

agencies, States, the Southeast and Northeast Northern Atlantic Right Whale Recovery Plan Implementation Team and the Atlantic Large Whale Take Reduction Team, pursuant to the authority provided under the Endangered Species Act, the Marine Mammal Protection Act, and the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act.

This legislation would require the Secretary of Commerce within 6 months of enactment, to initiate demonstration projects designed to result in the immediate reductions in North Atlantic right whale deaths. There are 4 distinct areas that I believe we should be focusing our attention on. First, we should develop acoustic detection and tracking technologies to monitor the migration of right whales so that ships at sea can avoid right whales. Second, we need to continue work on individual satellite tags for right whales. This is yet another way that we can track whale migration and alert ships at sea of the presence of whales and avoid ship strikes. Third, this legislation would speed up the development of neutrally buoyant line and "weak link" fishing gear, so that we can either avoid having whales become entangled in the first place or when they do the "weak links" break and they can more easily become disentangled. Finally this legislation supports research and testing into developing innovative ways to increase the success of disentanglement efforts.

This legislation allows for the government to provide fishermen "whale safe" fishing gear in high use or critical habitat areas. This is crucial, because once we have developed this "whale safe" gear we need to get it in the water as soon as possible. I believe an assistance program that is fair to fishermen will be needed and we are asking the agencies to tell us the potential costs so we can ensure that the gear can be deployed where needed.

This legislation requires the Secretary of Transportation and Commerce to develop and implement a comprehensive ship strike avoidance plan for Right Whales because ship strikes are the leading cause of right whale mortalities. The plan incorporates the Mandatory Reporting System which I helped shepherd through Congress in 1997. This system requires large vessels traveling through designated critical right whale habitats to contact area Coast Guard authorities. Ship pilots report course, speed, location, destination and route and are alerted to the presence or nearby whales. The system has helped mariners to better navigate away from these endangered animals. Through this legislation, the reporting system will be improved to include the collection and analysis of data on traffic patterns and ship strikes.

This legislation also establishes a right whale research grant program. This program will establish a peer review process of all innovative biological and technical projects designed to protect right whales. In addition to the scientific community, this peer review team will also be comprised of representatives of the fishing industry and the maritime transportation industry. It is important that from the very beginning we have the input of the people who are on the water every day. Their knowledge and experience is absolutely necessary to developing innovative practices and techniques to save right whales.

Congress has appropriated over $8 million dollars in the last two years to protect right whales. I believe that now is the time to develop a comprehensive plan that spells out what we can do immediately to better protect these whales and focus our research efforts on innovative ideas and technologies that can identify whale migrations.

ALL STAR TRANSPLANT REUNION

HON. CHARLES A. GONZALEZ

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 11, 2001

Mr. GONZALEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to commend the Texas Transplant Institute (TTI) in San Antonio, Texas for hosting a special All Star Transplant Reunion. This event will honor all transplant patients and living donors from every Transplant Institute Program in Texas. Guests will also be joined by Spurs basketball player and donor recipient, Sean Elliott.

San Antonio's Texas Transplant Institute was created in 1999 by combining the solid organ transplant program at Methodist Speciality and Transplant Hospital with the bone marrow/stem cell transplant program at Methodist Hospital. Over the years, the Institute has expanded. In May 2001, a liver transplant program was added to the Institute. And in July, a pediatric kidney transplant program was added to complete the full range of services provided at the Texas Transplant Institute.

Today, the Texas Transplant Institute is the only program in the United States that combines the resources and talents of both the bone marrow/stem cell program and the solid organ transplant program under one entity. Through its mission of "Continuing the Legacy of Hope Through Patient Care, Research and Education," the Texas Transplant Institute is dedicated to serving patients who are in need of organ and bone marrow/stem cell transplants. Collectively, these programs have served over 2,500 patients. It has performed 1,684 kidney transplants, 631 bone marrow/stem cell transplants, 212 heart transplants, and 2 liver transplants to patients all over the United States.

On October 13, 2001, hundreds of transplant recipients, patients on waiting lists, and living donors who are considered an inspiration to more than 80,000 men, women, and children will unite. Many will meet for the first time with their respective donors, as well as other individuals who will attend and are urgently awaiting for a transplant to replace a failing kidney, heart, liver, lung, or pancreas.

Mr. Speaker, once again, I would like to commend the Texas Transplant Institute for hosting this special All Star Transplant Reunion. I especially want to thank the doctors and staff at TTI for their hard work and dedication and I wish them well as they continue their life-saving services to the community.

A PRAYER FOR MY COUNTRY

HON. NICK SMITH

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 11, 2001

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, I would like to share with my colleagues a poem written by Sarah Shaw for her Jerome, Michigan, church service, September 30, 2001.

A PRAYER FOR MY COUNTRY

It's utter terror—disbelief, at what my eyes behold.

It's so unbelievable, as I watch this scene unfold.

Where three years ago I'd been there, and had marvelled at the sight.

The majestic New York City skyline, all lit up by night.

Now horror, seeing attacks, watching both towers aflame

Saw the huge plane flying, as for its attack it came

With total disbelief I stood, staring at my T.V.

This cannot be happening!! This cannot truly be!!

But it was real indeed, the U.S.A. had been attacked!

So our nation plunged into war—it's a deadly fact.

The scene was there before me, the story slowly revealed.

For the passengers in four hi-jacked planes—their doom was sealed.

The hi-jackers were so full of hate flying through the sky,

Their aim to "kill America" to do so they would die.

Two of the planes hit both twin towers squarely—all aflame.

One plane to the Capital, the Pentagon, was its aim.

The last plane met resistance from some passengers, so brave,

A Pennsylvania mountain became its deadly grave.

So the tale of this tragedy spread across our Nation,

Dazed people unable to believe this revelation.

How could it be? How can lives be changed in just a moment?

How could anyone hate like that? With so much vengeance vent?

But it was real indeed, the U.S.A. had been attacked,

Our Nation plunged into a war, it was a deadly fact.

Through the days that followed, found me glued to my T.V. set,

This tragedy consumed me, I felt so helpless—and yet

My deep desire was to be a part of the rescue teams,

Then I could go into combat against those evil schemes,

Of those who brought destruction, who had attacked our Nation.

Since I could not go, I'm left with sadness and frustration.

The scene was utter destruction, the question, where to start?

Many rescue workers poured in, coming to do their part.

Firemen and police men, skilled workers with their big machines.

Doctors and nurses and ambulances, also on the scene.

All working tirelessly, upon this mountain of debris.

How frantically they struggled, to find victims to set free.

Then new disaster, damaged buildings suddenly collapsed,

The rescue teams became the victims, as many were trapped.

Rescuers continued working, they knew they must go on.

The missing, numbered thousands, so they searched from dawn to dawn.

Our Nation now in mourning, candles lit across the land.

Our red, white and blue flags waving, many in childrens hands.

At Washington Cathedral, folks of all creeds gathered there.

Joining our President and Congress, in a time of prayer.

Also at this service, four past Presidents of our Nation,

With all heads bowed, aching hearts, seeking God's affirmation.

In churches, and in town halls, in parks all across our land.

Prayers of every creed and language, God will understand.

So now in our sorrow, we must all turn to God above,

May he surround our Nation with his everlasting love! Amen.

CONGRATULATING THE PEOPLE OF TAIWAN ON NATIONAL DAY

HON. JAMES R. LANGEVIN

OF RHODE ISLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 11, 2001

Mr. LANGEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to extend to the people of Taiwan my congratulations on the occasion of National Day. Today's event reminds us of the strong ties and shared principles between the United States and the people of Taiwan.

Today, the people in Taiwan continue to enjoy high standards of living. Under the leadership of President Chen Shui-Bian, Taiwan has demonstrated great economic resilience and has made gestures to improve dialogue with the mainland. Additionally, Taiwan's relationship with the United States is becoming increasingly strong. Bilateral trade between Taiwan and the United States topped $64.8 billion last year, and Taiwan is the United States' eighth largest trading partner. Last year, nearly 30,000 students from Taiwan were enrolled in United States colleges and universities. Additionally, the United States, outside of Asia, is the number one destination for Taiwan travelers. Clearly, Taiwan and the United States share many values in common such as attachment to freedom, democracy and human rights.

I also wish to thank President Chen for his strong words of support after the terrorist attacks of September 11. The people of Taiwan recognize the importance of solidarity in times of difficulty, as they recently coped with the devastating effects of two typhoons, and I thank them for their offer to assist in international efforts to eliminate worldwide terrorism.

On this day of celebration for the people of Taiwan, I offer them my best regards and gratitude for their support and friendship.
