

various cities in North Carolina to educate the public about child abuse prevention. This training unit is the first of its kind in the Nation. Through Larry and his employees, Coastal Federal Credit Union's motto of "people helping people" is put into practice every day.

As a highly respected voice for credit unions in our Nation's Capitol, NAFCU will be well served by Larry's membership on the Board. There is no question that Larry's 28 years of dedicated work, personal knowledge and expertise in the credit union industry will help to keep Congress connected with issues that are vital to credit unions both in North Carolina and across America. I congratulate Larry Wilson on his recent election to the NAFCU Board and look forward to continuing to work with him and our Nation's Federal credit unions.

SALUTING UVALDE, TEXAS AND THE WEST MAIN LIBRARY MU-SEUM ARCHIVES PROJECT

HON. HENRY BONILLA

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. BONILLA. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of An Extravaganza in Old Uvalde (AEIOU), which was held in Uvalde, Texas on September 6th and 7th. This annual event is a fundraiser for the West Main Library Museum Archives Project.

The West Main Project will provide the people of Uvalde and the surrounding area access to a myriad of printed information. In addition, through its archives and museum, the project will play a critical role in preserving the culture of this beautiful region. This facility will provide the room and the resources to meet the needs of the community.

South Texas is home to a unique crossroads of cultures. This facility will remind area children of our heritage and provide a forum through which to share this heritage with neighbors and visitors alike. The library will chronicle the unique experiences of residents of the area, preserving their experiences on videotape for generations to come. It will showcase area geological, cultural, social and other historical artifacts. With archaeological and written documentation, the museum will tell the story of what Uvalde is and what it has been.

El Progreso will provide a place for local children to conduct research and be tutored, for migrant families to learn English, and for seniors to learn to use the Internet. It will provide a place for partnerships between educational, governmental, civic and social service organizations to flourish. It will allow residents to give back to the community through volunteering in a variety of capacities.

Education, history and culture are important parts of our past. I commend Uvalde for its leadership in preserving the past while building towards the future. It is my sincere hope that thanks to the West Main Project, Uvalde will soon be home to the best library and archives in all of West Texas.

IN REMEMBRANCE OF POLIO
SURVIVORS

HON. JOHN R. THUNE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. THUNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the many survivors of polio. Paralytic poliomyelitis, or polio as it is commonly referred to, often seems to be remembered as a disease of the past—a disease that afflicted millions of Americans during the Great Depression. Americans no longer experience the fear that seized our parents and grandparents during the summer months, when polio epidemics thrived. Polio hit quickly, no cure was available, and its victims were left crippled for life.

For many years, controlling polio's transmission was vigorously debated. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, one of America's most famous polio survivors, declared war on polio with the creation of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, now known as the March of Dimes, in 1937. Through federal funding, researchers Joseph Salk and Albert Sabin developed two different polio vaccines in the 1950s. Shortly after, polio was eradicated in much of the industrialized world, providing a vast number of economic and social benefits.

The World Health Organization has taken great strides to eliminate polio throughout the world, and polio now only exists in ten countries worldwide. However, as long as polio exists, no man, woman, or child is completely safe from the disease.

September 2002 marks the 50th Anniversary of North America's most devastating polio epidemic. This epidemic touched the lives of nearly 60,000 people, leaving many with lifelong physical disabilities.

There are approximately 16,000,000 polio survivors in the United States today. Many of these survivors suffer from Post-Polio Sequelae, or PPS, symptoms, such as overwhelming fatigue, muscle and joint pain, sleeping disorders, and difficulty swallowing and breathing.

Every American should be aware of this once devastating disease as well as the affects still felt by survivors of polio. While remembering these people, we will aim to educate both polio survivors and doctors about the symptoms of PPS. By raising awareness, we will be able to inform polio survivors on the simple and effective therapies available to treat PPS and to make their lives easier.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and I encourage all of my colleagues to join me in declaring September "Polio Survivors' Month," and honoring these brave survivors of polio.

HONORING CORTRANS LOGISTICS, LLC

HON. BOB BARR

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. BARR of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, the past year has been marked by tough economic conditions and the thought of succeeding in the market as a new competitor would be considered almost impossible. However, through hard work and determination, CorTrans Logistics, LLC of Norcross, Georgia, has beat the odds and proved itself one of the most eminent businesses in the market. In fact, it was recently ranked as number 42 in Entrepreneur magazine's "Hot 100" fastest growing businesses for 2002. CorTrans Logistics, LLC was also recognized in the Atlanta Journal Constitution for their advances in the marketplace.

CorTrans Logistics was founded in February 1999 by William R. Cortez, current president and CEO. He began the company with two employees and an initial investment of $100,000. The company has since expanded, yielding sales of $7.2 million in 2001; and now employees 12 individuals.

This group of individuals, specifically Bill Cortez, should be commended for not only the exemplary service they provide through their business, but also for overcoming the challenges presented to them in a tough economy. Their accomplishments are proof that through hard work, vision, integrity, and day-to-day perseverance, companies can survive and even thrive in today's fluctuating market.

IN HONOR OF THE 2002 VFW VOICE
OF DEMOCRACY AWARD WINNER
MEGHAN PASRICHA OF VFW
POST 2863

HON. MICHAEL N. CASTLE

OF DELAWARE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. CASTLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor and pay tribute to Meghan Pasricha, a Delawarean and winner of the Veterans of Foreign Wars' 2002 Voice Of Democracy Scholarship Contest. Each year the VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary give high school students an opportunity to vocalize their duty and patriotism for the United States by drafting broadcast scripts addressing their view of a citizen's duties to America.

Out of the 84,000 students who submitted scripts on the theme of "Reaching Out to America's Future," Meghan was one of 58 winners throughout the United States, and the First Place winner for Delaware's Local VFW Post 2863.

In a year when many citizens' faith was shaken and so many Americans are in search of a voice of hope for our Nation's future, Meghan's essay touched the highest aspirations of the American spirit and called for increased patriotism, activism and unity. This excerpt from her winning essay is a testament to her role as a future leader:

"Although the hearts of Americans are saddened by the recent tragedy, the American Spirit soars higher. The pace of change is suddenly accelerated. Even war has changed. In the future, our military will not only wage war against the terrorists and enemies, but will also wage campaigns to win the hearts of unknown victims in foreign countries. I strongly believe that Americans will see this time as an opportunity to reinvent ourselves and move forward."

I would like to acknowledge the dedication and resolve that Meghan has shown toward her own future and the future of her country. Through the generous outreach of the United States VFW and Ladies Auxiliary, young people like Meghan around the our Nation are able to vocalize their dedication to America and find within themselves how they will shape the future for themselves and their fellow citizens.

I would like to join my colleagues in congratulating Meghan and all of the 2002 VFW Voice of Democracy Scholarship Contest award winners.

HONORING THE 10TH ANNIVERSARY OF BOSNIAN INDEPENDENCE H. RES. 520

HON. BENJAMIN A. GILMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to note that earlier today I introduced H. Res. 520, which congratulates Bosnia and Herzegovina on the 10th anniversary of its independence.

The stability of the Balkans remains important to the stability of Europe as a whole, and the 10th anniversary of Bosnian independence serves as an important benchmark for United States efforts to foster stability in that region. It also serves as a reminder that we must continue our joint efforts to foment military security, improve public security and law enforcement, foster democratic governance, promote economic development and refugee assistance, bring war criminals to justice, and continue to provide the security umbrella under which democracy and free-market capitalism is able to develop and flourish.

Our goal is to help transform the Balkans into a region of stable democracies that fully participate in Euro-Atlantic institutions. Yet, the emergence of a stable Bosnia—whole, free and integrated into Europe—will require further support of all types from the United States. The three constituent peoples and others in Bosnia have realized that their political future lies in strengthening an independent fully functioning multiethnic Bosnia and Herzegovina. They deserve our commendation and support.

RECOGNIZING LOCAL HEROES ON SEPTEMBER 11

HON. FRANK R. WOLF

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 10, 2002

Mr. WOLF. Mr. Speaker, as our nation approaches the one-year anniversary of the unspeakable acts of terror against America on September 11, 2001, I join with my colleagues Representative TOM DAVIS and Representative JIM MORAN to recognize some of the people in the northern Virginia area who were among the first health care responders to the attack on the Pentagon.

We attended on September 3 an event recognizing those associated with the Inova Health System for their heroic efforts on September 11 and I share today the remarks of Jolene Tornabeni, executive vice president and chief operating officer for Inova Health System, as well as a copy of a resolution adopted by the Virginia General Assembly commending Inova Health System.

RECOGNIZING INOVA'S HEROES

(By Jolene Tornabeni)

As we approach the anniversary of September 11, no doubt every one of us can remember where we were and what we were doing when the planes crashed in New York, Pennsylvania and the Pentagon. Throughout Inova Health System, the memories of that day remain fresh in our memories as well. At a time when most people wanted to be home with their families and loved ones, our staff showed its true strength of character. Hundreds of employees, nurses and physicians dropped what they were doing and volunteered to help. It was an immediate response that came from the heart.

Today, I'd like to recognize just some of those people who are Inova's heroes.

From Inova Alexandria Hospital.—Shortly after the American Airlines plane hit the Pentagon, hospital staff swung into gear reading beds, operating rooms and supplies. Inova Alexandria Hospital treated more patients from the Pentagon that day than any other Inova facility, caring for 24 people who were injured at the scene.

Among the many heroes that day are Emergency Department Chairman Dr. Marty Brown, vice chairman Dr. Tom Clark and the ER staff who were at the front end of caring for the patients as they arrived at the hospital. Dr. Clark cared for Virginia State Police Trooper Michael Middleton who sustained severe smoke inhalation while trying to rescue injured Pentagon workers. In addition, emergency nurse Sherry Hemby is also with us today.

I'd like to recognize pulmonologist Dr. Tom Smirniotopoulos and nurse Ellen Smith. They both cared for Trooper Middleton during his long recovery at Inova Alexandria Hospital.

Also, emergency physician Dr. James Vafler. On September 11, he was working in his role as medical director for the Alexandria Fire Department at the Pentagon. On site, he was appointed the physician in charge of civilian medical response at the Pentagon.

Keeping order that day at Inova Alexandria Hospital were Steve Fuoco, the director of engineering, who served the hospital's command center, and Greg Brison, director of security. I'd also like to recognize hospital administrator Ken Kozloff for all of his efforts and a job well done by his entire staff.

All told, Inova treated 27 patients on September 11. Inova Mount Vernon hospital treated one injured civilian. Our thanks go out to hospital Emergency Department chairman Dr. Michael Shuster and hospital administrator Susan Herbert.

Many thanks also go to the emergency department staffs at Inova HealthPlex in Springfield where two patients were treated, and the staff of Inova Fairfax Hospital. As the area's Level I trauma center, Inova Fairfax Hospital freed up dozens of hospital beds and readied itself to handle many, many patients that day. Sadly, their services were not needed.

Next, I'd like to recognize Dr. Dan Hanfling, the director of Emergency Management and Disaster Medicine for Inova Health System. On September 11, Dan was called to the Pentagon to assist in the search and rescue in his role as medical team manager of the Fairfax County Urban Search and Rescue team—which falls under the auspices of FEMA—the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Dan spent a week at the Pentagon helping coordinate the federal response to the disaster. Since 9-11, Dan has helped spearhead and focus Inova's disaster preparations across our system of hospitals and emergency care centers.

Dan also serves as the medical director of Inova AirCare, our medevac helicopter program which played a critical role at the Pentagon on September 11th. Minutes after the Pentagon was hit, the helicopter flight crew of nurse Margie Roche, paramedic Chuck Crocker and pilot Pete Russet flew to the Pentagon to fly out the injured patients. That initial flight is memorialized forever in a well-publicized Reuters photo seen around the world in magazines and now a book. The photo depicts Inova AirCare against the backdrop of a burning Pentagon.

The helicopter shuttled much needed supplies to the scene that day, and, at the request of military leaders on the scene, remained at the Pentagon throughout the night.

As that day unfolded, the community's goodwill became abundantly evident as hundreds of people showed up at Inova Blood Donor Services' offices ready to roll up their sleeves and donate. Thanks to the leadership of medical director Dr. Jeanne Lumadue and administrative director Terri Craddock, Inova Blood Donor Services pulled in volunteers to help handle the onslaught and keep the offices open well past normal business hours. They collected more than 700 units of blood that day, which is just amazing. In all, they handled more than two thousand donors and returned more than 5,000 calls from interested donors in the initial days after the attack.

It was not long after September 11 that our country faced a second threat to our sense of security in the anthrax-laced letters mailed around the country. Inova Fairfax Hospital took center-stage in this national drama after diagnosing two patients from the Brentwood Postal Facility in Washington, DC with inhalation anthrax.

Emergency physicians Ceccele Murphy and Denis Pauze relied on their instinct and medical training to make a diagnosis most doctors could not imagine making in their lifetimes. Thanks to them, and to physician assistant Ashna Nayyar and the entire ER staff, both men are alive today.

All of these people mentioned today and, in fact, all of the physicians, employees and volunteers throughout Inova Health System, are our heroes for the work they did on September 11 and its aftermath.

We also have heroes outside of our organization in the men and women of our community's police, fire and EMS agencies, particularly in Fairfax County and the City of Alexandria. Over the past year, we have been grateful for their continual support and advice on preparedness.

2002 SESSION

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 275—ENROLLED

Commending Inova Health System

Agreed to by the Senate, March 6, 2002

Agreed to by the House of Delegates, March 8, 2002

Whereas, Inova Health System in Northern Virginia was deeply involved in the response to the attacks on September 11, 2001, and in the diagnosis and treatment of those exposed to anthrax in October of 2001; and

Whereas, on September 11, Inova Health System treated 27 patients injured in the attack on the Pentagon at its Alexandria, Mount Vernon, and Franconia-Springfield facilities; and
