Phelps Dodge shall pay to the United States, for delivery to the Tribe, the sum of $20,000 per month, with an annual CPI adjustment from July 23, 1997, for purposes of compensating the Tribe for United States use and occupancy of the Black River facilities. Phelps Dodge and the Tribe shall cooperate with the United States in effectuating an orderly transfer of the operations of the Black River facilities from Phelps Dodge to the United States.

"(C) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the contract referred to in subparagraph (B) between the United States and Phelps Dodge which provides for the diversion of water from the Black River into the Black River facilities, and the delivery of such water to Phelps Dodge at that location where the channel of Eagle Creek last exits the reservation for use in the Morenci mine complex and the towns of Clifton and Morenci and at no other location, is ratified and confirmed.

"(D) The power line right-of-way over the Tribe's Reservation which currently is held by Phelps Dodge shall remain in place. During the interim period, Phelps Dodge shall provide power to the United States for operation of the pump station and related facilities without charge, and Phelps Dodge shall pay a monthly right-of-way fee to the Tribe of $5,000 per month, with an annual CPI adjustment from July 23, 1997.

"(E) Any questions regarding the water claims associated with Phelps Dodge's use of the Upper Eagle Creek Wellfield, its diversions of surface water from Eagle Creek, the San Francisco River, Chase Creek, and/or its use of other water supplies are not addressed in this title. No provision in this subsection shall affect or be construed to affect any claims by the Tribe, the United States, or Phelps Dodge to groundwater or surface water.

"(3) FINAL ARRANGEMENTS AND TERMS.—The interim period described in paragraph (2) shall extend until all conditions set forth in paragraph (3)(B) have been satisfied. At such time, the following final arrangements shall apply, based on the terms set forth below. Such terms shall bind the Tribe, the United States, and Phelps Dodge, and shall be enforceable pursuant to subsection (d)(1) of this Act.

“(A) The United States shall hold the Black River facilities in trust for the Tribe, without cost to the Tribe or the United States.

“(B) Responsibility for operation of the Black River facilities shall be transferred from the United States to the Tribe. The United States shall train Tribal members during the interim period, and the responsibility to operate the Black River facilities shall be transferred upon satisfaction of 2 conditions—

“(i) a finding by the United States that the Tribe has completed necessary training and is qualified to operate the Black River facilities; and “(ii) execution of the contract described in paragraph (3)(E), which contract shall be executed on or before December 31, 1998. In the event that the contract is not executed by December 31, 1998, the transfer described in this subsection shall occur on December 31, 1998 (so long as condition (i) of this subparagraph has been satisfied), based on application of the contract terms described in paragraph (3)(E), which terms shall be enforceable under this Act. Upon the approval of the Secretary, the Tribe may contract with third parties to operate the Black River facilities.

“(C) Power lines currently operated by Phelps Dodge on the Tribe's Reservation, and the right-of-way associated with such power lines, shall be surrendered by Phelps Dodge to the Tribe, without cost to the Tribe. Prior to the surrender of the power lines, the Bureau of Reclamation shall arrange for an inspection of the power lines and associated facilities by a qualified third party and shall obtain a certification that such power lines and facilities are of sound design and are in good working order. Phelps Dodge shall pay for the cost of such inspection and certification. Concurrently with the surrender of the power lines and the right-of-way, Phelps Dodge shall construct a switch station at the boundary of the Reservation at which the Tribe may switch power on or off and shall deliver ownership and control of such switch station to the Tribe. Subsequent to the transfer of the power lines and the right-of-way and the delivery of ownership and control of the switch station to the Tribe, Phelps Dodge shall have no further obligation or liability of any nature with respect to the ownership, operation, or maintenance of the power lines, the right-of-way, or the switch station.

“(D) The Tribe and the United States will enter into an exchange agreement with the Salt River Project which will deliver CAP water controlled by the Tribe to the Salt River Project in return for the diversion of water from the Black River into the Black River facilities. The exchange agreement shall be subject to review and approval by Phelps Dodge, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the contract referred to in this subparagraph is ratified and confirmed.

“(E) The Tribe, the United States, and Phelps Dodge will execute a contract covering the lease and delivery of CAP water from the Tribe to Phelps Dodge on the following terms:

“(i) The Tribe will lease to Phelps Dodge 14,000 acre feet of CAP water per year as of the date on which the interim period referred to in paragraph (2) expires. The lease shall be subject to the terms and conditions identified in the Tribal CAP Delivery Contract referenced in section 3706(b). The leased CAP water shall be delivered to Phelps Dodge from the Black River pursuant to the exchange referred to in subparagraph (D) above, based on diversions from the Black River that shall not exceed an annual average of 40 acre feet per day and shall not cause the flow of Black River to fall below 20 cubic feet per second. Such CAP water shall be delivered to Phelps Dodge at that location where the channel of Eagle Creek last exits the Reservation, to be utilized in the Morenci mine complex and the towns of Clifton and Morenci, and at no other location.

“(ii) The leased CAP water shall be junior to the diversion and use of up to 7,300 acre feet per year from the Black and Salt Rivers by the San Carlos Apache Tribe.

“(iii) The lease will be for a term of 50 years or, if earlier, the date upon which mining activities at the Morenci mine complex cease, with a right to renew for an additional 50 years upon a finding by the Secretary that the water is needed for continued mining activities at the Morenci mine complex. The lease shall have the following financial terms:

“(I) The Tribe will lease CAP water at a cost of $1,200 per acre foot. Phelps Dodge shall pay to the United States, on behalf of the Tribe, the sum of $5,000,000 upon the earlier of the execution of the agreement, or upon the expiration of the interim period referred to in paragraph (2) hereof, which amount shall be a prepayment for and applicable to the first 4,166 acre feet of CAP water to be delivered in each year during the term of the lease.

“(II) Phelps Dodge shall pay the United States, on behalf of the Tribe, the sum of $65 per acre foot per year, with an annual CPI adjustment for the remaining 9,834 acre feet of water to be delivered pursuant to the lease each year. Such payments shall be made in advance on January 1 of each year, with a reconciliation made at year-end, if necessary, in the event that less than 14,000 acre feet of CAP water is diverted from the Black River due to shortages in the CAP system or on the Black River.

“(III) Phelps Dodge shall pay in advance each month the Tribe's reasonable costs associated with the Tribe's operation, maintenance, and replacement of the Black River facilities for purposes of delivering water to Phelps Dodge pursuant to the lease, which costs shall be based upon the experience of the Bureau of Reclamation in operating the Black River facilities during the interim period referred to in paragraph (2), subject to an annual CPI adjustment, and providing for a credit for power provided by Phelps Dodge to the Tribe. In addition, Phelps Dodge shall pay a monthly fee of $30,000 to the United States, on behalf of the Tribe, to account for the use of the Tribe's distribution system.

“(IV) Phelps Dodge shall pay the United States operation, maintenance, and replacement charges associated with the leased CAP water and such reasonable interconnection charges as may be imposed by Salt River Project in connection with the exchange referred to in subparagraph (D) above.

“(iv) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 3707(b), any moneys, except Black River facilities OM&R, CAP OM&R and any charges associated with an exchange agreement with Salt River Project, paid to the United States on behalf of the Tribe from the lease referred to under paragraph (3)(D)(iii) shall be held in trust by the United States for the benefit of the Tribe. There is hereby established in the Treasury of the United States a fund to be known as the 'San Carlos Apache Tribe Lease Fund' for such purpose. Interest accruing to the Fund may be used by the Tribe for economic and community development purposes upon presentation to the Secretary of a certified copy of a duly enacted resolution of the Tribal Council requesting distribution and a written budget approved by the Tribal Council. Such income may thereafter be expended only in accordance with such budget. Income not distributed shall be added to principal. The United States shall not be liable for any claim or causes of action arising from the Tribe's use or expenditure of moneys distributed from the Fund.

“(v) The lease is not assignable to any third party, except with the consent of the Tribe and Phelps Dodge, and with the approval of the Secretary.

“(vi) Notwithstanding subsection (b) hereof, section 3706 shall be fully effective immediately with respect to the CAP water lease provided for in this subparagraph and the Secretary shall take all actions authorized by section 3706 necessary for purposes of implementing this subparagraph. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the contract referred to in this subparagraph is ratified and confirmed and shall be enforceable in United States district court. In the event that no lease authorized by this subparagraph is executed, this subparagraph, notwithstanding any other provision of law, shall be enforceable as a lease among the Tribe, the United States, and Phelps Dodge in the United States district court, and the Secretary shall take all action authorized by section 3706 for purposes of implementing this subparagraph in such an event.

“(F) Any questions regarding the water claims associated with Phelps Dodge's use of the Eagle Creek Wellfield, its diversions of surface water from lower Eagle Creek, the San Francisco River, Chase Creek, and/or its use of other water supplies are not addressed by this title. No provision in this subsection shall affect or be construed to affect any claims by the Tribe, the United States, or Phelps Dodge to groundwater or surface water.

“(4) EAGLE CREEK.—From the effective date of this subsection, and during the Interim Period, the Tribe shall not, in any way, impede, restrict, or sue the United States regarding the passage of water from the Black River facilities into those portions of the channels of Willow Creek and Eagle Creek which flow through the Reservation. Phelps Dodge agrees to limit pumping from the Upper Eagle Creek Wellfield so that the combination of water from the Black River facilities and water pumped from the Upper Eagle Creek Wellfield does not exceed 22,000 acre feet per year of delivered water at the Phelps Dodge Lower Eagle Creek Pump Station below the Reservation. In calculating the pumping rates allowed under this subparagraph, transmission losses from Black River and the Upper Eagle Creek Wellfield shall be estimated, but in no event shall such transmission losses be more than 10 percent of the Black River or Upper Eagle Creek Wellfield water. Based on this agreement, the Tribe shall not, in any way, impede, restrict, or sue Phelps Dodge regarding the passage of water from the Phelps Dodge Upper Eagle Creek Wellfield, except that—

“(A) Phelps Dodge shall pay to the United States, on behalf of the Tribe, $5,000 per month, with an annual CPI adjustment from July 23, 1997, to account for the passage of such flows; and

“(B) the Tribe and the United States reserve the right to challenge Phelps Dodge's claims regarding the pumping of groundwater from the Upper Eagle Creek Wellfield, in accordance with paragraphs (2)(E) and (3)(F) above. In the event that a court determines that Phelps Dodge does not have the right to pump the Upper Eagle Creek Wellfield, the Tribe will no longer be subject to the restriction set forth in this subparagraph regarding the passage of water from the Wellfield through the Reservation. Nothing in this subsection shall affect the rights, if any, that Phelps Dodge might claim regarding the flow of water in the channel of Eagle Creek in the absence of this subsection.

"(5) PAST CLAIMS.—The Act does not address claims relating to Phelps Dodge's prior occupancy and operation of the Black River facilities. The Tribe agrees not to bring any such claims against the United States. The Tribe also agrees that within 30 days after Phelps Dodge has vacated the Reservation, it shall dismiss with prejudice the suit that it has filed in Tribal Court against Phelps Dodge (The San Carlos Apache Tribe v. Phelps Dodge, et al., Case No. C-97-118), which such dismissal shall not be considered a decision on the merits, and any claims that it might assert against Phelps Dodge in connection with Phelps Dodge's prior occupancy and operation of the Black River facilities shall be brought exclusively in the United States district court.

"(6) RELATIONSHIP TO SETTLEMENT.—

"(A) The term 'Agreement', as defined by section 3703(2), shall not include Phelps Dodge.

"(B) Section 3706(j) and section 3705(f) shall be repealed and shall have no effect.

"(7) RATIFICATION OF SETTLEMENT.—The agreement between the San Carlos Apache Tribe, the Phelps Dodge Corporation, and the Secretary of the Interior, as set forth in this subsection, is hereby ratified and approved."

(g) TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.—Section 3702(a)(3) is amended by striking "qualification" and inserting "quantification".

The Secretary shall issue such permits without regard to the provisions of subparagraphs (A) and (C)(ii) of this paragraph, subsection (d)(3) of this section, and sections 101 and 102. This subparagraph shall not apply to polar bear parts that were imported before the effective date of this subparagraph."

TITLE VIII—2000 DECENNIAL CENSUS

The Department of Commerce is directed within thirty days of enactment of this Act to provide to the Congress a comprehensive and detailed plan outlining its proposed methodologies for conducting the 2000 decennial Census and available methods to conduct an actual enumeration of the population. This plan description shall specifically include:

(1) a list of all statistical methodologies that may be used in conducting the Census;
(2) an explanation of these statistical methodologies;
(3) a list of statistical errors which may occur as a result of the use of each statistical methodology;

(4) the estimated error rate down to the census tract level;

(5) a cost estimation showing cost allocations for each census activity plan; and

(6) an analysis of all available options for counting hard-to-enumerate individuals, without utilizing sampling or any other statistical methodology, including efforts like the Milwaukee Complete Count project. The Department of Commerce is also directed within thirty days of enactment of this Act to provide to the Congress an estimate and explanation of the error rate at the census block level based upon the 1995 test data.

This Act may be cited as the “1997 Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act for Recovery from Natural Disasters, and for Overseas Peacekeeping Efforts, Including Those in Bosnia”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the previous order of the House, the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. LIVINGSTON] and the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. OBEY] each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. LIVINGSTON].

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. LIVINGSTON asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, on June 9, the President vetoed H.R. 1469, the initial fiscal year 1997 emergency supplemental appropriations bill that the Congress had sent him. That bill contained a provision on precluding sampling in the 2000 decennial census and an automatic continuing resolution provision that would have provided funding for the Government should the regular appropriations bills not be enacted on October 1. The President found those provisions unacceptable and vetoed that bill.

The bill before the House does not contain any provision on the continuing resolution. The provision in this bill on the decennial census has been agreed to by the President. The provision in the initial bill regarding States’ assertions of rights-of-way on Federal lands has been dropped. There are no funding changes from the conference agreement on H.R. 1469, the bill that we had passed initially in the House, conferenced, and the conference report was adopted before it went to the President.

Since this is an introduced bill that was not reported by the Committee on Appropriations or from a committee of conference, there is no report to accompany it. However, this bill is very similar to H.R. 1469. In implementing the provisions of this bill, agencies should use the guidance contained in House Report 105-119, the conference report to accompany H.R. 1469, as appropriate.

Mr. Speaker, with the adjustments described above, if we pass this bill, we can conclude our responsibilities in getting emergency assistance to all impacted parties around the country. I believe that the Senate will take this bill up quickly and pass it unamended.

The President will sign this bill, and we can get on with our regular fiscal year 1998 bills. I urge support of this bill.

At this point in the RECORD, I would like to insert a table reflecting the details of this bill.

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 6 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I would simply like to say that at long, long last I am very happy that we are here in this posture. As the gentleman from Louisiana has indicated, almost 90 days ago the President of the United States asked the Congress to do essentially two things: He asked us to appropriate additional funds in order to meet the disaster needs around the country because various States had experienced severe flooding and other natural disasters; and he asked this Congress to supply the additional funds needed to fulfill our obligations in Bosnia so that the Pentagon would not have to stand down on crucial training exercises and a variety of other activities needed to maintain our military state of readiness.

I want to say that I think the majority on the committee tried to respond to that request in an absolutely straightforward and nonpartisan fashion. I think that the majority on the committee tried to do its duty, as we did on our side of the aisle in the committee. I have noted before my favorite philosopher is Archie the cockroach, and Archie the cockroach said once that somebody is born so unlucky he runs into accidents that started out to happen to somebody else.

That is what sort of happened to this bill. Because along the way, the leadership of the Republican Party in this House insisted that two unrelated provisions be added to the bill, and then another item was added in the Senate. When that happened, the President made quite clear that it was unacceptable to him to add those unrelated items as well as some others, and asked the Congress not to do that so that the needed emergency relief could immediately be gotten to the people who were most in need of it.

That unfortunately did not happen. Last week before we sent this bill to the President, I stood exactly where I am standing now and I urged the House, as did the gentleman from Louisiana on a previous occasion, to simply pass a stripped-down, clean version of this emergency supplemental so that we could in essence end what amounted, what was tantamount to a second government shutdown for the persons in the regions of the country who were affected by these natural disasters. I indicated that if we did not do that last week, we would most assuredly be here this week doing what we should have done last week.

Unfortunately, it has taken a Presidential veto to bring the Congress to its senses, and now we are finally proceeding the way we ought to proceed.

This proposal will meet the disaster needs of the country. It will meet the needs of the Pentagon, and it will also require a report from the administration on how they intend to proceed in dealing with the next census. I think we have reached a reasonable bipartisan accommodation at long last.

I would simply say that I guess what this episode reminded me of is Franklin Roosevelt's speech on Lend Lease a long time ago when he asked, "If your neighbor's House was on fire, would you not lend him your garden hose?" Well, this time around, lots of our neighbors had lost their houses. They had lost their farms. They were looking for help, but still that help was being held up. It was almost as though people were saying, "Well, we will get you some relief for the fire but first we have to paint the fire engine a different color. We have to get a different crew on the truck."

Finally, at long last, I think that that unfortunate business is behind us, and I want to simply congratulate the President for doing what was right. I want to congratulate the committee leadership for in all cases trying to do what it knew was right. And I want to congratulate those Members of the Republican Party who indicated by their uneasiness through the last week that they wanted a different direction from that that was being provided by their leadership and by the House.

I also want to frankly thank the American public, because I think if the American public had not spoken out the way they did, chances are we would not be here today. I think people saw that, I think the American public recognized that what was happening here was wrong, that it needed to be corrected. I am happy that we can bring a vehicle to the House floor that will provide that correction.

I congratulate the gentleman from Louisiana and his staff for bringing this forward. I hope that we can get on with providing finally the relief that is needed to the sections of the country which have experienced such devastating natural disasters over the past several months.

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise for a colloquy with the gentleman from Louisiana, chairman of the committee.

I would like to discuss my understanding about the intentions of the conferees regarding section 4001 on assistance to Ukraine. Mr. Speaker, the language indicates that the President may waive the minimum funding requirements in subsection (k) of the 1997 Foreign Operations, Export Financing and Related Programs Act for activities of the Government of Ukraine. It is my understanding that this language is intended to apply to all the minimum funding requirements in that subsection, including the overall amount of $225 million for Ukraine. Is that the chairman's understanding as well?

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. OBEY. I yield to the gentleman from Louisiana.

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman has indicated, I agree with his interpretation. The language of section 4001 is intended, indeed, to give the President the authority to waive all the minimum funding requirements in subsection (k) of the 1997 act, including the overall earmark. The phrase "for activities for the Government of Ukraine" is intended to extend to the entire assistance program and, therefore, could apply to the overall $225 million earmarked for the Ukraine.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his clarification. I would strongly urge the State Department to exercise the full authority granted by this section.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from North Dakota [Mr. POMEROY].

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, strolling over from Committee on Agriculture markup, which is what we are in right now, I could not help but notice, unlike just a short while earlier when it was overcast and kind of drizzling a little, the sky had cleared. The sun was shining.

□ 1615

And I thought this is some signal just to what is occurring on the floor of the House and the Senate right now.

We have a disaster bill urgently needed, and I believe within a few minutes there will be a strong bipartisan vote to do what Congress needs to do and get help directly on the way to those so damaged by these floods. The sky is beginning to clear over this Chamber. The light of good legislation at last is beginning to shine again.

It should not have been this hard. It should not have been this rancorous. But what counts is getting the job done, and what will matter so much to the people I represent in the flood-afflicted area in the next month, the month after that, next year, perhaps the year after that, is that this body finally did act, and acted in a way that provided very meaningful assistance at a time when our need was so substantial.

Mr. Speaker, I want to urge all my colleagues to put the past weeks of debate behind us, then stroll to the voting machines and pass a very large, very strong vote in favor of this disaster relief.

The construction of the bill was the mark of a solid bipartisan effort. We have so appreciated the support of the majority and the minority as we built the package. We will enjoy and deeply appreciate the support of the majority and the minority as we pass the package. And I personally want to extend my appreciation to each Member who has helped us along the way.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself 1 minute.

Mr. Speaker, I forgot to do something, at least with clarity, and I would simply like to make sure that Members understand exactly what is in this bill.

This is the same bill as the conference agreement: $8.6 billion in disaster relief and funding for Bosnian reimbursement to the Pentagon, minus three controversial riders.

The rider dealing with rights-of-way on public lands has been eliminated; the rider on the census has been eliminated and, instead, there will be a report required from the administration indicating how they intend to proceed in conducting that census; and, third, the automatic CR rider, which was also extremely contentious.

Other than that, this is identical to the conference report.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. BONIOR], the distinguished minority whip.

Mr. BONIOR. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

Let me begin by saying that this appears to be a victory for many, many people today; certainly those who have suffered because of the floods, particularly in the upper Midwest, the Dakotas and Minnesota. People who have lost their homes and their businesses and their farms and their lives being askew because of the disaster that hit them, we have provided them with hope today. We have provided them with some assistance, or we will be in just a few seconds. So they seem to finally have gotten what they have needed all along, immediate relief for the emergency that they are now suffering.

It is also a victory in many ways for the environment, because the rider on the public lands issue has been taken from this bill. For those who care about our environment and our public lands, they ought to feel good about what has happened today.

It is a victory for those who care about an accurate census, so that the American people will not have to go through a situation in which all Americans will not be counted.

It is also a victory today, I might add, for those who care about education. Because under the automatic CR language that our Republican colleagues were insisting upon, we would have had roughly 375,000 students not receive Pell Grants in this country.

So there are many people who will benefit by the action that will be taken here in just a few minutes. I want to congratulate several people. First of all, let me congratulate the President for staying tough and hanging tough and doing the right thing by insisting we just do emergency supplementals for those who need it.

Let me also suggest that those Representatives and Members of the other body from the Dakotas and Minnesota, our Minnesota colleagues, the gentlemen from North Dakota, Mr. POMEROY, Mr. DORGAN, Mr. CONRAD, and the gentleman from Minnesota, Mr. WELLSTONE, and others who really fought this battle and made a case so strong for their people, we congratulate them.

I also want to thank my colleagues on this side of the aisle, the chairman of the committee, and those 20 Republicans who stood up and said, listen, this is a kind of lunacy; let us put these riders aside and let us get on with taking care of the needs of these people who are suffering so much and our troops who are stationed overseas in Bosnia who need our support. They stepped up in a very difficult situation, and I congratulate them.

Let me also say to my friend from Wisconsin, who has led this battle on the floor now for 3 weeks, we thank him for his diligence and for his fight on this, because he has raised this issue in a way that I think recognizes the legitimate concerns of our colleagues on both sides of the aisle and the need to move forward in a way that will preserve our ability to act in a legitimate way on other issues down the road.

So, in conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his time, and I commend the House for moving forward this bill in short order, so we can get it to the President's desk for his signature and our troops in Bosnia and our flood victims can have the relief and the support that they need.

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Kansas [Mr. TIAHRT], a distinguished member of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to talk a little bit about what the gentleman from Wisconsin said about why this bill was vetoed in the first place. He mentioned the census sampling that we had in there. What we were trying to do was basically say that we do not want sampling when it comes to the census.

We have a constitutional requirement that says actual enumeration. It means you cannot use sampling. We were trying to follow the Constitution. I know that is sometimes frustrating, but we ought to do it here in America.

The other one was the continuing resolution that said basically that while we are trying to negotiate our differences between the Congress and the President, that we will not shut the government down, we will just continue the government at fiscal year 1997 levels.

The President decided that was a key factor in why he should veto this legislation. It was not because we are going to spend $3.4 billion to pay disaster assistance. We went above and beyond the President's request for disaster assistance. We reached out to the people who were in need and said we will help them relocate. No, instead, he wanted the ability to shut the government down and so he vetoed the legislation.

It was not because we added in $76 million for the women, infants and children's program, it was not that reason he vetoed it. He vetoed it because he wanted the ability to shut the government down.

On January 3, 1996, President Clinton said, "It is deeply wrong to shut the government down while we negotiate. I will continue to do everything I can in good faith in order to reach an agreement, but it is wrong to shut the government down." January 3, 1996.

And yet he vetoed this legislation, denying relief to people in need because he wanted the ability to shut the government down. He wanted to shut the government down, contradictory to what he said on January 3.

So I think we should be very up-front and honest about the reason why the President vetoed this legislation. He vetoed it because he wants the ability to shut the government down. Of course, he conveniently can blame us, and the media seems to carry on that message, but the bottom line was that it was not the disaster relief, it was not the aid to Bosnia, it was not the other things we were doing, it was because he wanted to shut the government down.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 1½ minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to respond to the previous remarks. I think the record is quite clear, and I really did not want to have to get into past history and all of that, but as long as the gentleman has dredged it up, it requires a response.

The fact is that before the government was shut down 2 years ago, on 14 separate occasions the leadership of the majority party was quoted as saying it intended to shut the government down if that was necessary in order to require the President to bend to their will on major matters affecting the future of this country. The public understands that.

With all due respect to the gentleman, he has taken a bath on that issue, and I think the public understands what happened, and I do not see any reason to get into that any more. What we are trying to talk about is tomorrow, not yesterday.

But I simply wanted to make that point because the rhetoric that is being used today is the same rhetoric that was being used against the President 2 years ago. It is not going to be believed by the American public today any more than it was 2 years ago. And I think the sooner we get away from that and get on with the business of government, the better off we will be.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Minnesota, [Mr. MINGE].

Mr. MINGE. Mr. Speaker, I represent an area that was affected by the shutdown of the flood relief program due to the delays in this institution. I think it is tragic that it happened.

I know the folks at home think that we have rocks for brains out here. They cannot figure out what is wrong in Washington, DC. They were hit by a disaster when it flooded; they were hit by another disaster when the process out here was stymied.

I am very pleased that this has finally been resolved. I am very pleased that in the upper Midwest we have stood together on this. I know that my colleague from South Dakota will be speaking, if he has not already this afternoon, and I am very pleased at the bipartisanship that was shown in that State and in other States to try to move this ahead. And I am pleased that the bipartisanship that was developed in the upper Midwest is contagious and it has finally come out to Washington.

One thing I hope is that we have learned our lesson from this effort. It has been sobering. It has not been something that has just been blamed on the Democrats. All of us have taken our share of the blame, and I do not think we can stand it nor can our institutions anymore. We need to prove to this country that we can make government work.

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from South Dakota [Mr. THUNE] who has been an outstanding spokesman for the flood-ravaged people of his district.

Mr. THUNE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished gentleman from Louisiana, the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, for yielding me this time; and I, too, want to thank all of them for all the work they have done, his very able staff and the Members, for bringing us to this point today.

Over the past 5 weeks I have seen the good, the bad and the ugly; for the past 5 weeks, the bad and the ugly of how things can work here. But today we are seeing the good, as people come together to try to do what, granted, we should have done a long time ago.

But I think it is very important for us, because we have made a commitment and it is important that we honor that commitment. I believe that the integrity of this institution, the credibility of the House and the Senate and the White House is about commitments made and commitments honored.

We have made a commitment to the American people for those who have suffered from disasters, and today we are finally delivering on that, and I am very happy to be a part of this day in bringing this process to a conclusion.

Mr. Speaker, I think that it does strike very much at the heart of our ability to govern, and I think it is very important that we have finally achieved an outcome which the people I know in my State of South Dakota are very desperately anxious to see. I would hope that all of us can continue to work in a way that would foster that sort of cooperation on other issues.

I want to thank as well the leadership who have worked, I think on both sides, as was mentioned earlier, I worked very closely with my colleagues from North Dakota, from Minnesota, in trying to come up with something. And I want to thank the leadership, the Speaker, the distinguished majority leader on our side as well, for making trips out to look at that area and to help us craft a solution, which I think probably provides as much flexibility as any disaster relief package that has ever been contemplated around here, and in working with us in a way that we can address the needs of the people who have been afflicted in a way that maximizes local control.

I think that is something that is very much consistent with my philosophy and with our philosophy, and I would hope that it would be a model for things that we can do in the future. But for the mayors of my State, for our Governor, and for the many people who have rolled up their sleeves day in and day out for these past many weeks and have been working together to try and rebuild their communities, this is a very welcome day, it is welcome news, and we are very grateful that this institution and the Senate has acted, as well they should have, and delivered the long needed and much needed disaster relief to the Dakotas, to Minnesota, and to the other States that are afflicted by this.

I just want to thank the leadership and my many colleagues for bringing us to this point and for finally accomplishing this goal.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. PRICE].

Mr. PRICE of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I am glad we are finally going to send to the President a bill that he can sign. The hurricane season, after all, opened 12 days ago.

In my home State of North Carolina, debris-filled streams hold the possibility of further disaster. Officials estimate it will take the rest of the year to clean out the upper reaches of streams in the eastern part of North Carolina. This work is necessary to ensure that the flooding that occurred last year does not happen again. This is work that could have already begun had the Congress passed a clean bill last month.

Right now, the Disaster Prevention Agency of North Carolina is praying that another hurricane like Fran does not hit our State. Even slightly above average rainfall in the State could be devastating to those areas hit in September by Fran. If a hurricane were to make landfall, the flooding that would occur the devastation that would hit families that have been forced to move back into the flood plain could make Fran seem like a spring storm.

Next week, the State of North Carolina will be putting in applications for hazardous mitigation grants to help nearly 1,000 families start over. To be most effective, these funds need to be combined with the community development block grant funds in this bill. Without community development funds, many of those families might not be able to participate.

Mr. Speaker, let us finish this bill, send it to the President, and finally send aid to those across this country who desperately need it.

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3½ minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Maryland [Mr. HOYER].

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. OBEY] for yielding me the time.

I will obviously support this legislation in its present form. It is unfortunate that we did not do this some 60 to 70 days ago. I rise to congratulate the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. OBEY], to congratulate the President of the United States, who, once again, stood on principle and said that we need to act, but I am not going to act at the point of a gun, I am not going to condone that with which I do not agree.

There was unanimity 84 days ago, the day after the President asked for this relief, that we ought to ask, ought to move, but those victims of rain and flood should have help. I want to congratulate the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. LIVINGSTON], the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations and my good friend, and I want to congratulate as well my good friend, the gentleman from Florida [Mr. YOUNG], the chairman of the Subcommittee on Defense Appropriation, and of course my good friend, the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. CALLAHAN], is to be congratulated just on general principles.

But the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. LIVINGSTON] and the gentleman from Florida [Mr. YOUNG] said that we ought to pass a CR, or supplemental appropriation, which said that we ought to help the flood victims and we ought to take care of our troops. Everybody agreed on that, but the lesson of November 1995 and December 1995 and, I say to my friend, the gentleman from Kansas [Mr. TIAHRT], January of 1996 has not yet been learned. I say to my friend from Kansas, he can say as many times as he wants that the President wanted to shut down the Government. Nobody will believe him because that is inaccurate and wrong.

I say to my friend that he and the overwhelming majority of his colleagues in November and December and January of 1995 and 1996 repeatedly voted against clean CR's, which would have opened the Government, made services available to the American public; repeatedly I say to my friend, he voted against those clean resolutions.

Why? So that he could include and his colleagues could include items that they clearly knew were unacceptable to the President of the United States and they do not like the democratic process that was set up by our Founding Fathers that said, send something to the President; he vetoes it; and if two-thirds of the Congress disagree, you can pass it into law.

The reason I rise is not only because the gentleman from Kansas [Mr. TIAHRT] I think is not accurately portraying what is the President's view, who wants to keep Government open, and as the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. OBEY] said, the opposite of your leadership said they were going to close down Government, but to say let us learn the lesson, let us learn the lesson that we ought to allow the democratic legislative process to operate as our Founding Fathers planned it to be.

Do not once again try to muscle the President of the United States by putting something clearly unacceptable on an item that we all agree on, that ought to pass, that is good policy, that America wants to see us move. If my colleagues have an item, such as sampling, we disagree on, I disagree with my good friend from Mississippi on this issue, but if we have an item, then put the bill on the floor and send it forward. It will be vetoed, I understand that, have it brought back here, and if in the democratic process we override that veto, then they will prevail. But otherwise they should not prevail because the framework did not allow for it. But do not hold hostage either the Government or Government workers or ravaged victims of flood.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California [Mr. FAZIO].

Mr. FAZIO of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise with great relief and applaud the willingness of all the parties to reach closure here today so we can send this legislation on to its signature and begin to help repair the damage, both real and psychic, that people all over this country have absorbed in the last 6 months.

We have, I think, in this success an example we need to look to. We have two gentlemen who run the Committee on Appropriations. They are both volatile and yet lovable. The two of them can throw temper tantrums that make us all remember Sil Conte, but they get the job done because they can still work together when it is in the interest of the American people. Had they been allowed to work this issue successfully, they would have accomplished the task long ago.

I am afraid we have had a very difficult lesson. I know the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. LIVINGSTON], the chairman of this committee, showed us the way we would have had a down payment on this bill weeks ago rather than having gone for a break had we listened to him. But we failed it.

Perhaps as we move into the appropriations process in earnest for the next fiscal year, the Members on both sides of the aisle will take the opportunity to allow their leadership to prevail so that we can get through this process in a way that will make the American people proud of us and that we can deal with the fundamental needs they have, even while we apportion the various political philosophies and come up with the best compromise we can.

I just want you to know the people of northern California, who suffered in the floods of January, are now assured that we can put the system back in place and protect them and their property and their lives next winter, unlike last winter. And for that, I appreciate the efforts that have brought us to this point, including the willingness to compromise and lose face at the last in order to move the public interest forward.

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. GUTKNECHT], another flood ravaged State.

Mr. GUTKNECHT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Several weeks ago, myself and the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. RAMSTAD] and the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. PETERSON] and the gentleman from North Dakota [Mr. POMEROY] went to the Red River Valley. It was quite an experience. We got a chance to look into the eyes of those people.

And I know this is true all over the United States, but it is especially true in the upper Midwest that if a farmer is hurt, for example, the next day there will be six tractors there to help them do whatever needs to be done. I think that is the spirit of America. We went there and we saw what was happening. And actually, as a result of that visit, there are special provisions in this disaster relief bill that, as far as I know, have never been done; and I think that is good.

But in many respects, I was thinking about this earlier today, and this has been perhaps the most frustrating 2 or 3 weeks that I have had since I have been in this Congress. In the Tale of Two Cities, they talk about the best of times and the worst of times, and in many respects, this bill and the way it was put together represents the best and worst of this city.

Because I think we all want to help our neighbor, but it is so frustrating when you take three ideas, which I think enjoy overwhelming support, the idea of helping our neighbors when they need the help, I think everyone agrees with that. And I think the notion of having something to make certain that the Government does not shut down, I think that has overwhelming support. And the notion that a census ought to be conducted by real counts rather than guesstimates, again, I think that is a good idea that has overwhelming support.

Only in Washington can we take three good ideas that have overwhelming support, put them together, and have gridlock for 3 weeks. So it is the best of times. It is the worst of times. But I am delighted on behalf of the people of Red River Valley, Minnesota, and the Dakotas that this fight is now over and the relief will be on its way.

So I thank the Speaker, thank the chairman, and thank the President. Let us get on with the business of the House.

Mr. OBEY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. LIVINGSTON] have any remaining speakers?

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I have no additional speakers.

Mr. OBEY. I yield myself 30 seconds, Mr. Speaker, to simply urge an "aye" vote on this proposition. I do not intend to offer a motion to recommit. I think the sooner we get this bill on to the Senate and on to the President, the better off everyone will be.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I will not be long. We need to conclude this. This bill has indeed had a tough time. It has been a very interesting 6 or 7 weeks since this bill was first passed. One of the speakers, the gentleman from North Dakota, reminded me of a song that I heard back in my old college days that began with the line: "The stars are out. The Moon is shining on our jolly crowd."

I can say now that this doggone bill is over, I feel that the stars are out, the Moon is shining, and that maybe we can leave here and be a little bit more jolly than we have been around here in the last couple of weeks. We are all happy we are passing this bill.

The President sold a lot of newspapers. TV and radio had lots to talk about. And, in fact, the flood victims were never adversely affected by what went on over these last several weeks. We had real issues, as the gentleman from Minnesota pointed out. We had differences. And as the old saying goes, it was a sloppy process, it was an ugly process. Nobody should ever see how laws and sausage are made.

It was unfortunate that it had to be as sloppy and as ugly as it was, but now it is over. We had a staffer on the Committee on Appropriations, who retired last year, Fred Mohrman. He used to always say, once it is over, it is a perfect day, it is a perfect bill.

Mr. President, we give you a perfect bill. It is over. We are providing you with disaster relief for the flood ravaged territories of this country, some $5-½ billion in disaster relief. We are providing you with the money that you have already spend in Bosnia and Haiti, and all around the world with other military ventures, almost a billion dollars. We are providing you with benefits for the VA for pensions and compensation benefits for veterans, almost a billion dollars, Federal emergency management disaster relief, community development block grants, watershed flood prevention, national park repairs, Supplemental Security Income benefits for legal aliens, and again repayment, replenishment for the troops in the field. All of that is in this bill, along with some language that is acceptable between the White House and the Congress on the census.

□ 1645

Mr. Speaker, all of the money in this bill is paid for with previous appropriations. This is a perfect bill. It should be signed into law. Let us get this behind us so we can get into fiscal year 1998 activities and deal with the very serious issues that are involved in the appropriations for that fiscal year cycle, and let the stars be out and the moon shine on our jolly crowd.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I would like to rise and speak in support of H.R. 1871, the emergency supplemental appropriations.

This legislation will provide much needed assistance to the victims of the floods, and support our Nation's peacekeeping efforts in the former Yugoslavia.

Those provisions which were included in the first submission of this legislation to the President for his signature have been removed. The subjects that were included; an automatic budget resolution, federally funded roads into national forest areas, and restriction of sampling in any future Census.

These areas are serious and each should be considered under the well established congressional legislative democratic process, through hearings, markup, and floor debate. Their exclusion from this Emergency Supplemental Appropriations therefore was the right course for the House leadership to take. Now, we can begin the process of seeking the best policy to further the interest of all Americans in each of these areas.

I believe that every Member of this body will agree that the suffering of others as a result of any cause is difficult to see. The pain of people who are the victims of natural disaster is particularly painful. There is nothing this body could do to legislate the next natural disaster out of existence, but we can agree that we will never again let issues that are unrelated enter into the legislative relief effort.

The least that Members of this body can offer the next victims of natural disaster in our country, is the promise that their best interest will be our only consideration when rendering them aid and assistance through funding legislation.

I would ask that my colleagues join me in support of H.R. 1871, the Emergency Supplemental Appropriations.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, Send It Clean. This is not a complicated message: Send It Clean, Mr. Speaker. It's been 85 days since the President asked the Congress for a disaster relief bill, and for 85 days the Republican leadership has played politics with the lives of suffering Americans. These people have asked for only one thing: Relief. What has the GOP responded with? More pain and suffering.

This is not a complicated message: Send It Clean, Mr. Speaker. This is what the President has been saying; This is what the American people have been saying; This is what House Democrats have been saying; This is what Republicans have been ignoring for 85 days.

Disaster Relief was never the place for the Republican agenda to be advanced. Extraneous bills should be argued on their own merits, and be allowed to stand or fall on those merits.

The folks trying to rebuild their lives in California, North Dakota, Minnesota, Arkansas, and Louisiana are waiting for word that the Democrats are not the only ones listening.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. LAHOOD). All time for debate has expired.

Pursuant to the order of the House of today, the bill is considered read for amendment, and the previous question is ordered.

The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the passage of the bill.

Pursuant to clause 7 of rule XV the yeas and nays are ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were— yeas 348, nays 74, answered "present" 1, not voting 11, as follows:

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

(Mr. BONIOR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BONIOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise for the purposes of inquiring what the schedule will be for tomorrow and the remainder of the week and for next week. Mr. Speaker, I am primarily interested in the time issue as much as I am in substance, and I think it would
