

have been striving for. The Congressional Budget Office has revealed that this plan would leave an unsettled deficit of at least $69 billion by the year 2002. Additionally, his Medicare proposal does not keep the Medicare plan in balance for 10 years as he has proposed.

Furthermore, his savings in Medicare essentially amount to a shell game, moving expenses from part A to part B, out of the Medicare plan into the general revenue which comes out of general withholding of all taxpayers.

Mr. Speaker, it is imperative that the President send us an honest balanced budget, additionally that he send us a plan that will truly achieve solvency for the Medicare plan so that our seniors will be able to have the health care that they need.

HANDGUNS AND KIDS

(Mr. BLAGOJEVICH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BLAGOJEVICH. Mr. Speaker, in Chicago on Monday, a man named Stephen Young told me that his oldest son had been killed by an 18-year-old with a handgun.

His son, Andrew, had earned the national ranking in speed skating and planned to attend a Chicago area tech school this fall. But the 18-year-old with the handgun put a stop to that outside a neighborhood fruit market. Andrew's father said, I was really looking forward to knowing him as a man. But the 18-year-old with the handgun put a stop to that as well.

Mr. Speaker, 18-year-old males have the highest arrest rates for weapons offenses, but Federal law still allows them to possess handguns. It is time we in Congress put a stop to that. In the memory of Andrew Young and the countless others who have fallen victim to gun violence, I am proud to introduce a bill that would make it illegal for anyone under 21 to possess a handgun.

I urge my colleagues to join me in stopping the lethal mix of kids and guns.

IMPROVE THE GUARANTEED LOAN PROGRAM

(Mr. FORBES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FORBES. Mr. Speaker, I thank you for this opportunity, and I rise today to introduce legislation together with the gentlewoman from New York [Mrs. MCCARTHY] that would strengthen and improve the defense loan and technical assistance program, the so-called delta guaranteed loan program for small businesses.

As a former SBA Administrator, I saw firsthand the important relationship between defense industries and small businesses. Unfortunately in the last decade with the downsizing of defense, we have seen areas of the country like my own Long Island, NY, region lose over 100,000 jobs as the defense industry cuts back.

This important delta program is needed to ease the transition between the defense-based business and moving them into other commercial applications. My legislation would provide for an extension of this important program for small businesses. It would expand the opportunities for small businesses to participate by allowing them to go back up to 7 years if they have done about 25 percent of their business in the defense industry. In addition, it would raise the guaranteed loan amount up to 90 percent so more banks could help small businesses. It is important legislation and I urge its consideration.

KIDS-ONLY HEALTH INSURANCE

(Mr. ALLEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, yesterday the House overwhelmingly passed a resolution regarding the Ten Commandments on the grounds that religious doctrine is the cornerstone of a just and fair society. Yet there are 61 countries around the world that ensure or provide health care for all of their workers and dependents. The United States is not one of them.

In this country our children are falling behind on many crucial health indicators. Ten million American children have no health insurance. Millions more do not have meaningful access to health care providers. Their parents have to rely on emergency services to care for their children.

This is unconscionable. Ninety percent of uninsured children have parents that work but they have no coverage for their children through their employers. We must take action to require insurance companies to provide kids-only health insurance and to provide a tax credit to help parents pay the premiums. A fair and just society provides for the health and welfare of its children, our future.

THE WORKING FAMILIES FLEXIBILITY ACT

(Ms. GRANGER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. GRANGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 1, the Working Families Flexibility Act. Everett Dirksen once said nothing in the world can stop an idea whose time has come. Mr. Speaker, comp time is clearly such an idea.

This is a simple and straightforward piece of legislation that allows employees and employers the option of choosing time off instead of overtime pay. In no way does this bill threaten the Fair Labor Standards Act, and in no way does this bill temper the rights of employees.

This is simply a bill which provides an option to help America's workers become full-time parents as well as full-time employees. Why do so many working men and women across America support comp time? They support comp time because it affords them choice.

For the mother of three working 40 hours a week, comp time means the choice to take time off and see her daughter's school play. For the father who is raising kids by himself, comp time means the choice to coach his son's little league team. And for the children of the 90's, comp time means a chance to spend more time with the two most important figures in their lives, their moms and dads.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 1 as a means to an end. The means will be more choice for parents on how to manage their time, but more importantly, the end will be thousands of healthier, happier families. When this bill comes to the floor, I urge my colleagues to support it.

FIGHT FOR THE HEALTH OF OUR CHILDREN

(Ms. DELAURO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, 30 years ago this country made a pact with our senior citizens. We promised our Nation's elderly that the Medicare Program would be there for them when they needed it most. Today the Medicare Program is one of our Nation's great success stories. Ninety-nine percent of our seniors have health care coverage in the United States today.

Last year Democrats stood up for our Nation's seniors and successfully fought to protect and preserve the Medicare Program. But surely our children are every bit as sacred as our senior citizens, and yet every day in this country another 3,300 kids lose their health insurance. This is a national crisis.

It is time for the Congress to focus on this problem because it is not going away. In fact, it is only getting worse. We need to stand up and fight for the health of our children just as we stood up and fought for the health of our seniors. We must act today and move the expansion of children's health care to the top of our legislative agenda.

SEND CONGRESS A BALANCED BUDGET

(Mr. BOB SCHAFFER of Colorado asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BOB SCHAFFER of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, you can't be a beacon if your light don't shine. You can't have your cake and eat it too. You can't teach an old dog new tricks. What we have here is a failure to communicate. Show me the money. When the Lord closes a door, somewhere he opens a window. All I ever learned, I learned in kindergarten. There he goes again. Where's the beef? Just say no. Life is like a box of chocolates. Spare the rod, spoil the child. Over 69 billion served. Elvis lives. To be or not to be.

Mr. Speaker, by now you are probably wondering what all these annoying clichés and catch phrases have in common. It is simple. They all pertain to the Clinton fiscal year 1998 budget.

Mr. Speaker, the President should send Congress a real balanced budget. Waste not, want not.

CONGRESS SHOULD GET DOWN TO BUSINESS

(Ms. ESHOO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. ESHOO. Mr. Speaker, according to the Congressional Management Foundation, it costs our Nation's taxpayers approximately $280,000 to fly House Members to Washington each week when the Congress is in session. In the past, there has been a busy floor schedule and Members have been working in order to earn their keep.

Today is Thursday, March 6, and it may be the 105th Congress but so far, I think, it is the pretend Congress: Pretend we are meeting, pretend we are legislating, pretend we are busy, pretend we are working. This is not a source of pride to me, nor can it be to so many of my colleagues. All the American people want is to have their country work, and it cannot work if we do not work.

We passed the armored car reciprocity amendments, we sent best wishes to the people of Nicaragua, and we even mustered a handful of Members to come to the floor to listen to the President of Chile, but nothing is being done about campaign finance reform, health care for our Nation's children, and so many other things.

Mr. Speaker, let us stop wasting the taxpayers' dollars. Let us get down to business. Let us go to work for our great Nation.

AMERICA DESERVES AN HONEST BALANCED BUDGET

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, the balanced budget amendment was defeated in the Senate by one vote. Again, the will of the American people is being thwarted because folks here promise one thing at home, then come to Washington and do something else.

It is ironic indeed that the Clinton White House worked so hard to defeat the balanced budget amendment, when the budget they submitted to Congress is the best argument for a balanced budget amendment. Bill Clinton's budget is big government, more taxes, more programs, and status quo Washington, DC.

Clinton's budget contains temporary tax cuts but has permanent tax increases. The CBO has reported that in the year 2002, after Mr. Clinton is gone, the Government would run a $70 billion deficit.

Mr. Speaker, Bill Clinton's new budget is unbalanced and avoids the tough choices. America deserves an honest balanced budget, one without gimmicks or temporary tax cuts.

UNFUNDED SOCIAL SECURITY LIABILITY

(Mr. SMITH of Michigan asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, just an update of what is happening. Alan Greenspan, the chairman of the Federal Reserve, came in day before yesterday. As we know, June O'Neill of CBO is coming in today. They are both saying there is a difference in the rosy scenario or a more conservative expectation of what is going to come in revenues. Let us take the hard course. Let us take the more conservative estimate. Let us start cutting spending.

I know it is a tough job. We talk about all these expenditures. Let me give my colleagues one example: Social Security. We are accumulating an additional $380 billion a year increased actuarial debts or unfunded liability in Social Security. The longer we put off those decisions, the more drastic those solutions are going to have to be in the future.

I figured it by minute because it is big dollars if you figure the $370 billion we are spending a year. Every minute on Social Security we are spending $700,000. By 2030 every minute we are going to be spending $5,700,000. Let us get at it and solve these problems.

BALANCE THE BUDGET FOR OUR CHILDREN

(Mr. KINGSTON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, as a father of four kids, I have Betsy who is 13, John who is 11, and I have Ann who is 8 and Jim who is 6, I am very, very concerned about their future.

We are working real hard with them on their homework, teaching them math and English and all the good stuff children all over America are doing, but one thing that is very scary to me as I put them to bed every night is that I know looming out there in the future is this dark cloud of the national debt: $5.1 trillion already.

Now we have a President who says he will support a balanced budget amendment, and then he submits a budget that is not even balanced. The Clinton budget in the year 2002 has a $69 billion deficit, and all the savings there are are on the back end, far after he has left the White House.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the President to please come forward, think about not just my kids, think about all the children in America. Let us really do something for the youth of America and balance the budget and quit spending their money.

HONORING MANUAL HIGH SCHOOL'S BASKETBALL TEAM

(Mr. LAHOOD asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAHOOD. Mr. Speaker, I thought I would deliver my 1 minute on this side of the aisle today, given the fact that we are beginning, this weekend, the first historic bipartisan retreat, where over 220 Members from both sides of the aisle will depart to Hershey, PA, with 165 spouses and 100 children to begin to work together and, hopefully, develop a rapport so that we can carry out the people's business in a more civil way.

Today, I rise, though, to pay tribute to a high school basketball team in my hometown of Peoria, the Manual Rams, who are currently ranked No. 1 in the country by USA Today. The Manual Rams have been ranked No. 1 for the past 5 weeks. The team is led by head coach Wayne McClain and has three all-State players: Marcus Griffin, Sergio McClain, and Frankie Williams.

Manual is the three-time defending Illinois State champion and they are currently on track to win an unprecedented fourth consecutive championship this month as we begin March Madness in Illinois, which will take place in my hometown of Peoria. The team's current record is 24-1.

The City of Peoria and all of Central Illinois is proud to have the Manual Rams as a representative in USA Today High School Rankings. Congratulations to Coach McClain and the Manual Rams. We are very proud of their teamwork, dedication, and sportsmanship.

WEST VIRGINIA HARD HIT BY FLOOD WATERS

(Mr. WISE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WISE. Mr. Speaker, let me report that as the flood waters are receding, mercifully, in West Virginia, we have many areas that have been hard hit: Sistersville, Clendenin, the counties Calhoun and Wirt, Mason, Braxton, Gilmer, Roane and Putnam all have suffered unprecedented flood damage.

Of course, Governor Underwood, the volunteers, the emergency services, the
