STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. LIEBERMAN (for himself and Mr. MILLER):

S. 2613. A bill to amend section 507 of the Omnibus Parks and Public Lands Management Act of 1996 to authorize additional appropriations for historically black colleges and universities, to decrease the cost-sharing requirement relating to the additional appropriations, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, on behalf of myself and Senator MILLER, I am submitting legislation that is designed to facilitate historic preservation activities at historically black colleges and universities. Specifically, this legislation would amend section 507 of the Omnibus Parks and Public Lands Management Act of 1996 to decrease the cost-sharing requirement for those seeking Federal funds for historic preservation activities at historically black colleges and universities. I am proud to say that the legislation I am submitting today is a companion bill to H.R. 1606, submitted by Congressman JAMES CLYBURN of South Carolina.

American history has been a constant, if not always consistent, march toward an ideal. That ideal is equal opportunity for all.

In every generation, it's taken the work of pioneers to open the gates of the American community to people who had previously been excluded. Pioneers have stepped forward when others would not to defiantly state, in effect, that we as a Nation will not be defined by surface characteristics. We will look deeper and try harder. The pioneers have held us to our national promise, and reminded us that America and Americanism are not about where you came from, what language you speak, what religion you practice, or what you look like, but about belief in basic ideals of responsibility, opportunity and community.

Historically Black Colleges and Universities have been such pioneers for generations, and they continue today to help America become its best self.

Today, America has 103 historically black colleges and universities in twenty-two States and the Virgin Islands, which educate about 300,000 undergraduate students and thousands of graduate, professional and doctoral students. In fact, 8 of the top 10 producers of African-American engineers are HBCUs. 42 percent of all the PhDs earned each year by African-Americans are earned by graduates of HBCUs.
