ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

CONGREGATION KOL HAVERIM

• Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, I rise today to honor Congregation Kol Haverim of Glastonbury, CT, in recognition of the groundbreaking for its new synagogue building held on April 13, 1997. Through sheer determination, a singleness of purpose and spirit, as well as the considerable generosity of its members and the community at large, this congregation of 200 families is now realizing a dream that no one would have thought possible only a few short years ago.

Congregation Kol Haverim was formed only 13 years ago by a handful of Jewish families in the Glastonbury area, worshipping initially in the backroom of a local grocery store, and later purchasing a former Knights of Columbus hall that serves as its present one room home. Over the past 2 years, the congregation has raised over $1.3 million and its architects have designed a new building, to be added as an addition to the existing facility, that has been praised by local town planning and zoning officials as a model of design for new construction in the area.

In addition to attending to the spiritual needs of its members through worship services and its ever-growing religious school, Congregation Kol Haverim has always tried to attend to the needs of the local community and Greater Hartford, as well, through its various adult education, community outreach, and other programs. Whether through sponsoring a lecture or the volunteers it regularly provides to local soup kitchens or its participation in area-wide food or clothing drives, Congregation Kol Haverim, like other houses of worship in the area, has always strived to give of itself to the surrounding communities from which it draws its strength. The new building will provide a pleasant and welcoming new home for sacred study, communal worship, and social action.

I congratulate Congregation Kol Haverim, as it begins this new chapter in its existence. I thank its members for their initiative and all the good work they have done over the past 13 years, and I encourage them to continue to address all the good work that remains to be done.●

IN HONOR OF THE FALLEN AIRMEN OF THE 440TH AIRLIFT WING

• Mr. KOHL. Today, Mr. President, I would like to take a moment to remember the men and women of the 440th Airlift Wing, based at Mitchell Field in Milwaukee, who died and were injured in the course of their duty on April 1, 1997. At a treacherous airport in Honduras, far from home, three airmen made the ultimate sacrifice for their country. On a routine resupply mission, their C-130 skidded off the end of the runway while attempting to land at Tocontin International Airport in Tegucigalpa. The plane burst into flames killing Senior M. Sgt. Leland Rassmussen, S. Sgt. Vicki Clifton, and Senior Airman Samuel Keene. Also injured in the crash were T. Sgt. Joseph Martynski, Capt. Ian Kincaid, M. Sgt. Steven Hilger, T. Sgt. Danny Formanski, Capt. Michael Butler, S. Sgt. Dean Ackmann, and Capt. Robert Woodard.

The 440th flies out of my hometown, Milwaukee, WI and I am proud of their commitment to excellence. Over the years they have been called on many times to serve their country in foreign lands and dangerous circumstances. They are an example of the best the Reserve system has to offer, and I was deeply saddened to hear of their loss.

Too often we take for granted the risks members of the military run on a day-to-day basis. We assume that because the United States is at peace soldiers do not face danger. While in fact, everyday men and women in our armed services put their lives on the line. They do it quietly and without fanfare. It seems that only when tragedy strikes do we take a moment to appreciate their courage and sacrifice.

I would also like to take a moment to thank those brave Honduran citizens who risked their lives to help victims of the crash. With the wreckage burning only 100 yards from two gas stations, these good Samaritans waded into the fiery crash site to rescue complete strangers. Because of their selfless courage, lives were saved and crippling injuries avoided.

Those injured in the accident have my best wishes for a speedy and complete recovery. My heart goes out to the families of Leland, Vicki, and Samuel. Over the years these three airmen have foregone time with their families in order to serve their country, and now the Nation owes them a debt it can never fully repay. All we can offer is our deepest sympathy and highest esteem.●

CHRISTOPHER REEVE ON MEDICAL RESEARCH

● Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, on March 13, 1997, along with Senator ARLEN SPECTER, I introduced bipartisan legislation, S. 441, the National Fund for Health Research Act. This important bill would provide additional resources for health research over and above those provided to the National Institutes of Health in the annual appropriations process. The fund will help eradicate some of the illnesses that now strike millions of Americans.

At this time I would like to submit for the RECORD a letter from Christopher Reeve endorsing the National Fund for Health Research Act. Christopher Reeve has worked tirelessly since his accident to increase funding for medical research. We all owe Christopher Reeve a debt of gratitude for bringing health care concerns to the attention of all Americans. He and I both realize that the Fund for Health Research Act could hold the key to finding successful treatments for hundreds of diseases. In his letter, Christopher Reeve states that S. 441 will give our best researchers the funds they need to stay ahead of a developing crisis. I agree wholeheartedly with his assessment and urge the Senate to move quickly on this legislation. I now ask that the text of Christopher Reeve's letter be printed in the RECORD.

The letter follows:

CHRISTOPHER REEVE,
March 20, 1997.

President CLINTON,
The White House, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CLINTON. I was sorry to hear about your unfortunate accident but glad to know you will make a full recovery and that your activities won't be limited in the future. The sight of you in a wheelchair was very moving but also a helpful image for all Americans particularly the disabled.

At the risk of becoming a pest, I'm taking this opportunity to ask your support for legislation introduced last week by Senators Specter and Harkin which would require insurance companies to donate 1 penny out of every dollar they receive in premiums to the NIH. It is estimated that this would provide an additional $6 billion dollars annually for research.

I feel it is an excellent proposal because it does not raise taxes, the insurance companies can afford it and they ultimately receive the additional benefit of having to pay for fewer claims. And as I am sure you're aware, recent studies have shown the cost effectiveness of research, is of course a crucial factor in the balanced budget debate. As America ages, the attendant health problems will not go away unless we give our best researchers the funds they need to stay ahead of a developing crisis.

Thank you again for all the helpful comments you have made so far about research since the convention last year. Now is the time for all of us to push into high gear.

With best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Sincerely,

CHRISTOPHER REEVE,

(Signed by Michael Manganiello,
Special Assistant to Christopher Reeve).●

COMMEMORATING THE CITY OF NASSAU BAY'S ASTRONAUT DAY FESTIVAL

● Mrs. HUTCHISON. Mr. President, I rise to commend the city of Nassau Bay for its efforts to celebrate the development of space exploration and the international cooperation associated with it. Nassau Bay is hosting a special day of recognition for America's astronauts and their Russian counterparts on April 12, 1997. In addition, the State of Texas has proudly honored these brave men and women by declaring April 12th "Space Explorers' Day" in Texas. I rise today to appropriately recognize this day in the U.S. Senate.

Nassau Bay is located near NASA's Lyndon B. Johnson Center. The community has been integrally involved in this Nation's space exploration activities since we began the space program a generation ago. Nassau Bay residents were among those to walk on the Moon and provide the technical and managerial support necessary for America's successful space program. Today, Nassau Bay is still critical to NASA's manned space mission. Nassau Bay rightfully celebrates the continuation of that mission by hosting "Astronaut Day" on April 12.

Astronaut Day celebrates the men and women who have expanded humankind's horizons and recognizes the technological advances resulting from their work that have been incorporated into our everyday lives. I join Nassau Bay and the State of Texas in honoring the many dedicated men and women who devote their time and talents to helping this Nation realize the cherished dream of space exploration. They have truly broadened the frontiers of knowledge and their outstanding accomplishments are worthy of special recognition.

Mr. President, I appreciate this opportunity to give Nassau Bay the recognition it deserves in the U.S. Senate. I urge my colleagues to join me, the city of Nassau Bay, and the State of Texas in reflecting on the important contributions our space pioneers and explorers have made to history, science, and the quality of our lives on this planet.●

GIRL SCOUTS AND BOY SCOUTS OF RHODE ISLAND, 1996

● Mr. CHAFEE. Mr. President, it is with great pleasure that I present to you Rhode Island's outstanding recipients of the highest honors for Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts. They have distinguished themselves as community leaders, service volunteers, and mentors for their peers.

For more than 50 years, artist Norman Rockwell captured in his paintings the spirit and sense of America and its people. A large number of these paintings portrayed Scouts and Scouting. Few other childhood activities better represent the commitment to God, country, and community that is inherent in Scouting.

Providing girls and boys with tools and leadership skills that will be useful throughout their lives, Scouting is indelibly linked with transforming youths into able, educated, well-rounded adults. Activities like camping, service projects, and weekly meetings aim to build character, encourage responsible citizenship, and develop physical, mental, and emotional fitness.

The highest honors that a Girl Scout can earn are the Gold and Silver Awards, which are presented to those girls who have shown exemplary commitments to personal excellence and unwavering public service. Likewise, the Eagle Award is the highest honor that can be earned by a Boy Scout. Recipients have displayed the highest achievable skills in outdoor activities and incomparable service records.

Behind every Girl Scout and Boy Scout troop is a group of similarly dedicated parents and leaders who guide the youths through their achievements.

It is for all these reasons that I am proud to honor the recipients of Girl Scouts' Gold and Silver Awards and the Boy Scouts' Eagle Scout Award. The outstanding achievements of these young recipients warrant our praise, admiration, and thanks. So that we all may know who they are, I ask that the complete list of awardees be printed in the RECORD.
