

joint research collaborations with Lawrence Livermore include such innovative projects as photonic probes testing, which is used to instantly detect cancer and save patients from unnecessary biopsies.

The center serves a population of five million people throughout Northern and Central California, Nevada, Arizona and Oregon and cares for about 3,000 newly diagnosed cancer patients each year.

I commend the UC Davis Cancer Center on this impressive achievement, and I extend my confidence that the center will make meaningful contributions to our search for a cure for this devastating disease.●

PEACHES FROM SOUTH CAROLINA FARMERS

● Mr. HOLLINGS. Madam President, today, peaches from my home State have been delivered to offices throughout the Senate and the U.S. Capitol. Those of us here in Washington can cool off from the summer heat with fresh, juicy peaches, thanks to South Carolina's peach farmers.

For a tiny State, South Carolina is second, only to California, in peach production. This year we planted 16,000 acres, and expect to harvest 160 to 180 million pounds—twice what we harvested last year when cold weather devastated the crop. Because of hot, dry weather this past month, the peaches are slightly smaller, but the small size usually results in a sweeter peach for the consumer. So with all due respect to my colleagues from Georgia, South Carolina is known as the "Tastier Peach State" for good reason.

Earlier this spring, in a bipartisan fashion, this Congress passed a generous farm bill that when times are tough, will help the people who feed us. I voted for it. I did so because farmers are dedicated people who need support they can depend on. I hope as Senators and their staffs feast on these peaches, they think about the farmers who get up early every morning and labor all summer in the heat and humidity to bring us this delicious, nutritious, and satisfying harvest. We are so fortunate to have in this country safe, plentiful, and affordable fresh fruit and vegetables—but this Congress can never take that for granted.

I thank the South Carolina Peach Council, and especially David Winkles and the South Carolina Farm Bureau, for giving the U.S. Senate a taste of South Carolina. And I remind the rest of America to ask for South Carolina peaches at their groceries.●
