

individual with dignity and respect. She genuinely enjoyed people without regard to title or position. She always—remarkably, given her hectic schedule—made time for everyone.

Peggy was a volunteer, active in many worthy causes including promoting literacy and serving as a director of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society.

A distinguished leader of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania, Peggy Madigan was a role model for all of us. She was a woman who was not only a tireless advocate of family values—her love for her family seemed boundless. They include her husband of 49 years, Roger, her daughter, Vicki Lynne of Carlisle, Annette Madigan Carr, of Annapolis, Maryland, Nicholas Jay Madigan of Towanda, and Steven Gary Madigan of Emmaus. Of all of her many accomplishments, I know that her greatest joy came from the recent birth of her grandson, Matthew Roger Madigan to her son Steven and Carrie May Madigan.

Peggy Madigan was truly family to people across our region and around the Commonwealth. I grieve her loss for her entire family.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO EMMETT HEITLER

HON. SCOTT McINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 5, 2002

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to Emmett Heitler and thank him for his extraordinary contributions to his community and to his state. As a resident of Colorado, Emmett has dedicated his life to improving the state by selflessly giving his time and energy to his job, his family and his community. His remarkable business and philanthropic accomplishments are surpassed only by the level of integrity and honesty with which he has conducted himself each and every day of his life. As we celebrate his tremendous accomplishment of being inducted into the Colorado Business Hall of Fame, let it be known that I, along with the people of Colorado, applaud his efforts and are eternally grateful for all that he has done for our state and our community.

Born in Denver in 1909, Emmett excelled academically, graduating with honors from the University of Colorado with a degree in engineering before he was twenty years old. Shortly after, he took a job with General Electric as an electrical engineer, and later became a partner and founder of Fashion Bar stores in Denver. After marrying his wife, Dot, in 1937, Emmett went to work for Shwayder Bros. Inc., a manufacturer of Samsonite Luggage. Over the course of his career with Shwayder Bros. and Samsonite, Emmett advanced to General Manager, and eventually to Executive Vice President. He was instrumental in building Samsonite from a small local business into the world's largest luggage manufacturer and pioneered Samsonite's movement into new, cutting edge technology, most notably using plastics in manufacturing sleeker, more durable luggage.

Emmett was not only an extraordinary businessman, but he was also a true philanthropist. Despite his demanding schedule, he always found time to give back to his community and lend a helping hand to anyone who might need it. He was active with the Jewish Community Center, serving as Chairman of the Board of Trustees, and was a founding member of the Mile High United Way. He served as Executive Trustee of the Eleanor Roosevelt Institute for Cancer Research, was Chairman of the Board of the National Jewish Hospital and was a Member of the Board of the Denver Chamber of Commerce. Additionally, Emmett has contributed a significant amount of time to the Anti-Defamation League, chaired the effort to build Temple Emanuel and was instrumental in renovating Green Gables Country Club.

Mr. Speaker, it is clear that Emmett Heitler is a man of unparalleled dedication and commitment to his job, his community and his family. It is his unrelenting passion for each and every thing he does, as well as his spirit of honesty and integrity with which he has always conducted himself, that I wish to bring his efforts before this body of Congress. He is a remarkable man who has achieved extraordinary things and enriched the lives of so many people. It is my privilege to extend to him my sincere congratulations on his induction into the Colorado Business Hall of Fame and wish him all the best in the future.

A TORCH OF LIBERTY AWARD— THOMAS C. GALLAGHER

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 5, 2002

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, on May 8, 2002, a good friend of America's consumers will receive the prestigious Torch of Liberty Award from the well-respected Jewish Anti-Defamation League. This honor has been bestowed on Thomas C. Gallagher, president and chief operating officer of Genuine Parts Company-NAPA, for his unfailing promotion of diversity and tolerance in the workforce in general and in the Office Products industry in particular, as well as his continued dedication in working for tolerance in the community.

The Anti-Defamation League has never veered from its mission of obliterating hate and bigotry. Since 1913, the ADL has moved forward to quash hatred whenever it raised its ugly head. So, this May, when the ADL in the fine state of New York bequeaths Thomas Gallagher with its Torch of Liberty Award, it will be because of its acknowledgement of people like Mr. Gallagher who never fail to take a stand to do what is right and just.

At a time when America stands unified to protect our precious freedoms, it gives us all pause that organizations like the ADL have fought the "good" battles when those battles weren't popular, that they continue to strive to recognize individuals and will continue to march forward and shine as a beacon of light with truth and justice in what sometimes seems like a world of darkness.

It has been my pleasure to personally know Tom Gallagher and see first-hand his commitment to America's consumers. It is with pride in Tom as a fellow American that I place his name in the Congressional Record for others to know the merits and values of one of America's foremost business leaders.

TRIBUTE TO SUSAN CLYNE

HON. STEVE ISRAEL

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 5, 2002

Mr. ISRAEL. Mr. Speaker, I received this compassionate letter earlier this month from a constituent of mine. The letter once again gives us a sense of how many amazing people we lost in the attack on the United States of America on September 11, 2001, such as Susan Clyne. Susan was a hard working and loving individual who always fought to achieve the goals she set for herself. I ask all of my colleagues to recognize Susan and her husband, Charlie Clyne, who wrote the letter. We will never forget the innocent victims of September 11. I ask that Mr. Clyne's letter be made part of the RECORD.

Sue loved her job at Marsh and loved the view from her 96th floor office. She had just recently been promoted to SVP and she deserved it. She went to school nights after high school to get her degrees. After graduating in three years she set her sights on law school all the while working a full time job. She graduated law school and passed the N.Y.S. bar on the first try. She never stepped foot into a courtroom. She loved computers and since computer law wasn't very popular at the time, she choose to stay in insurance where she carved her niche first as a programmer (self-taught) then up the ladder to manager, AVP, VP, and SVP. She continued going to night school through the 90's for her MBA. She was upset that she could not graduate before the birth of our twins in 1990. However, as soon as she felt up to the task she completed her MBA just before the birth of our second son in 1991. Did I mention that she loved computers? She also shared her love with our kids. She would mesmerize them with cd roms of Mickey starting with shapes and colors then on to pre "K" cd's, math blaster reader rabbit etc. They could work a mouse by the time they were two and were programming by the time they were six. Her education didn't stop with three children. She continued on for various certifications all pertaining to computers until the birth of our last child in 1997. Another change took place in 1997. Her company continued to expand and decided to lease space at the World Trade Center. She was thrilled to move. She let education take a back seat for a while by taken home study courses for her CPCU. She juggled work, family and studying. Her children were her treasures. She adored them and they worshipped her. Her office was filled with their pictures. She developed a family web site with pictures, slide shows and most recently streaming video. (www.clyne.com) They were truly her angels. Sue got up every morning at 4:45 and was on the 6:00 train to the city. We never saw her that morning. We never even had a chance to say good-bye. In an instant, some radical religious moron decided it was her time.

IN HONOR OF WILLIAM F. MILLER

HON. DENNIS J. KUCINICH

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 5, 2002

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor William F. Miller upon his reception of the German Service Cross of the Order of Merit.

The Donauschwaben's German-American Cultural Center and Consul General Michael Engelhard of the Consulate General of the Federal Republic of Germany are honoring Mr. Miller for his 39 years of reporting German-American affairs for the Plain Dealer. In this period he has served as a columnist, reporter and assistant editor.

In 1990 Miller covered the lives of Germans, among other central and eastern Europeans, in the wake of the fall of communism. From this experience he wrote a series of articles entitled "Life After the Wall." This series won the 1991 National Writing Award of the First Catholic Slovak Union of the United States and Canada. Additionally the series was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize.

Miller was named German-American Journalist of the Year in January 1996 by the Federation of German-American Societies of Greater Cleveland. Miller also received the Distinguished Service Award from the National Journalistic Society's Cleveland Chapter in May of 1991.

Miller has also been recognized by numerous other ethnic groups. The Asian/Pacific Federation in Cleveland presented him with their Community Service award for his writings in 1989. In 1994, Miller became the first non-Greek to be awarded the Hellenic Award from the Greek Orthodox Church of North America and Canada. In addition Miller has received awards for his coverage of the Greater Cleveland German, Irish, Filipino, Italian, Vietnamese, Japanese, Chinese, Korean, Ukrainian, Latvian and Czech communities.

I ask you to join me in honoring William F. Miller upon his reception of this distinguished award.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. XAVIER BECERRA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 5, 2002

Mr. BECERRA. Mr. Speaker, on Tuesday, January 29, 2002, I was unable to cast my floor vote on rollcall Number 5, on the Motion to Suspend the Rules and Agree to H. Res. 335, a resolution honoring the contributions of Catholic schools.

Had I been present for the vote, I would have voted "aye" on rollcall vote 5.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO FRANKLIN AND JOY BURNS

HON. SCOTT McINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 5, 2002

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to Franklin L. and Joy S. Burns for their extraordinary contributions to their community and to their state. As residents of Colorado, Franklin and Joy dedicated their lives to improving Colorado by selflessly giving their time and energy to their jobs, their family and their community. Although Franklin has passed, it is impossible to forget his extraordinary accomplishments, and we are all tremendously grateful to Joy for all that she has done and for carrying on Franklin's legacy of achievement, philanthropy and success. As we celebrate their induction into the Colorado Business Hall of Fame, it is an honor for me to pay tribute to such extraordinary people.

In 1938, Franklin, a Denver native, went to work the D.C. Burns Realty & Trust Company, which was founded by his uncle, Daniel Cochran Burns. The company was dedicated to providing affordable housing for low-income families, selling houses for only ten percent down long before the Federal Housing Authority came into existence. At the age of 28, Franklin became President of the company and began developing subdivisions and shopping centers in and around Denver. Under Franklin's leadership, the company developed more than 13,000 pieces of property totaling $129 million.

In 1958, Franklin met Joy Steelman Colwick at a golf tournament at Cherry Hills Country Club, and by 1960, they were married. Joy immediately contributed to the success of her husband and his company and by the 1970s she was making quite an impact of her own. Having studied business at the University of Houston, she founded The Women's Bank, now known as the Colorado Business Bank, in 1976. She then remodeled the Hampshire House, which her husband's company had bought, and turned it into what is known today as the Burnsley Hotel, a Denver landmark. The hotel opened in 1985 and Joy remained involved with it, serving as President until 1993. She now serves as President of her husband's company, the D.C. Burns Realty & Trust Company.

Not only were Franklin and Joy extraordinarily successful in the business world, but they also made significant philanthropic contributions to their community, city and state. Franklin was active in a number of charitable organizations in Denver, including the Inter-County Regional Planning Commission, Mount Airy Psychiatric Center, the United Way and Mercy Hospital. Joy, too, has devoted a significant amount of her time and energy to the community. She has been a long-time volunteer at the University of Denver, serving as the Chair of the Board of Trustees and as the President of the University of Denver's Pioneer Sportswoman. In appreciation of her tremendous contributions to the University, DU named the Joy Burns Ice arena in her honor. Joy is also the founder of the Women's Foundation of Colorado, was the only female member of the Metropolitan Football Stadium Board and serves as President of the Sports-women Colorado Foundation.

Mr. Speaker, it is clear that Franklin and Joy Burns have, for over fifty years, made extraordinary contributions to the community of Denver through both their business and charitable endeavors. It is not only their unparalleled business savvy that I wish to bring before this body of Congress, but also their selflessness and love for their community. Though deeply saddened by Franklin's passing, I wish to extend my sincere congratulations to Joy on their joint induction into the Colorado Business Hall of Fame, and want to take this opportunity to thank her for carrying on her husband's legacy. We are proud of you both!

HONORING NANCY PELOSI

HON. TAMMY BALDWIN

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 5, 2002

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I join with my colleagues in honoring my esteemed colleague, Representative NANCY PELOSI of California, and celebrating her election to the post of Democratic Whip of the House.

This is not just an important moment for Representative PELOSI, it is an historic moment for this great body, and a deciding moment for women in our country.

This year, we celebrate the 85th anniversary of the swearing in of Jeannette Rankin of Montana to the Congress. Representative Rankin, the first woman elected to Congress, and a leader of the women's suffrage movement, would, indeed, be pleased and proud to see NANCY PELOSI ascend to her position of leadership in the House. And she probably would have asked, "What took you so long?"

We've never had a woman whip. We've never had any woman in one of the top leadership positions in either house of Congress.

In the race, NANCY got encouragement from unexpected places. The elevator operators, the high school pages in the hallways, the wait staff in the dining room, were whispering, "Go NANCY, Go" as she walked past.

They cheered because they saw in her a little bit of themselves—people who, traditionally, have no seat at the table or in the back room. Every time a woman or a person of color or a person with a disability enters the halls of power, they bring with them the multitudes of people whose voices, typically, are not heard.

By being in those halls, in those Chambers, in those boardrooms and backrooms, and on the podium, we make those places look a little bit more like America.

As women we bring our life experiences to the job. We can effect change because we prioritize issues as we know them, as we understand them. And because of that, having a seat at the table matters. Having a seat at the head of the table matters even more.

NANCY PELOSI brings a woman's perspective to the House leadership and it is long overdue. She also brings her keen intelligence, her political savvy, her deep-seated principles, her energy, and her desire to make our world more decent and democratic.

NANCY PELOSI now makes the leadership of our great House of Representatives look a little bit more like America and we are all better for it.

TRIBUTE TO JESSE FAYE FIELDS

HON. MICHAEL G. OXLEY

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 5, 2002

Mr. OXLEY. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to commemorate the life, community service, and family devotion of Jesse Faye Fields, the mother of my good friend and former congressional colleague, Jack Fields, Jr. Mrs. Fields recently passed away at the age of 76. With her late husband, Mrs. Fields owned and operated Rosewood Funeral Homes and Cemeteries in Humble, TX, for several decades. Together they built the business into one of the
