

Milosevic and Hitler has helped transform what would otherwise have been a Balkan crisis into a global crisis, the ramifications of which are being felt not only in America, not only in Yugoslavia but also in Moscow and in Beijing.

NATO's senior military officer, General Klaus Naumann said this weekend, we are nibbling away night by night and day by day at Milosevic's military capabilities.

Paul Watson of the Los Angeles Times reported from Yugoslavia on some of NATO's nibblings. Bomblets from cluster bombs have been aimed in the middle of the night at military forces and a park and playground in the village of Stare Garko. At least three of the unexploded bomblets lay in the playground, where three empty bunkers suggested that soldiers may have been based. There were no signs of damage to any military vehicles. Instead, four-year-old Dragan Dimic was dead, along with his neighbors Bosko Jankovic and Mr. Jankovic's wife Jenverosima. Their bodies lay smeared with dried blood where they fell at the edge of their small front patio.

Mr. President, stop the bombings. Give negotiations an opportunity to work. Are we willing to continue bombing whatever the cost in human life, in pain and in suffering until Mr. Milosevic removes all of his forces from Kosovo? There must be some other way. Bombing is not the answer. How long must the bombing in Yugoslavia continue?
