

may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 3121, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Debate has concluded on all motions to suspend the rules. Pursuant to the provisions of clause 5 of rule I, the Chair will now put the question on each motion to suspend the rules on which further proceedings were postponed earlier today in the order in which that motion was entertained.

Votes will be taken in the following order: H.R. 2337, de novo; and House Resolution 316, by the yeas and nays.

The Chair will reduce to 5 minutes the time for the second electronic vote after the first such vote in this series.

TAXPAYER BILL OF RIGHTS II

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The pending business is the question of suspending the rules and passing the bill, H.R. 2337, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Connecticut [Mrs. JOHNSON] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2337, as amended.

The question was taken.

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut, Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Evidently a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 425, nays 0, not voting 7, as follows:

A TRIBUTE TO SOPHIE REUTHER

(Mr. TORRES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks and include extraneous material.)

Mr. TORRES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor and pay tribute to a great American woman, Sophie Reuther, who passed away on February 20 of this year. This past Saturday, approximately 150 people, friends and family, gathered at the Reuther home to celebrate the life and lessons of this remarkable woman. Trade unionists from afar, from California, from Ohio, from Minnesota, from Michigan, from New England, from Canada, gathered to retell stories about Sophie's life, her hopes, her aspirations. She was a full partner with her husband Victor as they struggled for social and economic justice for workers in America and throughout the world. They were the true pioneers in the organization of the United Auto Workers of America.

Mr. Speaker, there are not enough words for me to tell about Sophie Reuther, who I had the privilege to know. I therefore ask my colleagues to read about her legacy in a New York Times obituary.

Mr. Speaker, I include this article for the RECORD, as follows:

[From the New York Times, Feb. 23, 1996]

SOPHIE REUTHER, A SOCIAL AND LABOR
ACTIVIST, IS DEAD AT 82

(By Robert McG. Thomas Jr.)

Sophie Reuther, a social activist who captured the head of the United Auto Workers' co-founder, Victor Reuther, and then proved her mettle as a union organizer during the violent labor wars of the 1930's, died on Tuesday at a hospice near her winter home in Ft. Myers, Fla. She was 82 and had been Mr. Reuther's full partner in labor and in life for 59 years.

When they met in December 1935 at the Brookwood Labor College in Katonah, N.Y., where she was a student and he a visiting lecturer, Mr. Reuther was a dashing labor figure who had spent three years traveling around the world with his older brother, Walter, and had helped him found the U.A.W. earlier that year.

"I think she was impressed," her husband said yesterday, acknowledging that the feeling was more than mutual. She may not have had his credentials as a union founder, but as the daughter of Polish refugees who died when she was 15, Sophia Goodlavish, or Sophie Good, as she was known, had already made a mark for herself in labor circles.

A native of Middleboro, Mass., she had her first taste of organizing while working at a shoe factory and had later so distinguished herself in raising money for unionized workers during a shipyard strike that Norman Thomas, the Socialist leader, had recommended her for a scholarship to the labor college.

"She was a very prim young woman with a fund of social idealism," Mr. Reuther said, offering a courtly labor man's declaration of what he acknowledged was love at first sight.

Mr. Reuther, who had been profoundly lonely since his brother's recent marriage, said he was so afraid he would never see her again after her short term ended that he proposed.

She accepted, and six months after their marriage in July 1936, Mrs. Reuther, using the name Good to hide her connections to a high union official, was sent by the U.A.W. to Anderson, Ind., to help bolster support for a strike at a General Motors plant.

At one point, Mr. Reuther said, while he was on his way to Anderson, his wife had to jump out a second-story window to escape an armed band of Ku Klux Klansmen who stormed the union headquarters at the urging of management officials.

"She went underground and it took me three days to find her," he said. Before the year was out, he and she along with his brother Roy, were purged during an intra-union fight that lasted until the Reuther faction regained power two years later.
