

all the people of this region. I firmly believe that more attentive and more skillful diplomacy months and years earlier may have prevented this entire war.

Mr. Speaker, the world needs strong American leadership abroad, and Congress should not hesitate to demand a more coherent strategy from this President to ensure a lasting peace in this war-torn region. Stopping one campaign of hatred and violence only to permit others to kill and maim is hardly a legacy to be proud of.

JOHN RICHMOND, GASTON
DEVIGNE AND KATYA HAFICH

HON. HEATHER WILSON

OF NEW MEXICO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, August 4, 1999

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I wish to bring to your attention the outstanding work of John Richmond, Gaston DeVigne and Katya Hafich. They are students at Albuquerque Academy, a middle and high school in the First Congressional District of New Mexico.

Recently, these three students won the Toshiba/National Science Teachers Association Explora Vision Awards. Toshiba and the NSTA give the award to students who compete in teams of three to predict how a form of technology will develop in the future and how it will look in 20 years.

Together, these students produced a video predicting the progress of defibrillator technology. They believe the defibrillators of tomorrow, which are used to help stop heart attacks, will be lightweight and portable, and they will have voice command capability.

John, Gaston and Katya displayed the ambition, knowledge and vision to lead America into the 21st Century. These traits helped them to attain success now and will continue to do so throughout their lives. I am honored to be able to congratulate them.

Mr. Speaker please join me in congratulating John Richmond, Gaston DeVigne and Katya Hafich for their achievement.

TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF
JUDGE PHILIP E. LAGANA

HON. ANTHONY D. WEINER

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, August 4, 1999

Mr. WEINER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to invite our colleagues to join me in honoring Judge Philip E. Lagana, a great American, and fellow New Yorker, who spent his life serving the public and our country. Through countless hours of hard work and dedication, Judge Lagana upheld the values and principles of our country's Constitution by fairly, firmly, and compassionately serving as a Justice of the New York State Supreme Court. The following tribute delivered at his funeral service by Joseph Crea, Professor Emeritus at Brooklyn Law School, beautifully captures this man's invaluable contributions to his community.

TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF JUDGE PHILIP E.
LAGANA

For me, at this time, it is a privilege and a sadness to speak about a friend, neighbor and associate in the legal profession. I first met Judge Philip E. Lagana more than fifty years ago at the Brooklyn Law School, where I served as Law Librarian and he was a student in his final year. Since 1948 when he graduated law school, our paths were never far apart. I remained in the academic area of the law. Judge Lagana went out into the public area to practice his profession as a lawyer. He began his private practice in the field of Criminal Law. After a short stint of practice, he then diverted his attention to public service, a career which he served until his retirement. Judge Lagana began his public service in the Kings County District Attorney's Office. Where he was appointed an Assistant District Attorney. In that office he initially served as trial attorney and was rapidly promoted to the position of Deputy Chief of the Supreme Court Trial Assistants. He was then charged with setting up a major offenses bureau at the District Attorney's office. Upon completion of this task, Judge Lagana was appointed chief of the bureau. In 1974, Judge Lagana was made President of the New York City Tax Commission by then Mayor Abe Beame, a position he occupied until his election to the Supreme Court of the State of New York in 1975. This was the culmination of years of public service, which the public recognized in electing him to that high office. There was also recognition at his first induction by the presence of many friends, neighbors, relatives and members of public. It was a joyous event. I had the privilege to speak at this his first induction to the judiciary. There was no sadness in the many congratulatory remarks on that occasion.

As a Justice of the Supreme Court, Judge Lagana acted with firmness, but with fairness and compassion. He was not afraid to make difficult decisions, explore new concepts, or develop new theories. Recognition of these actions and qualities found support from the appellate bench which reviewed them. After serving with distinction, Judge Lagana won the support of the public, the lawyers who practiced before him and his associates. This guaranteed him reelection for an additional 14 year term. At age 70, when he was required to step down under the then age law, Judge Lagana was certified to continue on the first of the three 2 year extensions. In 1992, he decided to retire, left the bench and took with him the accolades, the honors and the esteem of many friends, associates and organizations, among which were the Catholic Lawyers Guild; the Columbian Lawyers Association; the Kings County Criminal Bar Association; the Brooklyn Bar Association; the New York State Real Estate Board; the United Jewish Appeal; the Marlboro Memorial Post No. 1437, American Legion and its Women's Club; and the 46 A.D. Democratic Club.

The legacy one leaves is not only embodied in his career as a public servant, it has an individual persona. Judge Lagana was born and spent his lifetime in Brooklyn, New York. He attended Sts Simon and Jude grade school. Upon graduation he was selected for St. Michael's High School (now Xaverian). His performance at St. Michael's gained him entry and a place at Georgetown University. From there it was then Brooklyn Law School and the start of a professional career already documented.

During World War II, Judge Lagana served in the Signal Corps in the China theatre. Following military service, he joined the Marlboro Memorial Post # 1437 and served in many executive positions during his lifetime membership, the last giving many years as Judge Advocate. His commitment on behalf of the veteran is well known. He never lost touch with the veterans's problems and needs.

When called upon, Judge Lagana never refused to serve in a social service or political setting. He loved politics and its many challenges and served his party well. As compassionate as he was as a judge, this quality extended to charitable endeavors as well.

To Josephine, to Francis, to family members, to his neighbors, to his friends and associates, to the public he served, Judge Lagana's passing leaves behind a sadness and a legacy. A legacy of memories—of a public servant, who in his offices acted with dedication; of a decent unpretentious person, who never lost touch with the people and his family circle. He also leaves us the memories of the esteem in which he was held; of the honors bestowed upon him; of service to the community; and loving commitment and dedication to family.

A legacy for a lifetime.

THE FOURTH OF JULY

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, August 4, 1999

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this time to tell my colleagues about the wonderful Fourth of July celebration that was held in the town of Fieldon. This year marked the 45th anniversary of the Independence Day celebration. On Independence Day the town of 350 is a perfect picture of small town America, with the Stars and Stripes flying from white front porches.

"We invite the public to join us in Fieldon for the Fourth of July Celebration," Mayor Betty Duggan said. "There will be games, bingo, good country cooking and fireworks." Fieldon has a rich and patriotic history dating back to before the civil war. When long time resident Hazel Dunham was asked about the event she said, "Fieldon is a patriotic town of people who love the flag of their country." I am extremely proud to represent the people of Fieldon, Illinois, people who possess the pioneering spirit of hard work, moral values, and patriotism.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. GARY G. MILLER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, August 4, 1999

Mr. GARY MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I inadvertently voted "aye" on rollcall No. 365, disapproving the extension of the waiver authority contained in section 402(c) of the Trade Act of 1974 with respect to Vietnam. I ask that the RECORD reflect a "nay" vote on rollcall No. 365.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE

SCHOTT GLASS TECHNOLOGIES
ANNIVERSARY

HON. PAUL E. KANJORSKI

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, August 4, 1999

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to bring to the attention of my colleagues the 30th anniversary of one of America's leading technological enterprises: Schott Glass Technologies of Duryea, Pennsylvania. Schott Glass Technologies will mark its anniversary with a dinner on August 12. I am honored and proud to have been asked to attend and participate in this event.

A wholly-owned subsidiary of Schott Corporation of Yonkers, New York, Schott Glass Technologies now employs 450 people in Northeastern Pennsylvania. The company is a vital component of national efforts to advance America's technological excellence and local efforts to spark the economic revitalization of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Schott Glass Technologies is currently engaged in a project that will have important local and national repercussions. Schott is creating in Duryea the most advanced production center in North America for high-technology flat panel glass that is used in various electronic devices, from laptop computers to military aircraft. This vitally-important technology is important for our national security and is expected to create up to 100 new jobs in Duryea, many of which will be the high-skilled, high-wage jobs that are essential to boosting our area's economy.

The flat panel display industry is expected to double within six years to nearly $24 billion, but most of this glass is currently produced in Japan or other Asian countries. Schott Glass Technologies has joined forces with Candescant Technologies Corporation to develop an innovative flat panel display technology that is higher-quality and less expensive than the technology currently in use. Schott plans to build a processing plant in Duryea that will produce super-thin glass using "down draw" technology, which allows for thinner glass to be created that requires less polishing. This facility will be the first of its kind in the United States. The super-thin glass will be used in displays for hand-held electronics for the United States Department of Defense ground forces and in avionics displays for military jets. Other uses include displays for laptop computers, work stations, and commercial jet avionics.

By contributing to the economy of Northeastern Pennsylvania and advancing our nation's store of technology, Schott Glass Technologies continues to provide an example of the conscientious entrepreneurship that will support our nation compete in the global economy of the 21st Century. Under the leadership of President Bruce Jennings, Schott Glass Technologies can be expected to continue to grow and develop to meet the challenges of constant technological innovation.

Mr. Speaker, I am glad to have had this opportunity to share with my colleagues the accomplishments of Schott Glass Technologies. I salute the men and women of Schott Glass Technologies for their hard work and devotion.

THE INTERFAITH CONFERENCE OF METROPOLITAN WASHINGTON CELEBRATES 20 YEARS OF BUILDING UNITY AND CELEBRATING DIVERSITY

---

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON

OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, August 4, 1999

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in celebrating the twenty years of work of the Interfaith Conference of Metropolitan Washington.

Founded in the fall of 1978, the Interfaith Conference has been recognized as "the flagship of interreligious organizations." One of the most remarkable aspects of the Interfaith Conference is the diversity of its members—Islamic, Hindu, Jewish, Latter-day Saints, Protestant, Roman Catholic, and Sikh faith communities. They have come together and achieved great success, especially in dialogue and in joint work on critical issues of social justice.

There is a natural harmony among the faiths and the Interfaith Conference has found it in their work in this city and in this region. The Conference has found a way to act on faith in a spirit that does no violation to faith. The Washington Interfaith Conference has chosen to influence public life, consistent with faith, yet mindful of its purposes and limits.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that this body join me in celebrating. The Interfaith Conference of Metropolitan Washington and thanking its members, individually and collectively, for reminding us of enduring values—such as unflinching help to the needy—and for reinforcing enduring morals, civility in language, and in treatment of others.
