THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT INTERSTATE WASTE CONTROL ACT

● Mr. ROBB. Mr. President, today, I introduce legislation which will protect communities from being inundated with unwanted garbage generated out-of-State. The essential thrust of the legislation is to empower localities to protect themselves from unwanted trash by allowing them to decide whether landfills or incinerators located within their communities should be permitted to accept out-of-State waste. It also seeks to strike the appropriate balance between State and local authority.

Those of us who formerly served in State government are keenly aware of the divisions of labor among the various levels of government. Due to Supreme Court decisions regarding the U.S. Constitution's commerce clause, disposing of trash implicates all three levels of government.

Under the commerce clause, only Congress is permitted to regulate interstate commerce. Because the Supreme Court has determined that garbage is commerce like any other commodity, States and localities have been powerless to halt the disposal of waste disposed in their jurisdictions which was generated outside the State. Thus the Federal Government must determine how best to regulate this article of commerce.

The role of the States in regulating the disposal of garbage centers on its responsibility to protect the State's environment. Based on environmental criteria, the States determine whether to issue permits for the construction of landfills, and are charged with monitoring the operation of landfills and incinerators to guarantee compliance with environmental laws. My bill will not affect in any way the State's right to enforce the States environmental standards.

The real responsibility for disposing of trash, however, has rested historically with local governments. It is their responsibility to pick up the trash and to find a place to put it down. Because this is the locality's ultimate responsibility, and because the local community is the one most directly affected by garbage imports, my bill delegates primary authority regarding interstate waste to the local governments.

The legislation defines an affected local government as the political subdivision of the State charged with making land use decisions. In my view, if an elected body is competent to make decisions regarding the use of land in the community, then it is certainly competent to determine whether a landfill, already permitted under State law, should be allowed to accept out-of-State waste.

Striking the right balance between State and local authority was only half the battle. The other major issue implicated by placing restrictions on out-of-State waste is how to treat existing facilities. In many cases, existing facilities which accept out-of-State waste do so in the face of local opposition. These communities understandably want us to stop the garbage from flowing. It would not be fair, however, to those who expended millions of dollars to build new landfills in compliance with strict federal regulations to cut off their commerce completely. Therefore, my measure balances these interests by allowing the Governor of each State to limit the amount of out-of-State waste which can be disposed of in an existing facility.

To finance new waste disposal facilities that meet stringent State and Federal environmental regulations, some local governments are cooperating with private developers to build these state-of-the-art facilities. This cooperative relationship, however, can only flourish if the locality has some leverage over the developer. Under present law, a local government is powerless to deny a zoning permit to a landfill developer simply because waste from out-of-State will be disposed in the landfill. If the local government is given the power to reject out-of-State waste, it also will have the power to accept the waste, with conditions. By allowing communities to have leverage at the bargaining table, they can enter into host community agreements which are beneficial to the locality and its neighbors.

In many instances, this can be a winning proposition for the local community. The new landfill can be built at no cost to the community, and the community can charge a host community fee which can be used to reduce taxes or pay for other projects, such as building schools.

While inviting a landfill developer into a community may not be the solution for every local government, it should remain an option for those who choose to pursue it. And under my legislation, the local government would not have to make such a decision alone. The legislation requires the local government to consult with the Governor and adjoining local governments before a decision is made.

More importantly, however, my legislation absolutely bans out-of-State waste from new facilities unless a community affirmatively agrees to the imports. This is important to many communities in my State, mostly rural, that can fall prey under existing law to unscrupulous landfill developers who, in their search for land, can run roughshod over the wishes of the locality. I hope my colleagues will join with me in supporting this legislation and protecting our communities from unwanted out-of-State trash. ●

By Mr. KYL (for himself, Mr. WYDEN, Mr. KENNEDY, and Mr. HUTCHINSON):

S. 449. A bill to prohibit the restriction of certain types of medical communications between a health care provider and a patient; to the Committee on Labor and Human Resources.

THE PATIENT RIGHT TO KNOW ACT

Mr. KYL. Mr. President, I rise to join my colleague, Senator RON WYDEN, to introduce the Patient Right to Know Act. I also want to commend my House colleagues, Representatives GREG GANSKE and ED MARKEY, for their leadership on this issue.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Kyl-Wyden Patient Right to Know Act, originally offered as an amendment on September 10, 1996 to the fiscal year 1997 Treasury, Postal appropriations bill, received 51 bipartisan votes; but 60 votes were required to overcome a procedural obstacle on the Senate floor.

THE PROBLEM

Mr. President, the purpose of this legislation is to return to patients their basic right to receive all relevant information from their doctor, or provider, about costs, benefits, risks, and legal, and appropriate treatment options that are important to their health. This bill would allow doctors and other providers to comply with their ethical and legal responsibility to fully inform patients of all their reasonable and legal options, regardless of cost or coverage limitations in a particular plan.

Some managed care plans forbid doctors and other providers from even mentioning all legal and reasonable treatment options to patients, either because the managed care plan's benefits will not pay for a particular treatment, or because of the relative cost of different treatments for the same condition offered by the plan.

In recent years, there have been media accounts of a few of the countless individuals who have been denied care by physicians and plans in an effort to control costs. In April 1994, ABC's "20-20" reported on the case of a woman who was denied information about a bone-marrow transplant to treat her breast cancer. In October 1995, CBS presented a story about a woman who was denied information about and access to specialists, and who was later diagnosed with cancer.

The national press has revealed the extent of this problem in publications such as the New England Journal of Medicine and the New York Times. For instance, the Times ran an article in September 22, 1996, entitled, the "Tricky Business of Keeping Doctors Quiet."

Americans have clearly noticed the deficiencies in some managed care plans. In a 1996 poll by the Patient Access to Speciality Care Coalition, 92.7 percent responded that it was very important that they be told of all treatment options, and 53 percent believe that they do not now receive enough information about how HMO's or managed care plans make treatment decisions.

ATTEMPTS AT A SOLUTION

Sixteen State legislatures have addressed the existence of gag rules, and several more are in the process of doing so.

The industry itself has acknowledged this problem, possibly realizing that gag rules make good managed care companies look bad. On December 18, 1996, the American Association of Health Plans, which represents over 1,000 providers and 140 million Americans, announced voluntary guidelines that would end the use of gag clauses by member plans.

Limited antigag regulations have been promulgated by the Health Care Financing Administration that apply to Medicare and Medicaid managed care insurance contracts.

However, this still leaves us without a systematic approach to the problem. I believe we need a single, clear Federal standard, enforced by the States, that provides consistent protection of medical communications, for all health plan beneficiaries, no matter which State they live in, or which health plan they buy. This is the only certain way to stop individuals or entities whose goal is to reduce costs—at the expense of health care quality—by restricting medical communications between providers and patients.

THE CONGRESS MAY AND MUST ACT

It is clear that the Congress may act in this area since the offering and operation of health plans affects commerce among the States.

It is also clear that the Congress must act. With the emphasis that health care reform places on managed care, it is essential that the Congress ensure that managed care techniques and procedures protect patients and guarantee the integrity of the provider-patient relationship.

Mr. President, gag clauses in health care provider contracts attack the heart of the provider-patient relationship, and undermine the fundamental factor in the healing process: trust. The Congress has a substantial interest in preserving this relationship in the managed care environment it helped to create.

This legislation is measured in its approach. It provides for State enforcement of a clear, reasonable Federal standard. And, before a floor vote, the legislation will include a conscience clause exception for providers and entities. After months of good-faith, bipartisan discussion, the precise legislative language to establish a conscience clause exception to the gag rule has not yet been crafted.

However, all parties agree in principle that the rights and prerogatives of health plans and individual providers who, for religious or moral reasons, choose not to discuss certain treatments, must be protected. The question is, how best to accomplish this.

I am committed to continuing to work with all interested parties to achieve the greatest consensus possible on this critical issue. I will continue to work to see that all interested parties have been heard on this issue and the greatest amount of consensus possible has been reached.

S. 452. A bill to amend titles XVIII and XIX of the Social Security Act to permit a waiver of the prohibition of offering nurse aide training and competency evaluation programs in certain nursing facilities; to the Committee on Finance.

THE NURSE AIDE TRAINING ACT OF 1997

● Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, today, I am introducing legislation that will preserve quality care in rural nursing homes by ensuring that they can continue to conduct nurse aide training programs in their facilities.

This bill enjoys bipartisan support, and I am joined in introducing this bill by Senators GRASSLEY, ROCKEFELLER, BAUCUS, ROBERTS, HARKIN, FAIRCLOTH, HUTCHINSON, INOUE, and CONRAD. The bill, which also has the support of the Clinton administration, will prevent the termination of nurse aide training programs where the reason for the termination is unrelated to the quality of the program and where no training alternative exists within a reasonable distance.

I have long believed that the Federal Government has an important role to play in ensuring against the kinds of abuses that sometimes occurred prior to enactment of Federal nursing home standards. I do not believe that those abuses were the norm in nursing homes. Nursing homes in my State of North Dakota have a strong record of providing quality care, and I believe that this was the case in most nursing homes.

But it is clear that some nursing homes did not meet that high standard, and many States were slow to respond. To address that critical problem, I supported and continue to support minimum Federal quality standards. Our first priority in nursing home legislation must be the quality of care provided to residents, and we should not pass any laws that would compromise that goal.

However, I believe that some of our efforts to regulate nursing homes have not resulted in greater quality of care for residents. In some cases, by imposing unnecessary burdens and severe penalties that are not focused on quality, some laws and regulations can actually hinder the delivery of quality care. The legislation I am offering today will address one such instance.

In rural areas all over the country, nursing facilities offer potential caretakers an opportunity to learn the basic nursing and personal care skills needed to become a certified nurse aide. In return, those who participate in a nurse aide training program help nursing facilities meet their staffing needs and allow the nursing staff to focus more on administering quality nursing care.

Nurse aide training programs are especially important in rural areas like my State of North Dakota, where potential nurse aides might have to travel hundreds of miles for training if it is not available at the nursing facility in their community. These nurse aide training programs comply with strict guidelines related to the amount of training necessary and determination of competency for certification.

Despite these safeguards, current law allows programs to be terminated for up to 2 years if a facility has been cited for a deficiency or assessed a civil money penalty for reasons completely unrelated to the quality of the nurse aide training program. In North Dakota, this could result in real hardship not just for the nursing facility and potential nurse aides, but for the nursing home residents who rely on nurse aides for their day-to-day care.

Under my bill, rural areas would be exempt from termination of nurse aide training programs in these specific instances only if: First, no other program is offered within a reasonable distance of the facility; second, the State assures that an adequate environment exists for operating the program; and third, the State provides notice of the determination and assurances to the State long-term care ombudsman.

The President has included this proposal in the last two budgets he has presented to Congress. In addition, Congress included this proposal in the Balanced Budget Act passed in December 1995.

I hope my colleagues will join me in supporting this bill.

I ask unanimous consent that the full text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 452

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, SECTION 1. PERMITTING WAIVER OF PROHIBITION OF OFFERING NURSE AIDE TRAINING AND COMPETENCY EVALUATION PROGRAMS IN CERTAIN FACILITIES.

(a) WAIVER.—Sections 1819(f)(2) and section 1919(f)(2) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395i-3(f)(2), 1396r(f)(2)) are each amended—

(1) in subparagraph (B)(iii), by inserting “subject to subparagraph (C),” after “(iii);” and

(2) by adding at the end, the following:

“(C) WAIVER AUTHORIZED.—Clause (iii) of subparagraph (B) shall not apply to a program offered in (but not by) a nursing facility in a State if the State—

“(i) determines that there is no other such program offered within a reasonable distance of the facility;

“(ii) assures, through an oversight effort, that an adequate environment exists for operating the program in the facility; and

“(iii) provides notice of such determination and assurances to the State long-term care ombudsman.”

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by subsection (a) apply to programs offered on or after the date of enactment of this Act.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, today I join Senator BYRON DORGAN of North Dakota in introducing legislation aimed at reversing the lack of qualified nurse aides in rural America by encouraging local training programs to continue their work. Our goal is to improve the level of care in nursing homes. Increasing the availability of qualified staff in rural nursing homes will help older Americans live better lives.

Many rural nursing homes rely on their own training programs to certify nurse aides. Current Federal law allows these training programs to be terminated due to problems unrelated to the quality of the training program. In rural areas, terminating a nurse aide training program can result in a lack of qualified staff at a rural facility. Therefore, terminating a nurse training program can actually make conditions worse, not better.

This bill ensures that nurse aide training programs will be judged on their own merits, not on outside factors. This is commonsense legislation. Judging people on their actions and programs on their results is the American way. Judging training programs on outside factors doesn't penalize the substandard nursing homes, it penalizes older Americans.
