

HONORING CHARLES PALERMO ON HIS RECEIVING NEW JERSEY
DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL

HON. FRANK A. LoBIONDO

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. LoBIONDO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a South Jerseyman who has been honored for his brave service in World War II. Charles Palermo of Ocean City, New Jersey, a World War II veteran, was presented with the New Jersey Distinguished Service Medal on December 17, 2001 at the Cumberland County College. The New Jersey Distinguished Service Medal is the State's top military award and was given to Mr. Palermo in honor of the sacrifices he made for his country as a combat soldier.

Sergeant Palermo enlisted in the Marine Corps and was shipped out to the Pacific Theater where he spent nearly three years in combat, coming face to face with death several times. In the South Pacific, Sgt. Palermo escaped death more than once, when Japanese bombs hit the amphibious tank he was aboard. He recalled this harrowing escape later saying, "The worst experience was on August 11th and 12th at Guadalcanal. We had 13 men and four tanks. All the lights went out and we were stranded in the ocean. There was a big battle (during which Palermo's tank got hit by a bomb seconds after he and his crew jumped out). The next morning, there were a lot of dead bodies in the water—both Americans and Japanese," he said. Another time, Palermo did not escape the tank before an enemy bomb hit struck the vehicle. This time he was injured, suffering burns from the waist up. "It wasn't that bad," Palermo commented. On the island of Peleliu, he witnessed two of his friends enter a cave to seek out the enemy. But they never came out, he said.

The New Jersey Distinguished Service Medal was authorized by the State of New Jersey to honor all of the returning combat veterans and acknowledge the debt the State owed them for their service. "The New Jersey veterans receiving the Distinguished Service Medal are a credit to our State and our Nation. Their sacrifice and their bravery in combat is truly deserving of New Jersey's highest military award," said Acting Governor Donald DiFrancesco, of the honorees. Mr. Speaker, I concur with that sentiment and extend my thanks and appreciation to Mr. Charles Palermo who, like so many of his fellow World War II veterans, came forward to defend America and freedom.

HONORING AND REMEMBERING
BOSTON CITY COUNCILOR BRIAN HONAN

HON. MICHAEL E. CAPUANO

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. CAPUANO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor and remember Boston City Councilor Brian Honan, an effective, passionate and admired public servant who was taken from us far too soon. I had the privilege of working with Brian and witnessed firsthand his dedication to the Allston-Brighton neighborhoods he represented.

Whether it was fighting to preserve affordable housing or working to enhance the quality of life for his constituents, Brian approached every issue with a determination to lend a helping hand. His interest was never getting a headline, only that his constituents benefited from his efforts.

Brian loved public service, something quite evident to anyone who watched him perform the duties of a Boston City Councilor. Every person, and every issue, was important and he worked tirelessly to represent the men and women who elected him. No issue was too trivial and no concern was too small.

Brian's devotion to the community extended beyond his official responsibilities. In particular, he was especially interested in creating opportunities for youth. You need look no further than the number of local institutions with which he had a powerful, positive relationship—the West End House Boys and Girls Club, the Oak Square YMCA, St. Columbkille's School, the Gardner School—the list could go on. Each serves young people and each enjoyed Brian's unswerving support.

We lost a bright light and a powerful voice this summer, but Brian's legacy of hard work will live on. The impact he had on the neighborhoods of Allston-Brighton is evident in countless ways and the City of Boston is a better place because of him. My thoughts and prayers are with Brian's family and friends.

I am honored to have known and worked with such a compassionate and effective public servant.

COMMEMORATION OF ARTBA'S
100TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. GARY G. MILLER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. GARY G. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, as a Representative of California, I appreciate the importance transportation plays in the daily lives of Americans. Whether it be the movement of goods and services or one's personal utilization of our expansive transportation network, America's transportation infrastructure has continued to thrive and evolve at unprecedented levels. The knowledge and efforts dedicated by groups such as America Road & Transportation Builders Association (ARTBA) have played a vital role in ensuring America's roadways, airports and waterways continue to effectively and efficiently meet our transportation needs.

This country has become the prosperous and efficacious nation that we live in today, due largely to the ingenuity and persistence demonstrated by so many Americans. Horatio Sawyer Earle, one of ARTBA's founding fathers, set out in 1902 to materialize a vision he had of connecting all the states' capitals through a network of highways. What ensued was an organization and set of ideas that has, for 100 years and counting, been at the vanguard of envisioning and implementing improvements to our nation's transportation infrastructure.

In areas of commerce, as well as personal commute, transportation has incorporated itself as an indispensable aspect of America's growth. America's transportation network enables us to partake in a tremendous $6 trillion worth of freight. The transportation construction industry itself is worth $160 billion a year and employs 1.6 million people. America has seen the successful implementation of these transportation endeavors in large part due to ARTBA's fielded expertise and fruitful consultations.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to personally express both my admiration for ARTBA in reaching this 100-year milestone, and my gratitude for their unparalleled contributions to America's transportation infrastructure.

RECOGNITION OF LARRY T. WILSON,
NEWLY ELECTED DIRECTOR ON THE BOARD OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF
FEDERAL CREDIT UNIONS (NAFCU)

HON. DAVID E. PRICE

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. PRICE of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to recognize Larry Wilson, the President and CEO of Coastal Federal Credit Union, for his recent election to the Board of the National Association of Federal Credit Unions (NAFCU).

Larry has been President and CEO of Coastal Federal Credit Union, located in the Fourth District North Carolina, since 1974. During his tenure, Coastal Federal Credit Union has grown in assets from $2.7 million to $1.245 billion; it now serves over 100,000 members from the great State of North Carolina.

Larry Wilson's accomplishments are impressive indeed. He was named NAFCU's Professional of the Year in 1985, and in 1992, Larry was crowned Executive of the Year by the Credit Union Executive Society. His illustrious career further includes leadership in the North Carolina Credit Union League, the North Carolina Credit Union Network, the Eastern North Carolina Better Business Bureau, and the Triangle Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Larry's contributions also shine through in Coastal Federal Credit Union's track record. In 1991, Coastal Federal Credit Union was recognized as Credit Union of the Year by NAFCU. Earlier this year, at NAFCU's Annual Conference, Small Business Administration Administrator Hector Barreto singled out Coastal Federal Credit Union for its significant contribution to improving the lives of the underserved.

Coastal Federal Credit Union participates in and sponsors an array of programs that benefit the local community, as well as communities throughout the State. During the holidays, Coastal Federal Credit Union sponsors and sells a Christmas card designed by a child who is a patient at Duke Children's Hospital, with all proceeds going to the hospital. Coastal Federal Credit Union has also helped to raise more than $400,000 to establish the bone marrow transplant unit at Duke Children's Hospital.

Coastal Federal Credit Union, in participation with credit unions throughout North Carolina, joined together to raise $265,000 to purchase and staff a motor home that travels to various cities in North Carolina to educate the public about child abuse prevention. This training unit is the first of its kind in the Nation. Through Larry and his employees, Coastal Federal Credit Union's motto of "people helping people" is put into practice every day.

As a highly respected voice for credit unions in our Nation's Capitol, NAFCU will be well served by Larry's membership on the Board. There is no question that Larry's 28 years of dedicated work, personal knowledge and expertise in the credit union industry will help to keep Congress connected with issues that are vital to credit unions both in North Carolina and across America. I congratulate Larry Wilson on his recent election to the NAFCU Board and look forward to continuing to work with him and our Nation's Federal credit unions.

SALUTING UVALDE, TEXAS AND THE WEST MAIN LIBRARY MU-SEUM ARCHIVES PROJECT

HON. HENRY BONILLA

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. BONILLA. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of An Extravaganza in Old Uvalde (AEIOU), which was held in Uvalde, Texas on September 6th and 7th. This annual event is a fundraiser for the West Main Library Museum Archives Project.

The West Main Project will provide the people of Uvalde and the surrounding area access to a myriad of printed information. In addition, through its archives and museum, the project will play a critical role in preserving the culture of this beautiful region. This facility will provide the room and the resources to meet the needs of the community.

South Texas is home to a unique crossroads of cultures. This facility will remind area children of our heritage and provide a forum through which to share this heritage with neighbors and visitors alike. The library will chronicle the unique experiences of residents of the area, preserving their experiences on videotape for generations to come. It will showcase area geological, cultural, social and other historical artifacts. With archaeological and written documentation, the museum will tell the story of what Uvalde is and what it has been.

El Progreso will provide a place for local children to conduct research and be tutored, for migrant families to learn English, and for seniors to learn to use the Internet. It will provide a place for partnerships between educational, governmental, civic and social service organizations to flourish. It will allow residents to give back to the community through volunteering in a variety of capacities.

Education, history and culture are important parts of our past. I commend Uvalde for its leadership in preserving the past while building towards the future. It is my sincere hope that thanks to the West Main Project, Uvalde will soon be home to the best library and archives in all of West Texas.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. JAMES H. MALONEY

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. MALONEY. Mr. Speaker, I was absent on Monday September 9, 2002, and missed Roll Call votes #375, 376, and 377. Had I been present, I would have voted Aye on Roll Call #375, Aye on Roll Call Vote #376, and Aye on Roll Call Vote #377.

IN REMEMBRANCE OF POLIO
SURVIVORS

HON. JOHN R. THUNE

OF SOUTH DAKOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. THUNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the many survivors of polio. Paralytic poliomyelitis, or polio as it is commonly referred to, often seems to be remembered as a disease of the past—a disease that afflicted millions of Americans during the Great Depression. Americans no longer experience the fear that seized our parents and grandparents during the summer months, when polio epidemics thrived. Polio hit quickly, no cure was available, and its victims were left crippled for life.

For many years, controlling polio's transmission was vigorously debated. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, one of America's most famous polio survivors, declared war on polio with the creation of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, now known as the March of Dimes, in 1937. Through federal funding, researchers Joseph Salk and Albert Sabin developed two different polio vaccines in the 1950s. Shortly after, polio was eradicated in much of the industrialized world, providing a vast number of economic and social benefits.

The World Health Organization has taken great strides to eliminate polio throughout the world, and polio now only exists in ten countries worldwide. However, as long as polio exists, no man, woman, or child is completely safe from the disease.

September 2002 marks the 50th Anniversary of North America's most devastating polio epidemic. This epidemic touched the lives of nearly 60,000 people, leaving many with lifelong physical disabilities.

There are approximately 16,000,000 polio survivors in the United States today. Many of these survivors suffer from Post-Polio Sequelae, or PPS, symptoms, such as overwhelming fatigue, muscle and joint pain, sleeping disorders, and difficulty swallowing and breathing.

Every American should be aware of this once devastating disease as well as the affects still felt by survivors of polio. While remembering these people, we will aim to educate both polio survivors and doctors about the symptoms of PPS. By raising awareness, we will be able to inform polio survivors on the simple and effective therapies available to treat PPS and to make their lives easier.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and I encourage all of my colleagues to join me in declaring September "Polio Survivors' Month," and honoring these brave survivors of polio.

HONORING CORTRANS LOGISTICS, LLC

HON. BOB BARR

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. BARR of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, the past year has been marked by tough economic conditions and the thought of succeeding in the market as a new competitor would be considered almost impossible. However, through hard work and determination, CorTrans Logistics, LLC of Norcross, Georgia, has beat the odds and proved itself one of the most eminent businesses in the market. In fact, it was recently ranked as number 42 in Entrepreneur magazine's "Hot 100" fastest growing businesses for 2002. CorTrans Logistics, LLC was also recognized in the Atlanta Journal Constitution for their advances in the marketplace.

CorTrans Logistics was founded in February 1999 by William R. Cortez, current president and CEO. He began the company with two employees and an initial investment of $100,000. The company has since expanded, yielding sales of $7.2 million in 2001; and now employees 12 individuals.

This group of individuals, specifically Bill Cortez, should be commended for not only the exemplary service they provide through their business, but also for overcoming the challenges presented to them in a tough economy. Their accomplishments are proof that through hard work, vision, integrity, and day-to-day perseverance, companies can survive and even thrive in today's fluctuating market.

IN HONOR OF THE 2002 VFW VOICE
OF DEMOCRACY AWARD WINNER
MEGHAN PASRICHA OF VFW
POST 2863

HON. MICHAEL N. CASTLE

OF DELAWARE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor and pay tribute to Meghan Pasricha, a Delawarean and winner of the Veterans of Foreign Wars' 2002 Voice Of Democracy Scholarship Contest. Each year the VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary give high school students an opportunity to vocalize their duty and patriotism for the United States by drafting broadcast scripts addressing their view of a citizen's duties to America.

Out of the 84,000 students who submitted scripts on the theme of "Reaching Out to America's Future," Meghan was one of 58 winners throughout the United States, and the First Place winner for Delaware's Local VFW Post 2863.

In a year when many citizens' faith was shaken and so many Americans are in search of a voice of hope for our Nation's future, Meghan's essay touched the highest aspirations of the American spirit and called for increased patriotism, activism and unity. This excerpt from her winning essay is a testament to her role as a future leader:

"Although the hearts of Americans are saddened by the recent tragedy, the American Spirit soars higher. The pace of change is suddenly accelerated. Even war has
