

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

RECIPE FOR AMERICA

HON. RICHARD K. ARMEY

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, April 30, 1997

Mr. ARMEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to commend the students of Mrs. De Merchant's class of Abraham Lincoln Elementary School in Corona del Mar, CA. Each of the 30 children submitted their personal "Recipe for America." Their words and ideas testify to the simple and untarnished hope upon which our country was founded. Their belief and pursuit of American principles and their persistent optimism, despite the various vices of today's society, serves as a reminder to each of us to continue to uphold the truth and fight for justice and freedom. May we be found faithful as we seek to ensure the future for our country's greatest asset—our children.

RECIPE FOR AMERICA

(By Priscilla Swenson)

Defrost four gallons of exquisite, bright, and cheerful beach weather. Add some rushing rivers flowing with icy cool water. Add a pinch of flourishing fruited plains with one cup of liberty. Stir in some family traditions. Season it with soldier high, luscious green pines. Don't forget to mash all violence and unjust treatment. Make sure to marinate and sprinkle many cups of justice. Churn some freedom. Serve with many rights and unbeatable fairness. And that is my recipe for America!

THE RECIPE FOR THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA'S PURPLE MOUNTAIN MAJESTIES

(By Geoffrey Simmon)

1. Blend in a pound of the wonderful and magnificent Washington Monument which is made out of two types of stone.
2. Add in a cup of honest and truthful justice of the Supreme Court.
3. Pour a gallon of the salty and fresh water which mixes in the Chesapeake Bay.
4. Stir in two hundred twenty three years of wonderful sports, ideas, technology, liberty, freedom and government.
5. Thaw and throw out the years of rotten gangs, violence, anger and pollution.

MY RECIPE FOR THE UNITED STATES

RECIPE FOR THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

(By Brittany Grech)

Mix two ounces of surfing in tubed waves.
Add three tablespoons of swimming with tropical fish in clear, coral bottomed seas.
Combine snow capped mountains and a pinch of skiing.
Stir in cups full of fresh air and a pint of skydivers.
Fry a rollerblader on the sidewalks by the hot sandy shore.
Spread California's exquisite beach weather.
Blend all the above ingredients gently together.
Frost with the freedoms of speech and religion, a responsible government and a secret ballot.
Sprinkle this with presidential elections.

Place it by beautiful tropical rainbows to cool.
Serve with appropriate laws.

HONORING GEORGE MCGOVERN ON HIS 75TH BIRTHDAY

HON. JAMES P. McGOVERN

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, April 30, 1997

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, on April 8, 1997, a remarkable event took place at the U.S. National Archives: a day-long symposium was held on the career of former Senator George McGovern on the occasion of his 75th birthday. The symposium reviewed the times and events that surrounded Senator McGovern's life and his role in shaping contemporary history. It brought together such diverse commentators and speakers as Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., All Neuharth, Townsend Hoopes, Frank Mankiewicz, Mary McGroarty, Hunter Thompson, Daniel Ellsberg, Lindy Boggs, Bob Dole and TOM DASCHLE.

My life and my career has been shaped by the commitment and integrity of this remarkable man from Avon, SD. He was born on July 19, 1922, the son of a Methodist clergyman. As a pilot of a B-24 bomber in the European theater during World War II, he flew 35 missions and was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross. After the War, he returned home and earned a Ph.D. in history and government at Northwestern University and served as professor of history at Dakota Wesleyan University.

Few of these facts are remembered today because the Senator from South Dakota, elected to the House of Representatives in 1956 and to the U.S. Senate in 1962, and the Democratic Party 1972 Presidential candidate, is known for his integrity and the stands he took on such issues as combating hunger, opposing the war in Vietnam, promoting disarmament, and working diligently on behalf of peace. But his early religious life, his experiences during World War II, and his discipline as an academic, and his devotion to his family were ever the touchstones of his spiritual life and values.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to enter into the RECORD a copy of the remarks made by Senator EDWARD M. KENNEDY during the April 8 symposium, along with the program of speakers and topics that describe the life of George McGovern and his place in American history.

SENATOR KENNEDY'S REMARKS AT THE GEORGE MCGOVERN 75TH BIRTHDAY SYMPOSIUM, NATIONAL ARCHIVES, APRIL 8, 1997

I want to thank Douglas Brinkley for that generous introduction. Doug has done great work as Director of Dwight D. Eisenhower Center at the University of New Orleans.

I also want to thank John Carlin for that warm introduction. John has done an exceptional job as Archivist of The United States. We are all grateful that our nation's records and history and legacy are in his and the entire staff at the National Archives' capable hands.

It's a very special privilege to join in honoring a very special friend on his 7th birthday.

George McGovern and I came to the Senate the same year, and we've been great friends ever since.

In 1961, President Kennedy named George as the director of Food for Peace. The program had been relegated to secondary status for years, but Jack was determined to make it a priority. George was the perfect choice to do it.

His first major project was the widespread starvation in Brazil. George went there, saw it first hand, and did something about it. He arranged for 60 million pounds of powdered milk for a child feeding program and 30,000 tons of other commodities. The powdered milk alone fed two million people a day for an entire year.

Under George, Food for Peace expanded its efforts to all parts of the world. The people of Afghanistan, the Congo, Korea, Indonesia, and Colombia all became the beneficiaries of this New Frontier initiative. In Peru, a million school children were fed daily by U.S.

commodities. In India, vast shiploads of wheat, rice, corn, and soybeans were sent to help alleviate that nation's suffering.

Returning from India in 1962, George came through Rome and met Pope Paul the 23rd. The Pope said, "When you meet your Maker and He asks, 'Have you fed the hungry, given drink to the thirsty, and cared for the lonely?' You can answer, 'Yes'".

As a Senator, George never stopped being a tireless crusader against hunger. As Chairman of the Committee on Nutrition, he made an enormous difference. In the Nixon years, when the White House attacked him for using the issue for political purposes, he had the perfect answer—"Hunger knows no politics." The strong school lunch program we have in place today is there because of George McGovern.

Two years ago, as you may recall, some "know-nothings" in Congress tried to slash George's program. They were routed by a firestorm of criticism, and a new verb entered the dictionary. "Watch out," they said. "We don't want to get 'school-lunched' ever again." So they tried to slash Medicare and education instead—with similar results. When George McGovern plants something, it stays planted.

And then, of course, there was Vietnam. Before almost anyone else in the Senate, George McGovern spoke out against the failure of our policy. By 1965, he had seen enough. He knew that the ongoing crisis in Vietnam was the result of Vietnam's internal problems, and was no military threat to the United States. He called for an end to the widespread carpet bombings that were producing negligible military results but were having a devastating effect on the lives of millions of innocent Vietnamese civilians.

The war was the issue, and it was natural that George would run for President in 1972. A watershed election became the Watergate election and in the eyes of history, George emerged as the true winner—even if he wasn't the Electoral College winner. But I still have my bumper sticker that says, "Don't blame me—I'm from Massachusetts."

Few Americans have contributed more to their fellow citizens and their country than George McGovern. Few Americans have done more to improve the lot of the hungry and the poor than George McGovern. And few Americans have held our country to a higher standard or contributed more than George McGovern.

For a memorable four-years from 1964 to 1968, George and I and Robert Kennedy were all serving together in the Senate. In a sense, we were three brothers again.

As Bobby once said, "There is no one I feel more genuine about and about the importance of their contribution, than George McGovern. Of all my colleagues in the United States Senate, the person who has the most feeling and does things in the most genuine way is George McGovern. He is so highly admired by all his colleagues, not just for his ability but because of the kind of man he is. That is truer of him than of any man in the United States Senate." That says it all about our friend.

Finally, I still remember the night—July 13—or was it the 14th, 1972, 3 A.M., Miami, Florida, the Democratic Convention. I had the privilege of introducing George, and I brought along a little tape to play here.

We love you George—I still think you'd have won, if you'd given your acceptance speech about six hours earlier that night.
