HONORING PARADISE BAPTIST CHURCH

HON. BARBARA LEE

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 3, 2003

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Paradise Baptist Church of Oakland, and its pastor, Reverend Leon McDaniels, Sr. Today marks the dedication celebration of the new Paradise Baptist Church Worship Center.

Paradise Baptist Church had its beginning in February 1960. Rev. C. William Johnson was the assistant pastor at the First Baptist Parchester Church of Richmond, California when he was called to begin a church in the Columbian Gardens area of Oakland. He set out with four volunteers and went door to door sharing their vision for a new community of the spirit. In May 1960, a meeting was called and the Paradise Baptist Mission was organized. In August of that year, Paradise was officially founded and established as the Paradise Baptist Church with Rev. C. William Johnson as pastor.

Paradise Baptist Church has had many homes over the years. Early on, Pastor Johnson purchased a home with his Veterans Administration certificate and converted it into a house of worship. In November 1963, a house on Empire Road was purchased, and the church moved to this location.

By 1968, a larger facility was needed. A church was constructed adjacent to the house where the congregation had been worshipping, but by 1970 even that building was too small. Many of the faithful financed the building project by taking out second mortgages and borrowing funds which they donated unconditionally. On the third Sunday of August 1972, the new sanctuary was complete.

Over the next 10 years, Paradise experienced substantial growth, and in 1988, Pastor Johnson brought in Rev. Leon McDaniels, Sr. as the full-time evangelism coordinator. Rev. McDaniels' spark and enthusiasm spread throughout the entire church body.

On September 17, 1993, Pastor Johnson's time on earth came to an end, leaving the Paradise family filled with grief. Following a period of mourning, Rev. Leon McDaniels, Sr. took office as the new pastor and vowed to make a significant difference in the Columbian Gardens community, and in all of Oakland.

There has been great growth during the tenure of Pastor McDaniels. Today, numerous ministries are available to the congregation, including the Prayer Ministry, Soul-Winning Ministry, Christian Education Training, Alpha Omega Youth Ministry, Pastoral Care, Wistar Redemption and Recovery, Inc., Financial Management, Real Estate Ministry (the HUD Home Buyers Program), Married Couples Ministry, Singles Ministry, Camp Ministry and Political Liaison Ministry.

Pastor McDaniels realized a larger facility was sorely needed. By faith, the groundbreaking ceremony was held in August 17, 1997. Once again, the membership stepped in and made contributions and personal sacrifices in their commitment to further the ministry.

The congregation has been blessed with the New Paradise Baptist Church Worship Center located at 9704 Empire Road in Oakland, California.

The Paradise Baptist Church family has come a long way since its humble beginning in 1960. Rev. C. William Johnson knew 43 years ago that Paradise would make a difference in the city of Oakland. This vision has come to fruition under the leadership of Pastor Leon McDaniels, Sr. with a congregation of more than 400 members and numerous ministries that reach out to the community.

I take great pride in joining friends, family, and the congregation to salute Paradise Baptist Church and its leader, the extraordinary Pastor Leon McDaniels, Sr. on this auspicious dedication.

IN HONOR OF THE POTOMAC
TRAIL COUNCIL'S RECEIPT OF A
2003 CHESAPEAKE BAY GATE-
WAYS NETWORK GRANT

HON. STENY H. HOYER

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 3, 2003

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker I rise today to recognize the Potomac Trail Council. The Potomac Trail Council received a 2003 Chesapeake Bay Gateways Network Grant for a project designed to improve access and interpretation along a one mile section of trail in Piscataway Park and Fort Washington Park in Accokeek, Maryland.

The Chesapeake Bay Gateways Network, which includes more than 120 museums, state parks, wildlife refuges and other sites in five states and the District of Columbia, was created to enhance the experience of visitors to the Chesapeake Bay and its many roads, rivers and trails. Authorized by the Chesapeake Bay Initiative Act of 1998, the Gateways Network is coordinated by the National Park Service in partnership with the Chesapeake Bay Program.

During the past four years, Gateways Network Grants have funded new maps, improved signs, and expanded trails that have made visits to parks, wildlife refuges and water trails even more exciting and enjoyable than they had previously been. These grants help enhance the public's ability to learn and enjoy the Chesapeake's stories and significance, explore its natural and cultural resources, and become involved in helping conserve and restore the Bay and its watershed. Through these projects and other Gateways Network efforts more and more people recognize the Chesapeake as a true national treasure.

In 2003, the National Park Service is awarding $1,387,309 in grant funding, matched by over $2 million in partner contributions. Thirty-two grants are being made to Gateways throughout the Bay watershed in Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia. The Potomac Trail Council is receiving a grant of $40,500 and $45,300 in partner contributions.

The project proposed by the Potomac Trail Council will make significant improvements to access and interpretation along a one mile section of trail in Piscataway Park. The route, which parallels Piscataway Creek (a tributary of the Potomac River) will be improved through several measures to control erosion and puddling, including the addition of permeable surface materials, french drains, and culverts. Six interpretive waysides and other signs will also be developed to provide trail users with key information and interpret features along the route. The Potomac Trail Council will coordinate work on the project in collaboration with park staff.

Mr. Speaker, it is with the assistance and vision of organizations such as the Potomac Trail Council that the Chesapeake Bay and the entire region has become the treasure that we know it to be today. Mr. Speaker, please join me in congratulating the Potomac Trail Council on receiving this grant and wishing them the best of luck in completing their project.

TRIBUTE TO REVEREND DR.
FRANK NAPIER, JR.

HON. BILL PASCRELL, JR.

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 3, 2003

Mr. PASCRELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call your attention to the life and work of an outstanding individual who I feel fortunate to have been able to call my friend. The late Reverend Doctor Frank Napier, Jr. of Paterson, New Jersey, was recognized on Friday, August 15, 2003, for his unwavering commitment to education with the official dedication of Paterson Public School #4 as the Dr. Frank Napier, Jr. School of Technology.

During his distinguished career in education, Dr. Napier served the young men and women of Paterson as an elementary school teacher, administrator, coach, role model, and friend. It is only fitting that he be honored in this, the permanent record of the greatest freely elected body on earth.

For as long as I can remember, the personal and professional life of Dr. Napier has been inextricably intertwined with the city of Paterson, New Jersey. Born and raised in Paterson, Frank attended Public School #4 and Paterson Central High School before going on to receive his B.S. and M.A. degrees from William Paterson Teachers College. For those who knew him, his decision to return to the city of Paterson after college came as no surprise. It was during this period that Frank and his wife, Margaret, chose to settle down in Paterson and raise their family. Over the next 37 years, Dr. Napier's life work as an educator and community leader in Paterson would change the lives of countless young men and women.

Frank Napier began his professional career in the Paterson School System as an elementary school teacher and assistant football coach of Kennedy High School. In 1972, he was appointed the Assistant Superintendent of Paterson Public Schools and, four years later, became the first African American to serve as the Superintendent of Schools. Always searching for ways to better serve his students and their families, Frank returned to school once more and, in 1984, earned his Doctorate in Education from the University of Massachusetts. Soon after receiving this degree, Dr. Napier began augmenting his work as Superintendent of Schools by returning to the classroom as an adjunct professor at William Paterson University.

In many ways, Dr. Napier's commitment to the community of Paterson extended far beyond the classroom walls. As district chairperson for the Passaic County Boy Scouts of America, as an active member of the Board of Trustees for the Paterson Public Library, and as pastor of the Gazaway Baptist Church, Dr. Napier left an indelible mark on the lives of all with whom he came in contact. The quest for personal and professional excellence to which Dr. Napier dedicated his life, is a legacy that lives on in each of the students whose lives he touched.

Mr. Speaker, the job of a United States Congressman involves so much that is rewarding, yet nothing compares to recognizing the efforts of devoted educators and public servants like Doctor Napier. I ask that you join our colleagues, the faculty and students of Paterson School #4, Dr. Napier's family and friends, and myself in recognizing the late Reverend Dr. Frank Napier, Jr., for his life of outstanding service.

IN HONOR OF THE BATTLE CREEK
NATURE EDUCATION SOCIETY'S RECEIPT OF A 2003 CHESAPEAKE
BAY GATEWAYS NETWORK
GRANT

HON. STENY H. HOYER

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 3, 2003

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Battle Creek Nature Education Society. The Battle Creek Nature Education Society received a 2003 Chesapeake Bay Gateways Network Grant for a project designed to enhance the Flag Ponds Nature Park and King's Landing Park in Calvert County, Maryland.

The Chesapeake Bay Gateways Network, which includes more than 120 museums, state parks, wildlife refuges and other sites in five states and the District of Columbia, was created to enhance the experience of visitors to the Chesapeake Bay and its many roads, rivers and trails. Authorized by the Chesapeake Bay Initiative Act of 1998, the Gateway Network is coordinated by the National Park Service in partnership with the Chesapeake Bay Program.

During the past four years, Gateways Network Grants have funded new maps, improved signs, and expanded trails that have made visits to parks, wildlife refuges and water trails even more exciting and enjoyable than they had previously been. These grants help enhance the public's ability to learn and enjoy the Chesapeake's stories and significance, explore its natural and cultural resources, and become involved in helping conserve and restore the Bay and its watershed. Through these projects and other Gateways Network efforts more and more people recognize the Chesapeake as a true national treasure.

In 2003, the National Park Service is awarding $1,387,309 in grant funding, matched by over $2 million in partner contributions. Thirty-two grants are being made to Gateways throughout the Bay watershed in Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia. Battle Creek Nature Education Society is receiving a grant of $32,050 and $62,762 in partner contributions.

The project proposed by the Battle Creek Nature Education Society will create an overall plan for guiding interpretation at Flag Ponds Nature Park and King's Landing Park, as well as an extensive series of outdoor exhibits at each park. Up to twenty way-side panels will be developed to help visitors enjoy and learn about these two sites and their relationship to the Chesapeake Bay watershed. A short sampling of anticipated stories to be told includes: the geology behind the ever-changing sand bars that shape habitats at Flag Ponds; early 20th century uses of the area; and the importance of the swamps and freshwater pond habitats that have been naturally formed over hundreds of years.

Mr. Speaker, it is with the assistance and vision of organizations such as the Battle Creek Nature Education Society that the Chesapeake Bay and the entire region has become the treasure that we know it to be today. Mr. Speaker, please join me in congratulating the Battle Creek Nature Education Society on receiving this grant and wishing them the best of luck in completing their project.

TRIBUTE TO THE ROTARY CLUB OF WEST ORANGE

HON. BILL PASCRELL, JR.

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 3, 2003

Mr. PASCRELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call to your attention the work of an outstanding organization in my district. On Friday, September 5, 2003, the Rotary Club of West Orange celebrated its 75th anniversary at Mayfair Farms.

Seventy-five years ago, in June of 1928, twenty-two business men from the City of West Orange came together with the common intent to pool their individual skills and occupations in order to serve the community in which they lived. Together, these pioneers formed the Rotary Club of West Orange, officially becoming the 2,900th Club of Rotary International.

Today, the West Orange Rotarians continue to contribute their various talents and services to ensuring that the changing needs of the local and international community are met. It is only fitting that, upon their 75th anniversary, the Rotary Club of West Orange be honored, in this, the permanent record of the greatest freely elected body on earth.

Throughout its history, the Rotary Club of West Orange has served as a paradigm of the time-honored motto "Service Above Self. . . . He Profits Most Who Serves Best." This profoundly simple tenet has been the driving force behind each of their community-oriented projects, many of which focus on assisting local youth.

Through annual scholarships and educational programs such as the youth exchange program and the dictionary project, members of the Rotary Club of West Orange consistently demonstrate their commitment to fostering the academic, moral and social education of the city's young men and women. Leading by example, the West Orange Rotarians work hard to promote personal integrity, excellence, and service, helping to mold the leaders of tomorrow.

On the global level, the Rotary of West Orange has recognized that education can only come after the basic needs of an individual
