NATIONAL POLICE WEEK

• Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I rise today to honor those police officers who devotedly and selflessly work to protect and serve the public on a daily basis. I also pay special tribute to those men and women who have given their lives in the line of duty.

According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation data, 138 law enforcement officers lost their lives while protecting our communities across America in 1998. Of this total, 61 law enforcement officers were slain in the line of duty. Our Capitol community was tragically affected last July when Capitol Police Officer Jacob Chestnut and Special Agent John Gibson were mortally wounded while they upheld their sworn duty to protect visitors, staff and Members of Congress.

All Americans should keep alive the memory of these two brave and heroic men, and recognize the contributions of the countless other law enforcement officers who have either been slain or disabled while performing their duties. For these reasons I am a proud cosponsor of S. Res. 22, which designates May 15, 1999, as "National Peace Officers Memorial Day."

Mr. President, during this week of poignant ceremonies, Minnesota remembers Corporal Timothy Bowe of the Minnesota State Patrol who was murdered while assisting the Chisago County Sheriff Department on June 7, 1997. Last year, Corporal Bowe's name was added to the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial. Corporal Bowe was a devoted husband, father, trooper, and friend. More importantly, Corporal Timothy Bowe was a true Minnesota hero. This week, Corporal Bowe's name will be joined on the memorial by 155 other law enforcement officers who were killed in the line of duty.

Sadly, in our society today, unless we are personally affected by violence or disorder, we often do not realize the dedication of our law enforcement officers, and the sacrifices they make to keep our communities safe. "National Police Week" is an important time for all Americans to recognize the role law enforcement officers play in safeguarding the rights and freedoms we all enjoy daily and give thanks for their countless hours of service.

Mr. President, we owe a debt of gratitude not only to the slain officers who served their communities so courageously by preserving law and order, but also to their families, who have lost a spouse, parent or child. Our law enforcement officers are heroes and we must never forget their contributions and sacrifices—during "National Police Week," they are well remembered.●

RETIREMENT OF TREASURY
SECRETARY RUBIN

• Mr. BIDEN. Mr. President, I rise today to share with my colleagues a few thoughts on the announcement that Treasury Secretary Rubin will be leaving his job in July.

It is hard to believe how far we have come in the six and a half years of Bob Rubin's tenure at the Treasury Department. Our most fundamental ideas of how the world works—at least the world of economics and finance—have been transformed during his leadership of President Clinton's economic team.

In our domestic finances, Mr. President, we have gone from a generation of seemingly intractable federal deficits to a new era of budget surpluses. It turns out that it is no easier to make budget policy now than it was before—in fact, it is probably harder. But the federal government is paying its own way now, and the payoff in the private economy—strong growth, low and stable interest rates, international confidence in the dollar—are there for everyone to see.

As someone who came to the Senate over a quarter of a century ago, I can tell my colleagues that there has been no more fundamental change in the way we do business around here.

And virtually everyone agrees that Bob Rubin's influence was the deciding factor in this Administration's successful fight to restore balance and responsibility to our federal budget. If that were his only legacy, it would put him in the pantheon of our greatest Treasury Secretaries.

But Bob Rubin has left his mark on the international economy as well. The United States—restored to its historic role as the strongest and most influential economy in the world—was the indispensable leader during the financial crisis that shook international markets in the last two years. And it was Secretary Rubin's credibility that was on the line as international financial institutions like the IMF scrambled to meet the first financial crisis of the new global economy.

Because he knew what key financial markets needed to see and hear from policy makers—and because he knew the strengths and the weaknesses of those markets first hand—his guidance was the essential ingredient that contained the damage from that crisis.

Today, in the calm after the storm, there is still a lot of rebuilding to do—and too much troubling weakness in too many economies to say that the crisis is over. But it is not too early to say that the crisis was a direct challenge America's leadership in the world's economy, and Bob Rubin kept us on top.

I might add that among the many facets of that financial crisis, Secretary Rubin had to invest his considerable energy, skills, and reputation to get this Congress to provide the funds necessary for the IMF to do its job. If they gave medals in his line of work, Mr. President, he would have one for that campaign, too.

Robert Rubin was the recognized leader—with all of the heat that can come in that position—in two of the biggest economy stories of this decade: the battle against the deficit and the global financial crisis. His decisiveness, clarity of purpose, and calm persistence made a difference in this history of our time.

I noticed, Mr. President, that the financial markets genuflected yesterday at the news of Secretary Rubin's impending departure. They dipped for a while at the initial disappointment, but inevitably they recovered because his replacement is an equally formidable—and tested—veteran of those same battles that have made Bob Rubin's reputation.

Larry Summers, as Deputy Treasury Secretary, has earned Bob Rubin's confidence as his envoy to key countries in critical negotiations in the global financial crisis and in many other important jobs. He inherits a healthy economy, sound federal finances, and a strong team at the Treasury Department. But if the past few years are any guide, Mr. President, he will not lack for challenges.

I noticed that he thanked his teachers today in accepting the new opportunity President Clinton has offered him. Surely he had no more valuable teacher than Bob Rubin. That should give us all confidence that the Treasury Department remains in good hands.●

HONORING GLORIA "PAT" HUTH

● Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, I rise today to honor Mrs. Gloria "Pat" Huth upon her retirement which will be celebrated on May 18, 1999.

Gloria "Pat" Huth was born on St. Patrick's Day to Mary and Martin Halasz. Mr. and Mrs. Halasz immigrated to the United States from Hungary.

Pat Huth graduated from Bad Axe High School, and earned her Bachelor of Arts degree from Michigan State University. In 1962, she married her husband, Robert, Sr. She began teaching with the Van Dyke school system, taking time off from full-time teaching to raise her sons, Robert, Jr. and Jeff. Mrs. Huth always believed in the value of education and stressed that point to her students and her sons; her sons obtained Juris Doctor and Doctor of Medicine degrees, respectively.

After her boys began attending elementary school, Pat Huth returned to full-time teaching. In 1971, she began teaching at Neil E. Reid school in the L'Anse Creuse School District. In 1974, she was among eight teachers that left Neil E. Reid with their principal, Joseph Carkenord to open the new elementary school, Tenniswood, in Clinton Township, Michigan. Along the way, Pat obtained her Masters of Education Degree from Eastern Michigan University.

In 1979, she received an Educational Specialist Degree (EDS) from Oakland University. She was always continuing to attend school so that she could stay on top of trends and issues to help her students.

Mrs. Huth taught second grade for the L'Anse Creuse schools for 29 years and was a full-time teacher in Michigan for 33 years. Additionally, 8 years were spent as a substitute teacher for different school districts in Macomb County.

Among Pat's interests are serving in the Philanthropic Educational Organization (PEO). She has been a member of St. Louis Parish since 1973. Now Pat Huth considers among her hobbies enjoying three (and soon to be four) grandchildren and stressing the value of education for all those that are fortunate enough to have contact with her.

I want to express my congratulations to Pat Huth upon her retirement. Most importantly, I would like to thank her for her years of commitment to the education of children. Pat, you truly are an example for others to follow.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.●

A SALUTE TO LYTTLETON MACON YATES, SR.

● Mr. ROBB. Mr. President, I rise today to salute a member of our Senate family, and a fellow Virginian, Lyttleton Macon Yates, Sr.

Lyt Yates—of the Sergeant at Arms, Printing Graphics and Direct Mail Branch—will retire on July 25, 1999 after twenty-seven years of loyal service to the United States Senate. He started his career on May 15, 1972 as a Computer Operator with the Sergeant at Arms Computer Center, and has worked his way up the ladder to his current position as Supervisor. As a valuable member of the Computer Center team, he was instrumental in assisting with the creation of payroll forms, letterhead and other Senate forms still in use today.

Over the years, Lyt has enjoyed working with Senate staff—assisting with countless individual requests, solving problems, and seeing the job through to completion.

He is looking forward to retirement with his wife, Joanna, in Midland, Virginia. His future plans include, traveling, wood carving and spending time with his eight grandchildren.

On behalf of his Senate family, I thank Lyt Yates for nearly three decades of outstanding and dedicated service to the United States Senate—and I wish him well in the years ahead.●

BOSTON MILLS/BRANDYWINE SKI RESORT

● Mr. VOINOVICH. Mr. President, today I am pleased to recognize Boston Mills/Brandywine Ski Resort in Peninsula, OH. Boston Mills/Brandywine recently was awarded the Times Mirror Company's Silver Eagle Award for Environmental Excellence for their efforts in the area of energy conservation. In response to the local community's increasing energy demands during seasonal snowmaking operations, Boston Mills recently installed a $1.5 million advanced snowmaking system which monitors data from a nearby pumping station, weather stations, and snowmaking machines to provide for maximum snow production at maximum power efficiency. This effort has enabled the area to produce the same amount of snow in less time, and at a savings of 962,000 kilowatt hours of electricity, which represents 69.5 percent of the community's electricity consumption. In addition, by leasing new grooming vehicles which operate on 33 percent less fuel and reduce grooming time, the area was able to reduce diesel fuel consumption by 46.9 percent, or 9,404 gallons. I am proud to report on the positive impact that the Boston Mills/Brandywine Ski Resort has had on the local community in Peninsula and commend them for the example they have set in civic leadership on this front. I congratulate them on their award and believe the praise they have received for their efforts in environmental stewardship is well deserved.●

HONORING CALIFORNIA'S FALLEN LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS

● Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I rise today to honor the memory of the heroic men and women of California law enforcement who have given their lives in the line of duty protecting the people of the Golden State.

This week, as part of National Police Week, the names of 35 peace officers from California are being added to the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial here in Washington D.C. Seventeen of those officers lost their lives this past year.

We all know of the dangers faced on a daily basis by police officers, sheriff's deputies, and members of the highway patrol. Unfortunately, too many officers make the ultimate sacrifice in the course of doing their job: ensuring the safety and security of our homes, roads, and neighborhoods.

It is with the utmost respect for these fallen heroes and the loss suffered by their loved ones that I ask that their names be printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, along with the community they served. We owe these men and women a great deal. Please join me in honoring them.
