

Kowalski's efforts, along with the play of seniors Maureen Leahy and Christal Murphy accounted for all of Minnechaug's 42 second half points.

A final win in the state championship, as if not impressive enough, capped off a perfect season of 25 wins and no losses for the Falcons. The final game was a battle of the undefeated as Brockton also headed into the final contest with a record of 24 wins and no losses. Minnechaug arrived at the final games as the Western Massachusetts champions for the fourth straight year.

Under the leadership and direction of Coach Dave Yelle, Minnechaug has dominated their competition from around the state. Over the past four seasons, the Falcons have compiled an outstanding total of 91 wins, including 18 wins in the postseason. Defense had been their greatest strength, holding opponents to an average of 32 points for the two playoff contests before the final.

Mr. Speaker, allow me to recognize the Minnechaug Regional High School girls' basketball team. The seniors are Melissa Kowalski, Christal Murphy, Abigail Lipinski and Maureen Leahy. Underclasswomen include Christina Conway, Cheri Murphy, Laura Mulcahy, Erica Bacon, Katie Clark, Sara McCarthy, Marybeth Maziarz and Julie Sullivan. The team is coached by Dave Yelle, and he is assisted by Pete Kowalski, Jason Fenlason and Elizabeth Ouellette. The Falcons are managed by Amy Gregorius, Tom Loper and Meghan Mitchell and the team trainer is Jason Patterson.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud and honored to extend my congratulations to the 1999–2000 Minnechaug Regional High School girls' basketball team. Their consistent record of dominance and excellence is certainly worthy of the attention of this Chamber. I wish Coach Yelle and the state champion Falcons the best of luck in defending their title next season.

IN SUPPORT OF H. CON. RES. 282
AND H. CON. RES. 228

HON. CAROLYN MCCARTHY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, April 10, 2000

Mrs. MCCARTHY of New York. Mr. Speaker, today I am supporting H. Con. Res. 282, The GI As Person of the Century Act, and H. Con. Res. 228, Honor Vietnam-era Armed Forces Act. These important bills recognize the sacrifices endured by our men and women who fought to protect the freedom we cherish.

Throughout our distinguished history, we have been blessed with the courage and determination of brave Americans who were willing to preserve democratic beliefs with their lives. From the gas-filled trenches of World War I to the flaming deserts of the Gulf War, our veterans wrote much of the history that transformed the United States from a young and naive country into a world leader and global superpower. It's a history lesson that makes you proud to be an American and respect those who fought for the freedoms we cherish.

Each regional conflict the United States entered there was always one consistent factor—a brave American in the trenches fighting to stop aggression. These brave men and women defended the most basic of the beliefs on which our Nation was created—that freedom is worth putting our lives in harms way to preserve. We owe them a great deal of gratitude and respect.

That is why I support legislation that designated the "American GI" as the "Person of the Century". We honor them because it was their blood, their resolution, and their love of country that became infectious and spread from one generation to another.

Lastly, we should never forget those brave men and women who never returned home from fighting to protect what our flag symbolizes. Many were either captured or killed. In Vietnam there are still over 2,000 soldiers classified either Prisoners of War or Missing in Action. The anguish they suffer, as well as their families, is indescribable.

The Honor Vietnam-era Armed Forces Act recognizes the service and sacrifices by members of the Armed Forces and federal civilian employees who, during the Vietnam era, served proudly to protect those in need. This measure also honors the sacrifices and hardships endured by the families of individuals who lost their lives or remain unaccounted during this tumultuous era.

Vietnam veterans, like their fallen brethren before them, exemplify a spirit of nationality and patriotism that continues to thrive today.

Veterans are the unsung heroes who define our American heritage. They are ordinary citizens who answered their call to duty and fought for something they believed in. They remember the places they were stationed, their training, and they certainly remember their days in combat. It is an experience the rest of us can only read about and marvel at. Although we can never adequately express our thanks to those who could not return to us, we remember them by supporting the legislation before us today.

IN HONOR OF THE SIMON
WIESENTHAL CENTER LIBRARY AND ARCHIVES

HON. HENRY A. WAXMAN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, April 10, 2000

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am delighted to recognize the Simon Wiesenthal Center—Museum of Tolerance Library and Archives, an extraordinary institution in the 29th District of California, which I represent, that is dedicated to teaching the importance of Holocaust remembrance and the defense of human rights. The Library and Archives is being honored this week in conjunction with National Library Week; chosen by the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) as one of four libraries, nationwide, to receive the first annual National Award for Library Services.

The Simon Wiesenthal Center Library and Archives' broad collections document the Holocaust in Nazi Germany and the many other tragic genocides of the 20th century. The library holdings of over 30,000 books and periodicals document antisemitism, racism, and related issues, and are available to researchers, media, students and the public. The archives, containing an extensive array of original documents, manuscripts, personal narratives, diaries, artifacts, photographs, magazines, newspaper, maps, and original artwork, have evolved into a primary research depository for materials dealing with the Holocaust and the pre-World War II Jewish experience.

In partnership with the Simon Wiesenthal Center Museum of Tolerance, the Library and Archives maintains a number of excellent education programs to fulfill its mission of teaching the dangers of bigotry and the importance of tolerance. In addition to answering over 500 inquiries a week, hosts numerous visiting authors, scholars and civic leaders to bring its message to the community. The Library and Archives also sponsors a dynamic "Contact a Survivor" program of direct, electronic, eye-witness discussions between Holocaust survivors and students.

The IMLS award is a tribute to the power of libraries to reach families and communities across America and around the world, and the Simon Wiesenthal Center Library and Archives is a deserving recipient. Under the leadership of Adaire Klein, it continues to make a tremendous contribution to preserving the lessons of the Holocaust and the legacy of its victims for future generations. We owe the Simon Wiesenthal Center, Ms. Klein and her staff a debt of gratitude for this distinguished record of accomplishment. I thank them for the devoted service and extend my best wishes for the future.

CONGRATULATIONS AND GOOD LUCK TO SHEREKA WRIGHT

HON. CHET EDWARDS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, April 10, 2000

Mr. EDWARDS. Mr. Speaker, I congratulate a great high school student and basketball player from my Texas congressional district—Shereka Wright—on her selection as the 1999–2000 Gatorade National High School Girls Basketball Champion. Shereka was chosen for this honor out of the 454,000 high school girls basketball players across the country. Past winners of this award include Emmitt Smith, Lisa Leslie, Chris Webber, Peyton Manning, Tim Couch, Kobe Bryant, and Alex Rodriguez.

Shereka Wright will graduate from Copperas Cove High School in Copperas Cove, Texas, next month after four tremendous years as a basketball player. Her long list of achievements already rivals many professional basketball players.

Just this season, Shereka has averaged 25 points, 10 rebounds, four assists, three steals, and two blocks per game. Over the course of her career, she has scored over 3,000 points. That feat places her in the top-25 scorers of all-time. She has been selected as the Most Valuable Player of the Nike Tournament of Champions in California twice. She has also been named to the Conference AAAAA 1st Team All-State in Texas for four consecutive years.

Shereka's commitment to success off the court is equally impressive. She truly is a student athlete and has maintained a 3.6 grade point average. She has also volunteered her time working with the Youth Teen Summit and summer youth basketball camps.

Shereka will attend Purdue University in the fall. I feel certain she will continue to be an outstanding player, student, and leader for many years to come.

I ask Members to join me and offer our heartfelt congratulations on a job well done and best wishes for continued success, to a student and athlete—Shereka Wright.

COMMENDING CHASITY SNYDER

HON. MICHAEL G. OXLEY

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, April 10, 2000

Mr. OXLEY. Mr. Speaker, today I commend the courageous acts of Chasity Snyder, a heroine from Lima, OH. Her extraordinary act of bravery can serve as an inspiration to us all.

[From People Magazine, March 27, 2000]

SMALL MARVEL

Afloat on her Yellow Jacket, Chas Snyder, 11, saves a pair of canoeists in peril.

It was one of those delightfully warm days that can fool the winter-weary into thinking the worst is over. So in Lima, Ohio, home-maker Cherie Snyder took her daughter Chasity, 11, down to the reservoir on March 6 to see if they could hook a few fish. Meanwhile, James H. Moore Sr., 36, a delivery driver, and Aaron Schafer, 22, a roofer, had already launched Moore's newly patched canoe on a test run. But the two men were about 25 yards from shore when the canoe started to roll. They jumped—without life jackets—into water so frigid that swimming was nearly impossible. Spotting the men struggling, Snyder, 30, waded in to try to save them, but quickly retreated because of the cold.

That's when Chas sprang into action. "I said, 'Chas, no!'" recalls her mother. But Chas shouted, "Mom, I have to! I've got to do something!" and then shed her yellow winter jacket and leaped in. Using the jacket as a flotation device she paddled out to Moore, who had slipped below the surface, and dragged him to where he could touch bottom. "I had floaties when I was little," says Chas, and explains that the jacket looked similar. Chas then helped Lynn Wallace, 41, who was on an afternoon walk, rescue Schafer. "If that little girl hadn't been there," Moore says of Chas, "I would be in the funeral home."

Back home after the rescue, Chas, who lives with Cherie and her four siblings, says she never doubted she could help the men: "My guardian angel and God gave me courage and told me I could do it and nothing would happen to me."

HONORING THE HAMMOND CARPENTER'S UNION LOCAL 599

HON. PETER J. VISCLOSKY

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, April 10, 2000

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct honor to congratulate some of the most dedicated and skilled workers in Northwest Indiana. On April 8, 2000, in a salute to their workers' durability and longevity, the Hammond Carpenter's Union Local 599 recognized their members for 25 years or more of dedicated service. They were recognized during a pin ceremony banquet to be held on Saturday at the Carpenter's Union Hall in Hammond, Indiana. These individuals, in addition to the other Local 599 members who have served Northwest Indiana so diligently for such a long period of time, are a testament to the prototypical American worker: loyal, dedicated, and hardworking.

The Carpenter's Local 599, which received its charter in 1899, honored members for their years of devoted service. The members honored for 55 years of service include: John Giba, Sylvester Reising and Tensey Roberts. The members honored for 50 years of service include: Robert J. Busch, Robert Herhold, Earnest Latta, Kenneth Ogden and Oliver J. Vogeler. The members honored for 45 years of service include: Louis B. Biedron, Lafayette M. Bundren, William J. Burgess, Guy Casey, William C. Dowdy, Elmer F. Lucas, Raymond Lukowski and John Sills. The members honored for 40 years of service include: John M. Davich, Robert Dimichelle, C. J. Krupinski, Ethard McIlroy, Richard Meyers, John E. Shoup, William Simmons, Joseph M. Staes and Robert Washington. The members honored for 35 years of service include: John R. Billings, Kenneth E. Clayton, James McCready, Harold Neil, Elmer C. Phelps, Jr., Paul V. Reppa, Dale R. Robert, Harold Sills and Richard C. Thiel. The members honored for 30 years of service include: Robert E. Hindahl, Donald King, Joseph Lippie and Richard A. Polus.

As Orville Dewey said, "Labor is man's greatest function. He is nothing, he can be nothing, he can achieve nothing, he can fulfill nothing, without working." The men and women of Local 599, in addition to all of the local unions in Northwest Indiana, form the backbone of our economy and community. Without their blood, sweat, and tears, Indiana's First Congressional District would not be a place of which to be proud, it would not be the place I love, nor would it be my home.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that you and my distinguished colleagues join me in congratulating these dedicated, honorable, and outstanding members of the Hammond Carpenter's Union Local 599, in addition to all the hardworking union men and women in America. The men and women of Local 599 are a fine representation of America's union men and women; I am proud to represent such dedicated men and women in Congress. Their hard labor and dauntless courage are the achievement and fulfillment of the American dream.

INTRODUCTION OF BILL TO RE- DUCE TEMPORARILY THE DUTY ON FIPRONIL TECHNICAL

HON. WILLIAM J. JEFFERSON

OF LOUISIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, April 10, 2000

Mr. JEFFERSON. Mr. Speaker, I am introducing legislation to reduce the ad valorem duty on the active ingredient used in a product known as fipronil technical, an insecticide registered for use on dozens of crops, in the animal health industry to control fleas and ticks, and most importantly in urban pest control to stop the spread of destructive termites.

As many of my colleagues know, the entire Gulf Coast is under attack by Formosan termites. The invasion is costing homeowners, businesses and local governments hundreds of millions annually. Biologists have traced these insatiable termites to twelve states. In my district—New Orleans—Formosan termites have caused more damage than tornadoes, hurricanes and floods combined. Experts trace the migration of these voracious termites to the continental United States back to the return of World War II cargo ships from the Far East to ports throughout the country. Since then, the Formosan termite has increased beyond control, infesting trees, homes and other buildings. Traditional forms of pesticides do not work on this termite and while efforts are underway to develop a termiticide that will eradicate the Formosan pests, we must also consider new products.

We have been working with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and with manufacturers of pest control products to bring new products to the market to help us in our efforts to stop these destructive insects. A new product, fipronil, was officially registered for use by the EPA just last September and is being introduced into the market this month. This new product is applied to the perimeter of buildings and within three months the termites have died. The chemical is a non-repellent so the insects carry it to the nest and contaminate it before the other termites can detect it. Other products take much longer to produce results and are more labor intensive.

Fipronil has no domestic producer which would be disadvantaged by the tariff reduction and other termiticides do not work in the same way that fipronil does. Fipronil has also been approved for use in treating trees. We are losing our old historic trees in New Orleans at an alarming rate to the Formosan termites. This product gives us hope that we will be able to stop this attack.

My bill allows the makers of this product to bring the active ingredient into the United States at a reduced tariff rate. The product is finished, packaged and used in the U.S. creating jobs in both the manufacturing side as well as the pest control industry.

I look forward to working with my colleagues to advance this proposal.
