

BRAUN, Mr. HARKIN, Mr. FEINGOLD, and Ms. MIKULSKI):

S. 516. A bill to amend section 1977A of the Revised Statutes to equalize the remedies available to all victims of intentional employment discrimination, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Labor and Human Resources.

THE EQUAL REMEDIES ACT OF 1997

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I am proud to introduce the Equal Remedies Act of 1997, for myself and 13 other sponsors. The purpose of our legislation is to end a glaring inequality in the current Federal antidiscrimination laws.

The Civil Rights Act of 1991 gave women, religious minorities, and disabled persons the right to recover compensatory and punitive damages for intentional employment discrimination, but only up to specified monetary limits. By contrast, victims of such discrimination on the basis of race or national origin can recover damages without such limitations.

The Equal Remedies Act of 1997 will end this double standard by removing the caps on damages for victims of intentional job discrimination on the basis of sex, religion, or disability. No one should be subject to second-class remedies under our civil rights laws. Victims of discrimination who suffer injuries deserve a full remedy for those injuries, without arbitrary limits.

The caps serve no justifiable purpose. The standard of proof and the definition of intentional discrimination are identical under the Civil Rights Act of 1991 and the longstanding race discrimination statute. There is no reason to expect significantly more litigation, or significantly larger jury awards if the caps are removed.

For the vast majority of victims of intentional discrimination, the caps do not affect the amount of damages. But, for others—victims with the most serious injuries from intentional discrimination—the caps are an unfair barrier to recovering full damages for their injuries. Employers who have committed the most outrageous acts of discrimination will no longer be shielded from full responsibility.

The double standard in current law protects the worst lawbreakers and denies relief to those who have been harmed the most. By enacting the Equal Remedies Act of 1997, Congress will be affirming the basic principle of equal justice for all Americans.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the legislation may be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 516
