

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. PETER DEUTSCH

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. DEUTSCH. Mr. Speaker, I was unavoidably absent from the Chamber today during rollcall vote No. 227, No. 228 and No. 229. Had I been present, I would have voted "yea" on all of these votes.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. SOLOMON P. ORTIZ

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. ORTIZ. Mr. Speaker, I was unavoidably detained due to official business as a member of an official Congressional delegation traveling to North Korea and was not present for the following rollcall votes. Had I been present, I would have voted as indicated below.

Rollcall No. 227—"yes"; 228—"yes"; 229—"yes."

HONORING MICHAEL HERTIG

HON. SCOTT McINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I have the distinct pleasure to stand before this body of Congress today to recognize a American hero. Staff Sergeant Michael Hertig of the 3rd Infantry Division put himself in harms way to serve his country during both campaigns on Iraqi soil.

At one stage during Operation Iraqi Freedom, Michael was leading his brigade back to headquarters. When he discovered an exposed flank in the line, he placed his Bradley Fighting Vehicle in the middle of the gap, and engaged the enemy. Michael's commanding officer claimed that his actions saved the lives of at least 15 soldiers, as he personally escorted several military ambulances through enemy territory. For these courageous actions, Michael will receive the Silver Star; the third highest military award designated solely for gallantry in action. Michael will also be presented with the Purple Heart for injuries he incurred when an Iraqi tank exploded next to his Bradley Fighting Vehicle. While he has lost some hearing in his right ear, Michael remains in high spirits.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot fully express my deep sense of gratitude for the sacrifice and heroism of this soldier and his family. Michael should know that this sacrifice will not be forgotten; America will be in his debt. Michael has done all Americans proud and I know he has the respect, admiration, and gratitude of all of my colleagues here today. Thank you, Michael, for your dedication and service to this Nation.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. BARBARA HARRIS

HON. DONALD M. PAYNE

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize a wonderful woman and outstanding educator, Mrs. Barbara Harris. Born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and a graduate of Cheyney State College, Mrs. Harris has been a resident of Newark, New Jersey since 1969.

On June 13, 2003 at the Galloping Hill Inn in Union, New Jersey, the Social Welfare Committee, the Bragaw Avenue School, family and friends will be honoring Mrs. Harris on the occasion of her retirement from the Newark Public School System.

Beginning her work as an educator in Philadelphia, Mrs. Harris taught within the Philadelphia School System from 1962–1966. She then moved to Newark and has taught in our public school system since 1969. As a member of the Education and the Workforce Committee here in the U.S. House of Representatives and a former teacher, I am extremely appreciative and proud of the hard work and dedication of educators such as Mrs. Harris.

In addition to her dedication within the classroom, Mrs. Harris has also dedicated herself to bettering the entire community. Volunteering with the United Way, late New Jersey State Senator Winona Lipman, as well as former Mayor Kenneth Gibson and Ralph Grant she also has served on many local, county and state committees for the Newark Teachers Association.

A dedicated educator and citizen, Mrs. Barbara Harris will certainly be missed within the Newark educational community. Mr. Speaker, I know that my colleagues here in the U.S. House of Representatives join me today in saluting Mrs. Harris for her many years of educating our Nation's children, wishing her the very best for the future.

LITCHFIELD SESQUICENTENNIAL

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the city of Litchfield and honor its sesquicentennial this year.

Said to be the highest point between St. Louis, Missouri and Terre Haute, Indiana, Litchfield was founded on August 24, 1853, and was named after Electus Bachus Litchfield, the man that brought the railroad to the area. The Terre Haute, Alton, and St. Louis railroad was essential to the development of early Litchfield, and the town rapidly grew in size.

The village was incorporated in 1856, and when the Civil War came five years later, Litchfield was the first city in the state of Illinois to send men to fight for the Union. One company from Litchfield was used to help form the first regiment in the state of Illinois, the Seventh Illinois Volunteer Infantry.

After the Civil War, the discovery of oil, gas, and coal in the area prompted more population growth, and six railroads made their way through the city. The city grew even larger with the introduction of Route 66, the main highway between Chicago and Los Angeles, as tourists and travelers alike became familiar with Litchfield. The highway still runs through Litchfield today, and still brings in tourists from all over the world.

Today, Litchfield is known as the hub of Central Illinois. One hour from both St. Louis, Missouri and Springfield, Illinois, it has become the manufacturing and shopping center of the area. Nineteen manufacturers, sales and distribution centers are housed in the city's two industrial parks. Also, with a newly constructed high school, Litchfield seems ready to continue its growth well into its next 150 years. Lincoln Land Community College now has a center in the town as well, and the future of the area looks bright.

Litchfield's first 150 years have been full of growth. In celebrating its sesquicentennial this year, the city shows great dedication both to its history and to the people of its present. Several events are planned for the week of the Fourth of July, and I wish the city and its people the best in celebrating this significant milestone.

HONORING FANNIE DICKENS PETWAY

HON. FRANK W. BALLANCE, JR.

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. BALLANCE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Mrs. Fannie Petway, a native of Pinetop, North Carolina, who passed on to her reward Sunday, April 27, 2003 at the age of 97. Mrs. Petway was a devoted parishioner of Bethlehem Baptist Church of Rocky Mount, North Carolina. She is survived by her loving son Columbus Petway, and a host of other relatives.

Mrs. Petway's doors were always open to discuss family issues and she helped raise many children and grandchildren. She would keep them in awe with the many stories she told about her experiences on the farm where many of the children in her life spent their summers. The men in her family reflect fondly when they would get a call from Fannie asking them to stop by and get something to eat—and they would never say no, especially when wooed with her memorable peach cobbler and coconut cake, in spite of the fact that their wives had another meal waiting for them at home. Mrs. Petway is preceded in death by her daughter Annie Elizabeth Knight, her son Edward Petway, and daughters-in-law Eunice Irene Petway and Madie Moore Petway. She was the loving and proud grandmother to seven granddaughters and seven grandsons.

Mrs. Petway's gracious and warm smile will be deeply missed along with the many wonderful memories and recipes she has left behind. The blessing of her warmth and love have left a mark on those close to her and will be remembered vividly and fondly. My thoughts and prayers are with her loved ones.

RELIEF TO MUNICIPAL UTILITIES
WHO ISSUE TAX EXEMPT BONDSHON. JOHN M. SPRATT, JR.OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. SPRATT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of legislation that I have just reintroduced to provide relief to municipal utilities who issue tax exempt bonds. This legislation would permit these utilities to take advantage of a process known as "advance refunding," which allows the bond issuer to take advantage of favorable market conditions by refinancing their debt at a lower interest rate. The bill is identical to legislation I introduced in the 107th Congress that was cosponsored by the entire South Carolina Congressional delegation.

Advance refunding works just like refinancing your home. If interest rates have dropped since you purchased your home, then you can refinance, or "advance refund," that home at the lower rate. This can save the average homeowner thousands of dollars in foregone interest payments.

This same refinancing has, in the past, been allowed for municipal utilities who use tax exempt bonds to finance their facilities and equipment. Because of the large capital costs associated with power generation and distribution, the debt incurred from these issues is often substantial, and debt service payments end up being one of the largest expenses for the utility. These higher costs are then passed on to the consumer in the form of higher electric rates. If these companies are allowed to refinance, they can save millions of dollars in foregone interest payments, which translates into lower rates for the average consumer.

Under current tax law, these municipal utilities have been able to advance refund their debt only once since 1986. Many of these utilities companies still face staggering debts. For one utility company in my state, these debt payments have become particularly burdensome, and all of its customers are suffering from the resulting high rates. With interest rates so low, this utility is convinced that if it is allowed to advance refund one additional time, it will be able to stabilize its debt service and significantly lower these rates.

That is what my legislation does. It allows municipal utilities to advance refund one additional time if they have already advance refunded since 1986.

Municipal utilities are by no means the only issuers of tax exempt bonds. I have limited the scope of this bill to municipal utilities because they face substantial debts and are subject to limitations that state and local governments are not. The bill is open to modification for others who might benefit from advance refunding of their debt.

During consideration of the most recent tax bill in the Senate, Senator LINCOLN offered an amendment that allowed for additional advance refunding for Arkansas schools. While I am sure that Arkansas schools need such relief, other sectors need similar relief, and especially municipal utilities. I am pleased to see Senator LINCOLN reopen the advance refunding debate, and would welcome the opportunity to discuss inclusion of my bill in tax reform measures taken up by the House in the future. The benefits to my state, and others, would be significant, and they would ultimately be enjoyed by consumers.

HONORING THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH
OF GOD IN CHRISTHON. FORTNEY PETE STARKOF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the 25th anniversary of Glad Tidings Church founded by Rev. and Mrs. J.W. Macklin in 1978 in Hayward, California. From its earliest inception, Glad Tidings reflected what many considered a new and refreshing direction in church ministry. With a strong commitment to communities and families, this young church began to position itself for a long-term commitment to the city of Hayward.

In 1981, Glad Tidings purchased their first edifice in South Hayward. Believing that Glad Tidings had a vision and a ministry to meet the growing needs of a changing neighborhood, the Hayward Covenant Church sold a 15,000 square foot facility, including a sanctuary with seating for 150 people, to a young, energetic congregation.

Within a few short years, the mortgage was liquidated and the existing facility was remodeled to include a new sanctuary seating approximately 300 people. The remaining facility was remodeled to accommodate executive offices, classrooms, and a fellowship hall.

In the midst of Glad Tidings' growth is the incredible story of a congregation, whose vision, fortitude and commitment has brought them face to face with a suburban community that had become very much urban within a few short years. As the church grew, the obvious need to build new facilities was more than evident. Glad Tidings Church was faced with a major dilemma; to relocate to a suburban community or to stay and build in a challenged community filled with drugs, crime, and rampant poverty.

In 1990, Glad Tidings Church adopted a strategic plan, which required the church to involve itself to an even greater degree in the surrounding neighborhoods in decline. A neighborhood revitalization program was set in motion. Glad Tidings established a strong proactive presence in city government, schools, community, and police affairs. This community outreach provided a base for support networks to thrive with other surrounding neighborhoods, agencies and businesses and gave voice to the South Hayward community.

Glad Tidings Church established a central neighborhood campus while networking with other community services to offer a creative and supportive environment of programs, housing, services and facilities which address many of the major needs and concerns of a community in need of revitalization.

I applaud Glad Tidings Church's focus on economic development, job and career training, youth and adult education, youth and adult support services and health services all provided within a spiritual setting which accents excellence at all levels of life for all people. I congratulate Glad Tidings Church on its 25th anniversary and wish the leadership and congregation many years of continued success.

THE GINSENG LABELING
CORRECTION ACTHON. JOHN T. DOOLITTLEOF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. DOOLITTLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to discuss legislation I introduced today called The Ginseng Labeling Correction Act. This legislation seeks to fix a technical problem with a provision that was included in the farm bill Congress passed last year.

Section 10806(b) of the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 amended the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act by placing limitations on the use of the term "ginseng" as the common or usual name for plants classified within the genus Panax. The purpose of this provision was to address confusion that had arisen from products derived from different plants being labeled as "Siberian ginseng."

When labeling changes are enacted, the Food and Drug Administration recognizes that, in order to assure an orderly and economical industry adjustment to new labeling requirements, a sufficient lead time is necessary to permit planning for the use of existing label inventories and the development of new labeling materials.

Unfortunately, the ginseng provision Congress included in the farm bill lacked a specific effective date that would have allowed FDA's typical transition period to occur. Therefore, on May 13, 2002, the day the farm bill was signed into law, companies that had products labeled "Siberian ginseng" became criminally liable. This was clearly not the intent of Congress, and was simply an oversight on the part of the Senate and House in writing that portion of the farm bill. In fact, Senator Tom Harkin, the Ranking Member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, attempted to correct this omission in the FY 2003 Emergency War-time Supplemental, PL-108-11. However, in the rush to complete work on the bill the provision was left out even though there were no objections to it.

However, this omission needs to be corrected as soon as possible. Therefore, I have introduced The Ginseng Labeling Correction Act, which states that Section 10806(b) of the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 will become effective thirty days after the legislation becomes law.

It is my desire to have this bill move to the House floor as quickly as possible. I hope my colleagues will join me in supporting this minor, but critically important, correction to the farm bill.

A TRIBUTE TO DR. NORMAN
ADRIAN WIGGINSHON. BOB ETHERIDGEOF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, June 3, 2003

Mr. ETHERIDGE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Dr. Norman Adrian Wiggins on his retirement as President of my alma mater, Campbell University in Buies Creek, North Carolina. For 36 extraordinary years, Dr. Wiggins' leadership and vision have transformed Campbell from a small, rural school
