

to a fanatic militancy. If this regime, or its despotic neighbor Iraq, were to acquire nuclear weapons, this could presage catastrophic consequences not only for my country and not only for the Middle East but for all of mankind.

I believe the international community must reinvigorate its efforts to isolate these regimes and prevent them from acquiring atomic power. The United States and Israel have been at the forefront of this effort, but we can and we must do much more. Europe and the countries of Asia must be made to understand that it is folly, nothing short of folly, to pursue short-term material gain while creating a long-term existential danger for all of us.

I believe that only the United States can lead this vital international effort to stop the nuclearization of terrorist states. But the deadline for attaining this goal is getting extremely close.

In our own generation, we have witnessed how the United States averted, by its wisdom, tenacity and determination, the dangerous expansion of a totalitarian superpower equipped with nuclear weapons. The policy it used for that purpose was deterrence. Now we see the rise of a similar threat, similar and in many ways more dangerous, against which deterrence by itself may not be sufficient. Deterrence must now be reinforced with prevention, immediate and effective prevention.

We are confident that America, once again, will not fail to take the lead in protecting our free civilization of this ultimate horror. But, ladies and gentlemen, time is running out. We have to act, responsibly, in a united front, internationally. This is not a slogan. This is not overdramatization. This is the life of our world, of our children and of our grandchildren. And I believe that there is no greater, no more noble, no more responsible force than the united force of democracy led by the greatest democracy, the United States. We can overcome this challenge. We can meet it successfully.

Let me now say a word about a subject that has been on your mind and ours, and that subject is the city of Jerusalem.

Countless words have been written about that city on the hill, which represents the universal hope for justice and peace. I live in that city on the hill. And in my boyhood I knew that city, when it was divided into enemy camps, with coils of barbed wire stretched through its heart.

Since 1967, under Israeli sovereignty, united Jerusalem has, for the first time in 2,000 years, become the city of peace. For the first time, the holy places have been open to worshipers from all three great faiths. For the first time, no group in the city or among its pilgrims has been persecuted or denied free expression. For the first time, a single sovereign authority has afforded security and protection to members of every nationality who sought to come and pray there.

There have been efforts to redivide this city by those who claim that peace can come through division, that it can be secured through multiple sovereignties, multiple laws, multiple police forces.

This is a groundless and dangerous assumption, and it impels me to declare today: There will never be such a redivision of Jerusalem. Never. We shall not allow a Berlin Wall to be erected inside Jerusalem. We will not drive out anyone, but neither shall we be driven out of any quarter, any neighborhood, any street of our eternal capital.

Finally, permit me to briefly remark on our future economic relationship. The United States—how can I tell it to this body? The United States has given, apart from political and military support to Israel, munificent and magnificent assistance in the economic sphere. With America's help, Israel has grown to be a powerful, modern state. I believe that we can now say that Israel has reached childhood's end, that it has matured enough to begin approaching a state of self-reliance.

We are committed to turning Israel's economy into a free market of goods and ideas. I believe that such a free market of goods and ideas is the only way to bring ourselves to true economic independence; and this means free enterprise, privatization, open capital markets, an end to cartels, lower taxes, deregulation.

There is not a Hebrew word for deregulation. By the time this term of office in Israel is over, there will be a Hebrew word for deregulation.

But may I say something that unites all of us across the political divide? I am committed to reducing the size of government; and I am quoting Speaker GINGRICH, quoting President Clinton, saying that the era of Big Government is over. It is over in Israel, too.

I believe that a market economy is the only way to effectively absorb immigrants and realize the dream of ages, the ingathering of the Jewish exiles.

To succeed, we must uphold the market economy as the imperative of the future. It is a crucial prerequisite for the building of the promised land.

We are deeply grateful for all that we have received from the United States, for all that we have received from this Chamber, from this body. But I believe there can be no greater tribute to America's long-standing economic aid to Israel than for us to be able to say: We are going to achieve economic independence. We are going to do it.

In the next 4 years, we are going to begin the long-term process of gradually reducing the level of your generous economic assistance to Israel, and I am convinced that our economic policies will lay the foundation for total self-reliance and great economic strength. In our Hebrew scriptures, which spread from Jerusalem to all of mankind, there is a verse, "HaShem oz l'eamo yiten; HaShem yevarech et amo bashalom." "God will give strength to His people; God will bless His people with peace." This is the original, inspired source for the truth that peace derives from strength.

In the coming years, we intend to strengthen the Jewish people in its land. We intend to build an Israel of reciprocal dialog and peace with each and every one of our neighbors. We will not uproot anyone, nor shall we be uprooted. We shall insist on the right of Jews to live anywhere in the land, just as we insist on the right of Jews to live anywhere in any other place of the world. We will build an Israel of self-reliance. We will build an Israel with an undivided and indivisible city of hope at its heart. We will build a peace founded on justice and strength and amity for all men and women of good will.

And I know that the American people will join us in making every effort to make our dream a reality, as I know that the American people will join us in prayer: "God will give strength to his people, God will bless his people with peace." Thank you very much.

WELFARE REFORM

(Mr. ARMEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ARMEY. Mr. Speaker, today is the deadline this administration imposed on itself for granting Wisconsin the freedom to reform its welfare system. Two-thirds of the Wisconsin Legislature approved a welfare reform plan that requires work and restores the values of responsibility and family. President Clinton endorsed the Wisconsin reforms in a radio address to the Nation and eventually agreed to approve the plan by today, July 10.

Remember President Clinton's campaign promise to end welfare as we know it? That promise energized the Nation's Governors, who have put forward ambitious plans to reward work over dependency. But State legislators eager to end welfare as we know it have been forced to sit on their hands, waiting for permission from Washington, only to have bureaucrats rewrite their welfare reform plans and make them ineffective.

Welfare as we know it continues, despite enormous effort from our Nation's Governors.

The President has vetoed welfare reform twice, despite his campaign promise. Today he has a chance to keep another welfare reform promise, this one made to the people of Wisconsin—or, Mr. Speaker, is this not one of the promises the President meant to keep?

FILEGATE

(Mr. TRAFICANT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, at first, it was a handful. We then had 300, then 400. The number grew to 700. Today, Federal law enforcement groups estimate the number of illegally obtained secret FBI files by the White House to exceed 1,000. One thousand private lives of Americans invaded, 1,000 workers, all Republicans, who worked for Presidents Reagan and Bush, their rights violated. And, after all this, to add insult to injury, the new political spin is, Vincent Foster did it.

What is next? Will some political spinmaster accuse Richard Nixon here?

Mr. Speaker, this is a serious problem, whether you are a Democrat or Republican. This cannot and must not be tolerated. There is one question that must be answered: Who ordered this criminal act? And that criminal should be put in jail. And, by God, let Vincent Foster rest in peace.

REINFORCEMENTS NEEDED IN WAR ON DRUGS

(Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, for months President Clinton promised to protect our children from the addiction of cigarettes, but what about drugs? When Clinton got in office, he slashed the drug czar's staff by 83 percent, he eliminated 200 to 400 DEA agents, and he took the priority of drugs from top on the national security list to bottom. At the same time, marijuana use went up for 12- to 13-year-olds by 13 percent.

Sunday, the Dallas Morning News reported Mexican drug smugglers seized ranches on the Texas border for smuggling marijuana, cocaine, and heroin.

Our border is at risk. Our ranchers are helpless. County and city officials are corrupted. President Clinton's all-talk-and-no-action drug policy has led to an invasion of our borders.

It is time we responded. Mr. Speaker, we need our Armed Forces to stop the invasion of the United States of America.

DOLE REJECTS NAACP INVITATION

(Mr. FOGLIETTA asked and given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FOGLIETTA. I has happy that Bob Dole was in my district last night for the All Star game, but there are direct flights from Philadelphia to Charlotte, NC. I say this because America should know why Bob Dole has rejected the invitation of the NAACP to speak at their convention.

His campaign repudiated the invitation based on scheduling conflicts, but I think other conflicts are involved. Could it be that Bob Dole has nothing to say to the NAACP? Could it be that Bob Dole can't do anything or say anything that would offend the far right wing of his party? That's the answer. Whatever happened to the big tent? These are the same folks who talk about their commitment to what they have called the safety net for the very poor. But isn't it interesting that both of these metaphors speak in terms of fabric. The Republican majority, led by Bob Dole and Speaker GINGRICH, they are tearing up this fabric. The safety net is in tatters. And the big tent is full of holes. With Bob Dole's rejection of the NAACP, the big tent is getting smaller and smaller.

THE CLINTON YEARS: A LEGACY OF FAILURE IN THE WAR ON DRUGS

(Mrs. KELLY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. KELLY. Mr. Speaker, President Clinton is hosting a 2-day drug summit in El Paso, but 2 days hardly make up for his administration's 3½ years of neglect. But let's see what the numbers really say: Total drug-related cases are up 30 percent; cocaine use is up 33 percent; heroin use is up 77 percent; marijuana use is up 108 percent; and methamphetamine use is up an alarming 308 percent.

No rhetoric, just the facts.

But, Mr. Speaker, these facts have a brutal impacts on our society, especially our Nation's children.

I've worked in the emergency rooms where these children come in. I've seen how these drugs can destroy generations of families.

How has our President responded? He cut the DEA agents by 227.

He shortened mandatory minimum sentences for convicted drug traffickers.

And he even mothballed nine Coast Guard ships and seven aircraft that were needed to stem the flow of drugs into this country.

No, Mr. Speaker, 2 days cannot make up for lapses of this magnitude. President Clinton has abandoned our Nation's drug control efforts and it is our children who will bear this heavy burden.

MINIMUM WAGE INCREASE WILL NOT HAPPEN

(Mr. VOLKMER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. VOLKMER. Mr. Speaker, yesterday was a big day for a lot of low-income American people that are hard working. The other body passed the minimum wage increase bill overwhelmingly. All the media talked about it, what a great thing it was for the low-income American people that work very hard right now for $4.25.

Folks, I have got something to tell you. You have seen the last of it. NEWT GINGRICH, dictator NEWT GINGRICH, the Speaker of the House, and the leader of the Senate, both oppose that minimum wage.

One of two things is going to happen. They are either not going to appoint conferees or they are going to wait until September or October, right before we adjourn, to appoint them. Or if they appoint conferees the conferees are never going to come to an agreement.

The same thing is happening on health care reform. They did not like it
