

contract for the risks identified above was authorized.

Contingent Liabilities

Provisions to indemnify Contractor against liabilities due to claims which may result from the hazardous risk associated with the supply and use of pyridostigmine bromide, or other risks, as defined, not covered by the Contractor's insurance program were included; the potential cost of the liability cannot be estimated since the liability to the United States Government, if any, would depend upon the occurrence of an incident as described in the indemnification clause.

DEFENSE INFORMATION SYSTEMS AGENCY

Contractor: Total Procurement Services, Inc.

Type of action: Formalization of Informal Commitment.

Actual or estimated potential cost: $10,000.

Service and activity: Defense Information Systems Agency, Defense Commercial Communications Office.

Description of product or service: Processing of noncompliant transactions.

Background: The Defense Information Technology Contracting Organization (DITCO) notified Total Procurement Services, Inc. (TPS) by letter dated September 24, 1996, that the Defense Information Systems Agency (DISA) would no longer process TPS's noncompliant transactions. DITCO and the operational personnel in the electronic commerce initiative had been working with TPS since at least July 1996, but non-compliance continued.

TPS responded to that notice in a letter dated September 24, 1996. TPS's letter raised a number of issues but essentially contended that the noncompliance was on the part of the Network Entry Point (NEP) at Ogden, principally in the areas of script writing and segment delimiters and terminators. TPS further claimed $10,000 under authority of Public Law 85-804 for TPS's cost to support the 2003 Implementation Convention (IC) over a ten month period.

Decision

DISA did not agree that the Government was at fault in the problems TPS experienced. DISA did not see evidence of Government-caused problems. As TPS was aware, the Government conducted an extensive Independent Validation and Verification (IV&V) review of Ogden NEP operations in relation to TPS. The Government took great pains and incurred great expense to ensure that this IV&V of the Ogden NEP was conducted independently and with no bias toward the Ogden operation or against TPS. This review, conducted by expert personnel not associated with the Ogden NEP, concluded that NEP processing and communications were not responsible for frequent data anomalies reported and observed in unprocessed data retrieved from TPS since August 26, 1996. Furthermore, the IV&V found no indication that TPS's data problems reported before August 26, 1996, were caused by NEP processing or the NEP-TPS file exchange.

On November 1, 1996, the EC/EDI system migrated from the NEP environment to the Electronic Commerce Processing Node (ECPN) environment. This new system will provide far greater accuracy in identifying and rejecting incoming transactions that do not comply with processing standards. The system is not designed to allow for human intervention.

Insofar as TPS's claim was concerned, no loss was shown. The Navy's migration to the 3050 IC was delayed. If the migration had been on schedule, however, DISA presumed that TPS would have been supporting 3050 IC. Implicit in TPS's continued support of the 2003 IC was a desire to continue processing Navy business for TPS's trading partners. Thus, either the 2003 or the 3050 IC would have been supported.

It should be noted that the authority conferred by Public Law 85-804 is for use in extraordinary situations where the productive ability of a contractor or its continued operation as a source of supply is essential to national defense. Even if a loss occurred, which it did not, that is not a sufficient basis for exercising the authority. Furthermore, the statute may not be relied on when other adequate legal authority exists within the Agency to address the claim. The old VAN License Agreement incorporated the Disputes clause which represents an adequate legal authority to resolve this claim. TPS's claim of September 24, 1996, was denied.

Contingent Liabilities: None.

Contractor: None.
