

the Society was given the land necessary to establish a school, and the doors to the first school opened on Jefferson Avenue, between St. Antoine and Beaubien Streets, in 1861.

In its first 20 years, this institution—dedicated to the pursuit of “faith seeking understanding” and the service of others—underwent a tenfold increase in enrollment. Detroit’s economic growth paralleled the school’s increasing enrollment, and the school found itself surrounded by factories and warehouses. The changing demographic led the school to sell its building, in 1918, to the Packard Motor Co. The school relocated to the corner of Lawrence and Woodrow Wilson Avenues. Further development and the establishment of the Lodge Freeway separated this new facility from the neighborhoods it served and enrollment dropped. This led the school to seek yet another new campus.

The third incarnation of the Academy of the Sacred Heart led it to its present location in Bloomfield Hills, MI. Today, the Academy continues to build on its tradition of faith and dedication to service. Attendance has blossomed at the school with nearly 500 students, of many faiths and cultural backgrounds, from all across the Detroit area. In addition to receiving quality academic instruction, students at the Academy learn by performing community service through various organizations in Detroit.

The entire Academy of the Sacred Heart community—the Society of the Sacred Heart, the faculty, alumni and current students—can take pride in the school’s long and honorable service to the people of Michigan. I hope my Senate colleagues will join me in saluting the Academy of the Sacred Heart for a century and a half of achievement and in wishing them well on the next century and a half of continued success.●

JOINT RESOLUTION

Whereas, the passage of alewives, or "gaspereaux," upstream of the Woodland Dam and Grand Falls Dam on the St. Croix River is a matter of mutual concern to the communities of the St. Croix River; and

Whereas, the United States Government, the State of Maine, the Government of Canada and the Province of New Brunswick have not yet completed a formal agreement regarding the release of alewives, or "gaspereaux," in the St. Croix river; and release hundreds of alewives, or "gaspereaux," around the Woodland Dam: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That We, the Members of the One Hundred and Twentieth Legislature of the State of Maine now assembled in the First Regular Session, recognize that it is the best interest of the United States Government, the Government of Canada and the Province of New Brunswick to hold public hearings and consult with interest private and public entities and Native Americans to address and resolve the issues surrounding the release of alewives, or "gaspereaux," above the Woodland Dam and Grand Falls Dam; and be it further POM-185. A joint resolution adopted by the Legislature of the State of Alaska relative to digital orthoimagery and digital elevation data; to the Committee on Appropriations.

H. J. RES. 19

Whereas reliable, current, statewide base geographic information is essential for public safety and continued economic development of our resources and to increase the livability of our state; and

Whereas orthoimagery and elevation data are considered the foundation of the framework of base geographic data; and

Whereas Alaska does not have digital orthoimagery or accurate elevation data; and

Whereas Alaska's statewide base geographic information is very poor; United States Geological Survey (USGS) maps of Alaska are over 40 years old, lack statewide coverage, and do not meet National Map Accuracy Standards; and there is no existing or planned program to replace them; and

Whereas the current imagery of Alaska acquired through the Alaska High Altitude Aerial Photography Program is over 20 years old, not in digital form, and therefore not available for modern technological use; and

Whereas leading state policymakers defined topographic and other basic mapping as the number one mapping need at the December 2000 meeting sponsored by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration; and

Whereas funding situations in federal and state agencies have not allowed Alaska to be a participant in the National Aerial Photography Program and the National Digital Orthophoto Program providing complete aerial photography and orthoimagery coverage for the lower 48 states on a regular basis; and

Whereas NASA's 2000 Shuttle Radar Topography Mission for producing elevation data for topographic mapping covered 80 percent of the world but less than 20 percent of Alaska because it did not map above 60 degrees North latitude; and

Whereas new orthoimagery and elevation data provide common data foundation layers
