

have got to start with changing children's perceptions and helping them avoid crime and violence. If kids are using guns, if kids are bringing guns to school, those are signs of much deeper crises we have got to work hard to address.

One effort we have tried with great success is the Safe and Drug Free Schools initiative. This helps schools become safer, more disciplined and drug-free. Parents, teachers, and law enforcement officials tell us it is one of the most effective programs they have seen.

However, the extremist Republicans in the House want to spend $99 million less in 1997 nationwide, and $1.08 million less in Minnesota alone, than the President wants to spend to keep schools safe and drug free.

Earlier in June, I met with Chuck Anderson. He is a violence intervention trainer at Black Hawk Middle School in Eagan, MN. He has taught since 1970. The program that he coordinates, which is funded under Safe and Drug Free Schools, trains both teachers and students to effectively resolve conflicts in the school as an alternative to disciplinary policy. This program Mr. Anderson directs provides appropriate proactive plans for students to learn means by which to avoid violence and fighting through peaceful intervention. Along with this gun pledge, we have got to support teachers like Chuck Anderson if we truly want to reduce violence in our schools and our society.
