies already enjoy. By establishing medical savings accounts, this bill offers individuals more control over their own health care costs. We propose to limit lawsuit abuse—which drives up health care costs and makes insurance more expensive for everyone—and attack fraud and abuse, with stiff penalties on those who cheat the system. It's a solid package of real reform.

Mr. Speaker, this bill had not even been produced before opponents began tearing it apart.

The same folks who in the last Congress tried to engineer socialized medicine, Government-run medicine that tells you when you are sick, what doctor you must see and what pills you must take. Well, those folks have joined together again to deride our plan which they said would ruin the prospect for health care reform. I believe their goal is to have Government run all of your lives. But this bill is a positive set of proposals for meaningful and doable health care reform now.

Support the rule; support the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out today's rule is one more closed rule in a year of 100 percent restrictive rules. I just want to remind Members of this because of the orations we used to hear from the other side on closed rules.

This year, every rule that has come out of the Committee on Rules so far has been restricted in some form. It also waives the three-fifth vote required for tax increases, which my Republican colleagues like so much, they wanted to make it an amendment to the Constitution. If the three-fifth vote for tax increases is that important, Mr. Speaker, why are Republicans waiving it on this bill? In fact, this is the second time the three-fifths vote has come up and it is the second time that they have waived it.

Mr. Speaker, today we have a great opportunity. We have the chance to make a huge difference in the lives of millions of Americans. We have the chance to pass a bipartisan health bill that will do two things that will affect every single American. Today, if Republicans will join with the Democrats, we could pass a bill that would enable more people to take their health care with them when they leave a job, and limit preexisting conditions so that people are not denied health care just because they have been previously ill.

But, Mr. Speaker, even though this opportunity is right at our fingertips in the form of the Kennedy-Kassebaum-Roukema bill, it is about to slip away. It is because my Republican colleagues have loaded up a very excellent bill with a lot of goodies for special interests. My Republican colleagues, Mr. Speaker, have also added medical savings accounts which will take over $2 billion from Medicare and spend it on tax breaks for younger and wealthier people, and they have added controversial malpractice provisions which will virtually ensure the bill's veto.

Mr. Speaker, over the last year I have had a lot of hands-on experience with the American health care system, and I know how important good health care is, and I know how important good health insurance is. I can tell my colleagues there is not a single person in this country that does not worry that they may lose their health care if they change jobs, or even worse, they would be denied their health care coverage just because they have had a previous illness.

But this Republican-controlled House is once again about to put the good of special interests before the good of the Nation.

Mr. Speaker, this is a time of great uncertainty in our country. Today many workers wake up each morning wondering whether they will have a job at the end of the day and even whether they will be able to provide their family health care. Today health care costs are skyrocketing, and the Republican House is turning a blind eye to the needs of working men and women.

But we have heard over and over again our Republican colleagues talk about providing opportunity for America's middle class. Mr. Speaker, if ever there was a chance to do that, this is the bill. This is our chance to do something for the people of this country, and we should take it.

I urge my colleagues to defeat the rule, defeat the previous question. It is time to put the American people and their health care before politics.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I think there are a couple of points that need to be made here.

Technically of course, at the very onset of this rule debate, this is not a closed rule which we are debating. This is a modified closed rule. What is the difference? The difference in the importance of a modified closed rule is that the modified closed rule allows their side the opportunity to offer a complete substitute. In addition to that, it allows them to make a motion to recommit. There is certainly plenty of room for them to maneuver over there, to offer the kind of amendments or changes that they feel are important.

Second, Mr. Speaker, I think a few words should be said in response to the comments made about the waiver of clause 5(c) of rule XXI in this rule against the bill and the amendments thereto. As my colleagues are aware, clause 5(c) requires a three-fifths vote on the adoption or passage of any bill, joint resolution, amendment or conference report carrying, quote, a Federal income tax rate increase, unquote.

We do not feel there is any provision in this bill that raises Federal income tax rates as construed by the legislative history on this rule. As the section-by-section analysis of this rule explained when the rule was adopted on January 4 of 1995, and I quote:

> For purposes of these rules the term ''Federal income tax rate increase'' is, for example, an increase in the individual income tax rates established in section 1 and the corporate income tax rates established in section 11, respectfully, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

Those are commonly understood marginal tax rates, or income bracket tax rates, applicable to various minimum and maximum income dollar amounts for individuals and corporations.

In response to the letter from the ranking minority member of the Committee on Rules to the chairman last year requesting a clarification of this rule, the Committee on Rules published such a clarification in the report on the rule for the reconciliation bill. The bottom lien of that clarification reads as follows, and again I quote:

> It is the intent of this committee that the term ''Federal income tax rate increase'' should be narrowly construed and confined to the rate specified in those two sections, that is sections 1 and 11 of the Internal Revenue Code, respectfully, establishing marginal rates for individuals and corporations.

Nothing in the bill before us increases either the individual income tax rates contained in section 1 of the Code or the corporate income tax rates contained in section 11 of the Code. Thus, according to the Committee on Rules clarification, as requested by the ranking minority member, this bill does not trigger a three-fifths vote on either the minority substitute or on the bill itself. However, as was mentioned in the opening statement on this rule, the waiver was provided out of an abundance of caution to avoid unnecessary points of order.

EXPLANATION AND DISCUSSION OF CLAUSE 5(c), RULE XXI WAIVER

(Excerpted From the Rules Committee's Report on H. Res. 245, the Reconciliation Rule)

As indicated in the preceding paragraph, the Committee has provided in this rule that the provisions of clause 5(c) of House Rule XXI, which require a three-fifths vote on any bill, joint resolution, amendment or conference report ''carrying a Federal income tax rate increase,'' shall not apply to the votes on passage of H.R. 2491, or to the votes any amendment thereto or conference report thereon.

The suspension of clause 5(c) of rule XXI is not being done because there are any Federal income tax rate increases contained in the reconciliation substitute being made in order as base text by this rule. As the Committee on Ways and Means has pointed out in its portion of the report on the reconciliation bill—

''The Committee has carefully reviewed the provisions of Title XIII and XIV of the revenue reconciliation provisions approved by the Committee to determine whether any of these provisions constitute a Federal income tax rate increase within the meaning of the House Rules. It is the opinion of the Committee that there is no provision of Titles XIII and XIV of the revenue reconciliation provisions that constitutes a Federal income tax rate increase within the meaning of House Rule XXI, 5(c) of (d).''

Nevertheless, the Committee on Rules has suspended the application of clause 5(c) as a precautionary measure to avoid unnecessary points of order that might otherwise arise over confusion or misinterpretations of what is meant by an income tax rate increase.

Such point of order was raised and overruled on the final passage vote of H.R. 1215, the omnibus tax bill, on April 15, 1995. The ranking minority member of the Rules Committee subsequently wrote to the chairman of this Committee requesting a clarification of the rule. An exchange of correspondence with the Parliamentarian and the Counsel of the Joint Tax Committee was subsequently released by the chairman of this Committee on June 13, 1995, regarding the ruling and the provision of the bill which gave rise to the point of order.

The Committee would simply conclude this discussion by citing from the section-by-section analysis of H. Res. 6, adopting House Rules for the 104th Congress, placed in the Congressional Record at the time the rules were adopted on January 4, 1995. With respect to clauses 5(c) and (d) which require a three-fifths vote on any income tax rate increase and prohibit consideration of any retroactive income tax rate increase, respectively:

''For purposes of these rules, the term ''Federal income tax rate increase'' is, for example, an increase in the individual income tax rates established in section 1, and the corporate income tax rates established in section 11, respectively, of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, (Congressional Record, Jan, 4, 1995, p. H–34)''.

The rates established by those sections are the commonly understood ''marginal' tax rates or income ''bracket'' tax rates applicable to various minimum and maximum income dollar amounts for individuals and corporations. It is the intent of this committee that the term ''Federal income tax rate increase'' should be narrowly construed and confined to the rates specified in those two sections. As indicated in the Ways and Means Committee's report, those rates have not been increased by any provision contained in H.R. 2491 as made in order as base text by this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 6 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. HASTERT].

Mr. HASTERT. I think the gentleman from Colorado for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I think we need to talk about how this bill came about and what is in it and what is not in it. The bill is an amalgam of ideas that have been tested around this House for the last 5 or 6 years, things that made eminent good sense.

Now this year of course the House has been working on Medicare and Medicaid, and insurance reform has been on the back burner, but we have always tried to use the issue and work the issue of portability so that we could have people move from group to group and group to individual.

Now, in the Senate bill there was some controversy with the group to individual because people who were basically healthy, when they lose their jobs, many times do not go out and buy a very expensive insurance policy. People who are sick, or if they are 15 years of age, and three kids, and a wife who is going to deliver, or if they are 55 years of age and have a preexisting condition, and need to go into immediate health insurance coverage, they are going to go out and buy that insurance policy, probably at whatever cost. So we thought that it was very, very important that we design and change the group to individual policy so that only sick people would not buy individual insurance, that we could hold down the cost so that insurance can be available and affordable to everybody.

So, the way that we structure group to individual allows for that, but it is really the central theme of what this bill does.

Health care availability is something that we all strive for. We know that there are a lot of Mercedes and Rolls Royces out there that are available. The problem is people do not drive them because they cannot afford them. Well, my colleagues, that is the same way in health care. If someone cannot afford the health care, if they cannot afford that insurance policy, then they do not buy it, and those folks riding around in Mercedes and Rolls Royces certainly have a lot of money to spend, and they can probably afford anything. But most of those people are people that do not have jobs.

So that is the issue. How do we take people who need a health care bill and they do not have a job?

Our approach to that is an approach of a type of policy that they can buy that is a low-cost policy, maybe a deductible, but something that is affordable, not for just people who are sick, but people who are well. So the theme of affordability and availability is central to everything that we have put in this package, and my colleagues know this package goes a little bit beyond the Senate package, but it is because we think that the Senate package was lacking.

We have had four committees that have worked on this bill and four committees that went out and structured things that were within their jurisdiction and moved legislation through their committees, had hearings, subcommittee hearings, full committee hearings, took amendments, listened to amendments, went through the debate and moved out a package; each bill within the jurisdiction of that committee. The Committee on Rules then put those three bills together, plus some information or piece of legislation that came out of the Committee on the Judiciary and put it together in the Rules Committee yesterday.

Now what is the difference between this bill, the House Republican bill sponsored by the chairmen of the four committees and subcommittee chairman, and the Senate bill? For one thing, we have medical savings accounts, and my colleagues will hear people over here saying, ''Boy, medical savings accounts are only for rich people,'' and that is just a fraud.

Medical savings accounts are for everybody. The average employer cost per employee family in this country is about $4,500 a year. If my colleagues had a $4,500 savings or $4,500 life insurance policy, Medisave, a policy, probably my colleagues would take a $2,000 deductible and buy a high deductible policy; my colleagues would take that other $2,500 and put it in their medical savings account.

Now is that for rich people? No, that is for the average worker. That is for the guy who carries a lunch bucket to work. But a fellow or a person or a family that wants to control his own choice in health care, that does not want an HMO or an insurance company telling him what doctor to go to, or what hospital to go to, or what type of treatment to get, somebody that wants to control their own health care choice, and with a medical savings account we do just that.

Now if my colleagues do not spend that money, then they get to keep it, and that is real portability, because if my colleagues had this insurance policy for a couple of years and they have $10,000 or $15,000 or $20,000 in their medical savings account, that gives them real portability. My colleagues can move that and take it wherever they want, or buy insurance with it, pay for health care costs with it.

Also, this bill has long-term care expense so people, seniors, can take their assets and move it into long-term care, or if they have a fatal disease, they can take their life insurance, cash it in, and buy long-term care or health care with it.

We also have small group employer, so the 85 percent of the people who do not have insurance today that live in families that work for small businesses, that they can go to the marketplace and get the same break that big businesses get.

Now this is commonsense reform, my colleagues. It is something that everybody can work with, it makes health care not just available, but affordable. I hope that my colleagues would vote for this rule.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Rhode Island [Mr. REED].

Mr. REED. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the Republican effort to sabotage realistic and meaningful health care this year. Senators KENNEDY and KASSEBAUM have sponsored health insurance reform legislation that is a positive first step to removing the barriers for coverage for thousands of Rhode Islanders and millions of Americans.

I am cosponsor of the Kennedy-Kassebaum bill. It will be offered as a Democratic substitute, and this bill would prohibit insurance companies from dropping coverage when a person changes jobs or preventing coverage if a person has a preexisting condition. In addition, this bill would increase the tax deduction for the self-employed from 30 percent to 80 percent by the year 2002. It is also estimated that this bill would help 25 million Americans each year, with minimal impact on individual premiums or the federal budget. In Rhode Island this would be terribly helpful for thousands of Almacs workers who were recently laid off when the store closed, a supermarket chain.

□ 1700

These are individuals that need this type of coverage. Regrettably, House Republicans decided against taking up this bipartisan bill. House Republicans chose instead to cater to special interests and consider a bill with controversial and costly provisions. This Republican plan will doom the prospect of meaningful health care reform this year in the Congress.

Mr. Speaker, I urge rejection of this measure.

Mr. KENNEDY of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. REED. I yield to the gentleman from Massachusetts.

Mr. KENNEDY of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman yielding.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is very simple. There was a deal cut in the U.S. Senate, the Kennedy-Kassebaum bill. President Clinton agreed to Kennedy-Kassebaum. All the Republicans in the Senate agreed to Kennedy-Kassebaum. The Kennedy-Kassebaum bill does three things. It says to the ordinary citizens of this country that if they are willing to pay their health care premium if they change their jobs, they are going to continue to get health care. If they lose their job, they are going to continue to get health care. If they get sick, they will continue to get health care.

With the Republican substitute, the Republicans have taken a stake and thrown it into the heart of health care reform. This notion of supporting MSA's, this notion of including caps on damages so if you lose your leg you are only going to pay people $250,000, ends up doing one thing; that is, throwing off the track the ability of the American people, once and for all, to get needed health care coverage.

All we are trying to do is enrich the pockets of the doctors, enrich the pockets of the lawyers, and take away from the serious effort of getting the people that do not have health insurance or that lose health insurance simply because they get sick, simply because they lose their job, taking that hope away.

We have the opportunity to get the job done. Let us come together, and let us support the Democratic substitute which will once again put health reform back on track.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. CARDIN].

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend, the gentleman from Massachusetts, for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, this is a bad rule. I thought we were going to get a rule and a bill before us that will let us deal with health insurance portability and preexisting conditions, that will let us deal with the problems that our constituents are facing of losing their jobs and losing their health benefits, and being unable to get health insurance without preexisting condition restrictions. Democrats and Republicans agreed to deal with that issue.

Yet this rule makes it less likely we will get to that day. This rule does not permit any amendments to be offered. Many amendments were suggested in the Committee on Rules, that would help improve the bill that has been brought forward.

Let me just mention a couple of the areas that troubled me. The bill preempts State laws in many, many ways. I thought we were supposed to be returning power to our States. This bill makes it very difficult for our States to respond to health insurance problems. In my own State, we have adopted small group market reform. Yet the provisions in the underlying bill would seriously jeopardize Maryland's ability to continue that small market reform.

I had offered an amendment in the Committee on Rules for fraud and abuse. There are new provisions in this bill that make it more difficult for the Justice Department to bring fraud cases against providers that are cheating. Yet the Committee on Rules did not make that amendment in order.

The group-to-individual provisions need to be improved. They are too restrictive to a person who loses their health insurance and must provide an individual plan. This rule does not allow us the opportunity to go forward with the type of portability that we need. The only option before us is to support the Democratic substitute if we want portability and eliminating preexisting conditions.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from California [Ms. ESHOO].

Ms. ESHOO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this rule. I had hoped to have an amendment made in order which would raise the lifetime benefit cap on health insurance from $1 million to $10 million. My amendment would have benefited the 1,500 Americans a year who exceed the current cap, and some 10,000 Americans between now and the year 2000. It would save Medicaid $7 billion over 5 years, and the cost is small. The American Academy of Actuaries estimates a 1-percent to 2-percent increase in premiums.

Mr. Speaker, a medical catastrophe could befall any one of us here in this Chamber and in this body, any one of our children, our parents, our loved ones, at any time. Many times I say to myself, ''There but for the grace of God go I.'' Not being able to have sufficient health insurance coverage severely compounds the catastrophe. A point that needs to be made is the plight of the distinguished actor Christopher Reeve, who is well known to all of us. In honor of his courage, I introduced legislation upon which the amendment was based, named the Christopher Reeve Health Insurance Reform Act.

Mr. Speaker, every day we see inflation adjustments for other needed services: for consumer products, for education. In some of these cases, the adjustment reflects the reality of current costs. In others, they offer protection to the American people. My amendment would have done both. I am disappointed not for myself, but for the people of this Nation that my amendment was not allowed under this rule.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from Connecticut [Ms. DELAURO].

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today on behalf of the hardworking families in my district, families who struggle to pay their bills, work hard, and they play by the rules. They live in fear of losing their health insurance if they change jobs. They cannot get health care coverage because of a preexisting condition. These families are a pink slip away from disaster.

I went to visit the Tomaso Construction Co. in my district. I met with workers there, and a worker said to me that he was frightened to death that he may lose his job. He has a child with a terminal illness. He stays up nights worrying that he will lose his job and will not be able to have the health insurance he needs for his child. Today Congress has the chance to prove that we are here to help working families.

The bipartisan Kennedy-Kassebaum-Roukema bill expands access to health insurance. It increases portability, it limits a health insurance company's ability to deny coverage because of preexisting medical conditions. Rather than helping these hardworking families, the Republican leadership has hijacked the bill to make a payoff to their special interest cronies. The bill provides a big windfall to the Golden Rule Insurance Company by including a provision for medical savings accounts. The Wall Street Journal said today that Golden Rule was the third biggest corporate giver to the Republican party in the last election. The Washington Times, not a liberal newspaper, says, ''Riders imperil health reform.''

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to reject this special interest payoff and support the Democratic substitute. It will provide real health care security to the hardworking families of this country.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from North Dakota [Mr. POMEROY].

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, the bill reported out under this rule preempts and therefore eliminates consumer protections existing in State law for employers and employees insuring through associations or multiple employer arrangements known as MEWAs. This preemption of State law is a horrible idea, and deserves separate consideration and debate while the bill is before the House.

The consequence of allowing insuring entities to operate without effective State oversight creates a situation where small businesses will be ripped off. Folks who believe they are insured by their company's plan will find out they are not, often after they have racked up ruinous health bills.

Mr. Speaker, I am the only Member of this Chamber to have served as a State insurance commissioner. I know full well people will be hit with fraudulent insurance practices if this bill is enacted. I have seen it happen. In the home State of the gentleman from Florida [Mr. GOSS], a fraudulent entity collected nearly $35 million in premiums from 7,000 employers. It collapsed, leaving 40,000 employees without coverage, and $29 million in unpaid claims.

Why in the world would the majority want to wipe out the State laws developed to keep this from happening again? Why in the world would the Committee on Rules not allow separate consideration on this issue? Time and time again we have heard the new majority hail the role of State government, yet today's bill wipes out the efforts of States to protect small businesses and the workers they ensure. Vote ''no'' on this bad bill.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. FAWELL].

Mr. FAWELL. I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has made the statement that it is a terrible thing to preempt State law, but the gentleman must be aware that under the ERISA statute, most of private health care in this Nation is indeed a situation where State law has been preempted, and employer-provided health care is basically self-insured, or some with fully insured plans. So this is not the evil thing that one would think.

All we are suggesting is that small employers might have the same advantages as large employers have. That is all.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from Georgia [Ms. MCKINNEY].

Ms. MCKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, this Congress has a historic opportunity to pass limited, but meaningful health insurance reform. Just an hour from now, however, we'll begin to debate a bill specifically constructed by the Republican leadership to sabotage any meaningful reform this Congress.

Rather than supporting the bipartisan Kennedy-Kassebaum-Roukema bill, the G.O.P. House leaders insist on pushing their own bill which contains controversial provisions like medical savings accounts.

And why medical savings accounts? Just follow the money. The Golden Rule Insurance Co. has given more than $1.4 million to the G.O.P. and, coincidentally, Golden Rule just happens to be the premier company peddling medical savings accounts.

Mr. Speaker, the old saying is true: He who has the gold, rules. And while the American people want serious health insurance reform, all they are getting from the G.O.P. is cash-and-carry government.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from New York [Mr. ENGEL].

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Massachusetts for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, for the whole day today the Republican leadership blocked consideration of a raise in the minimum wage. Then the majority whip, in relation to my speech that I made, said, ''This is blatant politics and blatant hypocrisy.'' His words clearly should have been taken down, but the Speaker disallowed it.

Now the Republican leadership shamefully is not allowing us to consider a clean version of the Kennedy-Kassebaum-Roukema health reform bill, even though the American people want it. The American people want to know that if they lose their jobs, they can continue to have health insurance. The American people want to know that if there is a preexisting condition used as a excuse not to give them or a loved one health insurance, that that cannot be used as an excuse anymore. It has bipartisan support in the Senate, and is supported by the President. It represents the minimum that can be done to provide additional health security to the American people.

Again, the Republican leadership is blocking it, taking this bill and weighing it down with all kinds of strange things that do not belong in this bill. They know it is going to kill the bill. That is their real motive, to kill this bill. They can pretend they are for health care reform, but in reality what they are doing to this bill kills the bill, and the American people ought to know that.

Republicans have been talking a lot about how they want to reconnect with average working people. Is this the way they do it? By blocking the Roukema bill, this demonstrates that the Republican leadership are more interested in political gain than in passing legislation that helps the American worker. This is really shameful.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York [Ms. SLAUGHTER].

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, as we debate the merits of health insurance reform, it is crucial that we keep in mind a newly emerging and very important aspect of health insurance reform, that is genetic information and the potential for insurance discrimination. Last December, I introduced H.R. 2748, the Genetic Information Non-discrimination in Health Insurance Act—a bill to prevent the potentially devastating consequences of discrimination based on genetic information.

I am very pleased to learn that both the Republican version of health insurance reform and the Democratic substitute contain some of the protections I introduced in my bill last fall.

While the provision included in both versions of the legislation on the floor today is not as comprehensive as those outlined in my bill, it represents a crucial first step in providing protection for people with predisposition to genetic disease.

As chair of the Women's Health Task Force, I closely followed the reports last year indicating that increased funding for breast cancer research had resulted in the discovery of the BRCA–1 gene-link to breast cancer. While the obvious benefits of the discovery include potential lifesaving early detection and intervention, the inherent dangers of the improper use of genetic information are just becoming evident.

We must learn from the lessons of the past. We must remember the disastrous results of discriminating against those genetically predisposed to sickle cell anemia. And, we must guard against history repeating itself. There are recent reports of people with a family history of breast cancer afraid of getting tested for fear of losing access to insurance. We must assure our citizens that advances in our understanding of human genetics will be used to promote health and not to promote discrimination. Both the lessons of the past and the recent discoveries point to the need for comprehensive Federal regulations.

The bill I introduced last December would prevent discrimination by prohibiting insurance providers from: denying or canceling health insurance coverage, or varying the terms and conditions of health insurance coverage, on the basis of genetic information; requesting or requiring an individual to disclose genetic information, and disclosing genetic information without prior written consent.

Mr. Speaker, the provisions contained in the legislation being considered today prohibit the use of genetic information as a preexisting condition. I applaud the inclusion of that aspect of my legislation in the insurance reform packages. However, the provisions are limited in two major respects. One, the pool of people covered by this legislation is restricted to those in the employment market. Two, the legislation does not address the important issue of privacy protection.

I hope that my colleagues and I can continue to work together to apply the prohibitions on genetic discrimination across the board to cover all insurance policies and to prohibit disclosure of genetic information.

As therapies are developed to cure genetic diseases, and potentially to save lives, the women and men affected must be assured access to genetic testing and therapy without concern that they will be discriminated against. As legislators, I believe it is our responsibility to ensure that protection against genetic discrimination is guaranteed. Today, we will take the first step in that direction. I invite my colleagues to join me in making the commitment to ensuring the passage of comprehensive protections against genetic discrimination.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a ''no'' vote on this rule.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, for those who are distressed about the opportunity they might have or might not have a chance to get at the bill known as the Kassebaum-Kennedy-Roukema, I believe it is the substitute that is going to be made in order, and they should take it up with the leadership on the other side of the aisle.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my friend and colleague, the distinguished gentleman from Florida [Mr. BILIRAKIS].

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, as the chairman of the Subcommittee on Health and Environment of the Committee on Commerce, I truly believe that reforming our Nation's health care system is one of the most important issues before Congress today.

Mr. Speaker, who does not support insurance portability? Who does not believe that people with preexisting conditions have a right to purchase health insurance at a reasonable price, just like everyone else?

□ 1715

And who can argue that fraud in our health care system has to be controlled or that unnecessary paperwork should be eliminated? The legislation before us today would address these and other important issues so that they could be enacted into law this year.

Mr. Speaker, our legislation is a starting point for reform, a reasonable beginning in resolving our Nation's health care problems. The bill in the Senate is also a reasonable beginning, and I commend Chairwoman KASSEBAUM for her work, but it does not go far enough. Even the President's bill in the last Congress addressed administrative simplicity and medical malpractice reform. Those, along with waste, fraud, and abuse, are consensus items.

If we enact into law, Mr. Speaker, these important consensus items, then many Americans will certainly benefit. I urge my colleagues to show the American people that we truly want change by supporting this rule and acting now on health reform.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from California [Ms. WOOLSEY].

(Ms. WOOLSEY asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Speaker, how often do we get a clear shot at helping 25 million people? Twenty-five million. Today, we have that chance. We can help them stay healthy. We can help them end their fear. We can help them achieve their dreams. Unfortunately, however, some Members of this body do not want us to have a clear shot with a clean bill. They want to gum up the works with proposals we do not need, proposals that doom this entire bill.

Why would they do this? Two words, Mr. Speaker: Special interests.

Mr. Speaker, many Democrats agree, many Republicans agree, the President agrees. Do not gum up the works, do not support special interests over our interests. Twenty-five million people are waiting. Do not let them down. Vote against this rule.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Arizona [Mr. SALMON].

Mr. SALMON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to strongly endorse this rule.

I would like to talk about one particular component of the piece of legislation that is exposed in the rule, and that is medical savings accounts. It truly is an idea whose time has come.

Let us face the facts. Those on the other side had more confidence in bureaucracy and the heavy-handed government than they do in individuals. In fact, they do not want to give individuals these kinds of choices because they believe that Washington knows better what their needs are than they know what their own needs are for themselves. Medical savings accounts are being demanded by people out there. In fact, there are some 3,000 companies who are already offering medical savings accounts.

Mr. Speaker, the only problem is our tax policy is discriminatory. It does not give the same kind of tax advantage to people wanting to establish medical savings accounts as it does to those companies providing premium coverage for traditional health care. Despite the charges of the opponents, MSA's are great for sick people and for the less well off. Why? Because you get first-dollar coverage.

It astounds me the arguments that the other side has used against medical savings accounts saying that only healthy people would flock to them. Why? When you have a high deductible health care policy that kicks in when your medical savings account ends, you are going to get first-dollar coverage, and sick people would want it as well as healthy people.

Finally, I would just like to say that they will work, by cutting out the bureaucracy, the redtape and the paperwork and replacing it with a free market. Individuals will be able to shop around and get the best deal that they can. When my last child was born, we had a traditional health care policy that paid $3,500 for the delivery. Two months later my sister-in-law had a baby at the same hospital, same doctor, yet they negotiated a cash payment of $1,500. They work.

Let us talk about special interests, let us talk about the fact that the biggest interest group against this is managed care. Why? Because they would rather see the savings go into the managed care, the HMO programs, than they would back in the individual's pockets. Let us get rid of the heavy-handed government and let us really think about special interests and who is in whose pocket.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas [Ms. JACKSON-LEE].

(Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. I thank the gentleman from Massachusetts, and I would simply say that every time we address this health reform question, the American people see us collapse. We do not have to collapse today, Mr. Speaker. We can support the Kassebaum-Kennedy-Roukema bill in the Democratic substitute, which allows for portability, and it protects those with preexisting conditions.

In addition, it recognizes the small businessperson who has been working an striving. It allows them an 80-percent deduction for their small business health insurance by the year 2002.

Mr. Speaker, let us stop the game. We know that the medical savings plans are simply for those who are healthy and wealthy. Let us face it. Whenever we hear from our seniors and those that are least able to take care of themselves, they are in these HMO plans and they cap them out, the doctors say I cannot see you because I have limits.

We need real health reform. Let us provide the American worker with portability and the opportunity to be covered for a preexisting condition.

Likewise, let us not take the State administrators out of determining whether the rates are too high when you have to pay for an insurance plan. It is time to support a bill that the Senate will support.

The New York Times said, health reform now. But the Republican plan will kill it. Let us be bipartisan. Support the Kennedy-Kassebaum-Roukema bill, which is a Democratic substitute, and make sure that we do not collapse on the American people. Provide them with good health reform, good insurance, portability, and the coverage of preexisting disease.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the Democratic substitute to the Health Coverage Availability Act. This bill contains the portability provisions found in the Kassebaum-Kennedy-Roukema proposal, and it also increases the tax deduction for the self-employed health insurance costs, which is 30 to 80 percent in 2002, instead of the 50 percent offered in the Republican bill. I believe that this promise of portability assists the American worker who changes jobs and needs health insurance. I also support increasing the tax deduction to 80 percent because it would grant to the self-employed the tax favored status for approximately the same portion of their health insurance costs as is enjoyed by many employees.

This Democratic substitute has the provisions that hold bipartisan support. I believe that we should work together to pass some meaningful health care reform this year, and we should not attach controversial provisions that will defeat the bill. Contrary to what supporters of MSA's claim, medical savings accounts are not equitable. Medical savings accounts will be used primarily by upper income healthy individuals who can afford the high deductible.

I do not support MSA's, because medical savings accounts would appeal mainly to healthy people, and this would leave less healthy people to buy medical coverage at increased cost. This will obviously make health insurance more expensive. This so-called reform measure goes against the goal of real health care reform, which is to create a more standardized health package for everyone and equalize the less healthy and the poorer with those more able. The bill generally prohibits punitive damages in cases involving drug and medical device manufacturers or sellers whose products had been approved by the Food and Drug Administration. Prohibiting punitive damages for pharmaceutical and manufacturers of medical devices takes away their ongoing responsibility to public health after they have received FDA approval.

The Republican bill allows small employers to band together to purchase coverage for their workers but then exempts them from State taxation. I support such associations, however, this bill would take these co-ops out of State administration, and thus makes State level health reform more difficult.

The substitute amendment like the Republican bill assures group to group and group to individual portability. It limits the exclusion for preexisting conditions to 12 months and provides that the exclusion would be reduced by the period of time the person was covered in his or her previous job.

The substitute prohibits insurance carriers and HMO's from denying coverage to employers with two or more employees and prohibits employment-based health plans from excluding any employee from coverage based on health status. This substitute amendment also requires health plans to renew coverage for groups and individuals as long as the premiums are paid. All of these measures help to assure some significant health reform for Americans.

If we are truly committed to health care reform, then I urge my colleagues to pass the substitute amendment. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Illinois [Mr. LIPINSKI].

(Mr. LIPINSKI asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Florida for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of Medical Savings Accounts. Unfortunately, MSAs have become a polarizing and partisan issue in this House. By giving MSAs tax treatment that is equal to other types of employer-provided health insurance plans, we will be giving the American people what they desperately need in their health care: Portability, lower costs, and more choices.

MSAs should not be a partisan issue. In fact, Democrats were the initial sponsors of MSAs, and MSAs unanimously passed the House Ways and Means Committee in 1994 during the debate on the Clinton health care plan. While I understand that many of my colleagues do not want to weigh down or destroy any health insurance reform with any extraneous and unnecessary provisions, I believe that MSAs are an essential part of insurance reforms that will benefit all Americans. It goes without saying that the health care of the American people should always hold priority over partisan politics.

Those opposed to MSAs claim that they will lead to adverse risk selection. But of the over 2,000 MSA plans that employers have in place, there are no actual examples of adverse risk selection. And the very sick will save money in most cases because their out of—pocket—costs will be less under MSAs.

I also support basic health insurance provisions included in the Democratic substitute that allow for portability, limits on the exclusion for pre-existing conditions, and increases in the health insurance tax deductions for the self-employed. These provisions would allow employees who get laid off to keep their health insurance, and gives an individual the peace of mind to change jobs or start their own business based on what is best for their career and family without worrying about his or her family's health insurance.

In addition to portability, exclusion of pre-existing conditions, tax deductions, and MSA's, an ideal health insurance reform bill would also include provisions that allow small employers to pool together to purchase health insurance. These small businesses should be allowed the same exemptions from State regulations that big businesses enjoy. But, I do not believe that medical malpractice provisions that put a price on pain and suffering as low as $250,000 should be included in any health insurance bill that we pass today.

In any case, MSA's should be added to health insurance reform because they will lower costs while still giving individuals the freedom to make career decisions based on the best interests of the individual. MSA's do lead to cost containment, as studies have shown. Soaring health costs are a large reason for an increasing anxiety among cash-strapped working Americans, and MSA's are proven to lower costs to employers and employees without sacrificing service and care.

Lastly, MSA's give the consumer unlimited choices. Patients are allowed to shop around to choose their personal doctors based on their own unique needs.

Mr. Speaker, we should subdue our partisan politics for 1 day and include MSA's in health insurance reform so Americans can worry less about their health care and more about their career and family.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. PALLONE].

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, when I talk to my constituents about health insurance reform, basically they say, look, the quality of health care is good in this country, but the problem is a lot of people do not have health care coverage and the cost of health insurance keeps going on.

So when we talk about the Kennedy-Kassebaum-Roukema bill, it accomplishes the goal of expanding coverage because a lot more people that have the problem with preexisting conditions or problems with portability should be able to get health insurance now who were not able to get it before. But on the issue of affordability, essentially by adding these medical savings accounts to this bill, which I think is a big mistake and will essentially kill the bill, what we are doing is making health insurance less affordable, going against the goal and what most people want.

The reason is very simple, and that is why I do not understand some of the comments on the other side. Essentially the people who are going to take advantage of MSAs are people who have a lot of money, or people who are healthy who figure that they can put this money aside and have it collect, and they only need catastrophic health care coverage. People who are sicker and need to go to the doctor or the hospital more often are not going to be able to afford a medical savings account, because they will have to constantly shell out money to pay for the health care coverage that they are receiving.

So what is essentially going to happen is that this risk pool is going to be split. The healthy and the wealthy are going to get out of the risk pool and have the MSAs. The people who are sicker or do not have as much money, probably who will be the majority, they will see their premiums go up; and in essence health insurance will be less affordable.

Vote against the rule and vote against this Republican leadership bill.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Florida [Mr. MICA].

Mr. MICA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from the opportunity to address the question of MSA's and also follow the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. PALLONE].

I serve as chairman of the Subcommittee on Civil Service of the Committee on Government Reform and Oversight and actually had the opportunity to conduct hearings on MSA's. We have heard the other side of the aisle and the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. PALLONE] just bash MSA's.

Let me say what Mayor Schundler testified to, the mayor of Jersey City, NJ, who came before our subcommittee. He said MSA's were offered and 60 percent of eligible employees chose MSA's over their previous plan. What were the results? And this is a city facing financial disaster and not being able to provide health care for their employees. The results reduced the out-of-pocket costs to employees and still saved the city about $275 per employee, but they do not want to deal with the facts on the other side.

Let us take another area, a small county, Ada County, ID, testified that under their county's MSA plan, the taxpayer saved money and the employees saved out-of-pocket costs which were reduced.

Then the private sector was at our hearing. At the hearing the subcommittee heard of reported cost savings ranging from 17 to 40 percent by more than 1,000 private businesses that have adopted MSA's.

Finally, how about the AFL–CIO? Let us see what one of their affiliates said. They called MSA's an option offered to their employees a win win situation.

So if we went to provide health care cost effectively, these are the facts, this is the result, and this is how we can do it. It just happens to be a new idea whose time has arrived.

□ 1730

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. MORAN].

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, there is a lot that could and should be said about MSA's. I am going to save that for another time. Right now I would like to spend maybe a minute and a half and talk about the subject of hypocrisy.

Tomorrow the Committee on Rules is going to bring up a rule for a constitutional amendment that would require a two-thirds vote to raise income taxes, and then, the very next legislative day, April 15, when we get back from vacation, we are going to bring that bill up on the floor to require a two-thirds vote.

Now on the first day of this legislative term back in January 1995, we passed a law that was supposed to govern all of our actions that said we require a three-fifths vote to raise taxes, and do you know, every single time it has applied, it has been waived, and here is the third time that the Committee on Rules again waives the three-fifths requirement.

We had to waive it, with that Contract With America, Tax Relief Act that was a big issue. Remember I raised a point of order. It turns out that, sure enough, it did include a tax increase. So the Parliamentarian recognized we had to waive it.

The second time we had the budget resolution, we had the Committee on Rules had to waive it, and now the third time we have got tax increases here. We are going to waive the rule because it is inconvenient to let it apply to this bill, but is it not unbelievable that tomorrow the Committee on Rules—just for pure expedience, political gain—is going to bring up this rule saying that you need a two-thirds vote, putting it in the Constitution and then expecting us to vote on it April 15. Unbelievable. I think some of the members of the Committee on Rules ought to be embarrassed about this one.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from California [Mr. ROYCE].

Mr. ROYCE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the rule and this legislation because this legislation gives individuals greater control over their own health care through the introduction of medical savings accounts.

These medical savings accounts put individuals in charge of their own health care. It gives them greater freedom and more choices, and it will drive down costs. At the same time, they help resolve the portability issue.

One problem with the current health insurance system in this country is that coverage for working people is usually tied to the job rather than the individual. Medical savings accounts, which would be owned by the individual for life, move with the individual. It is the ultimate in portability.

Medical savings accounts are becoming increasingly common in the public sector. This popularity in the private sector is even more significant considering the fact that they are handicapped by tax laws which give deductions to employers who pay their workers' insurance premiums but not to the employers who are paying into the medical savings accounts. This inequitable tax treatment penalizes individuals who want to select their own health providers and plans as well as individuals without health plans at work.

The legislation before us today removes this handicap and allows individuals and employers to make tax-deductible contributions to the accounts when employees are covered by a high deductible health insurance policy.

Further, in allowing for a tax-free buildup of these accounts, this bill makes the choice of medical savings accounts available to many more Americans, and everyone owning an MSA would have an incentive to spend their money wisely. That is a marked contrast to the use-it-or-lose-it approach fostered by third-payer plans. The savings would be theirs, and so would the choice.

The competition would also put pressure on providers to reduce costs so everyone would benefit, and while MSA options may not solve every problem, it would certainly help consumers giving them more choices, more control, lifetime security, and lower costs.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL], the former chairman of the Committee on Commerce.

(Mr. DINGELL asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this closed rule.

I want to acknowledge the gracious reception I received at the Committee on Rules hearing yesterday from Chairman SOLOMON and the other members of the Rules Committee. And I appreciate that the rule makes in order a substitute, which I will offer together with my colleagues (Mr. SPRATT and Mr. BENTSEN), that will enable us to pare this bill down to two simple and uncontroversial propositions: a clean Kassebaum-Roukema bill, and tax deductibility of health insurance for the self-employed.

But what we asked for was an open rule, and we have not gotten one. Thus, while the Republican leadership has loaded this bill down with a fine assortment of goodies for their friends in the health insurance industry, the medical profession, the HMO's, and other special pleaders, Democrats will not have a fair opportunity out here on the floor to make changes in those special-interest provisions.

For example, I had hoped to offer an amendment to strike a provision in the Republican bill that contains a sneak attack on the pocketbooks of America's seniors. This sneaky provision would put millions of our senior citizens at the mercy of health insurance scam artists who want to sell policy after policy to the same frightened and infirm people, whether they need it or not. The Republican bill would repeal existing protections in the Medicare law that regulate the sale of duplicative policies that had seniors paying premiums over and over again for coverage they didn't need.

But my amendment was not made in order. It seems that my Republican colleagues care more about helping their friends in the health insurance business than about protecting seniors from rip-offs. Oppose this rule.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. SCOTT].

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the original bill had broad bipartisan support that guaranteed that those who lose their job for any reason can still get health insurance coverage.

This bill is loaded up with so many special interest provisions that for the consumer, the poor and the sick, it does more harm than good. The medical savings accounts will allow a few health people to take money out of the Medicare Program, leaving behind a group that are, on average, sicker and, therefore, will have higher health care costs.

The malpractice changes are all slanted to help the wrongdoer at the expense of the victim. They only preempt State laws to the extent that they hurt the victim. Incredibly, the bill provides if the victim is hurt worse under State law, then the State law prevails.

Mr. Speaker, we should reject the special-interest wrongdoer protections and instead pass the original bipartisan consumer protection health care bill.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. VOLKMER].

(Mr. VOLKMER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. VOLKMER. Mr. Speaker, I am sure that the Members are watching and listening to this debate on the rule for the so-called Health Coverage Availability and Affordability Act.

I hope Members will really take a look at what is happened here. This is blatant politics and blatant hypocrisy. The bill's title speaks of laudatory goals, while the provisions of the bill for medical savings accounts will ultimately have adverse effects on health insurance policies of all persons in this country who are not wealthy and cannot afford a medical savings account. The Golden Rule Insurance Co. is being repaid by the Gingrich majority for Golden Rules contribution to GOPAC and the Republican's campaign coffers. It's more than 30 pieces of silver. It is millions from taxpayers' pockets to put into the pockets of Golden Rule. Blatant politics and blatant hypocrisy.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Florida [Mr. WELDON].

(Mr. WELDON of Florida asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WELDON of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I would like to talk about what the American people want and the facts about the bill before us. They want medical insurance that is available, affordable, and portable. Most Americans without health insurance work for small business. Most small businesses also want to provide health insurance to their employees but find it too expensive to do so. Large corporations, on the other hand, are able to buy health insurance in bulk for their thousands of employees at more affordable rates.

Current law does not give small businesses the same opportunities to join together with other small businesses and purchase insurance in bulk. The end result is that insurance is not affordable.

Our bill makes health insurance affordable and available for small businesses by allowing them to pool together and buy insurance for their employees in bulk at affordable rates. This change will make medical insurance available and affordable for tens of millions of Americans who work for small businesses and have no insurance today. This is supported by small business associations across the board and deserves the full support of Congress.

We also make insurance more portable. We make it easier for employees to take their health insurance with them when they change jobs. For too long employees have resisted changing jobs and advancing in their careers because of fear of losing their health insurance. By making health insurance more portable, we open new job opportunities for millions of Americans. This is a good bill. Let us pass the bill. Let us pass the rule. If there is anything blatant about this, it is blatant democracy at work.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Florida [Mr. SCARBOROUGH].

Mr. SCARBOROUGH. Mr. Speaker, I have been really intrigued by this debate. We hear actually some of the architects of the Clinton health care plan, that would socialize the health care system and one-seventh of our economy, lecturing us on how we need to now fix health care in America. Very intriguing.

The fact of the matter is that what it shows is we have two different views of America; those Americans who believe in empowering Americans, and those Americans who believe that we must socialize government, socialize health care, and do everything we can to take the decision out of the hands of the consumers and the doctors.

Who could not like medical savings accounts? Who could not? They take the middle man out. They give power to patients and doctors, family doctors, to sit down and decide what the best course of treatment is to cure people who are ill that come to their office without having to call an insurance company first and decide how to use the money.

Somebody said it helps special interests and actually drives up costs. Let me tell my colleagues, that is a novel approach. I wonder what economics class has ever been taught that shows that free enterprise and empowering consumers drives up the cost of medical care. It makes absolutely no sense.

So let us look at the two different views of America. With Democrats in control, they wanted to socialize; with the Republicans in control, we want to privatize. We want to drive down cost, and we want to empower doctors and patients to sit down together and decide what is best for their medical future. That makes sense to me.

I support the rule and the bill.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Florida [Mr. STEARNS].

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague for yielding this time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this rule. The legislation we will vote on today addressed the most fundamental and important issues that currently prevent a large majority of the uninsured from accessing the health care system.

What do Americans want from Health Care Reform?

They want health care reform that ensures portability, controls costs, and expands access.

If we are to have true health care reform, we must include malpractice reforms, medical savings accounts, increases in tax deduction for health insurance for self-employed individuals, provisions to prevent waste, fraud, and abuse, and administrative reforms. Without providing such necessary relief, we will not succeed in bringing down the costs associated with delivering health care.

Passage of this bill will benefit all Americans, especially the 39 million who lack any type of health coverage. These individuals must live in constant fear of becoming sick and not having the necessary insurance to meet their medical needs.

Lastly, I am particularly pleased that my suggestion to include ''genetic information'' in the definition of health status was agreed to and made part of the final package. I believe by doing so we have enhanced and made it an even better piece of legislation. I will have more to say about this in the next period of debate.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Georgia [Mr. KINGSTON].

(Mr. KINGSTON asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I find it amazing that last year the group that wanted to nationalize health care has taken exception with the Republican Party because we want to go beyond the portability issue. What is it that we want to do that we disagree? Medical savings accounts, giving consumers choices rather than command-and-control Washington Bureaucrats. We want to stop waste, fraud, and abuse.

I realize the Democratic Party is partial to waste, and I can understand that. We want to stop medical malpractice, and we have tort reform. The Hill newspaper, though, explains the Democrats' position on that with $2.2 million in campaign contributions last year going to political candidates, 94 percent Democrats.

I will put this in the RECORD, Mr. Speaker.

That is why they are against this. It is a tort reform issue. It is a trial lawyers' issue. They are also against small businesses. I like the idea of pet shops, clothes stores, bicycle shops, combining together to get economies of scale that large corporations can. My small businesses are in favor of that, as are all small businesses all over America. Then again, the Democratic Party has never been partial to small businesses. What is it on long-term health care? We want long-term health care.

Mr. Speaker, I support the rule and strongly urge a ''yes'' vote on the bill.

The article referred to follows:

TRIAL ATTORNEYS SEEK MORE HILL CLOUT

(By Craig Karmin)

In a move that would increase the political power of trial lawyers and benefit Democratic congressional candidates, the Association of Trial Lawyers of America is planning a new program to encourage its members to contribute to ATLA-endorsed candidates.

These individual contributions would supplement ATLA's political action committee, which was the sixth largest contributor during the 1994 elections. It donated more than $2.2 million to congressional campaigns, with Democrats receiving 94 percent of the funds. In 1995, despite Republican majorities in the House and Senate, the association gave 79 percent of its $700,000 in campaign contributions to Democrats.

The political and financial clout of the trial lawyers has been credited with President Clinton's threat to veto the product liability law, and the group has come under fire from congressional Republicans.

According to a letter the association sent to the Federal Election Commission, ATLA would ''obtain advance commitments from its members to contribute a specified amount'' to certain candidates. It would further ''recommend the size of contributions that members should send to particular candidates'' and ''suggest when members should mail their contributions.''

The FEC met last week on the subject and is expected to approve ATLA's request to engage in these activities in the near future. But these contributions could be prohibited under bipartisan campaign finance reform bills pending in both the House and Senate. ATLA contends that these contributions are constitutionally protected by the First Amendment.

The association's plan to strongly urge its 60,000 members to contribute to congressional campaigns would expand the power and influence of an already formidable special interest on Capitol Hill and in the White House.

Josh Goldstein of the Center for Responsive Politics said he thought the ATLA plan would provide ''a way for trial lawyers to distinguish themselves from other lawyers when giving to campaigns,'' and therefore ''give them more bang for their buck on Capitol Hill.''

ATLA's program encouraged Democrats about their chances in the fall elections. ''I think it could impact a number of races because it will probably benefit Democrats more than Republicans,'' said Don Sweizer, a Democratic consultant and former finance director at the Democratic National Committee. ''It's good news for our team.''

Republicans seemed to agree. ''In general, I think Republicans should be concerned,'' said Dawn Sciarrino, a vice president at Brockmeyer, Allen and Associates, a Republican consulting firm. ''This helps them funnel a great deal of money to the candidates of their choice.''

Pam Liapakis, president of ATLA, said that she was inspired by a similar program at EMILY's List, an association whose contributors give money to Democratic prochoice women candidates. Liapakis expects to have the program ''up and running'' well before the November elections.

But if campaign reformers have their way, this could be the only election in which ATLA, EMILY's List, or any other organization can engage in what is sometimes referred to as ''bundling'' contributions. Bipartisan campaign finance reform bills submitted in the House and Senate would ban this kind of activity.

Liapakis, however, said she believed ATLA's program was within the law. ''There is a right under the First Amendment to communicate and to participate in elections,'' she said.

☐ 1745

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Washington [Mr. MCDERMOTT].

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, as a physician, I am particularly concerned with the section of this bill that many may not have had a chance to study. Buried within the 300-plus pages of this bill is a 29-page section called ''Administrative simplification.''

Now, ''administrative simplification'' has a nice right to it, but let me tell you why everyone concerned with the future of health care in this country should oppose the inclusion of this section in any health care reform bill.

First of all, section 1173 on page 222 forces a physician to reveal confidential patient information for billing purposes. The bill says ''The Secretary shall adopt standards for transactions and data elements for such transactions to enable health information to be exchange electronically.'' This bill sets up electronic elearinghouses for all the health care administration information in this country.

Now, among the transactions that doctors will be forced to make, on page 223, it says ''Claims or equivalent encounter information.'' This will require doctors to submit not just general information, but personal, private information that patients need to disclose to their doctors.

Next, this bill fails to adequately protect the privacy of patient health information, which is vital if you are going to have good quality care in this country. Instead of actual privacy protections, the administrative simplification section provided vague promises to develop privacy standards in the future.

The bottom of page 226, part E of section 1173, it says ''Privacy standards for health information.'' It reads, ''The Secretary shall adopt standards with respect to the privacy of individually identifiable health information.''

Now, we do not know what those protections are going to look like, yet we are going to set in place a collection mechanism from all the patients in this country in this bill. We have overridden all States, all insurance commissioners, everybody else in one provision, stuck in a 300-page bill that most people on this floor have never read.

When I asked in the Committee on Ways and Means about this section, they said it has been cleared with all the groups. So I called some of the groups, and it has not been cleared with the groups. They understand that this is an invasion of privacy.

I cannot understand how Republicans can be putting a bill out here that invades the public privacy for people who say they want privacy, and they want the Government out of their lives, to suddenly say to the insurance industry in a 29-page section buried in this bill, you can gather all the information you want and have a electronic transfer, so any insurance company can type in a name and here it will come printed out somewhere in a computer somewhere.

That is what is being set up in this bill, and it is for the insurance industry, and everybody ought to understand it. You are going to come to rue the day that you pass this bill without talking about it.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. KOLBE). The gentleman from Massachusetts is recognized for 1½ minutes.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I urge a ''no'' vote on the previous question. If the previous question is defeated, I shall offer an amendment to the rule which will make in order the amendment by the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. GUNDERSON], the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. POSHARD], the gentleman from Kansas [Mr. ROBERTS], the gentleman from Texas [Mr. STENHOLM], the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. GUTKNECHT], and other members of the Rural Health Coalition.

Yesterday several of these members appeared before the Committee on Rules and spoke eloquently on the importance of a 24-hour emergency care antitrust relief to small rural hospitals and expanded telemedicine services in rural areas. It is important when we consider health care reform to ensure that Americans who live in small towns and rural communities are able to enjoy the same access to health care as those in urban areas.

Mr. Speaker, the text of my proposed amendment is as follows:

PREVIOUS QUESTION AMENDMENT TEXT (H.R. 3103–H. RES. 392)

On page 3, line 11 of House Resolution 392, immediately after ''opponent;'' strike ''and 93)'' and insert the following:

''(3) the amendment printed in Section 2 of the resolution by Representatives Gunderson, Poshard, Roberts and Gutknecht or their designee, which shall be in order without intervention of any point of order (except those arising under section 425(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974) or demand for division of the question, shall be considered as read, and shall be separately debatable for 30 minutes equally divided and controlled by the proponent and opponent; and (4)''.

At the end of the resolution, add the following new section:

''Sec. 2. At the end of the bill, add the following new title (and conform the table of contents accordingly):

TITLE V—PROMOTING ACCESS AND AVAILABILITY OF HEALTH COVERAGE IN RURAL AREAS

Subtitle A—Medicare Program

SEC. 501. MEDICARE RURAL HOSPITAL FLEXIBILITY PROGRAM.

(a) MEDICARE RURAL HOSPITAL FLEXIBILITY PROGRAM.—Section 1820 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395i–4) is amended to read as follows:

''MEDICARE RURAL HOSPITAL FLEXIBILITY PROGRAM

''SEC. 1820. (a) ESTABLISHMENT.—Any State that submits an application in accordance with subsection (b) may establish a medicare rural hospital flexibility program described in subsection (c).

''(b) APPLICATION.—A State may establish a medicare rural hospital flexibility program described in subsection (c) if the State submits to the Secretary at such time and in such form as the Secretary may require an application containing—

''(1) assurances that the State—

''(A) has developed, or is in the process of developing, a State rural health care plan that—

''(i) provides for the creation of one or more rural health networks (as defined in subsection (d)) in the State,

''(ii) promotes regionalization of rural health services in the State, and

''(iii) improves access to hospital and other health services for rural residents of the State;

''(B) has developed the rural health care plan described in subparagraph (A) in consultation with the hospital association of the State, rural hospitals located in the State, and the State Office of Rural Health (or, in the case of a State in the process of developing such plan, that assures the Secretary that the State will consult with its State hospital association, rural hospitals located in the State, and the State Office of Rural Health in developing such plan);

''(2) assurances that the State has designated (consistent with the rural health care plan described in paragraph (1)(A)), or is in the process of so designating, rural nonprofit or public hospitals or facilities located in the State as critical access hospitals; and

''(3) such other information and assurances as the Secretary may require.

''(c) MEDICARE RURAL HOSPITAL FLEXIBILITY PROGRAM DESCRIBED.—

''(1) IN GENERAL.—A State that has submitted an application in accordance with subsection (b), may establish a medicare rural hospital flexibility program that provides that—

''(A) the State shall develop at least one rural health network (as defined in subsection (d)) in the State; and

''(B) at least one facility in the State shall be designated as a critical access hospital in accordance with paragraph (2).

''(2) STATE DESIGNATION OF FACILITIES.—

''(A) IN GENERAL.—A State may designate one or more facilities as a critical access hospital in accordance with subparagraph (B).

''(B) CRITERIA FOR DESIGNATION AS CRITICAL ACCESS HOSPITAL.—A State may designate a facility as a critical access hospital if the facility—

''(i) is located in a county (or equivalent unit of local government) in a rural area (as defined in section 1886(d)(2)(D)) that—

''(I) is located more than a 35-mile drive from a hospital, or another facility described in this subsection, or

''(II) is certified by the State as being a necessary provider of health care services to residents in the area;

''(ii) makes available 24-hour emergency care services that a State determines are necessary for ensuring access to emergency care services in each area served by a critical access hospital;

''(iii) provides not more than 6 acute care inpatient beds (meeting such standards as the Secretary may establish) for providing inpatient care for a period not to exceed 72 hours (unless a longer period is required because transfer to a hospital is precluded because of inclement weather or other emergency conditions), except that a peer review organization or equivalent entity may, on request, waive the 72-hour restriction on a case-by-case basis;

''(iv) meets such staffing requirements as would apply under section 1861(e) to a hospital located in a rural area, except that—

''(I) the facility need not meet hospital standards relating to the number of hours during a day, or days during a week, in which the facility must be open and fully staffed, except insofar as the facility is required to make available emergency care services as determined under clause (ii) and must have nursing services available on a 24-hour basis, but need not otherwise staff the facility except when an inpatient is present,

''(II) the facility may provide any services otherwise required to be provided by a full-time, on-site dietitian, pharmacist, laboratory technician, medical technologist, and radiological technologist on a part-time, off-site basis under arrangements as defined in section 1861(w)(1), and

''(III) the inpatient care described in clause (iii) may be provided by a physician's assistant, nurse practitioner, or clinical nurse specialist subject to the oversight of a physician who need not be present in the facility; and

''(v) meets the requirements of subparagraph (I) of paragraph (2) of section 1861(aa).

''(d) RURAL HEALTH NETWORK DEFINED.—

''(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this section, the term 'rural health network' means, with respect to a State, an organization consisting of—

''(A) at least 1 facility that the State has designated or plans to designate as a critical access hospital, and

''(B) at least 1 hospital that furnishes acute care services.

''(2) AGREEMENTS.—

''(A) IN GENERAL.—Each critical access hospital that is a member of a rural health network shall have an agreement with respect to each item described in subparagraph (B) with at least 1 hospital that is a member of the network.

''(B) ITEMS DESCRIBED.—The items described in this subparagraph are the following:

''(i) Patient referral and transfer.

''(ii) The development and use of communications systems including (where feasible)—

''(I) telemetry systems, and

''(II) systems for electronic sharing of patient data.

''(iii) The provision of emergency and nonemergency transportation among the facility and the hospital.

''(C) CREDENTIALING AND QUALITY ASSURANCE.—Each critical access hospital that is a member of a rural health network shall have an agreement with respect to credentialing and quality assurance with at least 1—

''(i) hospital that is a member of the network;

''(ii) peer review organization or equivalent entity; or

''(iii) other appropriate and qualified entity identified in the State rural health care plan.

''(e) CERTIFICATION BY THE SECRETARY.—The Secretary shall certify a facility as a critical access hospital if the facility—

''(1) is located in a State that has established a medicare rural hospital flexibility program in accordance with subsection (c);

''(2) is designated as a critical access hospital by the State in which it is located; and

''(3) meets such other criteria as the Secretary may require.

''(f) PERMITTING MAINTENANCE OF SWING BEDS.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit a State from designating or the Secretary from certifying a facility as a critical access hospital solely because, at the time the facility applies to the State for designation as a critical access hospital, there is in effect an agreement between the facility and the Secretary under section 1883 under which the facility's inpatient hospital facilities are used for the furnishing of extended care services, except that the number of beds used for the furnishing of such services may not exceed 12 beds (minus the number of inpatient beds used for providing inpatient care in the facility pursuant to subsection (c)(2)(B)(iii)). For purposes of the previous sentence, the number of beds of the facility used for the furnishing of extended care services shall not include any beds of a unit of the facility that is licensed as a distinct-part skilled nursing facility at the time the facility applies to the State for designation as a critical access hospital.

''(g) WAIVER OF CONFLICTING PART A PROVISIONS.—The Secretary is authorized to waive such provisions of this part and part C as are necessary to conduct the program established under this section.''.

(b) PART A AMENDMENTS RELATING TO RURAL PRIMARY CARE HOSPITALS AND CRITICAL ACCESS HOSPITALS.—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—Section 1861(mm) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395x(mm)) is amended to read as follows:

''Critical Access Hospital; Critical Access Hospital Services

''(mm)(1) The term 'critical access hospital' means a facility certified by the Secretary as a critical access hospital under section 1820(e).

''(2) The term 'inpatient critical access hospital services' means items and services, furnished to an inpatient of a critical access hospital by such facility, that would be inpatient hospital services if furnished to an inpatient of a hospital by a hospital.''.

(2) COVERAGE AND PAYMENT.—(A) Section 1812(a)(1) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395d(a)(1)) is amended by striking ''or inpatient rural primary care hospital services'' and inserting ''or inpatient critical access hospital services''.

(B) Sections 1813(a) and section 1813(b)(3)(A) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395e(a), 1395e(b)(3)(A)) are each amended by striking ''inpatient rural primary care hospital services'' each place it appears, and inserting ''inpatient critical access hospital services''.

(B) Section 1128B(c) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1320a–7b(c)) is amended by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(C) Section 1134 of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1320b–4) is amended by striking ''rural primary care hospitals'' each place it appears and inserting ''critical access hospitals''.

(D) Section 1138(a)(1) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1320b–8(a)(1)) is amended—

(i) in the matter preceding subparagraph (A), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital''; and

(ii) in the matter preceding clause (i) of subparagraph (A), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(E) Section 1816(c)(2)(C) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395h(c)(2)(C)) is amended by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(F) Section 1833 of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395l) is amended—

(i) in subsection (h)(5)(A)(iii), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital'';

(ii) in subsection (i)(1)(A), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital'';

(iii) in subsection (i)(3)(A), by striking ''rural primary care hospital services'' and inserting ''critical access hospital services'';

(iv) in subsection (l)(5)(A), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' each place it appears and inserting ''critical access hospital''; and

(v) in subsection (l)(5)(B), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' each place it appears and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(G) Section 1835(c) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395n(c)) is amended by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' each place it appears and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(H) Section 1842(b)(6)(A)(ii) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395u(b)(6)(A)(ii)) is amended by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(I) Section 1861 of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395x) is amended—

(i) in subsection (a)—

(I) in paragraph (1), by striking ''inpatient rural primary care hospital services'' and inserting ''inpatient critical access hospital services''; and

(II) in paragraph (2), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital'';

(ii) in the last sentence of subsection (e), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital'';

(iii) in subsection (v)(1)(S)(ii)(III), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital'';

(iv) in subsection (w)(1), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital''; and

(v) in subsection (w)(2), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' each place it appears and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(J) Section 1862(a)(14) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395y(a)(14)) is amended by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' each place it appears and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(K) Section 1866(a)(1) of such Act (42 U.S.C 1395cc(a)(1)) is amended—

(i) in subparagraph (F)(ii), by striking ''rural primary care hospitals'' and inserting ''critical access hospitals'';

(ii) in subparagraph (H), in the matter preceding clause (i), by striking ''rural primary care hospitals'' and ''rural primary care hospital services'' and inserting ''critical access hospitals'' and ''critical access hospital services'', respectively;

(iii) in subparagraph (I), in the matter preceding clause (i), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital''; and

(iv) in subparagraph (N)—

(I) in the matter preceding clause (i), by striking ''rural primary care hospitals'' and inserting ''critical access hospitals'', and

(II) in clause (i), by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(L) Section 1866(a)(3) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395cc(a)(3)) is amended—

(i) by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' each place it appears in subparagraphs (A) and (B) and inserting ''critical access hospital''; and

(ii) in subparagraph (C)(ii)(II), by striking ''rural primary care hospitals'' each place it appears and inserting ''critical access hospitals''.

(M) Section 1867(e)(5) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395dd(e)(5)) is amended by striking ''rural primary care hospital'' and inserting ''critical access hospital''.

(c) PAYMENT CONTINUED TO DESIGNATED EACHS.—Section 1886(d)(5)(D) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395ww(d)(5)(D)) is amended—

(1) in clause (iii)(III), by inserting ''as in effect on September 30, 1995'' before the period at the end; and

(2) in clause (v)—

(A) by inserting ''as in effect on September 30, 1995'' after ''1820 (i)(1)''; and

(B) by striking ''1820(g)'' and inserting ''1820(e)''.

(d) PART B AMENDMENTS RELATING TO CRITICAL ACCESS HOSPITALS.—

(1) COVERAGE.—(A) Section 1861(mm) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395x(mm)) as amended by subsection (d)(1), is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

''(3) The term 'outpatient critical access hospital services' means medical and other health services furnished by a critical access hospital on an outpatient basis.''.

(B) Section 1832(a)(2)(H) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395k(a)(2)(H)) is amended by striking ''rural primary care hospital services'' and inserting ''critical access hospital services''.

(2) PAYMENT.—(A) Section 1833(a) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395l(a)) is amended in paragraph (6), by striking ''outpatient rural primary care hospital services'' and inserting ''outpatient critical access hospital services''.

(B) Section 1834(g) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395m(g)) is amended to read as follows:

''(g) PAYMENT FOR OUTPATIENT CRITICAL ACCESS HOSPITAL SERVICES.—The amount of payment under this part for outpatient critical access hospital services is the reasonable costs of the critical access hospital in providing such services.''.

(e) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to services furnished on or after October 1, 1996.

SEC. 502. ESTABLISHMENT OF RURAL EMERGENCY ACCESS CARE HOSPITALS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1861 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395x) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

''Rural Emergency Access Care Hospital; Rural Emergency Access Care Hospital Services

''(oo)(1) The term 'rural emergency access care hospital' means, for a fiscal year, a facility with respect to which the Secretary finds the following:

''(A) The facility is located in a rural area (as defined in section 1886(d)(2)(D)).

''(B) The facility was a hospital under this title at any time during the 5-year period that ends on the date of the enactment of this subsection.

''(C) The facility is in danger of closing due to low inpatient utilization rates and operating losses, and the closure of the facility would limit the access to emergency services of individuals residing in the facility's service area.

''(D) The facility has entered into (or plans to enter into) an agreement with a hospital with a participation agreement in effect under section 1866(a), and under such agreement the hospital shall accept patients transferred to the hospital from the facility and receive data from and transmit data to the facility.

''(E) There is a practitioner who is qualified to provide advanced cardiac life support services (as determined by the State in which the facility is located) on-site at the facility on a 24-hour basis.

''(F) A physician is available on-call to provide emergency medical services on a 24-hour basis.

''(G) The facility meets such staffing requirements as would apply under section 1861(e) to a hospital located in a rural area, except that—

''(i) the facility need not meet hospital standards relating to the number of hours during a day, or days during a week, in which the facility must be open, except insofar as the facility is required to provide emergency care on a 24-hour basis under subparagraphs (E) and (F); and

''(ii) the facility may provide any services otherwise required to be provided by a full-time, on-site dietitian, pharmacist, laboratory technician, medical technologist, or radiological technologist on a part-time, off-site basis.

''(H) The facility meets the requirements applicable to clinics and facilities under subparagraphs (C) through (J) of paragraph (2) of section 1861(aa) and of clauses (ii) and (iv) of the second sentence of such paragraph (or, in the case of the requirements of subparagraph (E), (F), or (J) of such paragraph, would meet the requirements if any reference in such subparagraph to a 'nurse practitioner' or to 'nurse practitioners' were deemed to be a reference to a 'nurse practitioner or nurse' or to 'nurse practitioners or nurses'); except that in determining whether a facility meets the requirements of this subparagraph, subparagraphs (E) and (F) of that paragraph shall be applied as if any reference to a 'physician' is a reference to a physician as defined in section 1861(r)(1).

''(2) The term 'rural emergency access care hospital services' means the following services provided by a rural emergency access care hospital and furnished to an individual over a continuous period not to exceed 24 hours (except that such services may be furnished over a longer period in the case of an individual who is unable to leave the hospital because of inclement weather):

''(A) An appropriate medical screening examination (as described in section 1867(a)).

''(B) Necessary stabilizing examination and treatment services for an emergency medical condition and labor (as described in section 1867(b)).''.

(b) REQUIRING RURAL EMERGENCY ACCESS CARE HOSPITALS TO MEET HOSPITAL ANTI-DUMPING

REQUIREMENTS.—Section 1867(e)(5) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395dd(e)(5)) is amended by striking ''1861(mm)(1))'' and inserting ''1861(mm)(1)) and a rural emergency access care hospital (as defined in section 1861(oo)(1))''.

(c) COVERAGE AND PAYMENT FOR SERVICES.—

(1) COVERAGE.—Section 1832(a)(2) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395k(a)(2)) is amended—

(A) by striking ''and'' at the end of subparagraph (I);

(B) by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (J) and inserting ''; and''; and

(C) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

''(K) rural emergency access care hospital services (as defined in section 1861(oo)(2)).''.

(2) PAYMENT BASED ON PAYMENT FOR OUTPATIENT CRITICAL ACCESS HOSPITAL SERVICES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Section 1833(a)(6) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395l(a)(6)), as amended by section 501(f)(2), is amended by striking ''services,'' and inserting ''services and rural emergency access care hospital services,''.

(B) PAYMENT METHODOLOGY DESCRIBED.—Section 1834(g) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395m(g)), as amended by section 501(f)(2)(B), is amended—

(i) in the heading, by striking ''SERVICES'' and inserting ''SERVICES AND RURAL EMERGENCY ACCESS CARE HOSPITAL SERVICES''; and

(ii) by adding at the end the following new sentence: ''The amount of payment for rural emergency access care hospital services provided during a year shall be determined using the applicable method provided under this subsection for determining payment for outpatient rural primary care hospital services during the year.''.

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to fiscal years beginning on or after October 1, 1996.

SEC. 503. CLASSIFICATION OF RURAL REFERRAL CENTERS.

(a) PROHIBITING DENIAL OF REQUEST FOR RECLASSIFICATION ON BASIS OF COMPARABILITY OF WAGES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 1886(d)(10)(D) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395ww(d)(10)(D)) is amended—

(A) by redesignating clause (iii) as clause (iv); and

(B) by inserting after clause (ii) the following new clause:

''(iii) Under the guidelines published by the Secretary under clause (i), in the case of a hospital which is classified by the Secretary as a rural referral center under paragraph (5)(C), the Board may not reject the application of the hospital under this paragraph on the basis of any comparison between the average hourly wage of the hospital and the average hourly wage of hospitals in the area in which it is located.''.

(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—Notwithstanding section 1886(d)(10)(C)(ii) of the Social Security Act, a hospital may submit an application to the Medicare Geographic Classification Review Board during the 30-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act requesting a change in its classification for purposes of determining the area wage index applicable to the hospital under section 1886(d)(3)(D) of such Act for fiscal year 1997, if the hospital would be eligible for such a change in its classification under the standards described in section 1886(d)(10)(D) of such Act (as amended by paragraph (1)) but for its failure to meet the deadline for applications under section 1886(d)(10)(C)(ii) of such Act.

(b) CONTINUING TREATMENT OF PREVIOUSLY DESIGNATED CENTERS.—Any hospital classified as a rural referral center by the Secretary of Health and Human Services under section 1886(d)(5)(C) of the Social Security Act for fiscal year 1994 shall be classified as such a rural referral center for fiscal year 1997 and each subsequent fiscal year.

Subtitle B—Small Rural Hospital Antitrust Fairness

SEC. 511. ANTITRUST EXEMPTION.

The antitrust laws shall not apply with respect to—

(1) the merger of, or the attempt to merge, 2 or more hospitals,

(2) a contract entered into solely by 2 or more hospitals to allocate hospital services, or

(3) the attempt by only 2 or more hospitals to enter into a contract to allocate hospital services, if each of such hospitals satisfies all of the requirements of section 512 at the time such hospitals engage in the conduct described in paragraph (1), (2), or (3), as the case may be.

SEC. 512. REQUIREMENTS.

The requirements referred to in section 511 are as follows:

(1) The hospital is located outside of a city, or in a city that has less than 150,000 inhabitants, as determined in accordance with the most recent data available from the Bureau of the Census.

(2) In the most recently concluded calendar year, the hospital received more than 40 percent of its gross revenue from payments made under Federal programs.

(3) There is in effect with respect to the hospital a certificate issued by the Health Care Financing Administration specifying that such Administration has determined that Federal expenditures would be reduced, consumer costs would not increase, and access to health care services would not be reduced, if the hospital and the other hospitals that requested such certificate merge, or allocate the hospital services specified in such request, as the case may be.

SEC. 513. DEFINITION.

For purposes of this title, the term ''antitrust laws'' has the meaning given such term in subsection (a) of the first section of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12), except that such term includes section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45) to the extent that such section 5 applies with respect to unfair methods of competition.

Subtitle C—Miscellaneous Provisions

SEC. 521. NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE CORPS LOAN REPAYMENTS EXCLUDED FROM GROSS INCOME.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Part III of subchapter B of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to items specifically excluded from gross income) is amended by redesignating section 137 as section 138 and by inserting after section 136 the following new section:

''SEC. 137. NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE CORPS LOAN REPAYMENTS.

''(a) GENERAL RULE.—Gross income shall not include any qualified loan repayment.

''(b) QUALIFIED LOAN REPAYMENT.—For purposes of this section, the term 'qualified loan repayment' means any payment made on behalf of the taxpayer by the National Health Service Corps Loan Repayment Program under section 338B(g) of the Public Health Service Act.''.

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Paragraph (3) of section 338B(g) of the Public Health Service Act is amended by striking ''Federal, State, or local'' and inserting ''State or local''.

(c) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections for part III of subchapter B of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by striking the item relating to section 137 and inserting the following:

''Sec. 137. National Health Service Corps loan repayments.

''Sec. 138. Cross references to other Acts.''.

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to payments made under section 338B(g) of the Public Health Service Act after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 522. TELEMEDICINE SERVICES.

The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall establish a methodology for making payments under part B of the medicare program for telemedicine services furnished on an emergency basis to individuals residing in an area designated as a health professional shortage area (under section 332(a) of the Public Health Service Act).

Mr. Speaker, every single rule the House has adopted this session has been a restrictive rule. You heard that correctly. The Republican House has so far adopted 100 percent restrictive rules in this session. If it is adopted, the rule before us will leave that 100 percent purely restrictive rules record intact.

This is the 65th restrictive rule reported out of the Committee on Rules in this Congress. In addition, 71 percent of the legislation considered this session has not been reported from committee. Ten out of 14 measures brought up this session have been unreported. Mr. Speaker, I include the following material for the RECORD:

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Florida is recognized for 1 minute.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, first of all I would like to say that we have considered many amendments in this process and it is quite clear there are many good ideas.

This does not pretend to be comprehensive health care reform. This is very special, and it is meant to be doable and accomplished now, to take a subject we think we can do to make improvement for access and affordability for a great many Americans, to take the bill the Senate has worked on and to make it better here and to send it to the American people. We think that is doable.

We have given the other side two bites at this. We have given them their own substitute and the right to recommit, of course.

Some have said, ''Oh, my gosh; what we need to do here is get back on the health care track.'' Let me remind you, the health care track of the last 40 years was derailed in a monumental train wreck under the Clinton administration. They cannot even find the engineer for that.

We now have something that is doable today, and all we need to do is get this rule on the floor, have the debate, vote this health care reform, and we come out with more health care opportunities for more Americans than we have today. It is worth doing.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support of the rule.

Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question on the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on ordering the previous question.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the noes appeared to have it.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Evidently a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members.

Pursuant to the provisions of clause 5 of rule XV, the chair announces that he will reduce to a minimum of 5 minutes the period of time within which a vote by electronic device, if ordered, will be taken on the question of agreeing to the resolution.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 229, nays 186, not voting 16, as follows:

HEALTH COVERAGE AVAILABILITY AND AFFORDABILITY ACT OF 1996

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Resolution 392, I call up the bill (H.R. 3103), to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to improve portability and continuity of health insurance coverage in the group and individual markets, to combat waste, fraud, and abuse in health insurance and health care delivery, to promote the use of medical savings accounts, to improve access to long-term care services and coverage, to simplify the administration of health insurance, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. COMBEST). Pursuant to House Resolution 392, the amendment in the nature of a substitute consisting of the text of H.R. 3160 modified by the amendment specified in part 1 of House Report 104–501 is adopted.

The text of H.R. 3103 consisting of the text of H.R. 3160, as modified, is as follows:

H.R. 3160

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This Act may be cited as the ''Health Coverage Availability and Affordability Act of 1996''.

(b) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—The table of contents of this Act is as follows:
