

union fees would make the annual reports more broadly representative of the broader consumer marketplace. It would also document differences in costs between banks, thrifts and credit unions that will enhance competition and benefit consumers.

My legislation also expands the focus of the annual fee studies to include various fees and charges associated with credit cards. Past fee reports have included data only on basic checking and savings account services and only those additional fees specifically requested by statute, such as fees associated with ATM transactions. Institutions that offer credit cards now impose a large and growing array of charges and penalties, such as late payment fees, annual fees, over-the-limit fees, cash advance fees, convenience check fees, foreign currency conversion fees, and many more. I have received more complaints from my constituents about credit card fees than all other banking fees combined. Credit cards, in general, are one of the foremost concerns among consumers in my district and, I believe, among consumers in all parts of the country. The fees and penalties charged in connection with credit cards clearly should be incorporated in any future study of retail banking costs.

Mr. Speaker, the financial marketplace has changed dramatically over the past half decade and will continue to change in response to the landmark financial modernization legislation we enacted last year. It is imperative that Congress have all the information necessary to assess whether these changes will enhance the services available to consumers or only benefits financial institutions at the expense of consumers. My legislation merely extends Congress' prior request for annual reporting on banking fees and costs. This is reasonable and responsible legislation that Congress should enact before adjournment this year.

HONG KONG TRANSITION TASK FORCE

HON. DOUG BEREUTER

OF NEBRASKA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 28, 2000

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, following his visit to Hong Kong in April 1997, Speaker Gingrich tasked this Member with the responsibility of creating the Speaker's Task Force on the Hong Kong Transition and of observing and reporting on Hong Kong's status following its return to the People's Republic of China. The Task Force is bipartisan in nature and all members of it have been drawn from the Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific, of which this Member is the Chairman.

On behalf of the Task Force, this Member would like to inform his colleagues that the eighth report of the Speaker's Task Force on the Hong Kong Transition has been filed. In summary, the Task Force continues to believe that the transition has progressed satisfactorily, although concerns remain in areas such as press self-censorship and controls, export controls and most notably, rule of law. The recent controversial remarks by Chinese officials warning against press coverage of issues regarding Taiwan and of business support for Taiwan independence have been a concern, as has the issue of judicial independence and the rule of law as a result of the "right of abode" case. These issues will need to be watched closely.

Hong Kong's political system continues to evolve, although progress towards further democratization has not been as rapid as many would like. The Hong Kong press remains free and continues to comment critically on the People's Republic of China (PRC), although threatening remarks by PRC officials in reference to press coverage related to Taiwan is worrisome. Public demonstrations continue to be held. Indeed, there is a vigorous public debate on the issues of democracy and law. The legislature and free press have used their roles to increase government accountability and transparency.

Mr. Speaker, a copy of the Task Force's eighth report is available on the internet website of the Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific: www.house.gov/international_relations/ap/ap.htm. It is also available in hard-copy from the Subcommittee office.

REPUBLIC OF CHINA'S NATIONAL DAY

HON. PETER T. KING

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 28, 2000

Mr. KING. Mr. Speaker, as President Chen Shui-bian, Vice President Annette Lu and the people of the Republic of China prepare to celebrate their National Day on October 10, 2000, I wish to extend to them my congratulations.

The Republic of China on Taiwan has a lot to be proud of. Taiwan's economy is very strong. For instance, export orders reached US $74 billion from January to June, up 21 percent from the same period last year. In June of this year, exports and imports enjoyed almost 25 percent growth from the year-earlier period. It is the government's policy to continue to develop Taiwan's new economy based on information and high technologies. Furthermore, Taiwan's citizens enjoy one of the highest living standards in the world. Politically, Taiwan is a true democracy with free island-wide elections, press independence and political pluralism.

Mr. Speaker, Taiwan is a model of success for many countries in the world, and we need to give Taiwan our approbation and support.

ADDRESSING ALCOHOL AND THE COLLEGE CAMPUS

HON. DEBORAH PRYCE

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 28, 2000

Ms. PRYCE of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss a serious problem facing our society today—the misuse of beverage alcohol on our nation's college and university campuses. This problem negatively impacts students, universities and industry as well as our communities. Therefore, it is essential that these entities work together to solve this national problem. Mr. Speaker I would like to draw the attention of my colleagues to the creative solutions being pursued by community-based partnerships across America.

On October 23rd to 25th in Washington, D.C., a number of colleges and universities, along with the Distilled Spirits Council of the United States, will convene a national conference to discuss best practices, create new partnerships and share information on solutions to this complex problem. During this weekend, students, retailers, community leaders, manufacturers, university administrators, law enforcement officials and parents will come together in partnership to discuss solutions to this challenge.

I commend these institutions of higher education and the distilled spirits industry for their leadership on this issue. As is the case with many societal problems, solutions are most effective when everyone works together.

Mr. Speaker, I know I speak for many of my colleagues in saying we eagerly await the action-oriented plans this conference will produce. I wish all the participants, supporters and planning partners the best as they work together toward a common goal.

92ND DIVISION REUNION

HON. WILLIAM J. COYNE

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 28, 2000

Mr. COYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to call the House's attention to a reunion that will take place in my congressional district on October 6th through 8th. The U.S. Army's 92nd Infantry Division, the "Buffalo Division," will be holding a reunion at the Wyndham Garden Hotel in Pittsburgh.

The 92nd Infantry Division was an Army division composed of African American soldiers which saw action in both World War I and World War II. The 92nd Infantry Division served in the Meuse-Argonne region and Lorraine in World War I, and it participated in the hard fighting up the Italian peninsula during World War II. The Division saw action in World War II in the North Apennines and the Po Valley. It participated in the crossing of the Arno River, the occupation of Lucca, and the penetration of the Gothic Line, as well as an advance north along the Ligurian coast. The 92nd Division's actions demonstrated the bravery and dedication of African Americans to their country.

Until this year, the 92nd Infantry Division's annual reunions had always been held in Washington, D.C., but thanks to the initiative of the Reverend James Tillman, a veteran of the 92nd Infantry Division, the unit's 58th reunion will be held in Pittsburgh. Reverend Tillman and retired Army Lieutenant Colonel Patricia Tucker are co-chairing this reunion. The decision to hold this reunion in Pittsburgh reflects the fact that Alleghany County is home to roughly 100 of these "Buffalo Soldiers," but it also provides an excellent opportunity for raising the awareness of the region's residents about the combat service of patriotic African Americans in the U.S. Army at a time when it was operating under the shadow of racism, segregation, and discrimination. Mr. Speaker, I am proud that the veterans of the 92nd Infantry Division have chosen Pittsburgh for their annual reunion. I want to thank them for their heroic service to their country, and I want to extend a warm welcome to all of the reunion participants on behalf of the people of Pennsylvania's 14th Congressional District.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN ACT

HON. BARBARA LEE

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 28, 2000

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased that the House passed H.R. 1248, the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) of 1999 by a vote of 415–3. H.R. 1248 will reauthorize the act for 5 years and expand preventive measures against violence against women.

This measure will maintain and expand battered women's shelter programs, rape prevention programs as well as provide assistance to the growing number of victims.

While I was a state senator in California, I introduced similar legislation because I believed then, as I do now, that this issue is extremely important to the lives of women and their children. It has been ignored for too long.

In the past, domestic violence was not considered a crime. Today, however, police officers are getting trained to understand these crimes as well improve their ability to enforce the law.

VAWA has provided critical services to thousands of battered women. Since VAWA passed, the Department of Justice and Health and Human Services have awarded over $1.6 billion in grants nationwide to support the work of prosecutors, law enforcement officials, the courts, victims' advocates, health care and social service professionals, and intervention and prevention programs.

In addition, VAWA established a domestic violence hotline, which has received over half a million calls.

Unfortunately, domestic violence still devastates the lives of many women and children. Nearly 900,000 women experience violence at the hands of an intimate partner every year. Close to one-third of women murdered each year are killed by their husbands or significant other; and domestic violence accounts for over 20% of all violent crimes against women.

Children should not have to watch their mothers get beaten. Unfortunately, some of these children grow up to continue the cycle of abuse. And, they end up in prison.

Again, I am pleased with the passage of the VAWA because it has helped to save numerous lives of women and their children. This law has provided battered women and their children, a safe haven, and the support necessary for their physical and emotional security.

VAWA has given a second chance to these women as well as saved many of their lives.

Violence against women should not be tolerated. This legislation provides greater protections to all the women who have been victimized and abused.

AMERICAN INTERESTS IN THE MIDDLE EAST PEACE PROCESS

SPEECH OF

HON. JOHN D. DINGELL

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 26, 2000

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, yesterday, the House passed H.R. 5272, the inappropriately named "Peace Through Negotiations Act of 2000." This legislation is unnecessary, ill timed and not in the best interest of our country or the Middle East peace process. I believe, like the Administration, that the Palestinian Authority should not unilaterally declare statehood outside the framework of a negotiated peace settlement. Unilateral actions by either the Palestinians or Israelis can erode, disrupt, and possibly derail a peace process that we all support and want to see to conclusion in order for future generations to be able to live a normal and stable life.

For starters, this legislation was wholly unnecessary given President Arafat's recent decision not to unilaterally declare a state because it would jeopardize the peace process. Instead of acknowledging the fact that the Palestinian Authority acted with considerable restraint in making this decision, which I will note was not popular among the Palestinian people, we have unfairly and unnecessarily condemned the Palestinian Authority at the very time discussion between Arafat and Prime Minister Barak were underway.

I ask my colleagues, have you read this legislation known as the "Peace Through Negotiations Act?" I have and that is why I am concerned, because while the message sent by H.R. 5272 was bad, its substance is worse.

In particular, I am concerned that Section 4a(1) of the legislation supercedes a portion of the Middle East Peace Facilitation Act and reverses a presidential determination on the national security of the United States. Reversing a standing law that has successfully guided our policy in the Middle East peace process should only be done after serious deliberations. Reversing a Presidential action that he determines is in the national security of the United States is even more serious. Both these actions are done by this legislation without a single hearing or public request for the President's views. Members of the International Relations Committee were given less than twenty-four hours notice of the mark-up of this legislation. The bill passed the Committee on Tuesday with barely half the Members present and voting. The full House passed it on Wednesday under restrictive procedures denying anyone the opportunity to amend it. This legislation is too important to be acted upon in such a rushed fashion. To have done so does not speak highly of the Republican leadership of the House of Representatives.

Moreover, the legislation is flawed because it does not address unilateral actions of all parties. In my view, the unwillingness of the legislation to address unilateral actions of both sides puts our Middle East peace process negotiators in a terrible position. We in Congress should not take actions that make the efforts of American peacemakers more difficult.

My hope is that our colleagues in the Senate do not follow the House's sad example and rush to action without sufficient consideration of all of the ramifications of this legislation.

HONORING U.S. REPRESENTATIVE SOLOMON P. ORTIZ IN RECOGNITION OF THE PORT OF CORPUS CHRISTI'S DEDICATION OF ITS WATERFRONT DEVELOPMENT AS THE CONGRESSMAN SOLOMON P. ORTIZ INTERNATIONAL CENTER

HON. GRACE F. NAPOLITANO

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 28, 2000

Mrs. NAPOLITANO. Mr. Speaker, the Members of the Congressional Hispanic Caucus rise today to honor a respected colleague, an extraordinary Texan and effective public servant, Congressman SOLOMON P. ORTIZ. Since 1982, Congressman ORTIZ has served as a strong advocate for his constituents in the 27th Congressional District of Texas. During his 18 years of service, he has fought tirelessly to bring jobs and enhance the quality of life for residents of the Bay of Corpus Christi to the international border with Mexico.

In recognition of Congressman ORTIZ's lifetime of remarkable leadership and his work on behalf of the Port of Corpus Christi in the area of economic development and trade, Members from the Congressional Hispanic Caucus will join South Texans in Corpus Christi on September 29, 2000 to dedicate the Port of Corpus Christi's new international meeting facility and cruise terminal as "The Congressman Solomon P. Ortiz International Center."

According to William Dodge III, Port Commission Chairman, Congressman ORTIZ "... is a strong advocate for the Port of Corpus Christi. He continues to be a leader on international trade issues that significantly impact the Port and the South Texas region. The Congressman recognizes the importance of the Port to the region and always works to ensure that the Port has the necessary resources to help fulfill the mission of diversification. Naming the waterfront development in his honor is a tribute to his contributions and support of the Port."

Working with Congressman ORTIZ in the U.S. House of Representatives, and knowing first-hand of his endless passion and dedication to public service, we, the Members of the Congressional Hispanic Caucus applaud and endorse the actions of the citizens of South Texas in naming the International Center in his honor. Congressman ORTIZ will continue his significant work to support and strengthen the Port of Corpus Christi, promote international commerce, and ensure that global trade benefits his constituents and the people of the United States.

We urge all our colleagues to join us today in recognition of his 18 remarkable years of service and offer our personal congratulations on the occasion of the dedication of the Port of Corpus Christi's waterfront development as "The Congressman Solomon P. Ortiz International Center."
