

STEVENS AMENDMENT NO. 228

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. STEVENS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to amendment No. 110 submitted by Mr. MCCAIN to the bill, S. 672, supra; as follows:

In amendment number 110, beginning with the word "provisos:" on line 2, strike all through "proposal" on line 6 and insert in lieu thereof "sentence:

"Consistent with the restriction in the preceding sentence and within 90 days of the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior, in consultation with State and local government officials in each affected State, shall submit to Congress a proposal that defers to State law and incorporates the rules, regulations, and policies applicable to the Bureau of Land Management regarding rights of way established pursuant to Revised Statutes 2477 (43 U.S.C. 932), as such rules, regulations, and policies were in effect prior to October 1, 1993, and the recommendations of affected State and local government officials".

GREGG AMENDMENT NO. 229

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mr. GREGG submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill, S. 672, supra; as follows:

In lieu of the language proposed to be inserted, insert the following:

SEC. 326. SENSE OF THE SENATE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1)(A) the officers of the Federal Government and the members of the European Union have had lengthy negotiations with regard to the establishment of a mutual recognition agreement with respect to good manufacturing practice (GMP) inspections of medical devices and pharmaceuticals and the processes of approving medical devices;

(B) in December 1996, the President urged the officers of the Federal Government and the members of the European Union to resolve the issues with respect to the negotiations, and enter into and implement the mutual recognition agreement;

(C) the officers of the Federal Government and the European Union Commission are meeting to resolve the issues.

(D) the mutual recognition agreement would enhance the trade relationships between the United States and the European Union and generate regulatory savings with respect to medical devices and pharmaceuticals; and

(2) the harmonization of international standards could facilitate commerce between the United States and foreign countries.

(b) SENSE OF THE SENATE.—It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1)(A) the United States should continue to press its negotiating objectives in order to maintain both the high United States health and safety standards and to facilitate trade between the United States and the European Union.

(B) assuming the European Union Commission demonstrates the necessary flexibility, the officers of the Federal Government and the European Union Commission should on an expedited basis, conclude negotiations, enter into, and implement a mutual recognition agreement with respect to—

(i) good manufacturing practice inspections for medical devices and pharmaceuticals; and

(ii) the processes of approving medical devices; and

(C) the Secretary of Health and Human Services, in coordination with the USTR and other appropriate agencies, should facilitate the conclusion of negotiations between the European Union Commission and the officers of the Federal Government with respect to the mutual recognition agreement;

(2) the Secretary of Health and Human Services should separately participate in meeting with foreign governments to discuss and reach agreement on methods and approaches to harmonize key regulatory requirements and to utilize international standards and

(3) the Office of International Relations of the Department of Health and Human Services (as established under section 803 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 383)), in coordination with USTR, should have the responsibility of ensuring that the process established by the Secretary of Health and Human Services and foreign countries, to harmonize international standards, is continuous and productive.

(4) This section shall become effective one day after the date of enactment.

FEINSTEIN AMENDMENT NO. 230

(Ordered to lie on the table.)

Mrs. FEINSTEIN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by her to amendment No. 171 submitted by Mr. REID to the bill, S. 672, supra; as follows:

On line 3, strike all that follows and insert the following:

"(5) FLOOD CONTROL LEVEES.—Consultation or conferencing under paragraph (2) or (4) is not required for an agency action that consists of operating, maintaining, repairing or reconstructing a federal or non-federal flood control levee for any area subject to flooding."

(b) TAKINGS.—Section 9(a) of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1538(a)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(3) FLOOD CONTROL LEVEES.—For purposes of this subsection, an activity of a federal or non-federal person is not a taking of a species if the activity consists of operating, maintaining, repairing, or reconstructing a federal or non-federal flood control levee for any area subject to flooding."

HOLLINGS (AND OTHERS)

AMENDMENT NO. 231

Mr. HOLLINGS (for himself, Mr. STEVENS, Mr. GREGG, and Mr. GLENN) proposed an amendment to the bill, S. 672, supra; as follows:

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

WENATCHEE NATIONAL FOREST

• Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, it is my pleasure today to express my deep gratitude and pride in recognizing the Wenatchee National Forest as a recipient of the Salvage Sale Showcase Award under the U.S. Forest Service's Fiscal Year 1995 Timber Salvage and Recovery Program.

The Wenatchee National Forest encompasses 2.2 million acres of Washington's finest forest lands—lands providing for an abundance of recreational activities and employment and resource opportunities for Washington State residents. In July 1994, however, a lightning storm followed by a severe fire, threatened to suddenly demolish this majestic landscape within days.

When the last flame had been extinguished, the damage was daunting. Three fires of unprecedented intensity had consumed 186,000 acres of Wenatchee National Forest lands, destroying 37 homes and 76 outbuildings and threatening the lives of human beings who had dared to cross its massive path. Firefighters from various parts of the country, 8,000 in all, fought valiantly to save the precious resources endangered by runaway wildfires. It is to their credit that so many homes, communities, and human lives are intact today.

Determined and resolute, the employees of the Wenatchee National Forest went to work. Less than 2 months after the first spark ignited, the largest emergency rehabilitation effort ever undertaken by the Forest Service was launched with the cooperation of other Federal, State, county, and local agencies. The rehabilitation effort addressed and executed projects which included erosion control, road rehabilitation, wildlife habitat, helicopter seeding, and collaborative learning. The effort was successfully completed by mid-November 1994, for $18 million—$2 million under budget.

With the worst behind them, Forest managers looked ahead toward long-term forest health and sustainability. Interdisciplinary teams consisting of personnel from all six ranger districts combined their knowledge and know-how to develop the necessary environmental documents. Within 11 months, these teams assembled an astounding 10 environmental analyses and 1 environmental impact statement. Science-based decisionmaking rendered a total of 22 timber sales, resulting in landscape level fuel treatment on over 30,000 acres. Nearly 138 million board feet of fire killed or damaged timber was offered for sale.

Salvage was the key to this vision. Removing dead and dying trees provided the much needed opportunity to reduce stress and preserve larger, healthier trees. In addition, salvage logging in the Wenatchee has enhanced wildlife habitat and supported the perpetuation of ancient forest conditions. Mr. President, it is for this very reason that I sponsored timber salvage legislation in the spring of 1995. Not only was the forest able to begin healing and promoting catastrophic fire prevention through salvage operations, it was also able to provide a significant amount of timber for the public benefit.

In conclusion, I want to congratulate and commend the efforts of all of those who contributed to the successful and innovative restoration of the Wenatchee National Forest. Their accomplishments over the past 3 years are proof positive that we can effectively balance environmental and economic concerns in our national forests if we give local forest managers the flexibility they need to do their jobs. The employees of this forest are outstanding examples of the teamwork desperately needed throughout our national forest system. Because of their professionalism, tenacity, and courage, the Wenatchee National Forest is on its way back to health and sustainability. My congratulations to them on a job well done. Keep up the good work.

WEST VIRGINIA MOTHER OF THE YEAR, KELLY L. GEORGE

• Mr. ROCKEFELLER. Mr. President, it is my great honor today to rise to congratulate Kelly L. George of Cabell County in West Virginia. Kelly has been selected by American Mothers, Inc., as the West Virginia Mother of the Year, and I commend them for their choice.

As a father of four children, I know how important it is to have a strong mother figure in the family, and Kelly is exactly that for her family. She continues to instill the value of high academic achievement to her children Vincent, Victor, Valerie, Von, and Vanessa. She works very hard to provide a spiritual foundation for her children, and she also takes on the enormously important task of teaching strong family values.

But this is not all that Kelly George does. Like my wife Sharon, Kelly balances her tasks as a mother with her duties in an active career. Kelly has an impressive list of accomplishments outside the household. She is on the Thomas Hospital Board of Trustees, is a Kanawha County Parks and Recreation Commissioner, and chair of the West Virginia Board of Risk and Insurance Management. She is also a life member of General Federation of Women's Clubs and the National Committee of State Garden Clubs, as well as international chair for the Pilot International World Association. On top of all this, she is a legislative analyst, a historian, and the author of "Rhythms, Remembrances and Recipes."
